Fire, Air, Earth, and Water . . . . Now I was led through another long great corridor at the end which stood two huge white doors outside of these doors stood two German soldiers, they snapped to attention immediately upon our arrival, upon the doors were two huge black Nazi Swastikas, the two German soldiers placed their hands on the doors . . . and proceeded to open them as the Chief of the Nazi high command, who escorted me, said "Chancellor Hitler will see you now!" I walked through the doors and they were immediately closed behind me . . . my first notice was of the white rug on which I stood. As my eyes raised slowly over the rug woven into the very center was the German emblem . . . my head lifted slowly at the far end of the room of which I suddenly became conscious fo the fact that it was the most beautifully arranged room I ever stood in . . . There standing behind a desk of hand carved Mohogany with a German flag to the right of him stood Adolf Hitler ruler of all Germany . . . and I here in a room with him alone . . He stood before his desk with his left hand behind his back. He extended his right hand over the top of the desk I reached for his hand shook it and he beconed for me to be seated I sat down in a chair directly across from Mr. Hitler . . and for a moment I just looked into the eyes of the most hated man on earth . . .

We sat down together. I thought of many things before Hitler or myself said a word. One thought ran through my mind, why was this man granting an interview to me, when so many others who were far greater than I were seeking them and were refused. But I would not be frightened, I would take advantage of the rare opportunity, Hitler spoke first he said good afternon, I returned the greeting adding that I shall try not to take much of your time Chancellor Hitler, but it appears that Europe is on a changing stage and there are a few questions that Germany's answers will prove of extreme importance . . . My first question to Mr. Hitler was . . . "Do you anticipate, Germany's being envolved in another great war here in Europe" . . . He answered "All must return to the Motherland . . "What may I ask do you believe the next war will be like?" . . . I could see that Hitler was amused at my asking such a question, however he proved a bit concerned with it when he said . . . in his answer to me . . . "The next war will be quite different from the last World War . . . Hitler startled me with the words "World War" . . . he continued, infantry attacks and mass formations are obsolete inter-locked frontal struggles lasting for years on petrified fronts will not return I guarantee that they were a degenerate form of war" . . . Is it true Herr Hitler that Germany has prepared secret inventions against which even the French Maginot line will be defenseless" . . . Hitler gazed fixedly across from the desk to the precipitious wall opposite . . . on his face a pleased expression, on his face and expression that led me to believe that I had now led Hitler into his favorite subject . . . . .

COMMON COLDS SPREADING IN GREAT WAVE

With sniffles, coughing, clogged nasal breathing, and muscle aches

Don't let this public menace rob you of relaxation, rest, time on the job—with its siege of such discomforts. First, use common sense precautions against this common enemy. Don't overeat. Don't overdo. Dress warmly. Avoid crowds as much as possible.

Second, if a cold does strike you, get Penetro, because Penetro is a great stand-by for colds' miseries affecting upper breathing passages.

Penetro is the powerful modern medication with a base of the same old fashioned mutton suet Grandma used. It works two ways. Outside, counter irritation eases tightness of cold-tortured chest muscles. Inside, Penetro's specially medicated vapors help reduce nasal congestion, and relieve coughing. Stainless, clean, pleasant to use. Get a jar now. Generous size, 25c. Double supply 35c. Always demand Penetro.

It's no longer TABOO for girls to talk of this possible help

You can't expect a grin-and-bear-it attitude to bring relief from the dsitress of periodic, functional pain.

Perhaps that's why so many women use CARDUI. It has a 62-year record of 2-way help, when taken as directed: (1) started three days before "your time," it should help relieve pain due to purely periodic, functional causes: (2) taken as a tonic, CARDUI usually improves appetite, aids digestion by increasing the flow of gastric juices, and thus helps build resistance, which often aids in minimizing periodic functional distress.

Try CARDUI. You may be glad you did!

Rev. Chas. M. Toney Busy Over Weekend

Rev. Charles M. Toney, Field Secretary of Los Angeles District Association of the Western Baptist Convention, performed a lovely wedding ceremony Sunday morning at 8 a. m. in E. 46th and Avalon. Rev. Toney boarded the 8 a. m. train for San Diego where he was guest of the Bethel Baptist church of which Rev. Chas. H. Hampton is pastor. Rev. Hampton is president of the Western Baptist State Convention, Rev. Toney says. "He has not forgotten how to preach."

In the afternoon, Rev. Toney attended the meeting of the San Diego branch of NAACP, which was held at the Bethel A. M. E. church, at which time he renewed his membership. He also attended the Mid-Winter session of the Western Baptist State Convention, Feb. 24-25, held at Progressive Baptist church E. 35th and Trinity streets, Los Angeles.

Rev. F. L. Taylor is pastor. A grand session was held Feb. 28, he delivered a sermon for Club No. 4 at Faithful Central Baptist church, 40th place and Paloma, Rev. A. C. Capers, pastor. His subject was "Love, Light, Jesus Christ is All." Acts 16:18. This sermon was so well delivered that Rev. Toney will repeat it in the very near future.

NEGRO FIGHTER AWARDED SILVER STAR—P. F. C. Mack B. Anderson, Brenham, Texas, who has been awarded the Silver Star fourth highest combat medal for his heroic action during the recent Japanese bombings in the China-Burma-India area. Several instances of exceptional courage were reported. P. F. C. Anderson stooc up in the middle of an airfield firing a machine gun while a Japanese Zero fighter repeatedly swooped over him. Eventually his gun jamed and Anderson then raced across the field, leaped into a trench, whipped out his pistol, and continued.

SOCIAL SINS

Whatever the cause, gossip is one of the worst social sins. Offtimes a group of people will meet together regularly, and, invariably they will start talking about some individual who isn't present.

Many a person has sensed a coldness among friends, has heard whisperings behind their back, watching in heart-breaking dismay the crumbling of all their influence because of evil gossip. The life-work of many good, fearless people has been hopelessly blighted because of this social sin.

We should bear in mind, no word should be spoken about another until it can be spoken with all the sympathetic kindliness that we would want to characterize the conversation of others about us. Simply, because circumstances are not always as they seem on the surface. Before you criticize your friend, or anyone, for cats you do not understand, be sure your own deportment is so perfect that no one could misjudge YOU.

Dear Prof. Herman: After reading your letter last week, I decided to follow your advice and become active in war work. I have joined an auxiliary that helps to entertain soldiers on their furlough, and find it very interesting. At least I am not lonesome and as blue as I was. The fact that I am bringing some happiness into the service man's life seems to make me feel better.

T. P.—Does he still care for me?

Ans.—After giving your question careful thought, I find that this young man is very fond of you. But you both are too young to think seriously of this friendship. You will have many friends, and later in life, one of them will become very dear to you.

L. M. J.—Will I marry soon?

Ans.—It comes to me that you are very fond of a young man and are wondering if this friendship will result in marriage. Marriage is indicated in the very near future, and it will in all probability be to the fellow you are now going with.

R. R.—Has India always been under the British Government?

Ans.—After a rule of over 2[illegible] years India passed under the control of the British crown. In 193[illegible] a new Constitution was adopted, a first step toward dominion status, reconciling provinces and feudal states, and forming a federated nation of the whole country, which up to that time has been divided to some respect.

Dear Professor: I read your column at every available opportunity and it really impresses me to see the people you can satisfy by solving their problems. It seems you must have some God[illegible] intelligence. I would like very much for you to answer a question for me. What happened to the money?

Ans.—Concentrating upon your question I find that your sister-in-law has been living with you and she misplaced the money. I find that she is the type of person that goes around a great deal and that is how the money was lost. Tell E. C. to be more careful and to not take large sums of money with her.

A. W.—Will I be successful?

Ans.—I vision your being successful with this case you now have in court and getting a just decision. You will get the money you have in mind.

Mrs. A. A. Will I ever be contented again?

Ans.—Your Lucky Stars and Guiding Planet, indicate you finding happiness and peace of mind in the near future. The coming years hold many surprises but they will only bring joy and the fear you have will soon disappear.

R. M. McK. Why does he act the way he does?

Ans. — My Psycho-Mentalis Crystal reveals your son's attitude toward you, and it seems that he never had the chance to get close to you, as some children do their parents. Don't feel bad about it, something will soon occur that will make him realize how much you mean to him, and change his actions a great deal.

WAR ON NEGRO
TRUTH: For 323 years a war of prejudice, discrimination, lynching and abuses has been waged against us. I began to fight this battle when I discovered that I was a 'made fool.' Mark you, not a fool but a 'made one', like many intellectuls.
Thinking people are asking: What are we—Negroes, olored People or what? What is a NEGRO? No educator has ever given a satisfactory answer. They haven't the courage. The truth has never been told. Why is NEGRO the most disputed name? Because the truth is not known. Truth Is The Basis Of Education. I went to a university; spent 5 years in law school in Boston, became counsellor in public schools. Worked in educational sociology at New York University.
After 15 years' investigation, study and research, I found the facts, the his-tory, the truth about the race.
With my discovery, I made money, and gained world respect.
It can do the same for you. I have compiled it in the great book: "HUMAN SIDE OF PEOPLE." 399 pages, 84 pictures by myself, Raphael P. Powell. The demand for this book by thousands proves that it shows the way o success and is helping to win the war against race prejudice. Price $3. Send orders to: PHILEMON CO., 224 West 135th St., New York City, GUARANTEED: The only book which gives the TRUTH about our race.

Grand Jury Probe Sought

To die at the age of 13 is a tragedy. But, the relatives of 13 year old Ronald Hudson who was shot and killed by police officers last Thursday night while riding in a stolen car cannot reconcile themselves into believing this to be a mere tragedy, but a case of official recklessness on the part of the law. Attorney Loren Miller, representing the relatives of the boy intends to seek a grand jury investigation of the matter.

Patrolman Owen Tucker, responsible for the shooting, together with Officer Charles R. Rothert pursued the car driven by little Hudson and two or three other companions, for several blocks before ending their ride near 28th Street and Naomi Ave.

At the coroner's inquest, held Monday afternoon, the report of the autopsy surgeon showed that one of the bullets entered the child's right eye, inspite of the fact that the police officers stated definitely that they had fired at the car as it was being driven away from them by young Hudson. Rumors had it that the youngster had been shot by a policeman who was facing him.

The usual claim of having first fired in the air to frighten the children was made by the offi-

Blows to Jim Crow Felt at Sacramento

OAKLAND — The Negro community stood united here today behind legislative measures in a determined fight to batter down the racial bars to democracy.

Characterizing the bills as part of the world wide struggle for liberation and freedom, Assemblyman Augustus Hawkins, at a mass meeting in Beth Eden Baptist church yesterday, appealed for a vigorous people's fight.

Hawkins pointed to the strategic position America holds in the oppressed people's struggle, declaring the test of democracy is before the nation and Negroes themselves.

He rapped compromising leaders and stressed the importance of popular vigilance to force leaders to promote the people's interests at all times.

OUTLINES QUESTIONS

The Los Angeles Negro assemblyman outlined three questions covered by bills "aimed to bring democracy to minority groups" which he has introduced:

1. "Freedom of residence is a vital part of democracy." AB 1599 prohibits racial discrimination in public housing; AB 1598 forbids restrictive covenants.

2. Racial equality in employment "is a question of fighting for the opportunity to contribute to winning the war." AB 41 and AB 50 place the power of the state behind edicts banning discrimination in war work and government jobs; it affects both labor and employers. Recalcitrant unions would be forced to open their doors to all workers

POWELL ADDRESS CLIMAX OF END-JOB-BIAS PARLEY

Thousands are expected to crowd Philharmonic auditorium Sunday afternoon at 3 p. m. when New York's first and only Negro City Councilman, Rev. Adam Clayton Powell, addresses the climaxing mass meet of a city-wide conference on the elimination of race bias from defense industries as a means of bolstering Los Angeles war production effort.

Business session of the Conference will be held Saturday at Second Baptist church, 24th and Griffith Streets beginning at noon.

Dr. Powell has achieved national recognition in the past few years as pastor of Abyssinia Baptist church, with a membership of 9000, organizer of cooperative insurance and consumers bodies, editor of the hard-hitting New York newspaper, The People's Voice, and as the first and only Negro member of the New York City Council. He has emerged as a national leader of militant, win-the-war Negro America.

A week later, March 21, Dr. Powell wil speak at Second Baptist church under auspices of the CIO.

MASS MEET TO FOLLOW CONFERENCE SESSIONS

The March 14 Philharmonic mass meeting will follow an all-day Saturday conference of Negro bodies, trade unions and progressive organizations at Second Baptist church, to establish city-wide unity behind an effective program to bolster Los Angeles' war production through plugging up manpower leakages caused by racial discrimination.

Fortified by the recent significant statement of the planning bureau of the War Manpower Commission in Washington, "The nation's manpower needs for 1943 cannot be met unless job discrimination against Negroes, women and other available workers is eliminated," the delegates, five from each participating organization, will hack out a program for full concentration upon sore spots of discrimination in local war industry.

TO HIT BOILERMAKERS

Set for a major attack is the AFL Boilermakers union, which holds closed shop agreements with Calship yards, Consolidated ship yards and the Western Pipe and Steel Company, but limits production through maintaining Jim Crow unions which fail to protect Negro workers' upgrading rights.

Means will be devised to support militantly the stand of Lodge 727 of the International Association of Machinists at Lockheed aircraft company where the local union has ask-

Yergan Backs Marcantonio Poll Tax Bill

NEW YORK—The National Negro Congress, in a statement issued by its President, Dr. Max Yergan, urged its local councils and affiliated organizations to rally support for the pasage in the 78th Congress of H .R. 7, the Anti-Poll Tax Bill introduced in the House by Congressman Vito Marcantonio.

The statement issued by Dr. Yergan follows in full

"It is imperative that every force in your area be rallied to support H. R. 7, the Anti-Poll Tax Bill introduced in this Congress by Representative Vito Marcantonio. The continuation of the Poll Tax as a requirement for voting is not only inimicable to the democratic aims for which we fight, but its very existence is a threat to the war effort of this nation. We must build the strongest unity possible in the struggle to abolish the Poll Tax. Therefore, in response to the decision of the National Executive Board of the National Negro Congress, which met in an emergency session here two weeks ago, and voted to support Mr. Marcantonio's measure, I call upon you to take the necessary action to implement this decision in your area. In the interest of expediting time, the following suggested actions are proposed:

1. Wire your Congressman immediately to sign the Discharge Petition to bring H. R. 7 to the floor of the House.

2. Organize a campaign in your area to abolish the Poll Tax.

Bus Drivers Won't Eat With Race

Esker Blurton, an employee of Los Angeles Cleaners and Dyers for 15 years, filed suit for damages for discrimination against Frank's Cafe, 790 East 16th street. The complaint which was filed this week by his Attorney, Lloyd Griffith, alleges that the proprietor of the cafe refused to serve Negroes because LARY Bus Drivers, patrons employed directly across the street from the cafe by the Railway Company, objected.

FEPC STILL IN DANGER; URGE MOBILIZATION OF PUBLIC SUPPORT

Almost the first thing that President Roosevelt did on his return from the Casablanca Conference was to take steps to save the Fair Employment Practice Committee from descuttled. For the FEPC had been as good as scuttled when the War Manpower Commission announced last January 11 the cancellation of hearins on discrimination in the railroad industry. The protest that greeted this unexpected reversal was immediate and immense—and the deep anger was not limited to any one group, or any one section

For his part President Roosevelt lost no time expressing his flat disagreement with WMC's action. The White House called for "a conference of leaders of those groups opposing discrimination in war employment to consider revision and strengthening of the Committee's scope and powers."

In addition, the President bluntly added that he "considers it advisable to review the situation, and when the machinery has been established to meet the problem, the hearings in the railtemporarily postponed, will be continued."

Accordingly the War Manpower Comission sent out invitations to representatives of nineteen organizations in the forefront of the fight against discrimination for a conference on February 19. Paul V. McNutt presided, and Attorney General Biddle listened in. At the meeting neither McNutt nor Biddle committed himself to a definite course of action. They heard the delegates, and took all proposals 'under advisement.'

For their part, the organizations attending submitted a program endorsed by all, including the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the Negro Labor Victory Commi-

Inez Hatchett Goes on Trial for Murder

Inez Hatchett, 38, year old slayer of Ernest Dempsey, 26, goes on trial again Friday in the courtroom of Superior Judge Clement D. Nye on charges of murdering the man last March 31, 1942

Mrs. Hatchett was previously convicted of his slaying but won a new trial when her attorney Crispus A. Wright, appealed her case to the District Court of Appeal. The case was reversed on the ground that the trial judge had misdirected the jury.

The case attracted widespread attention at the time of the shooting because Mrs. Essie Dempsey, wife of the slain man, contended that Mrs. Hatchett had called her on the telephone and allowed her to hear the reports from the four shots fired into Dempsey's body.

Mrs. Hatchett claimed that she shot the man when he attacked her with a medal smoking stand.

Mrs. Hatchett was recently returned here from Tehachapi where she had been serving her sentence when she received news that she had won a new trial.

ARTHUR COLE RETIRES AS L. A. POLICE OFFICER

Still hale and hearty, after 20-years of service in the Police Department, Officer Arthur Cole, usually found at Seventh and Main Streets, marked his last day of service on March 6th. His twenty years included details in the Detective Bureau, Radio, Radio Cars and Traffic Department.

Born in Michigan, Officer Cole is the grandson of H. A. Cole who accumulated a great deal of wealth in business and real estate in that State. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Cole, who migrated to Los Angeles in 1900. As pioneer residents, they took their place in church and civic activities, and were prominent as community leaders.

Mr. and Mrs. Cole boastfully claim the parentage of Mme. Florence Cole McCleaves, who made history as an internationally famous singer.

Arthur Cole was an accomplished carpenter, a trade learned at Tuskegee, from which school he was graduated. He proudly recalls the honor he had of sitting at the feet of Booker T. Washington, also of being a student of Dr. George Washington Carver.

During World War No. 1, he served in France, and was ap-

Dear Editor:

Copies of the EAGLE reached my office through friends. I would like to have it regularly, so lpease ask your Circulation Department to bill me for a year's subscription.

I was glad to hear that you were put on the Los Angeles Grand Jury and I feel you can be a very good influence in decisions made by that group. We have been swamped with work here in the Congress and have been outvoted so far on a number of important issues, such as the Dies Committee.

Aboft the only exciting triumph the liberals had was when the House was made to reverse itself on Dean Pickens. We all felt very good when that was straightened out and Mr. Pickens' right to his job was admitted by the reactionaries on the floor in Congress.

Best regards,
REP. BILL ROGERS

Teachers Union Award Goes to Late Dr. George W. Carver

Dr. George Washington Carver, world renowned scientist and agricultural chemist, has been posthumously given the Annual Award of the Teachers Union for "significant activity in behalf of democracy." Dr. Carver died recently at Tuskegee Institute, Ala., where he had spent more than 40 years in agricultural research.

Samuel Wallach, chairman of the union's Educational Conference Committee, said, in announcing the decision:

"The Teachers Union is proud to present its award this year to Dr. Carver. Nothing better symbolizes the democracy for which we fight than the life and work of George Washington Carver. Against the depraved belief of Hitler, that it is a 'criminal absurdity to train a born half-ape,' stands Dr. Carver's inspiring record of service to his people and his country.

"Now in the midst of war, the fruits of his scientific genius stand forth; and he could number among his devoted students such men as Vice-President Wallace, who recently said: 'It was that faith and charity that he extended to me as a small boy that stirred something in me.'

"On the occasion of Dr. Carver's death President Roosevelt said that 'the world has lost one of its eminent figures.' The Teachers Union is proud to take its place in the fight to preserve that democracy, which Dr. Carver expressed and carried for-

Race-Baiters Want House to Hear Rickenbacker

WASHINGTON—Heavy pressure behind the scenes is being turned on Chairman Sabath of the House Rules Committee, one of the two liberals on the committee, in an effort to get immediate hearings on a resolution inviting Captain Eddie Rickenbacker to address the House.

The resolution was introduced last week by—surprise!—Representative John ("White Supremacy") Rankin of Mississippi, who has been captivated by Rickenbacker's vitrolic attacks on labor. Rankin is a notorious reactionary specializing in Negro baiting.

Administration leaders in Congress are anxious to bury the Rankin resolution, but they will need plenty of support in the form of messages from back home to all members of Congress.

The purpose of this fund is the building of an educational and social service unit addition to the church when the war is over.

an international alliance with England and the Soviet Union.

Dean William Pickins was selected by Martin Dies as his first smear victim for the year, accomplishing the noteworthy triumph of red-baiting and Negro baiting at one and the same time.

That the people of this nation demanded a reversal of the Congress' action in firing Pickens is a healthy indication that this democracy can, now and again, wake up to the dire danger which Mr. Dies and his ilk certainly represent.

On the debit side however was the 300 to 90-odd vote of confidence which the Texan smear expert extorted from the House of Representatives a few days later.

It is time that Dies sabotage of the war effort be halted—and that decisively.

The one way to remove Dies, plus all his ilk, is the passage of anti-poll tax legislation in this session of Congress.

The Hitler helper from the Lone Star state is monotonously re-elected to Congress by a tiny minority of the adult citizens of his home district. Why? Because the vote robbing poll tax snatches this fundamental of all democratic privileges from the hands of those who would toss such an appeaser out of public office.

It is in the name of the patriotic masses of white and Negro Southerners, that the cry for passage of the anti-poll tax bill is raised.

Grand Jury Probe Sought in Hudson Boy's Death

cers in question, when according to their story, they had first noticed the car near 41st street and Hooper avenue and had pursued it to the scene of the shooting where it was supposed to have stopped once and then turned across the street in front of their car, and where Alfred Vivion of 1310 East 18th street, 15 years old jumped from the car and ran.

At the moment they fired, the officers further claim that Arthell Washington, one of the other occupants of the car, and Hudson who was driving drove westward again and that they shot at the fleeing automobile. The next thing they saw was Ronald Hudson fall from the front door. He died later at Georgia Street Receiving Hospital.

According to Washington, who took the stand, while Vivion refused to testify, fearing he might incriminate himself, they heard neither the siren nor commands to stop the car. Washington also disputed the statements of the police that they had pursued the car for several blocks.

It was evident from the line of questioning by the deputy coroner in charge that he was trying to establish a favorable case for the police officers, justifying the killing. According to the official in charge, Hudson had a "bad record", which, if at all true, was not reason enough for the neglect to further probe certain discrepancies which arose in the testimony.

While the record of the boy shows five or six arrests on charges including theft and shooting dice, there was no record of his having been involved in crimes of violence. The testimony of the police officers did not once prove that Hudson had threatened violence at the time of the shooting. The fact that Hudson and his companions were small enough for their age not to be mistaken for adults by the officers, was established in the evidence.

The owner of the car was available for questioning, yet no move was made to corroborate the statement made by Washington that the failure to stop quickly might have been due to faulty brakes.

"We feel that the shooting was entirely unjustified, even though a technical excuse of apprehending a criminal involved in a felony, was the excuse advanced by the officer," Attorney Miller stated. "At the best, it seems to us a case of worse than bad judgment on the part of the officers and at the worst a matter of recklessness entirely unjustified by the circumstances and that borders on sheer criminality."

Ronald's father is a soldier in the regular army, stationed at Camp Phillips, Kansas. His mother lives at 1017 East 21st St.

Man Cleared of Girl's Charge

Lee MacArthur, recently of Houston, Texas, was found not guilty last week by Judge Leslie Still, presiding in Department 46 of the Superior Court. Mr. MacArthur was charged with the crime of Contributing to the Delinquency of Polita Monge, a minor, (17 years of age).

Miss Monge testified that the defendant, accompanied her to Los Vegas, Nevada, where they rented a room and registered as man and wife; and that he had promised to marry her.

MacArthur contended that the girl knew that he was already married; that he did not promise to marry her; and that he accompanied her to Nevada because she threatened to accuse him of having had an intercourse with her.

MacArthur was represented by Attorney Lloyd Griffith.

Lower Tax Rate Seen in L. A. County

Continuing his policy that an economical county budget must be prepared for 1943-44 fiscal year, Supervisor Gordon L. McDonough, this week placed into effect greater control over surplus funds of county departments.

As chairman of the Board of Supervisors, McDonough has declared the need of lower county taxes because of the necessity of meeting high Federal income taxes, and buying War Bonds.

At his request the Board of Supervisors adopted a rigid policy whereby departments of county government are not permitted to use up surplus funds for purchases which normally fall in the new budget.

Discontinuance of the practice to buy in the last months of each fiscal year, ending June 30, will permit use of funds in the new budget, thereby requiring a lower county budget and a saving to taxpayers in a lower tax rate.

Ride Rationing Discussed By LARY Official

The rationing of street car rides has been the subject of conversation for some time. The discussion usually resolves itself into trying to find a plan which will prevent such an occurrence in Los Angeles, if possible.

In discussing the possibility of ride rationing, L. A. Reeves, director of the Bureau of Public Service of the Los Angeles Railway, said:

"Ride rationing is something we all want to steer clear of if we can and for as long as we can. In my opinion if riders will move toward the exits after boarding a car and leave room at the entrances for others to board the car, and if they will carefully obey the instructions of the staggered-hour program, we'll be able to get along very nicely without ride rationing."

Review Life of Late Mrs. Markham

MRS. EMMA TODD MARKHAM

The recent passing of Mrs. Emma Todd Markham brings to a close the highly commendable life of a Los Angeles pioneer of note. Born and educated in Houston, Texas, she was the eldest daughter of Methodist minister, Rev. and Mrs. Gabriel Todd. She became a proficient musician, stressing church music, at an early age. Her mastery of dress-making was an early accomplishment, as well.

From her union with H. W. Markham was born a son, H. W. Markham, Jr. They arrived in Los Angeles, Nov. 4, 1907, and joined Wesley Church. Mrs. Markham served as church organist there for 26 years, leaving on moving to Redondo Beach. Following a six months illness she passed Monday morning. Surviving her are a devoted husband, a son and wife, five grand children, two sisters, two aunts, cousins, nephews and hosts of friends.

Funeral serices will be held Saturday, at 2 o'clock, at Wesley Methodist Church. Electa OES No. 3 will participate, Angelus has charge, and internment will be in Rosedale Cemetery.

Upon his return to his home, Arthur Cole worked as a building contractor, and then in 1922 joined the Police Department, where he has been ever since.

Following the traditions of his parents, Officer Cole did not allow his activities in the police department to interfere with his efforts in religious, community and civic enterprises. He is also a member of the NAACP Board of Directors. While a member of the reat St. Paul Baptist Church of which S. A. Williams is pastor, he is chairman of the Trustee Board, and president of the Southern Baptist District of the Brotherhood.

His further activities include his being a member and chairman of the County Council delegation of the American Legion; and past Commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Officer Cole is also a Mason.

With the multitude of activities pursued by him, he still finds time to enjoy his lovely family. His wife is Mrs. Ella Cole, who is also interested in church, social and civic affairs. His son, Arthur Cole, Jr., is a promising young student at the Junior High School. His charming young daughter, Florence Cole Dyer, is the bride of a young defense worker.

With regret do the citizens of Los Angeles look upon the departure of Officer Cole from active service, and extend to him their very best wishes for a long and happy life with his family.

In the light of the President's promise, there is no question that some sort of government agency to deal with discrimination will be forthcoming. But the kind of agency and the authority it fill be able to exercise remain of paramount importance. The program suggested to WMC representa, in the eyes of the leading groups consulted by McNutt, minimum demands.

The five points stressed were the following:

1 1. The restored FEPC should be granted independent status and should be directly responsible to President Roosevelt.

2. The postponed railroad hearings and the public investigation of discrimination in the Southwest against Latin American workers should be rescheduled at once.

3. The FEPC must have authority to levy sanctions against those guilty of discrimination—that is, the Committee should be empowered to impose financial and other penalties to enforce decisions.

4. The FEPC should be provided with a budget large enough to enable it to employ an adequate staff, to set up offices regionally throuhout the country, and to send capable investigators and staffs into the field.

5. The technique of public hearings should be continued and strengthened, with FEPC granted full power to publicize findings and thereby to enlist the broadest public support in the effort to stamp out discrimination.

ROY OTTLEY GETS RANKING CIO POST

Name Ottley to CIO War Relief Staff

WASHINGTON, Mar. 10.—The National CIO Committee for American and Allied War Relief, through its chairman, Irving Abramson, this week announced the appointment of Roi Ottley, New York journalist, as publicity director of the organization.

The appointment is regarded here with great significance, as it brings Ottley into the nation's expanding war relief councils. Today they are assuming vast importance in the war as well as in the post-war plans.

The CIO man, probably the largest individual giver to Community War Chests and war relief, has raised more than $10,000,000 from its membership for United Nations relief, and has earmarked over $2,000,000 for special AFL-CIO labor projects in China, Russia and Britain.

That the CIO should choose a Negro for this strategic position met with considerable favorable reaction here. Observers feel that it points the progressive direction of the CIO organization, which, in the past, has been willing to serve the interests of Negroes.

ROI OTTLEY
. . . CIO war relief publicist.

Ottley, author of "Inside Black America" which Houghton Mifflin is publishing this May, brings to his position long experience as a journalist. He was formerly an editor and columnist with the New York Amsterdam-Star News, contributor to national periodicals, and book reviewer for the New York Times and Herald Tribune. He was educated at St. Bonaventure's college, University of Michigan, and St. John's Law school.

U. S. Scuttles Food Stamp Plan Here

Food stamp plan will no longer be operated in Los Angeles county by the United States Department of Agriculture through its Surplus Marketing administration.

This notice was served on the Board of Supervisors this week and informed members of the county board that the agreement between the county and Federal government was being terminated by the federal government.

Receiving this information, Supervisor Gordon L. McDonough, chairman of the board, secured immediate action instructing the superintendent of the Department of Public Assistance to report to the board as to the number of cases affected by the closing of the food stamp plan.

McDonough also requested the Public Assistance department to report on necessary action which might be necessary to assist the many people who have been using food stamps and who, by virtue of the Federal action will be deprived of this additional purchasing power.

Pointing out the need for attention to this matter, Chairman McDonough explained that he fully realized the benefits of the stamp plan because two years ago he was instructed by this county to survey the possibility of interesting the Federal government in establishing the plan in this county.

McDonough at that time conferred with Federal officials and armed with essential data showing the need in the county was successful in bringing the plan to Los Angeles.

1. Q. I do not use canned goods, or, as some put it, "have enough to last several months". Must I apply for Book No. 2?

A. Book No. 2 will soon be used to ration meats also. Therefore, even though you do not use canned goods or have several months supply, you should get your Book No. 2 immediately.

2. Q. We live in the country and my family has always kept a fairly large stock of canned goods on hand. Why should we be penalized for something we have done to avoid frequent shopping trips?

A. The Consumer Declaration is in no sense a penalty. OPA recognizes that many families, especially in out-of-the-way places always keeps large supplies of canned goods. But there are just as many, if not more families which do not. Canned goods supplies are short and the Consumer Declaration is simply a means of starting the rationing program off on as fair a basis as possible for all. It would be hardly fair to let families with large stocks buy just as much as those with little or no canned goods on hand.

3. Q Our supplies consist only of two or three kinds of food. As I understand it, I may lose all my stamps and will not be able to vary my family's diet.

A. This is not so. Only the eight-point stamps will be removed from Book No. 2 at the rate of one stamp for each can, eight ounces or over, in excess of five per person. In other words no matter how large your supply is, you still will have half of your points--all the five, two, and one-point stamps—to "spend" for a variety of rationed foods.

4. Q. Do I have to give up my excess cans?

A. No. No one need surrender any cans no matter how large his supply. Keep them and use them at the same rate as the rationing allowance permits, and only buy new goods as you must have them.

5. Q. What about canned fish and canned meat? I see that the sales of these have been suspended. Must I include them in my Consumer Declaration?

A. No. Canned fish and meat are not being rationed under the processed foods program. They will be included in the meat rationing program to be started in another five or six weeks.

Drastic Army Action Would Curb Riots, USO Head Says

With the minds of local citizens again disturbed over a riot involving colored and white servicemen early last Saturday morning, March 6, leaders are casting about for some steps that can be taken to prevent what may in the future develop into major proportions with great loss of life at a time when every life lost is a feather in Hitler's cap.

Figures have not yet been released by police of the Bay cities as to how many Negroes were injured in this latest riot, involving 350 of both races, but there is no doubt that some were among the casualties. The arrival of 20 Marines armed with sub-machine guns quelled the fighting.

According to Nate George, former Whittier College track star, now director of a USO Center in the area, the possibility of ill-feeling between the races breaking out into inflamed violence is inflamed at Vallejo, Salinas, or other points there, because of the attitude of the whites from the southern states. Their derogatory remarks about Negroes are increased, invariably, by any reluctance on the part of Negroes to treat them as superiors. In fact, says George, who was here to attend the Marian Anderson concert last week, there were two occasions when he might have been beaten himself had he not been physically able to defend himself.

Because this is the third riot in less than three months, George suggests some special order by the War Department, with severe penalties attached, as the only way to prevent future occurrences. Racial problems frequently arise in the USO house, of which he is Director, because he absolutely refuses to favor one nationality over another in this all-nation recreation spot.

Ask yourself these Questions when you buy a laxative

Ques. What is the name of a laxative that has been a popular and expected favorite with four generations? Ans. Black-Draught. Ques. Is Black-Draught purely herbal? Ans. Yes, and you'll find it easy to take. Ques. Is Black-Draught gentle in action? Ans. Yes, it usually is, if you follow directions. That's why it's called "the friendly laxative."

Black-Draught comes in powdered or granulated form. Many say the granulated is even easier to take. 25 to 40 doses cost only 25¢. Be sure to follow label directions. Get Black-Draught from your dealer today and have it handy next time a laxative is needed.

THIS, TOO, IS A Task Force

—and the task is War. Under the busy fingers of the long distance operators flow messages that move troops, locate and assemble supplies...that help to build ships, guns, tanks and planes.

To handle the gigantic volume of long distance calls, we could use more equipment if we could get it. But that would draw upon critical war materials that are needed at the fighting fronts.

So we earnestly ask you to co-operate by making, to war-busy centers, only long distance calls that are absolutely necessary.

Thank you for your help and your understanding.

WOMEN

MISS MARJORIE SEYMOUR
. . . "Miss 93d Infantry Division" is California beauty.

Santa Barbara Girl Walks Off With Beauty Honors

FORT HUACHUCA, Ariz., Mar. 10.—After an extension of two weeks, for the benefit of men who were on the field, the Special Service 93d Blue Helmet beauty contest for the selection of a "Miss 93d Infantry Division," which began in early January, came to a close here last week. Miss Marjorie Seymour, of Santa Barbara, Calif., was the overwhelming favorite of the judges.

The contest began when the staff of the Special Service Office and the editors of the Blue Helmet decided that a contest was an absolute necessity with every man in the division vowing that he had a picture in his wallet that would "knock your eyes out."

So it was announced that there would be a contest for the selection of a "Miss 93d Infantry Division."

From the date of the announcement of a contest to the close, pictures came out of wallets; from the "girls they left behind them," from home—one soldier even sent in a picture of Lena Horne.

At the close of the contest, three officers and two enlisted men from the Special Service Office, and the news editor of the 93d Blue Helmet gathered in the Special Service Office and quickly culled 1,682 pictures down to three. These three pictures appeared on the pages of the Blue Helmet.

First place winner is Miss Marjorie Seymour, of 114 E. Yorktoli street, Santa Barbara, Calif. She was sponsored by Pvt. Willie Peters, of "I" Co., 368th Infantry.

Still quite young, but holding her own, is little Miss Susie Pauline Taylor, 3817 Munger avenue, Dalas, Texas, who was judged winner of second place in the "Miss 93d Infantry Division" beauty contest. She is the daughter of M/Sgt. Chester Taylor of the G-2 Section, 93d Div., Fort Huachuca. She was sponsored by Sgt. Ozell Crockett, of the Medical Det. 593d F. A.

The third choice of the judges was Miss Carla J. Edwards, of 2 Boltwood street, Jersey City, N. J. She was the entry of Pvt. Franklin H. Williams, of the 93d Division Headquarters company.

A recent project of the Hi Y was its participation in the Polytechnic Keep Kampus Kleen campaign. Members worked long and industriously to keep the campus free of rubbish.

SPOTLIGHT ON STYLE

EVERYONE NEEDS this type of dress—even if it must be the "one and only." Dressy enough for dates and simple enough for anything else. Note smart binding on collar, cuffs and front opening. The clean lines and buttons marching down the front make this a good style for most figures. Remember to choose a solid color—prints, dots, etc., make would detract from its smartness. This modified shirtwaist design is popular and can be found in almost any store.

Daffodil Girls Club Elects Officers

On Sunday, Feb. 14, Mrs. Laura Washington was hostess to the Daffodil Girls club at her home 1480 E. 43rd street.

All business for the past year was reviewed and checked and the books were closed. New business put on docket was the election of officers, which will take place at the next meeting.

After adjournment the hostess, while serving cocktails, surprised the girls when she disclosed that guests were coming to enjoy the rest of the evening with a Valentine party.

The dining room table was beautifully set and decorated in the color scheme of the day. The centerpiece was a large heart shaped box which turned out to be a treasure chest from which each person received a gift. This was a very unique idea. Golden brown fried chicken and roast turkey with all the trimmings was the menu.

Everyone dined and danced to their hearts' content, and complimented Mrs. Washington on her lovely taste and for being such a gracious hostess.

The last meeting of the month was held at the home of Mrs. Minnie Beatty where the following officers were elected:

Laura Washington, president; Ora Townsend, vice president; Evelyn Booze, recording secretary; Ella Mae Fisher, corresponding secretary; Minnie Beatty, treasurer; Gladys Grundy, business manager; Mamie Heath, critic; Edna Davis, reporter; Laura McCloud, social hostess; and Corella Carter, sergeant-at-arms.

Mrs. Esther T. Greenley, our beloved honorary member, acted as chairman for the election, and conducted everything in her own inimitable way.

These officers will be officially installed at a future date.

A very delicious repast was served by the hostess, after which all left, having expressed their appreciation and enjoyment of the hospitality of Mrs. Beatty, the hostess.

Ora Townsend is president; Edna Davies, reporter.

Coffee, Artists Entertain at USO Center

The Eastside USO is never at a loss for new activities—in fact they present themselves.

Saturday afternoon and evening, Mr. and Mrs. Girard, artists, came in and made sketches of soldiers and sailors in the center. These sketches are to be sent home to the families of the men.

Another "first" was the coffee given by Miss Vye Aldridge complimenting her junior hostesses who have served so faithfully since the inception of the center. The coffee was given at the spacious home of Mr. and Mrs. Terry, on E. Adams boulevard.

The table, with its old lace covering, was decorated with a centerpiece of flowering almonds, massive candlabras containing pink candles, further carrying out the mono-coloristic scheme. Silver coffee service, dainty chinaware, and cut-glass punch service were used to serve coffee, grapefruit juice and a large assortment of coffee cakes, pigs-in-blanket, cheese biscuits, jelly-filled biscuits and apple struddle.

Mrs. Della McDonald presided, assisted by the following workers: Mesdames Ethel Atkinson, Clara McLemore, Jessie L. Terry, Evelyn Warren, Mary Belle Johnson, Maudie Bilbrew Worthan, Earnestine Davidson, and the Misses Dorothy C. Guinn, Norma Amado, Marilyn Warren, Juanita Terry and Adino Williamson, also Mesdames Ann Hunter, Maudie Luke and Pauline Johnson.

Between the hours of 9 to 12 a. m. over 300 guests milled in to take part in the surprise birthday opus.

Girl Journalist a Hit at Poly

Marionne Jackson, journalism I student of Miss Frances Hoy, Polytechnic High School journalism instructor, has taken "The Poly Optimist" by storm.

While it is unusual for a beginning student's work to be published in the paper, Marionne has seen a great deal of her work appear in print. Recently, she composed one whole column of verses based on the St. Valentine's Day theme. Another of her stories, a fascinating sketch of one of the faculty members, appeared on the feature page.

★ POST OFFICE FACTS & FIGURES

PAUL L. HACKETT, Sr.

Preamble.—We, the People of the United States, in order to form a more perfect Union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America.

Our forefathers were faced with the tremendous task of writing the Constitution of the United States of America in 1787. The results of their efforts was a great document which is still applicable to the peoples neds today.

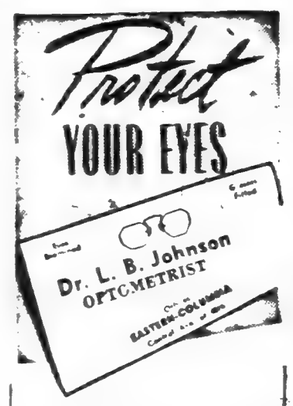
Today in 19b3, we are faced with the momentous task of guaranteeing that the provisions of this document are available to all peoples. The out come of this present world wide conflict may decide whether democracy is to be or not to be.

Labor and management are fighting a common enemy, the Axis. We might say Democracy versus Fascism. Certainly this is not the time for idiosynocracies, retalistion, and personal prejudices because of differences in opinions. Regardless of our station in life none of us should feel that we are above reproach. It is the inherent right of every American citizen to exercise his or her honest opinion.

This great nation was founded on difference of opinion. Civilization has advanced through mistakes and their rectification. Labor and management have both made mistakes, but those in responsible positions should be big enough to admit these mistakes and attempt to correct them. Constructive criticism is the medium through which the people make their wants known.

Plans and proceedures formulated today are the assurances and guarantees of tomorrow. If labor and managemnet find it impossible to meet on common ground during this emergency, it will be even more difficult in post war days. Labor and not capital will win or lose this war. Armed forces must have food, munition, and supplies; but there is one other very important item and that is morale.

New men arriving at the front always bring the latest news from home. The best news we can give them to carry is that labor is getting a square deal at home. That labor and management are working harmoniously together inin the government and out of the government. That the four freedoms are an actuality, "and the government of the people, by the people, and for the people shall not perish from the earth."



We are sorry to announce that Mrs. Mary Johnson, matron at the Terminal Annex, has been confined at her home for the past three weeks. We hope she will be back to normal in the near future.

The Department lost a crackerjack mechanic when Baker Kuykendal resigned to go into defense. Baker tells us he is taking on new life as he has a chance to use his ability. More power to you Kuyke.

OVERFLOW CROWD AT TRINITY CONSECRATION

Filling every available space and using an overflow room on the second floor, fully 2,000 people were ministered to at the Trinity Baptist church, W. 35th and Normandie, last Sunday.

At the morning service, 150 workers who had been elected to serve the church as officers and leaders in the church, the church school and other auxiliary activities were commissioned and consecrated to their tasks.

As they knelt at the chancel rail and filled the aisles, Sgt. Sylvester Kelly closed the consecration, which had been led by the pastor, Dr. J. L. Caston, with the consecration prayer.

Thirty-five persons, who had united with the church during February, were fellowshiped into the church and a large class received baptism and Holy Communion. The pastor preached on "Baptism in Water."

DR. J. L. CASTON

"The Herald," the weekly publication of the church, carried the welcome news that the pastor, who had been offered a commission as first lieutenant in the chaplains' corps of the United States Army, had been released by the War Department when he urged his non-availability at this time due to the responsibilities connected with the church here. Since the removal of the Trinity church to its new location, it has enjoyed phenomenal success and its membership has reached more than 1,000.

The Art-Tea, sponsored by the Women's Ensemble in the afternoon, was a tremendous success as people came from all parts of the city to view for the last time the elaborate art exhibit, which included a portrait of the minister in oils. The ensemble expressed its sincere thanks to all who have supported its endeavor during the month.

Sgt. Sylvester Kelly, one of the young ministers of the church before entering the Army, brought the evening message and Corporal Wayman Westfield, formerly one of the officers of the church, was the guest soloist. Both of these young men are on furlough and were heartily welcomed home by the entire membership.

PROF. CHARLES A. BIGGERS, president and founder of Biggers College and 20th Century Correspondence School now located in Oklahoma City, arrived in the city last Saturday. Many Angelenos will recall him from the early days of his career, when he operated his business college in this community.

Since last visiting here Prof. Biggers has been ordained a minister. In the very near future he will preach at Phillips CME church of which his nephew, Rev. Phillip N. Moore is pastor. Prof. Biggers is stopping at 741 East 43rd street.

World Day of Prayer Service at Second Baptist

World Day of Prayer will be observed as usual at Second Baptist church, Friday, Mar. 12, from one 'til three p. m. Seven other churches will join in the national observance. Mrs. Anna Griffith Morrow will conduct the music.

The interracial meeting held last Sunday at Second Baptist church climaxed a year's progress of Christian friendship under the capable leadership of Mrs. Lillian Stewart, state chairman. More than 400 gathered from citywide churches.

The program was interestingly carried out by an interracial participating group.

Because of outstanding leadership during the past year, the Missionary society honored Mrs. Stewart with a party at the home of the vice president, Mrs. Gallerson. Repast was served the 45 members. Mrs. Stewart received many gifts.

Notables Present Revival Held at 2011 Hooper

A promise of victory is assured in our effort of soul winning and heart warming. God has promised great things whereof we are glad.

Sister Monette Kirk is preaching out of her soul and we believe here to be a sincere soldier at her post. Her preaching continues through Friday of this week, after which Elder J. G. Jones will take charge the week of March 14 through Friday. God needs His preachers now as never before. We are living in a hypocritical age and dealing with an unspanked generation. So awake, ye sleeping preachers and Christians and arise from the dead and help in this strenuous battle.

Sister Gilbert Allen is graciously assisting at the piano. We urgently welcome everyone to our little chapel of prayer. "He that winneth souls is wise."

Hattie M Crooms is minister.

REV. A. L. EDMONDS IN SERMON SERIES

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Thine, O Lord, is the greatness and the power, and the glory, and the victory, and the majesty: . . . both riches and honour come of thee, and thou reignest over all." This selection from I Chronicles is the Golden Text in the Sunday Lesson-Sermon on "Substance" in all Churches of Christ, Scientist.

In a Bible citation from John it is related that when Jesus went up to Jerusalem he saw, at the pool of Bethesda, a certain man "which had an infirmity thirty and eight years. . . . Jesus saith unto him, Rise, take up thy bed, and walk. And immediately the man was made whole, and took up his bed, and walked: . . . Afterward Jesus findeth him in the temple, and said unto him, Behold, thou art made whole: sin no more, lest a worse thing come unto thee. The man departed, and told the Jews that it was Jesus, which had made him whole. And therefore did the Jews persecute Jesus, and sought to slay him, because he had done these things on the sabbath day. But Jesus answered them, My Father worketh hitherto, and I work."

Passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy read: "Jesus did his own work by the one Spirit. He said: 'My Father worketh hitherto, and I work.' " "Christian Science brings to the body the sunlight of Truth, which invigorates and purifies. . . . The effect of this Science is to stir the human mind to a change of base, on which it may yield to the harmony of the divine Mind."

"One Lord, One Faith, One Baptism."—Eph. 4:5.

Race Track GOSSIP

By Jay Gould

BAY MEADOWS RACE TRACK —Bill Kyne says if Bay Meadows don't run this meet out, there'll be no more races in California.

Florida races, when stranded, let their trainers, horses and owners, leave town the best way they could.

Henry Armstrong in his comeback trial, has raked in a hundred and fifty thousand, ur to this writing.

The curtailment of racing in some sections results in the loss of six million dollars to the war budget directors.

The hot water town, down Arkansas way, races gives one day a week to charity with all the big sports and high bettors on hand both white and colored.

The singing of the Mills boys with a guitar and their fine harmony is still tops around the country.

Miss Fuzzy, better known as Diamond Lill is still casting anxious eyes at Slats Regan, the bartender.

Miss Ethel Brown—It is so nice and easy to be sociable and friendly when out in a party of friends, then everybody will say you are only too fine.

Did you know Mrs. Jimmy Morell, formerly, Mrs. Jack of Jack's Tavern, 1931 Sutter, keeps her cocktail bar glasses clean as new.

A few popular names in the news: Billy Spols of Buffalo; Mrs. Lillian Baker of Cleveland; Nelson Sykes of Chicago: Lovey Joe Robinson of New York; Ray Gardner of Sacramento; Palmer Pinckney of Stockton; Joe Robinson of San Diego; Lucius Lomax of Los Angeles; Jordan Chambers of St. Louis; Tim Cane of Hot Springs; Miss Alma Jackson of Tacoma, Wash.; Miss Dorothy Polk of Portland, Ore.; Pop Kirk, Dick Ruffin, Sonny Lee, Mr. 29, and Margaret Cunningham; Hilda Brown, Walter Green, of Seattle, Percy Williams and Buddy White of Vancouver; Charlie Brower and Charlie Wilson of Winnepeg; Mr. Beasley and Mr. Patterson of Patterson Hotel, New Orleans; Piney Brown and Felix Payne of Kansas City. This bunch really come on.

Frisco Flashes: Your biggest spenders of the week are Fat Wilkerson, Dicky Boy Lewis, Percy Campbell and Frank Scott.

Your biggest female spenders of the week are Kay Francis, Olivet Owens, Velda Wilson and Gladys Pittman.

Julius Delifus' new cocktail bar and dining room, Fillmore and Post will be open for business when you read this.

The four well-dressed ladies that you saw anklin in the Alabam t'other nite were Ella Robbins, Mrs. Hazel Davis, Ruby Hammond and Miss Elise Crawford.

Our sympathy to the friends and relatives of Harry Tanner, bartender at Jack's, Mr. Cactus, well known around the country and Big Steve, also well known, and all of 'Frisco. They all died less than two weeks apart.

Nat Earl, Ione Alexander, Billy Dansby and Fred Pugh will probably be the bartenders at Julius Delifus' new $30,000 cocktail bar and dining room.

Little Sights, Bea Kind, Jay B. Brown, Rita Martin, Bobby Bell, Percy Williams, Billy Piedmont, John Henry, Al Gibson and Cleo Foster are all spending so fast, people think they are rich.

Jumbo, playboy and gambler, and Raymond the sport, out playing hard, minus their wives or a-- of the fine chicks.

In the near future, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Atkinson are expecting a blessed event and his fingers are crossed. Well, we hope it's a boy too.

Last week, Miss Helen Dromyvale and Miss Elvira Cooper were visiting our fine city. They were escorted by Henry Godfrey, a naval musician.

Maurice Waldon, a Chicago boy, has realy made good on the coast. He is rehearsing in a theatrical group in Hollywood. You will soon see him in an all colored picture.

Henry Helms, Mrs. Jap Burr's exhusband, has a fine lay-out in the city now and girls he is now on the loose.

They tell me Maurice Woodon has gone head over heels for a young sepia actress out in Hollywood. Tee! Hee!

Vera Marshall, Mildred Ivy, Dorothy Pitty, Myrtle Jones and Thelma Thompson, play hard all over town Monday night, their evening out.

Why not stop in James Jefferies Barbecue stand, 1810 Post and walk out well pleased; you can also get all the race papers.

Lieut. David D. Derick, a native of San Francisco, son of Mrs. Areeta O. Johnson, 34 Porter St., returned to his home after being away for several months, for extensive training at Fort Benning, Georgia.

Upon receiving his commission, Feb. 10, 1943, he was placed on active duty at Fort Benning, Ga. His wife, Mrs. Raye Derrick, is a mechanic on airplanes at the Alameda Naval Air Base and his sister is Mrs. Olive Carrell, a furrier in Alameda. He is the nephew of Mrs. Larry Thomas, 1540 Broderick St., San Francisco.

Dave Miffin, Rich Brody, Tite Montgomery, Big Bill, Pete Rector, Buddy Montgomery, Sonny Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Elliott, Joe Miller, B. Hill, Al Love, Bob Miles and Mr. Hollywood can be seen ringsiding all fights, playing the night spots on each side of the bridge and laying the dough on the line in the night clubs.

Clarence Coffin, Richard Lee, Eddy McDaniel and wife from New Orleans, Red Duvana and wife of the Geary Hotel, Mr. and Mrs. Sluggin Brown, Vernon Brown, Mustard Arnold and Mr. Louisiana can be seen in all the big money spots, playing the girls and paying big.

Vernon Clay, Jimmy Valentine, Kid Lee, Bob Herford and Freddy Reed have slowed down. They claim they are only waiting for Bay Meadows track to get dry so they can get some choice ponies to play.

Kid North, Society George Dean, J. H. Turner and Joe Trent, and the Club House crew at Bay Meadows are waiting for the big days to roll around so they can get plenty of cash.

I see Nathan Robbins, the juke box man, has slowed down drinking so much. Little Jimmy has also slowed down, along with Barry Clinton.

See Henry Randall is still showing speed.

Artille Burns and Myrtle Harris, Beauty operators, are doing business on opposite sides of the street. Whether they are walking in different directions or not, I wouldn't know.

See Mrs. Dixie Cameron, Mrs. Eva Kelley and B. Parker, beauty operators, still working like horses.

A letter from Corporal Leslie Armstrong, who willed his wife to this writer before he left for the Army, then wrote her a letter putting the Brooklyn Bridge on me. If the old Boob had of been smart he wouldn't have written her as he couldn't lose. I might have helped him along some, and now she's chilled on me. So long soldier boy. Tee Hee!

A letter from Miss Josephine McGlauthing asks that her sister Miss Mildred McGlaughing, she thinks she married a Mr. Scaggs, write her at 615 F. Archer, Hotel Small, Rm. 315, Tulsa, Okla.

Mr. Don and Myrtle Jones are both working at Jack's Tavern and are swell people.

When you see Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lee, you may ask them about their nice visit to New Orleans to see their kin.

We don't get a glimpse of charming Lottie Coffin any more since she has been shopping down in Mid City for baby clothes.

Juanita Pinkerton and Estelle Cox, explaygirls, are doing their bit for Uncle Sam in the day and playing hard at night.

The war brings about lots of changes, Fillmore street at one time would not employ colored help, but now liquor stores, meat markets and groceries are employing colored girls.

The three Whitfield sisters, Ruth, Effie and Anita, are the last word in swell stylish outfits.

The four sisters, Ollie, Bee, Bertha and Lithia are all in business in 'Frisco and really comes on.

Rose Foster, owner of the Rose Dolph hotel, 1864 Post, is spending coin like she is worth a million.

When you get a chance, drop in to see Marjie Sweetwine, who is on the sick list at 1864 Post, Apt. 7.

Pretty Doloris Canan, Katharine Ganes, Chet Marent and Calvin Vincent paying a dollar apiece for each paper at the Town Club while racking the drinks back, three in one.

Miss Lovie Ford, Betty Cade, Bertha Parker, Vivian Washington, Genevieve Lee, Arlene Charles and Doris Childs are glamour girls this week.

Clarence Coffin, thanks for your high blood pressure tablets, as they are tops.

Eugene Sorral, is now in Hot Springs spending some of his dough.

Did you hear about the bum rap Tommy Glass and my pal Eddy got down Mexico Way.

Marie Valdez, Pansy Spates and Hattie McClelland gave 'Frisco and the night clubs a terrible lacing while in town.

Want a Healthy Head of Hair?

MME. MAMIE WILSON, famous scientific scalp specialist.

If you are having trouble with your scalp, and your scalp needs astringing, the oil vessels need awakening, you have excessive dandruff and falling hair; if your hair is dry, brittle and falling, just see Mme. Wilson. She has the remedy for diseased scalps.

Mrs. L. Robinson writes:

"Dear Mrs. Wilson—I am a living witness that Mrs. Bettie Thomas truly was baldheaded. Not one strand of hair could be found. I have known her for many years. To see her now, with a full head of hair, I can scarcely believe my own eyes. I am coming to you Friday, and I wish you to treat my hair, as it is very thin."—Mrs. L. Robinson, 2925 Michigan avenue, Los Angeles, Calif., phone AN-0947.

Mrs. Relda Bowis, 958 E. 11th street, Los Angeles, writes: "Dear Mrs. Wilson: "I must write and let you know how my hair has improved, as it may help someone who is suffering with their scalp. I am not writing for an outside show; this is from my heart. I wish you to help others with their hair problems, as you have helped me. I shall never forget how despondent I was when I came to you. I had gone to different doctors, and most beauty shoppes on the avenue, but all failed to help me. I suffered terribly with itching and sore scalp, and all my hair came out, except a few strands on top and sides.

"My head was as clean as my hands, and I was compelled to keep it covered. Had you turned me down when I came to you, I was so desperate I scarcely knew what to do.

May God bless you, and I do hoope you will live forever to take care of those who need your treatments; the men as well as the women.

"Anyone wishing a healthy head of hair see this God-sent woman who prays over the head, and takes God as her partner in business, and there lies her secret. She is a wonder. Take my advice and see for yourself. Should anyone wish to get in touch with me, call at 959 E. 11th street, Los Angeles, phone VA-7997."

Says Negro May Be Put on Farms

Moran Weston, state chairman of the NY State Department of Civil Liberties, NY Assoc. of IBP OEW, writing in his Chronicle column last week, cautioned Negroes to be on the alert for so-called "pigsty democracy." Moran, active in social and labor work in Harlem, predicts a scheme which will have Negroes carted of fto the farms, as was tried in Maryland last year.

He also cited the instance of the army officer who proposed Negro troops be furloughed to harvest corn.

Give Books for Armed Forces

"Tell the people at home if they want to do something for the boys overseas, send them some books to read. We haven't had a book to read since we hit the islands. The newest book I have seen is about ten years old. It sure would help the morale of the troops to have some good reading stuff."

Such appeals as this which came in a letter to a library patron from a brother overseas have inspired the renewal of the Victory Book Drive to collect gifts of books to send to every post and camp and ship.

"Our forces have expanded so rapidly that the Army, Navy and Marine Corps have found it impossible to supply enough books for all the ships and posts," states the Office of War Information.

New books are wanted, books in good condition, those you and your friends are reading and talking about—books about the war and books that give release from thoughts of the war. Humor and poetry are popular, but so is "What About Germany" and "Report From Tokyo" as well as recent publications on radio, mathematics, aviation, photography and meteorology. For relaxation, adventure and mystery stories are always popular.

"Death and life are in the power of the tongue: and they that love it shall eat the fruit thereof." — Proverbs 28:21.

Let Them Go, Mr. President!

The threat of Alabama's Gov. Dixon against the President and the Nation should be hurled bck in his teeth, and it is our's, not the President's job to do it.

Gov. Dixon objects to President Roosevelts anti-Jim Crow policies, firmly placing the defense of Dixie bias several notches above all-out prosecution of the war.

With Dixon and his cohorts disregarding the war needs of the nited States and defying the commander-in-chief's efforts to enforce executive order 8802, and particularly declaring that they will not hesitate to use violence to prevent the employment of Negro workers in war industries, we receive a distress signal for action in support of President Roosevelt's policies, and especially his win-the-war program.

We know that there are many forces at work to confuse and deceive the Negro people. Among them are the voices of native fascism advising Negroes against support of their government in times of war, directing their attention to past and present persecution at the hands of some Americans.

But we remember that the same element that offers this advice, demonstrated its attitude toward dark Americans and the dark peoples of the world, for that matter, in Herr Hitler's treatment of Jesse Owens during the 1932 Olympiads in Germany, —and we have read "Mein Kampf."

No, Mr. Hitler, we have not forgotten. We are standing upright fighting for the preservation of our nation, the U. S. A. 's, be hurled back in his teeth, and it is ours, b hurled back in his teeth, and it is ours, We recognize the treason of Gov. Dixon and his cliche in their willingness to sacrifice the safety of our country to Jim-Crow, lynch prejudice and mob rule but we know that Gov. Dixon' element is not even the expression of the patriotic South.

Much more important as an indication of the direction in which sentiment of the Southern masses is developing is the action 300 thousand Southern AFL unionsts in recently condemning discrimination and segregation, the defeat of race-baiting Gene Talmadge at the hands of Georgia voters and the increasing importance of the CIO in Dixie labor.
in Dixie labor.

Dixon speaks for a small but powerful group which has been robbing millions of white Southerners and Negro people of their American democratic rights for generations.

He is the voice of the poll taxers, whose greatest fear is the masses of Southern people, black and white. As unity and joint action develops among the latter, we may expect grass-roots demand for enforcement of the President's anti-Jim Crow policies from the heart of the South.

Production for Victory, Conference Goal

As heartening news of the success of American troops, many of them Negro outfits, in the North African campaign is released, all Americans on the home must pledge greatest efforts to back up the selfless achievements of our boys with war production unprecedented in all of our history.

The city of Los Angeles, probably the ranking production center in all of the United Nations bears a huge responsibility to the boys in the front-lines and the foxholes all over this globe. ..Ours is the job of building them ships for transportation of vital life-saving supplies, of building planes to protect their ground warfare, to insure victory.

For the accomplishment of these titanic ends, the fullest mobilization of our city's manpower is relentlessly required. Our failure to realize this full mobilization will deprive the soldiers—the boys from your home and from ours— of the best opportunity for victory. Our failure will be the loss of THEIR lives.

Faced with the stern necessities of such a life-and-death situation, discrimination against any worker because of race, creed or color achieves the stature of high crime against the very survival of the nation.

But with these frightful stakes staring us in the face, there are those so steeped in the decadent prejudices of other times that racial discrimination is fast becoming a scandal of stupendous proportions in Los Angeles war ndustry. Firms deliberately plot divide national unity thru setting one group of their workers against another. Mexicans and Negroes are not upgraded according to ability. Unions maintain Jim Corw units for Negro workers, while others exclude them altogether.

Negro organizations, labor bodies and progressive groups and church representatives who view this situation with increasing alarm have joined in the sponsorship of a conference this Saturday which will be climaxed on Sunday afternoon at Philharmonic auditorium, where City Councilman Adam Clayton Powell will address what is bound to be one of the largest gatherings in recent L. A. history.

The conference sessions Saturday at Second Baptist church will mold an over-all win-the-war program for the Negro people and their friends in support of total production for our city. The meeting, which will bring together for the first time not only active Negro organizations but spokesmen for labor and the church from all sections of Los Angeles. It is this unity which will block the sabotage of victory which lurks behind every act of racial intolerance in Los Angeles' war industry.

Anti-Soviet Furore -- Beware, Says President

As the magnificent Russian armies this week hurl our common fascist enemy across the vast battlefields of the Soviet Union, killing thousands who will never take aim at American boys, destroying whole armies that will never march against U. S. troops, the vile crew of American pro-fascists are disporting themselves in a disgusting orgy of red-baiting and Soviet-hating.

Anything goes in the campaign of columny launched by our home-grown defeatistst in the contest of who'll-tell-the biggest -one against the Soviet.

During the past week we have been solemnly warned by such patriots as William Randolph Hearst, John E. Rankin, Senator Wheeler, Senator Nye, etc., that 1-The Russians can't be trusted because they may stop at their own borders and make a separate peace with Germany; 2-The Russians can't be trusted because they may not stop fighting at their own borders, thus "bolshevizing" Europe 3-The Russians can't be trusted because they have imperialist designs on the Baltic States (which are already a part of the Soviet Union); 4-The Russians cant be trusted because they don't appreciate American help (!)

What all this means, of course, is that the American friends of Hitler realize that Russia is striking the stoutest blows against fascism, that her action brings clóser our second front and the final destruction of the great dreams of fascists all over the world. They have taken on the task of splitting United Nations unity, preventing the Second Front and generally moving heaven and earth to preserve Axis Europe from defeat.

Negro-America must understand clearly its stake in this war as we behold the spectacle of every Congressional Negro-baiter, poll taxer, and racial bigotist lining up to repeat the anti-Soviet, defeatist lies, Rankin, Dies and their poll tax comrades led this witches dance.

It is thus doubly alarming to find our friend, the Pittsburgh Courier, echoing the discordant appeasement of the Soviet-haters. Speaking editorially last week, the Courier erred seriously in holding that Soviet "designs" on the Baltic States and Besarabia represent imperialist policy and a negation of the Atlantic Charter. Worse, it played directly into the hands of our enemies.

As a matter of fact, the Baltic States and Bessarbia, upon which the Soviet is accused of harboring "designs," were a part of the Soviet Union prior to Hitler's invasion. Their liberation by the Red Army would indicate only that the United Nations are nearing victory.

The Negro people of America are well acquainted with the known anti-imperialist policy of the Soviet Union. The Courier's executive editor, P. L. Prattis, spoke for colored Americans when he welcomed Soviet Ambassador Litvinoff to this country in the following words, "I would feel honored to welcome to America this statesman of stout heart, who stood steadfast as a foe against aggression whether it involved large or small nations, black, white or yellow. I'll never forget how staunchly he defended the cause of Ethiopia. He never gave an inch whether the victor was Haile Selassie, in Addis Ababa, or Eduard Benes, in Prague."

The Soviet position on Ethiopia was no isolated incident. From its inception, this great nation rigidly adhered to the principle of equality and recognition of the sovereignty of nations, regardless of whether these nations be big or small powers.

At the birth of the Soviet Union, extra-territorial rights in China were renounced. It has given practical and moral support to smaller nations fighting for independence, Spain, China, Iran, Turkey, Afghanistan.

This policy in foreign affairs flows directly from the nature of the Soviet Union internally. For here we have the spectacle of 189 peoples speaking 150 languages, different in tradition, race and color, enjoying the same rights, forged together into a single federation of nations.

The whole uproar about the "designs" of the Soviet Union, the accusations that it may (or, on the hand, may not) stop fighting at its own borders, is the sound and fury of the American friends of the Hitler way of life. We must heed the warnings of President Roosevelt and Vice President Wallace against those who would disunite the United Nations.

But it is high time that the slogans of fascist America find no echo in the Negro press.

Dark Laughter . . . . BY OL HARRINGTON

"PORE BROTHER BUTTS—JEST LOOK AT HIM. HE AIN'T BEEN RIGHT SINCE HE GOT IN THE WAY OF THAT AIR RAID WARDEN. BOOTSIE, WHO THOUGHT IT WAS A REAL AIR RAID."

MARCANTONIO ON ANTI-POLL TAX BILL

(Radio address delivered by Congressman Vito Marcantonio, New York, over National Broadcasting System, Feb. 26, 1943).

On January 6 the present Congresss went into session. Since then the American people have witnessed their best interests defeated time and time again. Each week has brought about one or more actions on the part of the House or the Senate which has been a negation of the things for which Americans are fighting and dying.

For instance, during the past week the Committee on Appropriations of the House of Representatives eliminated from an appropriation bill $2,937,000 for the care of chilren, $2,454,000 for man power control, $3,068,000 for wartime education, and $1,200.00 for maternity aid.

It is very difficult to conceive of a more serious blow against our home front than these eleminations. This means the refusal to care for the soldiers wives who are about to become mothers and the denial of care for the children of mothers who are loyally fighting in the battle for production in the war factories and defense plants all over the nation.

This tragic condition in the legislative branch of the government is not mere accident. It is the continuence of a policy applied to every phase of the war effort. A policy which will mean a scheme of taxation where the burden will be placed on the shoulders of labor and small business men.

A blind policy of discrimination and un-American practices against loyal racial and religious groups, Negroes, Puerto Ricans, Jews and Catholics, thereby makes it impossible to tap this tremendous reservoir of manpower in the interests of achieving the unconditional surrender of our Axis enemies. This same policy means a daily offensive in Congress against American labor.

NO ACCIDENT

Again, I say that this policy and activity in Congress is no mere accident. One of the main responsible factors is found in the vicious and undemocratic poll tax system.

The poll tax is a scheme which has brought about the disenfranchisement of nearly 10 million adult voters—about 6 million of whom are white and approximately four million are Negro. It has thereby made it possible for members of Congress to be elected in primaries and general elections where the total vote cast in some cases in some districts has not exceeded two thousand votes.

Let us bear in mind that Congressmen from states where the poll tax does not exist have been elected by voters participating in the elections—primary and general elections—numbering from 40 thousand to a half a million. The reason for the small number of votes cast in poll tax districts cannot be attributed to any other cause than the requirement for the palment of a poll tax. In seven remaining states citizens must pay for the privilege of voting sums of from one to three dollars a year.

In some of these states these annual poll taxes are cumulative for periods of two and three years and in others for the period from the age of 21 to the age of 45. Thus, it is sometime required of a voter that he pay sums ranging from $4.50 to $36.00. Just think what such a large sum means to a poor former whose whole family income in many case, is less than $150 per year. Think what this means to a family with three or four voters—who may have to pay sums as high as $50 or $75 if they wish to vote in any election. It is this tax—looming as so large a part of the small cash income of millions of families in the poll tax states—that makes for such a small number of voters in election districts in these poll tax states.

CORE OF FDR OPPOSITION

Therefore you can readily see that undemocratic elections make for undemocratic representation. Men elected in voting constituencies of two thousand can never be as responsive to the people of their districts as Congressmen and Senators elected from districts where there is no restriction on the elective franchise. Undemocratic representation makes for repressive and reactionary legislation. Every observer on Capitol Hill in our nation's capital will readily agree that in the main with several notably exceptions, Congressmen and Senators who are beneficiaries of the poll tax limitations are the vanguard in the denial of win the war legislation for the home front.

It is no secret that the opposition to the President's program for the limiting of salaries to $25,000 a year during war time, for genuine price control and effective over-all rationing, as well as to other essential measures in the President's seven point economic program —that this opposition comes to a considerable extent from those who have been elected from poll tax districts.

It is no secret that those beating the war drums against the working man and working woman, who make up the vital regiments in our battle for all-out production—are likewise to a large degree representatives of poll tax districts.

The abolition of the poll tax will, therefore, remove the scheme of elections which makes it possible to have in Congress representatives who are the proponents of a policy which may prove disastrous to the President's and the American people's plan for victory.

There is another very important aspect to this problem, which, in this worldwide war, is the very foundation stone of victory. In peace time the struggle for the abolition of the poll tax is part of the great fight begun in 1776 by our forefathers for the extension of the blessings of democracy to everbody, irrespective of race, color or creed.

Jefferson said it and the American people affirmed that proposition in the Declaration of Independence—that all men are created equal. There were no exceptions, either in the Declaration nor in the minds and hearts of the patriots who gave birth to this creed. The abolition of the poll tax in the continuance of this fight begun in 1776 and carried on by Lincoln in 1860.

CHARACTER OF WAR

That is the character of the fight in peace time. In this war the effects of anti-poll tax legislation extends beyond our own borders. Not only will the abolition of the poll tax lift the morale of the 13 million loyal Negro Americans in this country and thereby forge that national unity which is so essential to victory, but it will be enliving evidence and reaffirmation to our United Nations Allies and to the Colonial people, in India, Africa, Latin America, and the Carribeans of our earnest and high resolve to finish the battle for a and democratic America and world. The best demonstration of our sincerity to extend democracy all over the world is for us to extend it now, before the war is over, to everyone within our own borders.

I assure my friends that this is not force legislation against the South. We in Congress have heard thousands of fine Southern people of all races and creeds, who understand the vital issue involved in the fight to abolish the poll tax, and , who want to see it through.

This is legislation intended to benefit the whole American people—South and North, East and West. It is supported by the labor movement, CIO, AFL and the Railway Brotherhoods. It has the overwhelming support of church people, Catholic and Protestant—of women's organizations, or organizations of Negro people and other minorities.

PETITION READY

This is why I have felt it my duty to make the fight for the abolition of the poll tax in this session of Congress. I introduced my bill, HR 7—to abolish the poll tax on the very first day of this session of Congress.

The bill has not been reported out of committee. It, therefore, becomes necessary to file with the Speaker of the House a petition to discharge the committee considering the bill to in order to secure a vote on anti-poll tax legislation. To validate the petition the petition it must be signed by 218 members of the House of Representatives. This petition will be filed Friday, March 5.

It is up to the American people who hear me tonight to let their congressmen know that they wish them to sign the petition. It is up to you who hear me to give your support to this effort to bring democracy to our whole people. In carrying out this fight against the poll tax, I feel that I am continuing the battle begun by my former colleague, the late Lee E. Geyer of California, whose untimely death last year was so deeply felt by the whole American people.

I feel that I am carrying out the mandate of the American people to give the best that I have to the cause of national unity and victory.

★ THE WORLD THIS WEEK

By ROBERT PATTERSON

KASSERINE PASS

The Kasserine Pass behind which Marshal Rommel took refuge when the Allied Forces landed in North Africa, has been the scene of furious fighting since last week. Comments have been made to the effect that the original Rommell retreat into Tunisia was not the frightened withdrawal it appeared to be, but studied military planning. Our first dismay over our heavy losses was somewhat brightened by the news that Rommel was again retreating, heavily bombarded from the air by every Allied bomber and fighter on the front. The Kasserine Valley is walled by high mountains, and air action must play an important part in overcoming the difficulties of such terrain in battle.

EMINENT INVALID

Mohandas K. Gandhi moved last week from the front page to the inside page when the doctors who attended his 21-day fast decided he would live through it. The Mahatma (holy man) of Hinduism is now past 70, but still sways millions of Indians at a word. In his white cotton dhoti and woolen blanket, sitting on a palm-leaf mat, surrounded by a group of disciples, he advises but never commands. His sole weapon is the penance he inflicts upon himself. For years he has been considered the most powerful man in India, a country of more than 380 million inhabitants. Demanding unconditional release, he was firmly refused. Said Churchill from his own sickbed "The first duty of the government of India . . . is to defend the soil of India from invasion . . . the responsibility (for the fast) rests with Mr. Gandhi himself." Gandhi is old and self-centered from occupying so commanding a position for many years. His theories of non-violence overlook the Japanese menace at the doors of India.

MARCH 15

The shield for March should be an income sheet rampant on a field of War Bonds! So much for the March Federal Income Tax Lion, roaring in with dotted lines on which to sign. But—the taxes we pay are our investment in freedom. The War Bonds we buy are our investment in a war machine that can push on to "unconditional surrender of the Axis." The money we put in savings accounts turns idle or inflationary dollars into working dollars—the dollars that turn the wheels of democracy—at war to defend its rightful liberties. Now, our men in uniform are to have on-the-spot banking facilities in California to help them with their financial responsibilities. At the request of the War Department and the United States Treasury, the Bank of America is establishing banks, pro tem, at numerous U. S. Army posts and training centers in the State. These new military banking facilities will be operated on a non-profit basis, providing deposit and paying means for both uniformed and civilian personnel, as well as selling War Savings Bonds and Stamps. Such a service will aid the men to do their bit in saving, paying up and making provision for the d beyond all days when war ends. On the "due date" this month, we should feel a zestful pride in ourselves, and the country whose ideals we are fighting to maintain.

SOVIET WEIGHT

The remark of Premier Joseph Stalin that t "Red Army alone is bearing the whole weight of the war" in the "absence of a second front in Europe" seemed a little ungracious in view of the tremendous materials of lend-lease America and England have shipped to Russia, by way of the dangerous Murmansk port. Tanks, trucks (thousands), machine tools (which we badly needed ourselves), and food, have played their part in the ability of the Russians to hold on and should not be forgotten by our Russian allies. Nevertheless, the Russians have been the marvels of the war in stamina and persistent strength. They are a vigorous people, having the blood of many nationalities in their veins.

HERE AND THERE

No one knows details about Hitler's probable scrap with his military leaders nor the effect on the Reich. Turkey, still discreet, appears slightly less calm, as the active fighting zones of the Russian-German battle move back toward the Balkans. And just to keep optimism in its place, we might remember that the Allies have been recently described as a "first class team of amateurs fighting the best professionals on earth." But Hitler must hold Tunisia and the best troops he has are on that field.

Hear ye! Hear ye! gather around all you mustard green addicts and epicures, and let me break the good news to you. "Mustard greens, delicious wild mustards are in full bloom."

Two of my deputies, investigators of mustard greens report a find of the rarest black mustard greens. Mrs. B. Allen and B. Alonza brought your board of directors a "mess of the tender juicy stems of the cream of the crop". This field is out at the end of Central Avenue beyond Rosecrans Avenue.

In these days of point rationing when vegetables are a luxury a mess of well cooked mustard greens just fills the gap. Now to any who can qualify as an epicurian, mustard greens do not lend themselves to mass production, that is to say to get the desired results, special care must be taken in the preparation and cooking.

I remember years ago my grand mother's mustard green dinners were things of rare beauty. I think there is nothing more inharmonious than serving white bread with a mustard green meal.

Here is my grand mother's symphony of poetic eating. "mustard greens, sweet potatoes, a combination salad of onion rings, sliced tomatoes and lettuce, with an old fashioned French dressing, cracklin bread, aided and abbetted by a tall mug of cold buttermilk." With the first mouth full of goodness one can literally feel the vitamins, A, B and D linning up on the battle front of good health.

Word has just reached our desk reporting a budding crop of mustards at 103rd and Central Avenue. All deputies are requested to take due notice and govern yourselves accordingly.

When God has a definite work for any man to do, He first takes him through the path His Son trod, even through Gesthemany Gardens. Like pure gold they must be tried by fire. That is why I am so happy about the new venture of my good friend, George Garner, whom I congratulate most heartily and pray that God will use his talents that are needed so much today.

Some how I sensed the coming of this event long before the accident. I noticed an unusual effect in his music and I not only wrote about it, I spoke to him about it, and he promised that I would be the one to release the object he had in view. Then came the accident, which too my mind was God's way; the way of the cross, in preparing him for work of preaching the gospel of Jesus Christ, "Feeding My Lambs".

I feel sure that Rev. George Garner, Minister of Music, Doctor of Divinity is eminently qualified to wear the cloth. Fitted to walk with Kings and Princess; he has never lost the common touch. Thus it is true that Dr. Garner now holds a safe place in the hearts of the masses as well as being a favorite with the patrons of art.

Therefore, I want to be among the first to congratulate him and to extend the right hand of fellowship.

I was glad to see the action taken by the assembly committee in reference to Rest Homes and Sanitariums. Recently I had an occasion to inspect some of these places where sons, and daughters, and friends leave their "old worn out sick". Some how, I feel that these old people, or any sick person for that matter, is entitled to our kindest consideration. I cannot understand how some of these people who attend these so called Rest Homes, can be so cruel and cold-hearted as I've heard that they can be at times.

I am hoping it won't be necessary for an official investigation of any of our places where there should be rest and quiet, in place of confusion. If I am consulted, I shall insist that our aged ill be treated with the kindness consideration they deserve, and that they are paying for. THAT IS ALL.

Make way for the "Old Sweethearts Parade". Leading that distinguished company this week, are Major and Mrs. H. M. Broyles, parents of Mrs. Thomas L. Griffith. My congratulations.

AN EXCLUSIVE CALIFORNIA EAGLE SERIAL

"NATIVE SON"

From the book by

"Bigger Thomas, will you rise?"

His body flushed hot. As he had felt when he stood over the bed with the white blur floating toward him; as he had felt when he had sat in the car between Jan and Mary; as he had felt when he had seen Gus coming through the door of Doc's poolroom — so he felt now: constricted, taut, in the grip of a powerful, impelling fear. At that moment it seemed that any action under heaven would have been preferable to standing. He wanted to leap from his chair and swing some heavy weapon and end this unequal fight. Max caught his arm.

"Stand up, Bigger."

He rose, holding on to the edge of the table, his knees trembling so that he thought that they would buckle under him. The judge looked at him a long time before speaking. Behind him Bigger heard the room buzzing with the sound of voices. The judge rapped for order.

"How far did you get in school?" the judge asked.

"Eighth grade." Bigger whispered, surprised at the question.

"If your plea is guilty, and the plea is entered in this case," the judge said and paused, "the Court may sentence you to death," the judge said and paused again, "or the Court may sentence you to the penitentiary for the term of your natural life," the judge said and paused yet again, "or the Court may sentence you to the penitentiary for a term of not less than fourteen years.

"Now, do you understand what I have said?"

Bigger looked at Max: Max nodded to him.

"Speak up," the judge said. "If you do not understand what I have said, then say so."

"Y-y-yessuh," he whispered again: feeling that it was all a wild and intense dream that must end soon, somehow.

"That's all. You may sit down," the judge said.

He sat.

"Is the State prepared to present its evidence and witnesses?" the judge asked.

"We are, Your Honor," said Buckley, rising and half-facing the judge and the crowd.

"Your Honor, my statement at this time will be very brief. There is no need for me to picture to this Court the horrible details of these dastardly crimes. The array of witnesses for the State, the confession made and signed by the defendant himself, and the concrete evidence will reveal the unnatural aspect of this vile offense against God and man more eloquently than I could ever dare. In more than one respect, I am thankful that this is the case, for some of the facts of this evil crime are so fantastic and unbelievable, so utterly beastlike and foreign to our whole concept of life, that I feel incapable of communicating them to this Court.

"Never in my long career as an officer of the people have I been placed in a position where I've felt more unalterably certain of my duty. There is no room here for evasive, theoretical, or fanciful interpretations of the law," Buckley paused, surveyed the court room, then stepped to the table and lifted from it the knife with which Bigger had severed Mary's head from her body. "This case is as clean-cut as this murderer's knife, the knife that dismembered an innocent girl!" Buckley shouted. He paused again and lifted from the table the brick with which Bigger had battered Bessie in the abandoned building. "Your Honor, this case is as solid as this brick, the brick that battered a poor girl's brains out!" Buckley again looked at the crowd in the court room. "It is not often," Buckley continued, "that a representative of the people finds the masses of the citizens who elected him to office standing literally at his back, waiting for him to enforce the law . . ." The room was quiet as a tomb. Buckley strode to the window and with one motion of his hand hoisted it up. The rumbling mutter of the vast mob swept in. The courtroom stirred.

"Kill 'im now!"

"Lynch 'im!"

The judge rapped for order.

"If this is not stopped, I'll order the room cleared!" the judge said.

Max was on his feet.

"I object!" Max said. "This is highly irregular. In effect, it is an attempt to intimidate this Court."

"Objection sustained," the judge said. "Proceed in a fashion more in keeping with the dignity of your office and this Court, Mr. State's Attorney."

"I'm very sorry, Your Honor," Buckley said, going toward the railing and wiping his face with a handkerchief. "I was laboring under too much emotion. I merely wanted to impress the Court with the urgency of this situation . . ."

"The Court is waiting to hear your plea," the judge said.

"Yes; of course, Your Honor," Buckley said. "Now, what are the issues here? The indictment fully states the crime to which the defendant has entered a plea of guilty. The counsel for the defense claims, and would have this Court believe, that the mere act of entering a plea of guilty to this indictment should be accepted as evidence mitigating punishment.

"Speaking for the grief-stricken families of Mary Dalton and Bessie Mears, and for the People of the State of Illinois, thousands of whom are massed out beyond that window waiting for the law to takes its course, I say that no such quibbling, no such trickery shall pervert this Court and cheat the law!

"A man commits two of the most horrible murders in the history of American civilization; he confesses; and his counsel would have us believe that because he pleads guilty after dodging the law, after attempting to murder the officers of the law, that his plea should be looked upon as evidence mitigating his punishment!

"I say, Your Honor, this is an insult to the Court and to the intelligent people of this state! If such crimes admit of such defense, if this fiend's life is spared because of such a defense, I shall resign my office and tell those people out there in the streets that I can no longer protect their lives and property! I shall tell them that our courts, swamped with mawkish sentimentality, are no longer fit instruments to safeguard the public peace! I shall tell them that we have abandoned the fight for civilization!

"After entering such a plea, the counsel for the defense indicates that he shall ask this Court to believe that the mental and emotional life of the defendant are such that he does not bear full responsibility for these cowardly rapes and murders. He asks this Court to imagine a legendary No Man's Land of human thought and feeling. He tells us that a man is sane enough to commit a crime, but is not sane enough to be tried for it! Never in my life have I heard such sheer legal cynicism, such a cold-blooded and calculated attempt to bedevil and evade the law in my life! I say that this shall NOT be!

"The State shall insist that this man be tried by jury, if the defense continues to say that he is insane. If his plea if simply guilty, then the State demands the death penalty for these black crimes.

"At such time as the Court may indicate, I shall offer evidence and put witnesses upon the stand to testify that this defendant is sane and is responsible for these bloody crimes . . ."

"Your Honor!" Max called.

"You shall have time to plead for your client!" Buckley shouted. "Let me finish!"

"Do you have an objection?" the judge asked, turning to Max.

"I do!" Max said. "I hesitate to interrupt the State's Attorney, but the impression he is trying to make is that I claim that this boy is insane. That is NOT true, Your Honor, let me state once again that this poor boy, Bigger, enters a plea of guilty . . ."

"I object!" Buckley shouted. "I object to the counsel for the defendant speaking of this defendant before this Court by any name other than that written in the indictment. Such names as 'Bigger' and 'this poor boy' are used to arouse sympathy . . ."

"Sustained," the judge said. "In the future, the defendant should be designated by the name under which the indictment was drawn. Mr. Max, I think you should allow the State's Attorney to continue."

"There's nothing further I have to say, Your Honor," Buckley said. "If it pleases the Court, I am ready to call my witnesses."

"How many witnesses have you?" Max asked.

"Sixty," Buckley said.

"Your Honor, Max said. "Bigger Thomas has entered a plea of guilty. It seems to me that sixty witnesses are not needed."

"I intend to prove that this defendant is sane, that he was and is responsible for these frightful crimes," Buckley said.

"The Court will hear them," the judge said.

"Your Honor," Max said. "Let me clear this thing up. As you know, the time granted me to prepare a defense for Bigger Thomas is pitifully brief, so brief as to be without example. This hearing was rushed to the top of the calendar so that this boy might be tried while the temper of the people is white-hot.

"A change of venue is of no value now. The same condition of hysteria exists all over this state. These circumstances have placed me in a position of not doing what I think wisest, but of doing what I must. If anybody but a Negro boy were charged with murder, the State's Attorney would not have rushed this case to trial and demanded the death penalty.

"The State has sought to create the impression that I am going to say that this boy is insane. That is NOT true. I shall put no witnesses upon the stand. I shall witness for Bigger Thomas. I shall present argument to show that his extreme youth, has mental and emotional life, and the reason why he has pleaded guilty, should and must mitigate his punishment.

"The State's Attorney has sought to create the belief that I'm trying to spring some surprise upon this Court by having my client enter a plea of guilty; he has sought to foster the notion that some legal trick is involved in the offering of evidence to mitigate this boy's punishment. But we have had many, many such cases to come before the courts of Illinois. The Loeb and Leopold case, for example. This is a regular procedure provided for by the enlightened and progressive laws of our state. Shall we deny this boy, because he is poor and black, the same protection, the same chance to be heard and understood that we have so readily granted to others?

"Your Honor, I am not a coward, but I could not ask that this boy be freed and given a chance at life while that mob howls beyond that window. I ask what I MUST. I ask, over the shill cries of the mob, that you spare his life!

"The law of Illinois, regarding a plea of guilty to murder before a court, is as follows: the Court may impose the death penaty, imprison the defendant for life, or for a term of not less than fourteen years. Under this law the Court is able to hear evidence as to the aggravation or mitigation of the offense. The object of this law is to caution the Court to seek to find out WHY a man killed and to allow that WHY to be the measure of the mitigation of the punishment.

"I noticed that the State's Attorney did not dwell upon why Bigger Thomas killed those two women. There is a mob waiting, he says, so let us kill. His only plea is that if we do not kill, then the mob will kill.

"He did not discuss the motive for Bigger Thomas' crime because he COULD not. It is to his advantage to act quickly, before men have had time to think, before the full facts are known. For he knows that if the full facts were known, if men had time to reflect, he could not stand there and shout for death!

"What motive actuated Bigger Thomas? There was no motive as motive is understood under our laws today, Your Honor. I shall go deeper into this when I sum up. It is because of the almost instinctive nature of these crimes that I say that the mental and emotional life of this boy is important in deciding his punishment. But, as the State whets the appetite of the mob by needlessly parading witness after witness before this Court, as the State inflames the public mind further with the ghastly details of this boy's crimes, I shall listen for the State's Attorney to tell this Court WHY Bigger Thomas killed.

"This boy is young, not only in years, but in his attitude toward life. He is not old enough to vote. Living in a Black Belt district, he is younger than most boys of his age, for he has not come in contact with the wide variety and depths of life. He has had but two outlets for his emotions, work and sex—and he knew these in their most vicious and degrading forms.

"I shall ask this Court to spare this boy's life and I have faith enough in this Court to believe that it will consent."

Max sat down. The court room was filled with murmurs.

"The Court will adjourn for one hour and reconvene at one o'clock," the judge said.

Flanked by policemen, Bigger was led back into the crowded hall. Again he passed a window and he saw a sprawling mob held at bay by troops. He was taken to a room where a tray of food rested on a table. Max was there, waiting for him.

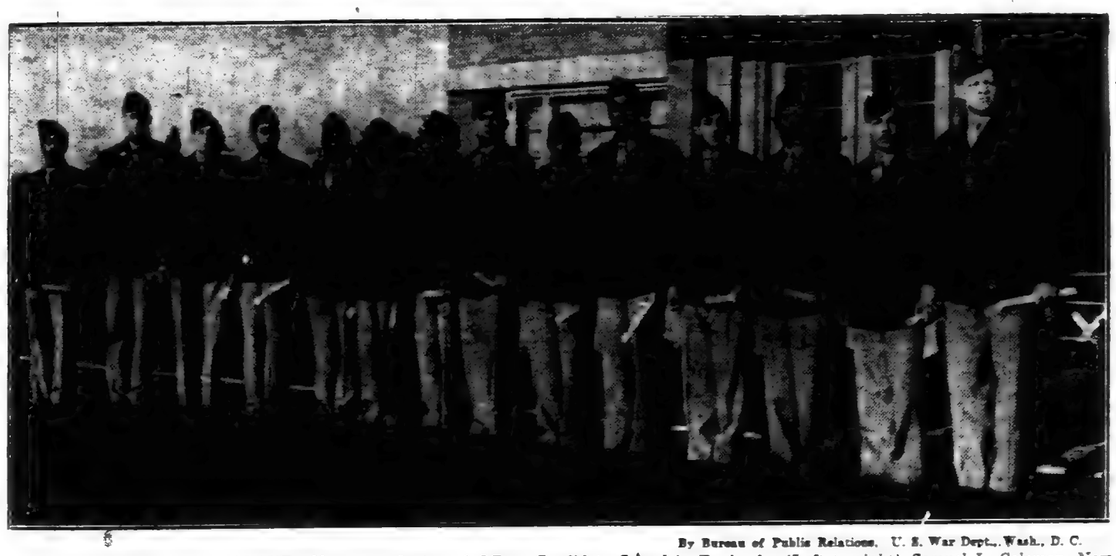
"Come on and sit down, Bigger. Eat something."

"I don't want nothing."

"Come on. You've got to hold up."

"I ain't hungry."

"Here, take a smoke.'



"Naw."

"You want a drink of water?"

"Naw."

Bigger sat in a chair, leaned forward, rested his arms on the table and buried his face in the crooks of his elbows. He was tired. Now that he was out of the courtroom, he felt the awful strain under which he had been while the men had argued about his life. All of the vague thoughts and excitement about finding a way to live and die were far from him now. Fear and dread were the only possible feeling he could have in that courtroom. When the hour was up, he was led back into court. He rose with the rest when the judge came, and then sat again.

NNC Board Meet Outlines 1943 Victory Program

NEW YORK, Mar. 10.—Seventy-five members and visitors attending the emergency session of the national executive board of the National Negro Congress meeting in New York City, Sunday, Feb. 21, adopted a three-point NNC action program for the year 1943, calling for the abolition of the poll tax in this session of congress, adequate utilization of all available man and womanpower, and democratization of the stage, screen and radio to secure an accurate interpretation of Negro life and culture.

The board also ratified a 10-point legislative program authorizing the addition of a labor secretary and a legal counsel to the national staff of the congress.

The board agreed to send messages to President Roosevelt, conveying congratulations upon the unconditional surrender proclamation adopted at Casa Blanca, and pledged approval and full support to his action on FEPC, and to the decisive win-the-war program of the government. Messages were also sent to Prime Minister Churchill, demanding the immediate freedom of Mahatma Gandhi and other imprisoned members of the Indian National Congress, to Premier Joseph Stalin, conveying greetings and congratulations to the Red Army and the Soviet people on their courageous offensive; and to Generalissimo Chiang Kai Chek, conveying greetings to the heroic Chinese people.

Goldie Ervin Watson, chairman of the Philadelphia Council of the congress, gave a report on three proposed regional victory conferences on the problems of the war and the Negro people. A report on the organizational problems of the congress, including local council work and budget and finance was given by Thelma Dale, newly elected administrative secretary.

Resolutions calling for the abolition of the poll tax, the more complete utilization of Negro man and womanpower, the strengthening of the FEPC, for just treatment of the African peopes, and on Negro culture, were presented by Dr. W. A. Hunton and D. A. Wilkerson, and were adopted by the body.

Jan. Rainfall Sets New L.A. County Mark

Los Angeles county has set another record.

This was disclosed this week by the Flood Control district in a report to Supervisor Gordon L. McDonough, chairman of the Board of Supervisors. But this record was the rainfall during the storm that swept into Los Angeles last month and reached its peak on Jan. 22.

The maximum 24-hour rainfall occurred at Camp LeRoy between one o'clock in the morning of Jan. 22 and 1 a. m. of Jan. 23. It amounted to 25.83 inches, according to the report, which is an all-time record for Southern California, the previous maximum recorded rainfall having occurred between Mar. 1 and Mar. 2 at Kelly's camp in the San Antonio watershed in the amount of 17.55 inches.

The rainfall of 25.83 inches may well prove to be a national as well as a local record.

Flood control engineers reported to Supervisor McDonough that although the rainfall for the recent storm was generally greater than the rainfall for the storm of March, 1938, the flood runoff, both as to peak and volume, was generally smaller than for 1938 by virtue of the abnormal dryness of soil and watersheds thruout the county.

"42 Income Taxes Triple Those of '41

Southern California residents are paying almost three times as much in Federal income taxes for 1942 as they paid for 1941, according to figures released today by Nat Rogan, collector of internal revenue for this district.

"During the first two months of this year we collected $63,500,000 which resulted from 69,100 taxable returns. This is an average of approximately $1,000 per tax return," said Rogan. "During the first two months of 1942 we collected $34,000,000 from 107,000 1941 returns. This average was approximately $330 per return.

"While the amount of money we collected for 1942 taxes is up to expectations, the number of returns falls far behind our estimates. By Feb. 28, we should have had in our office approximately 175,000 taxable returns. This indicates that the last minute rush in all our branches will be the worst in the history of income taxes. Apparently, we will have to handle more than 1,500,000 tax returns in the coming week. Such a volume of mailing would swamp the Los Angeles post office, and I urgently request all taxpayers to mail their forms to their nearest local revenue branch office in order to divert as much mail from the main office as possible," declared Rogan.

"New office hours will be observed during the week of Mar. 8 (this week) in many of our offices. The main office in Los Angeles and the branches in Glendale, Long Beach, San Pedro, Pasadena, Santa Monica, Ventura, San Diego, and in the Burbank post office will be open from 8:00 a. m. to 6:00 p. m. every day this week, except Sunday.

"All revenue offices in Southern California will be open from 8:00 a. m. to 10:00 p. m. on the final filing day, Monday, Mar. 15. Tax returns must be in our hands by the close of business on Mar. 15. A post mark of that date will not be considered a timely filing if the return is received at any later day."

BEHIND THE SCENES WITH HARRY

By HARRY LEVETTE — Theatrical Editor

FIRST OF ALL I WANT TO CONGRATULATE Jimmy Cagney and Greer Garson for their winning of the Academy Award for 1943, their "Oscars" being handed them last week at the annual banquet at the Ambassador Hotel last week. Jimmy, who started out in screen life playing gangster roles, proved in "Yankee Doodle Dandy" that he is a real actor. Personally, he is one of the most liberal and friendliest of Hollywood celebrities and has many times shown an especial interest in the struggles of the Negro group. None of our movie highlights were among the winners this time, due perhaps to the fact that none had a real, strong role in pictures relesed during 1942. But with "Crash Dive," "Bataan Patrol," 'Cabin in the Sky,' 'Stage Door Canteen,' 'Stormy Weather,' and others in the current year, yet to be released, there may be a different story. So until then, we will have to continue to be proud of Hattie McDaniel, the first colored player in motion picture history to win this coveted honor.

Herman Hill Really Cracked Down on Misbehavior of Players

Next, I want to thank Herman Hill of the Pittsburg Courier, for the complimentary remarks he made in his column "Hill's Side" last week. I very mildly and overly politely cautioned those in "Stormy Weather," whose misbehavior had caused some of the Fox officials to swear "never again" with local players, but Herman didn't bite his tongue. Brothers and sisters, he really cracked down.

Herman declared that he sanctioned the warmngs I gave, and this coming from another newspaper man, reveals that he has no professional jealousy and is really in for the right in the betterment of our race.

However, the chorus girls in the picture, 25 in number, should not feel that any blame was intended for them as a whole. Fact is, there were only a few girls in the nearly a hundred dancers and extras who were guilty of the boldness in interracial flirtations, such as Hill and I especially condemned. Two or three of the worst offenders were merely extras, also had been in pictures a very short time, but it appeared to consider intimacy with a stage employe more valuable than the building of a career that would bring honor, fame and fortune, besides the respect of their race. There are any number of fine intelligent chorus girls, who worked in the picture, and I am sure neither they nor their families feel that any accusations were intended for them.

Big news huddles in rationed tidbits—Louis Armstrong back again to joy of Trianon lovers of his golden trumpet and swing hot notes . . . Musicians Local 767 backing its Board of directors member, Mrs. Fay Allen in her race to retain her seat on School Board at primary elections April 6 . . . Count Basie, who returned east after finishing Republic's "Hit Parade of 1943," due back shortly to follow Freddie Slack into the Casa Manana . . . Herbie Jeffries, noted singer, and Karl Griffin, photographer, all set for grand opening of The Black Flamingo night spot on Avalon, Mar. 15 . . . Billy Browne, former Chicago girl, who became one of the coast's leading entertainers, just completed second year in Angelus Temple Bible school. Dropped theatrical work for the ministry; will be ordained after graduation next year . . . Ralph Schmeling, an official of the Beverly Hills YMCA, attested to the attraction the singing of Negro spirituals has on Hollywood audiences, by calling for two quartettes to sing at two different churches in Hollywood last Sunday . . . Hazel Reese, well known chorine, travelled like a movie star a week ago, when she engaged a berth on one of the finest planes in the continental service—was well able to walk down the plank and then some.

More Dot-Dashes in just a moment—'Stormy Weather' wound up officially last Saturday, but a few girls in evening dress, and other atmosphere players had to report on Monday for small close-up additional scenes . . . . Close ups also of Bill Robinson, dancing on his 25 specially built drums also took a few days more. Opening Vesper Hour at Central Avenue AWVS canteen a big success, however, the cozy, well conducted recreation spot for our servicemen deserves stronger support from the citizens. It needs books, games, cash donations, etc.

Jesse Graves, who finished a week in 'Girl Crazy,' Judy Garland—Mickey Rooney musical at MGM, has excellent bit in "Saratoga Trunk" at Warner's, starring Garry Cooper and David Bergman—Plans for war benefit riding show by Congress of Colored Horsemen, again in the making. Bobby Johnson, leader and promoter, was not inducted when reporting at Army induction center last week; will have plenty of time to stage the big affair around Easter, presumably at Wrigley Field or Gilmore Stadium.

Bill Robinson to organize stage show for a sixteen weeks engagement at once; has a number of dates up the coast already set . . . Hattie McDaniel has promised the Treasury Department that she will make a bond selling campaign into Ohio next month, but still intends to go through with her own planned personal appearance tour. . . . Virginia Green, for a long time one of the better Federal players that made theatrical history a few years ago, wrote me several weeks ago telling of the fine USO company she is in, touring the camps of the nation. They have now reached California to cover the coast camps, would have told you about them sooner, but misplaced the letter. Their current show is titled "The Male Animal," with Virginia playing the role of Cleota. Touring out from New York since Nov. 20, they played Mississippi, Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Texas, Kansas and Arizona. Their date here up to March 4 is scheduled for Wilmington, Long Beach and Terminal Island.

LEVETTE ASKS 1942 FILM LISTS

EDITH WILSON

Did you have a talking bit, or featured part during 1942? Well, if you did, you will not want to be left out of the Negro Handbook of 1943, soon to be off the press. The first edition, expensively bound with about 300 pages, was published last year by the Wendell-Mallet Co. after being compiled by Miss Florence Murray, editor. Distributed to libraries all over the country, and on sale in many bookstores including Los Angeles, it is a valuable encyclopedia about all the affairs of the Negro race. Among the hundreds of stage and screen figures inlast year's edition was Edith Wilson, whose picture appears here.

There are no strings attached to publishing your 1942 career in the Negro Handbook, no charges and no obligations. This year's report of the Negro in the movies, is being compiled by the Theatrical editor of the EAGLE, but the book goes to press in New York on March 23. Sit down right now and write plainly on a postcard or in a letter, the titles of all the pictures you worked in up to Dec. 31, 1942. Also, the name of the character you portrayed, a description of the role in a few words, the name of the studio, and the producer, if possible, mail this information at once to Theatrical Editor, California EAGLE, 4075 S. "Rochester" Wows 'Em in Canada

SAYS TURN OFF RADIO IF BANDS SWING SPIRITUALS

As was promised last edition, Nadine Cole, clever, popular dancer and wife of Nat Cole, leader of the famous King Cole Trio, tells this issue how to aid in keeping our spirituals sacred as they should be. She says, "as soon as you hear some band or some singer rendering one of the spirituals in a swing arrangement, turn off your radio, then ring up the station and tell them what you did. It will not take many complaints like this before the program managers suggest to the desecrators that they use some other number or write a strictly swing piece."

BILL ROBINSON GIVES PARTY, PRESENTS TO MUSICAL'S CAST

Celebrating the Saturday wind-up of over a month's steady, hard work in 20th Century Fox's "Stormy Weather," all colored cast musical, Bill Robinson, star, whose life the story depicts, entertained the cast last week.

In his usual generous manner, nothing was spared by way of refreshments, and so enjoyable was the occasion that all forgot the long, exacting days, the constant bad weather that persisted all during the shooting and other past worries and enjoyed the occasion immensely.

Further memorizing the event, Bill gave his leading lady, Lena Horne, a fine wrist watch, and a number of other presents were to coworkers and members of the technical staff. To Patsy Hunter, in appreciation of her painstaking work in teaching the girls the many difficult dance routines and her cooperation as assistant to dance director Robinson, he is reported to have made a present of $100 cash. Bill's immediate plans are the production of a big stage show to fill a 16 weeks engagement on the road.

"STORMY WEATHER" WINDS UP WITH ELABORATE SCENE

On a cabaret set, surpassing New York's famous Cotton club, so elaborate that experienced visitors gasped with surprise, with more than a hundred "guests" seated at the tables, Cab Calloway's band playing and all the principal stars on the stage, 20th Century Fox's famed "Stormy Weather," officially wound up last Friday afternoon.

The men guests were dressed in uniforms of soldiers of the present war, the girls and young women, all selected for their good loks and classy appearance, displayed one of the finest collections of evening gowns ever seen in any night spot. Incidentally, except for the six "show girls" who were especially fitted by the studio wardrobe department, the lovely evening dresses in latest styles and varied colors belonged to the wearers. Incidentally, these are called "dress extras" and get $16 per day.

With Cab Calloway in a super "zoot suit," Bill Robinson, Lena Horne, Dooley Wilson, Florence O'Brien, the Nicholas Brothers, the 26 girl dancers and nearly that many boys, the guests, the finale was one of the most tuneful, colorful, excitingly entertaining ever filmed. Those in the know in Hollywood predict that "Stormy Weather" will be one of the greatest box office attractions of the year.

BOJANGLES GLAD TO WORK WITH MILLER & LYLES TEAM IN FILM

Miller and Lyles came back to show business this week—one of the very greatest teams the entertainment world has ever known.

They're going to be in "Stormy Weather," and here's one performer that's proud to be under the same roof with them. In fact, the whole cast—Lena Horne, Cab Calloway, Katherine Dunham, Fats Waller, Shelton Brooks—everybody in 'Stormy Weather' is just waiting to sit on the sidelines and enjoy themselves when Miller and Lyles go on.

It's odd when you think of Miller and Lyles coming back to entertain folks, via motion pictures. Their name was so synonymous with the stage. They've appeared in every big theater in the world—and whenever they appeared they invariable stopped the show cold.

Of course, as most folks know, Lyles, the original Lyles, died some time ago. But taking his place, trained to the minute by Flournoy Miller, is Johnnie Lee. And great as Lyles was, it's pretty hard to tell Lee and Lyles apart.

Talk of the Town . . . Larry Adler, ofay harmonica player, likes to tell this story . . . while touring the USO camps in the South recently, he always saw Negro soldiers waiting outside the auditorium, when he walked in . . . Not liking it, he stopped a group one day and asked why they didn't come in . . . The sepian soldiers replied, "Nobody invited us" . . . A white soldier officer accompaning Larry quickly tried to explain while turning blue, "There isn't any room." . . . But Larry, being the tactful type of artist, firmly said that he wanted them in and would appreciate it if they would let them in . . . Finally, the white officer shouted, "All right you fellows, find seats" . . . And they made it uncomfortable for the whites by sitting in the many vacant seats right next to them . . .

FATHER-SON COMBO LEAD GREAT LAKES "JIVE SESSION"

GREAT LAKES, Ill., Mar. 10.—Whenever Bluejackets get together for a "jive session", at Camp Robert Smalls—Negro training center at the U. S. Naval Training Station here—former band leader Jasper Allen and his equally talented son, Jasper jr., are sure to be in the group.

Allen senior, 43-years old and attached to the band and orchestra at the station, does his bit on either the tuba or string-bass, while his son, 19, "gives out" on the tenor saxophone. The latter enlisted several weeks ago as an apprentice seaman and is now undergoing recruit training at Camp Smalls.

MUSICIAN MAY ENTER WEST POINT

Appointed by Chet Hollifield, Democratic Congressman from the 19th Congressional district, Boyle Heights, John Brown, Jr., talented 17 year old pianist, has high hopes of being enrolled in the United States Army college at West Point. Young Brown has just finished three days of rigorous examinations at March field and has only to pass the final hurdle of mental and physical tests at West Point.

His friends and family have no doubts about the mental tests, but of course he must come up to the standard set by West Point as to height, chest expansion, perfect teeth, eyesight and hearing.

Brown, who was attending the University of California at Berkeley when news came of his tentative appointment, graduated with honors from Polytechnic High school last winter. He has appeared as a piano soloist on many programs here and in northern California. He lives with his parents Mr. and Mrs. John Brown, Sr. of 3035 Eagle street, and it was their contacting William Morris, Democratic leader in Boyle Heights that caused him to make the request of Hollifield.

SI-LAN CHEN, SAVAGE DANCES DELIGHTFUL

By BILL SMALLWOOD

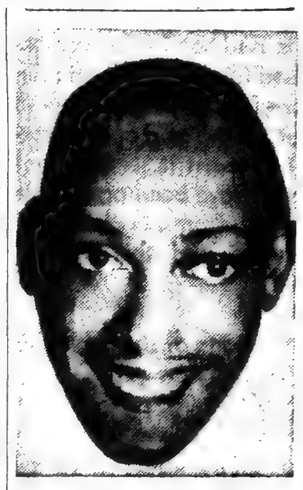
It has probably been many a moon since the intimate, informal atmosphere of Hollywood's rather arty Assistance League Playhouse was any degree more on the delightful side than last Friday evening when a pair of coryphees with creative ideas of their own--and racial blood from not such widely divergent origin--danced, individually, to a score which ranged from an Uzbek folk-song to Gershwin.

Si-Lan Chen, typical of Chinese stature, possessor of a radiant smile, weaver of magic with her expressive arched feet, displayed finished mastery of distinctive terpsichore. It was a thrill and a keen pleasure to follow her grace and originality from one side of the small stage to the other, and back. Lighting effect was commendable. The audience, consisting of artistically alert folk from this, and the other, side of the tracks, was unusually appreciative. Miss Chen's general programme was notable, positively fascinating at points. For example, "Boat-Girl," and "America Firster" from her "Four Satiric Portraits" dossier.

Archie Savage, who has been doing an uphill job of establishing himself in local dance confines (the speaking stage, too--his acting debut was on the same stage some weeks previous), fetched more evidence of definite talent.

The audience was wholeheartedly with him, too. Neither dancers were perfect, of course, but I rather suspect onlookers weren't especially looking for flaws, but were on hand en masse for entertainment. And to satisfy curiousity.

Ruby Berkley Goodwin's agile son, Paul, made his dance debut, and energetically. Mr. Savage is to be commended for his tireless work as young Goodwin's teacher. Their Cake Walk was particularly good, and I further suspect, strongly, the "Fear" number is Mr. Savage's personal favorite. Goodwin made a willing, understandable and gesture-proof Chief's son in the latter.



I'm glad Archie Savage is no opaque Nijinsky, but rather intends being himself. I couldn't help but hope, Friday night, his sturdy young arches serve him long and faithfully. And renumeratively.

'REUNION IN FRANCE' NOW AT UNITED ARTISTS DOWNTOWN

It would be difficult to find better relaxation than that provided by MGM's soothing and refreshing film, "Seven Sweethearts," now playing at the United Artists Theatre, 933 S. Broadway, Los Angeles. The production, bursting with beauty, has about it the neat look of the Dutch-American community in which it is set. It is an answer to the prayers of those who ask for something a little different.

As the co-attraction, MGM presents "Reunion in France." For the first time teamed with romantic Philip Dorn, Joan Crawford flashes across the screen in a vivid love story which concerns a spoiled and petted Parisian woman who runs against the realities of Nazi occupation in France, but spurning escape, chooses to remain in Paris with her lover.

Don't miss "Seven Sweethearts" and "Reunion in France" now at the United Artists Theatre, downtown Los Angeles.

Jack Johnson Returns to Ring

Jack Johnson, 64-year old ex-heavyweight boxing champion, is coming back to the ring wars!

The State Athletic commission last week granted Johnson a guest referee's license, and permission to box exhibition matches—if he can pass the required physical examination in the latter case.

The commission stipulated also that Johnson, if his condition is OK, may box only three two-minute rounds against commission-approved opponents.

Tom Jones, former manager of Ad Wolgast, Billy Papke, Jess Willard, and others, will book Johnson's "exhibitions."

Frank Dixon Explodes Old Theory

When 20-year old Frank Thomas Dixon III, the NYU freshman sensation, ascended the throne as National AAU mile champion, becoming the first of his race in the 55-year old history of that track and field extravaganza to do so, he set typewriters in motion all over the country extolling his ability.

At hand is a well-written piece from Don De Leighbur, who sat in on that history-making event a couple of weeks back in Madison Square Garden. He writes, in part:

"Several weeks ago Dixon became the first Negro on record to win a major mile event when he captured top honors in the Boston AA Games at the Hub City in the famed Hunter Mile. Denied victory in the Millrose Games in which he ran third to Mitchell (that's Earl, of Indiana U.) and Dodds (Gil, of the Boston AA), Dixon's triumph . . . was all the more spectacular because he thus became the nation's No. 1 miler and the wearer of the purple all the more resplendent because of his race and color.

"Dixon in winning . . . ran a 4 minute 9.6 second mile, fastest in history for a Negro and the reason why I emphasize race in this instance is because it has been said and written that Negroes didn't have the endurance, the inclination nor the ability to run the mile successfully; that Negroes naturally starred in the sprints where their excessive energy would allow them to dominate the short distances, but that they were complete washouts in distances beyond the half mile.

Joins List of Track and Field Immortals

". . . Dixon came from behind to knock off Dodds. He won the hard way, but ran the heady race of a true champion with faultless judgment of pace, and wise selection of time to make his bid . . . In that final 60 yards Dixon showed why he is to be rated along with Jesse Owens, Cornelius Warmerdam, Les Steers, Ben Eastman, Long John Woodruff, the late John Borican and other track kings. He ran as though he were competing in the 60-yard sprint to beat out the flying Dodds . . . With the heart of a lion, the stamina of a marathon runner and the confidence of the modern young Negro, the New York University freshman started leaving the others behind on the 7th lap. He did a 61.2s quarter, a 2:03.9 half and a 3:07.4 three-quarters. Then he started closing in on the flying Dodds and brother, he brought the house down. The sky seems to be the limit for Dixon who has run the mile in 4:11.4, 4:10.6 and 4:09.6. The world indoor record is 4:07 and Dixon still has the IC4A and the Knights of Columbus meets to run in."

(Dixon was beaten in the IC4A mile Saturday by Don Burnham of Dartmouth in the slow time of 4m. 16.2s.—J.C.F.)

Barksdale's Feat at UCLA a New Record

Establishing something of a record, Don Barksdale, who endeared himself to UCLA fans and sympathizers as a Bruin cage regular, and who transferred from Marin jaysee, will get a major sports letter in the space of one short month.

He entered UCLA Feb. 13, and on Mar. 13 leaves for Berkeley and the Army. He will be inducted at Marin jaysee, being called as an enlisted reserve.

Barksdale was mainly responsible for the UCLA basketballers snapping their 11-year losing streak in the U&C series Friday night when he accounted for 18 points. Coming like a house afire as Barksdale began to get in the lineup, the Uclans would probably have captured the Saturday night tussle had not Barksdale and Ainslee Bell gone out on fouls.

Barksdale's loss to the Army will also be felt by Harry Trotter, track mentor. The 6 foot 5 inch cage center could highjump, broadjump and toss the javelin. Well, UCLA's loss is Mister Whisker's gain, and that's the important thing these days.

On Armstrong's Loss to Willie Joyce

The column sat in on Henry Armstrong's surprise loss to Willie Joyce last week, and we came away with one paramount explanation thereof.

It is this pillar's candid opinion that had Hank taken a tune-up bout before that meeting he would have won. Hank's two-stanza knockout over Tippy Larkin Monday night at San Francisco seemingly would bear us out.

Armstrong had had a tonsillectomy, had been out of the ring approximately two months, and then to take on a man of the calibre of Joyce who had just stunned the local yokels by taking a close decision over Long John Thomas was just sheer gall.

His timing off, but emphatically, Armstrong was winded by the elusive Joyce in the latter stages of the go. And that's something foreign to the man who once held three ring crowns simultaneously!

On Friday's Hudson-Ramirez Go

Friday night at Hollywood Legion stadium, Gladstone Bell's fine welterweight, Cecil Hudson, trades punches with the good-looking Mexican gladiator, Rodolfo Ramirez.

Hudson looked in the best shape the column has seen him in a long time when he won a comparatively easy 10-round verdict over Jimmy McDaniels. Rough when he has to be, Hudson is a combination boxer-slugger who wouldn't surprise us if he took smart Ramirez into camp in matchmaker Charley MacDonald's bailiwick come Friday night.

Here and There Along Cauliflower Alley: Bell's other charge, Billy Hardges is the current rage at Ocean Park arena . . . Turkey Thompson is slated to box Freddie Fiducia April 2 at Hollywood . . . ON THE TURF
By Geo. A. Ramsey

By GEO. A. RAMSEY

SAN DIEGO, Mar. 10.—Generalissimo Bruno Pagalia was all smiles when the new Hipodromo De Las Americas, Mexico's newest race course, opened for 42 or more days of racing Saturday, Mar. 6. Over 45,000 crowded the beautiful course and bet over $250,000 on the day's program.

The feature race of the day was won by an old Hollywood favorite, The Gob, with a Caliente favorite, Border Beauty, second.

With three attractions on Sunday that kept some of the crowd away, nearly 20,000, who like the sport of kings, visited the course.

One of the biggest crowds was at the bullfight, one of the pet sports of Mexican people.

The feature race on Sunday was won by Gay Dalton. It was known as the La Sonora.

President Avila Camacho had the pleasure of seeing his own horse win one of the feature races.

The minimum bet there is five pesos, which is one dollar in American money. This is the first time in 15 years that Mexico City has enjoyed the sport of kings and the way the crowd caught on to the mutuel betting it looks like a big success for the Hipodromo De Las Americas.

CROSBY HORSES IN MEXICO

New stables to arrive during the week were 10 horses belonging to the famous crooner, Bing Crosby. As they were unloaded from the cars the crowd that gathered gave them a big ovation. Former jockey Albert Johnson was in charge of the stable.

Bay Meadows will start back on its five-day week program starting Tuesday, Mar. 9. The strike by the mutuel clerks was settled after Generalissimo Wm. Kyne threatened to call off the rest of the meeting for the duration.

With the Kentucky Derby about three weeks off, the winter book favorite, Count Fleet, is training fine at Hot Springs. Most horsemen think that the great son of Reigh Count will have a walkaway with the blue grass feature, although Ocean Wave, Amber Light and Pops Pick, all recently doing their running at the fair grounds in New Orleans, will get a big play.

So that's the news for this week from the turf. Keep smiling, buy more and more war stamps and bonds. Save your fats and starve the Japs. They have the rubber! So let's give them the other (get what I mean?). So long.—GEORGE.

THOMAS TURNS ANKLE IN WORKOUT FOR TUESDAY TIFF AT OLYMPIC

By J. Cullen Fentress

Olympic matchmaker Babe McCoy was forced yesterday to call off the John Thomas-Slugger White lightweight elimination joust scheduled for next Tuesday night after he learned that Thomas had turned an ankle.

The local lightweight star injured the underpin Monday while training for his battle Tuesday with the boxer Maryland regards as lightweight champion of the world.

George Tolson, co-manager with Bert Lewis, of Thomas, told the writer yesterday that the ankle had swollen to twice its normal size.

He feared that Thomas would be forced to take a layoff of at least a month.

Matchmaker McCoy's dreams of another sell-out have thus been punctured. Indications until Thomas' ill fortune were that a crowd to duplicate the SRO house that saw the Henry Armstrong-Willie Joyce upset would be on hand Tuesday night.

SEEKS SUB

The Olympic matchmaker told us yesterday that he was trying to line up another opponent for the Slugger who until yesterday enjoyed the favorite's role of 7-10 for the Thomas go. The smart boys figured White would be 1 to 2 by ring time.

Up until press time last night, Matchmaker McCoy had not announced a substitute for Thomas, but he told us he was considering a number of likely opponents.

Thomas, in his last appearance at the Olympic, saw his long, unblemished pro record spoiled by Joyce, the No. 2 man behind Beau Jack in the NBA ratings. It was a bitterly contested battle, called by critics as the best bout between Negroes ever seen here. Joyce was awarded a split decision.

The Gary, Ind. star subsequently temporarily halted the sensational comeback campaign of Hammerin' Hank Armstrong. It was Hank's first bout following a tonsillectomy. Although he won, Joyce receipted for a broken jaw which has shelved him for the moment.

Joyce holds a 12-round decision over White, captured last September. White boasts a creditable ring record, and has looked impressive in his gym workouts.

Cecil Hudson, Ramirez Mix at H'wood

Welterweights Cecil Hudson and Rodolfo Ramirez take top local boxing honors this week when they meet Friday night over the 10-round route at Hollywood Legion stadium.

Hudson is a substitute for the veteran Jimmy Garrison who was forced off the card by a cut eye sustained in a recent bout at Portland.

Both of Friday night's principals are coming off sparkling wins. Hudson never looked better in his comparatively easy victory over Jimmy McDaniels who went 10 bruising stanzas with Hammerin' Hank Armstrong.

Ramirez defeated Garrison in his last start. The cool punching Mexican glovetosser is a Hollywood favorite.

Matchmaker Charley MacDonald has Chester Ellis meeting Joe Robleto in the six-round semi-windup.

Hank KOs Tippy Larkin

SAN FRANCISCO, Mar. 10.—Hammerin' Hank Armstrong, former wearer of three boxing crowns simultaneously, continued his comeback campaign with a sparkling victory here at Civic auditorium Monday night when he knocked out Tippy Larkin, Garfield, N. J. welterweight, in the second round of a scheduled 10-round bout.

A right cross and a left hook to the jaw ended the battle 1 minute, 9 seconds after the bell rang for the second.

It was Larkin's 7th defeat in 105 ring wars, and Henry's 15th win in 17 comeback battles. He was defeated recently in Los Angeles by Willie Joyce, Gary, Ind., lightweight.

Armstrong weighed 139; Larkin, 140½.

Kappa, 2Y8 Fives Ring Up Wins

Last Saturday night at Patriotic Hall, the Kappas defeated the Club Alabam Big Five 42 to 41 in a wild game that could have gone to either team right up to the final whistle. It was strictly a game of offense with the frat boys collecting just enough baskets in the final canto to win by the close margin of one point. Forward John Brewer sparked his team to victory, taking high point honors with six field goals for a total of twelve points. He was closely followed by guard Nate Shaw with ten.

"Deadeye Dick" Underwood put on a fine exhibition of long range shooting, then copped the evening's scoring honors with seven tosses for a total of fourteen points. Next highest for the club was Wilbur Ashford who tossed in some pretty shots to gather twelve points himself.

Throughout the game the lead changed hands several times with the half ending nineteen to seventeen in favor of the Big Five boys. For the Kappas, points were pretty well distributed among the other players: Beavers, Roberts, Williams, Randolph, Hill, Shaw and E. Roberts. The Alabam, represented by some outstanding players in the community, waged a good scrap that brought the wildly shouting fans to their feet. The Club line-up: Oliver, Underwood, Garland, Melton, Christian, and Ashford.

In the preliminary game, the highly favored Omegas were soundly shipped by five iron men from the 28th Street YMCA. The 2Y8 stalwarts, led by Jones and Kay with nine and thirteen points respectively, were Spencer, 'Spot' Thornton and L. Thomas of the Y staff. Pitting their youthful enthusiasm against this combination of brain and skill were Kaufman, Reeves, Jackson, Holt, Benfield and W. Wright. Stymied by the stout 2Y8 super zone defense, only Ralph Kaufman managed to score; collecting twelve points of the nineteen that his team was allowed. Final score 37 to 19!

Next week's contest should bring together in the feature game the Kappas and the Omegas with the latter definitely playing the part of the underdog and out to convince the public that they really have a better team than their first defeat would indicate. Tentatively scheduled for the initial contest (subject to change) are two girl teams.

Dancing follows each and every game at Music Town, Jefferson at Normandie where some groovy platters are spun by Alfred Rhetta.

They say we all have to pay the fiddler sooner or later—and we've certainly had plenty of fiddling around on the tax question this year. Talk about confusion—we've been pulled more ways than a piece of bubble gum in action. Seemed like everybody had a solution for the tax problem—but there wasn't time to try them all. We all wanted to do our part, but nobody could agree on the script. It was as baffling as six fingers in a glove—and as upsetting as a broken rocking chair. But now the zero hour is almost here—and after the 15th we'll all have zero.

I see where a Congressman claims the guns mounted on the House roof are dummies. Maybe the Army figures congressional smoke screens make other protection unnecessary.

Whatever way you look at it a smoke screen won't hide the fact that you are offered the finest selection of excellent liquor, wine and beer at the House of Morgan, 2729 Central Ave. Our well arranged displays make it easy for you to find what you want, and our large choice of mixings assures you exactly the right kind of cocktail you desire.

I TAKE THE PEOPLE'S SIDE

By M. MORAN WESTON

"Death and Taxes"—how many times have we heard that those are the only certainties. For working people taxes have always been a headache. Not only those which hit them smack in the eye—like sales taxes—but those "slipped over on them"—the indirect taxes—on cigarettes, movie tickets, etc. The CIO Research Division last year indicated that almost 19 per cent of workers' income goes on to indirect taxes. Now with income taxes payable by all making even a little as $12.00 per week, taxes have become even more certain than death. This is especially true for Negro workers, most of whom for the first time will become income tax payers this year. Thus schemes such as the Ruml Plan are important to them. The Ruml Plan is no good for us.

The Ruml slogan "pay as you go" is a window dressing for its real purpose, which is to "forget" the 1942 taxes. Now, thousands of workers have fallen for this trick, line and sinker. What could be better than getting out of 1942 taxes, especially when the money for them is nowhere in sight. But there's a joker in the Ruml Plan. Where it will save the poor worker a few dollars, it will save millions, yes, millions, for the rich who made more money in 1942 than ever before. Yes, the Ruml Plan is a sneak way to give a handout to the rich of millions, to cheat the movement, and will not help the poor one iota. We'll O. K. it if the 1942 taxes are "forgotten" only for those making less than $40.00 a week.

On February 5th, Philip Murray, President of the CIO, announced that at long last the workers organizations are about to get together to take care of themselves. Murray announced a "legislative coalition" of the CIO, AFL, Railroad Brotherhoods and the Farmers Union. This getting down to the things the workers really want. For Negroes this can be one of the biggest things in a long time in their fight against lynching, against the Poll Tax, against Bilbo, Rankin, and their Ku Klux Klan gang who play Charley McCarthy for Hitler with such tripe as "send the —s back to Africa."

This column hits out again against Lindbergh the Junior, Mr. Rickenbacker, because his ballyhoo hurts the march of the Negro people to freedom. First of all when he says wrokers are slacking up on production he is also slandering the thousands of Negro workers in war production. Now that this lie is beginning to catch up with him, Rickenbacker is now spreading the idea that the way to win the war is to get rid of Roosevelt. Now Roosevelt is no Messiah of freedom for Negroes, but Roosevelt has laid down a policy to give Negroes an even break. What Negroes want is not to get rid of Roosevelt but to get Roosevelt's policy to work.

"Christians go to war to fight for the Jews." This columnist saw scrawled on the side of a newsstand on the southeast corner of 135th Street and 8th Avenue in Harlem. Whether a Negro wrote this or not isn't important. Perhaps it was written by a Hitler agent to stir up Negro against Jew.

One of Hitler's chief secret weapons is "blame it on the Jews." Some of this tripe is being repeated by thoughtless Negroes, who have had a run-in with a Jewish merchant, landlord or employer. When a Negro has had such a runin he must remember the guy was a bad egg not because he is a Jew, but a bad merchant, landlord or employer. Any "Jew baiting" among Negroes must stop and quickly.

A hint to organizations like the American Jewish Congress and synagogues. It would be a good and welcome step if you would begin to lend a real and friendly hand to the Negro people in their fight for freedom. The Ku Klux Klan is your enemy as well as ours. Let's get together.

Tip to FBI and Mr. Biddle. The following "ad" appeared in a Florida paper and was repeated, this columnist hears, over local radio stations:

"Wanted: 4000 or more of the 8000 Klansmen from Orange, Seminole and Oceola Counties. There is work to do. Write P. O. Box 1212, Orlando, Florida."

We know, if the FBI doesn't, what work the Klan plans to do. Let's clear out the fascists in our backyards now!

Mr. President: Where there's smoke there must be fire. Which in this case means a lot of Negro soldiers are catching hell. What else can we make of the reports coming from England, from Trinidad and elsewhere. Of especial interest are the persistent rumors that in England some Southern white officers have sought to convert the English people to their "white supremacy" point of view and practices.

What we should like to know is how can we fight an anti-fascist war with fascists practices and propaganda.

Leaders of our government and armed forces may play ostrich as long as they dare. But our allies in Asia, South America and Africa have taken note.

This is not a moral issue only. It is not an issue of fair play to the Negro soldiers only. It is an isue of how to win the war or how to lose it.

Jewish soldiers get caught in the backfire of this fascist talk and practice which poisons certain circles in our armed forces as well as sections of the civilian population.

Some of the white soldiers don't like this state of affairs. This is a healthy and encouraging sign.

The following letter from a white soldier tells the story--and ... I've been in hard company before, I've met stupid people before, I've seen narrow prejudiced people before and I've seen and met uniformed people before, but this outfit 'takes the cake'. Every other word has to do with those 'Jew b— "n—r sons-of-b—s", and "Yankee b—s". Excuse that language, but I've got to tell this to someone and I know I can trust you. These guys don't know I'm Jewish--they think I'm Italian. I've had three fights already protecting a little Jewish boy—talk about your Nazis—Christ! I'm lucky to have come out on top in these fights and so now perhaps they'll leave us alone.

Talk about defeatist propaganda, fascist talk and Nazi talk —why these guys put Hitler, Goebbels, Guida to shame. "It's the Jews who start the wars and profit by them," "Kill every god-dammed nigger and Jew and this world will be a better place to live in." This is a common, ordinary statement here. I have met a few swell guys who think as civilized, humane man does, but they are few indeed. The officers (noncommissioned) are swell to all, even Jews (this is a fact); however, "n—" talk has slipped out once or twice.

"I'm sure this isn't a picture of the average army outfit or army men. If it is, heaven help democracy in America! Heaven help America!

"That's it, I guess. Write soon."

Special memo to Secretary of War and to Office of War Information (OWI). The time is ripe--yes, over-ripe—for special educational material and activities for our armed forces, which will help those enlisted men and officers, whose minds have been won by Hitler, realize that the Negro soldier is an American soldier, a human being, an essential ally of our country.

Have you been wondering why prices have been going up. Well ask Mr. Faris Russell, President of Ward Baking Co., about the 750 per cent increase in profits of his company in 1942.

Memo to Duplex Printing Co (Battle Creek, Mich.) Local of International Association of Machinists, AFL. There is a war going on—against fascism. How come then 60 of your members stopped work when a Negro worker was hired as a welder!

A lot of Americans have gone to war--but not the House Appropriations Committee of Congress. On Feb. 24th, in reporting a bill this committee drew a red line through requests of the President for more money to help win the war for the following things the people need and want:

1. Money to take care of wives of soldiers about to have babies.
2. Money to take care of children while their mothers help make guns, planes, and tanks.
3. Money to help cut down absence of workers from war plants.
4. Money to help education go to war.
5. Money to help rationing work--that is to help workers get a fair share of things they need at prices they can pay.

Isn't it about time for the House Appropriations Committee to go to war?

In our last column we predicted that new efforts would be made to send Negroes "back to the farm." Again we put the finger on one of the schemes of the "white supremacy", 'time is not ripe" boys to keep Negro workers out of industry. You know the story now High Army official announced Negro soldiers would be furloughed to pick cotton in Utah and Arizona, "with white soldiers"--not to pick the cotton but to supervise the Negro soldiers.

To be forwarned is to be forearmed—at least in this case. So they did not get away with it this time. We the people kicked—so loud—the scheme was called off.

Edwards and His Visit to Berlin

(An exclusive California EAGLE Serial)

The California EAGLE takes sincere pride in presenting the first public presentation of the mission fulfilled by America's number one youth leader, Charles Edwards, on his "Assignment to Berlin."

What has gone on before: Mr. Edwards recalled your memory to December, 1941, when war was declared. He now attempts to expose the facts of why. He recalled his dramatic journey through Berlin, Germany between May, 1937, and September, 1939, during which time he was granted a personal interview with Adolph Hitler. The purpose of his interview was to try and understand and explain to the World Christian Youth Conference the aspirations of the German government.

Mr. Edwards told of "Mein Kampf," not revealing nearly all of Hitler's plans. He has entered the Reich capitol and has gained entrance into the private office of the chancellor. Many questions have passed between Mr. Hitler and Mr. Edwards, among them being the future of Europe and the rest of the world, and Germany's part in creating a new order.

Mr. Edwards has just asked Hitler if it is true that Germany has prepared secret inventions against which even the French Maginot line will be defenseless.

We continue:

Hitler gazed fixedly across from his desk to the precipitous wall opposite. On his face an expression that led me to believe that I had now led Hitler into his favorite subject. Hitler answered and said, "All armies have secret inventions. I am skeptical as to their value." He paused for a moment and then continued, "But the penetrative power of S-munitions . . ."

"Isn't it true Herr Hitler that electrical warfare yields entirely new possibilities of attack?" I asked him two or three questions almost in one breath. "And the new poison gases and bacterial warfare . . . and Mr. Hitler do you think that bacteria will be used in the next war?"

Hitler rose from his chair and walked over to a nearby window. He looked out for a minute and then swiftly turned in strict military style, threw his shoulders back and walked back to his desk. He looked directly into my eyes and said, "A nation denied its rights may use any weapon, even bacterial warfare."

Hitler crumbled a sheet of writing paper in his hand; he pounded his fist on the top of the desk with a loud thud, and said, "I have no scruples, and I will use whatever weapon I require. Yes, it's true that the new poison gases are horrible. But there is no difference between a slow death in barbed wire entanglements and the agonized death of a gassed man or one poisoned by bacteria. In the future whole nations will stand against each other, not merely hostile armies. We shall undermine the physical health of our enemies as we shall break down their moral resistance. I can well imagine that there is a future for bacterial warfare. We have not quite perfected it yet, but experiments are being made. I hear that they are very promising. But the use of this weapon is limited. It's significance lies in wearing down the enemy before the war. Our real wars will in fact all be fought before military operations begin. I can quite imagine that we might control Britain in this way or America."

"There, Mr. Hitler, is a question. Do you think that America will again interfere in European affairs?"

"Certainly we shall prevent it from trying again," was the reply. He continued, "There are new weapons which are effective in such cases. America is permanently on the brink of revolution. It will be a simple matter for me to produce unrest and revolts in the United States, so that these gentry will have their hands full with their own affairs. We have no use for them in Europe."

"Chancellor Hitler, you said that the enemy should be poisoned with bacteria even before the war starts. Permit me to ask how can that be done, during peace-time?"

"Through agents, harmless commercial travelers. That is the surest method—at the moment, the only effective one," Hitler replied. "The results would not be immediate. It would take several weeks, if not longer, for an epidemic to appear. Perhaps we shall introduce bacteria at the height of the war, at the moment when the powers of resistance of the enemy are beginning to fail."

Our conversation then dealt with some deails of a future gas and bacterial war. Hitler seemed to me now to be preoccupied and moody. From having been communicative, he fell suddenly into a dry silence. The political moment was full of danger. National Socialism was approaching one of its crises. The Party was in a well-night desperate position. But Hitler's every word rang with the firm conviction that he would soon be in power, and able to lead the German people to a new destiny.

We spoke of the result of the war, and the tragical turn of all German victories. "We shall not capitulate—NO, NEVER," Hitler exclaimed. "We may be destroyed, but if we are, we shall drag a world with us—'A WORLD IN FLAMES'."

I was suddenly filled with fear, my blood went cold. I slid to the end of my chair. Hitler was looking directly into my eyes. I was unable to move as his words rang through my ears like a great gong—"A WORLD IN FLAMES."

★ LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

My Dear Mrs. Bass:

The following is a reply to Mrs. Sadie R. Dawson's letter in your paper of March 3 concerning me and my book. It Was Not My World ;and an interview I gave to the press, which appeared February 17. This is my side of the story:

My dear Mrs. Dawson:

I am very sorry the interview made you sad. But don't blame me, blame the race to which you belong. I too am sad. Sad because as yet the Negro is not permitted to share fully and equally in the only country he knows and loves. More than this, I am afraid. Afraid that the stupidity, arrogance and blundering of your race will cause us to lose the war, for it is obvious to Negroes, said group prefers defeat to a democratic victory. Yet if I am wrong, let our white masters cry out from every house top:

"America is yours, mine, let us all stand up as equal men and fight side by side, in every walk of life, the common foe."

In this letter I am answering two issues which seemed to have saddened your noble soul. First, "Only the Negro is interested in democracy." When I made that statement I was thinking only in terms of the war and the Negro. In this war, like in all others, you must realize it is not being fought, on the part of the whites, for an all out democracy but "our way of life". (Can't you just hear Winston Churchill?) But, as you do realize, "our way of life" has not beein very democratic toward the Negro. But out of this war the Negro hopes to get a little more democracy so it is obvious Negroes are the ones who really want democracy. I would like to think the whites are fighting for an all inclusive democracy but the more men die on the battle fields the more undemocratic the white home front becomes. Some races are capable of learning but not the American and English whites.

Out of this serious but true indictment, you wish me now to believe and say: "There are exceptions.'5' I would like to think so. I would like to think that in some nebulous corner in white America there were a few whites who were really democratic; but even here I am afraid none can be found. It is true some few would like to be democratic, and sincerely think they are, but unfortunately such people are human, and therefore are victims of America's mores, customs, habits and traditions, knowingly or otherwise, and couldn't be democratic even if they wanted to. In a world that stinks all soner or later will smell. What many whites think is democracy is merely tolerance.

There are no doubt many whites who are advanced in the democratic ideals, but such people have little or no influence on the general economic patterns of America—and as far as Negroes are concerned they don't exist. When the Negro goes out into the cold economic world he meets not the democratic but the undemocratic. To be democratic in America means to be a martyr, but I see no whites dying a martyr's death.

Now the second point which letter raised: It is true democracy isn't a matter of one color or race, yet the only democracy Negroes have known anything about has been strictly a matter of one color and race—the white race. But Mrs. Dawson, I beseech you to remain true in your faith, if you can, despite the evilness of your race and the doubting Thomases of mine. Let us forever fight, hand in hand, for that world in which all can really be free and democratic.

Yours for a free world,
Deadrick E. Jenkins

Dear Mrs. Bass:

I have just read the Feb. 24 issue and I would like to extend my congratulations to the entire staff for a job well done. The double truck ad warrants special consideration. With your copy in hand, I am presenting a similar idea to a local union. Again, congratulations.

Dear Mrs. Bass:

My thanks for your good work. Friends of mine from California are living and working in nearby Washington and here in Maryland and read the EAGLE, finding it interesting.

I enjoy it very much, also the work and fight you are doing.

Best of success as the years go, and I hope this will convey a hello to my many friends.

News Commentators to Be Heard Here Friday

Meet Your Commentators on Mar. 12 at the Philharmonic, 8:15 p. m. Under the sponsorship of the Joint Anti-Fascist Refugee committee, Alvin Wilder, well known commentator over KFI; John Cohee, military news analyst of the L. A. Daily News; Fred Thompson, who visited concentration camps, and Heinrich Mann, well known anti-fascist writer, will discuss North Africa—the storm center of the world.

Professor Franklin Fearing will be chairman. Olivia de Havilland and Philip Dorn will appear in a specially written sketch.

Thousands of anti-fascists are still interned in North Africa—among them many well known trade unionists and others in all walks of life. Once released these men and women will become active allies of ours. They are anxious to again fight against our common enemy.

The Anti-Fascist Refugee committee helps these valiant fighters return to their native lands where they join the guerrila armies or the underground movement, etc. For those not well enough to become active again this committee helps them to reach Mexico where we support a school and a hospital.

Should we be successful in helping to have those now interned freed we will be faced with the problem of evacuating them and taking care of them. This requires funds and we are asking for donations from everyone.

These Things Are Mine in Hawaii

By JOE SHIPP

These things are mine in Hawaii,
The memories of lovely islee,
Where God walks in the cool of the day,
Among the flowers walks and smiles,
Midst beauties of the landscapes gay,

Among the rainbows everywhere,
God's Covenant of Peace we see,
And palm trees spreading peace abroad,
Speak of the peace of Hawaii,

Above a world gone mad with war,
They make men think of "Peace On Earth",
Where God wakes up each day with joy,
And fills all hearts with love and mirth,

And people sing Aloha Oe,
Moana Ke Ala, sing Songs of Joy,
Sing E Aloha, Aloha Oe,
Fill the whole world with love and joy.

You Alone I Love But You

Dedicated to Miss Mildred Triggs
From JOE SHIPP

Since the very day I met you,
I loved you, and I still do.
Deep in my heart I'm yearning for you,
And you know my love for you is true,
Though you're living five thousand miles away,
The day we are to meet, we both together do pray.

I want to hear your jolly laughter,
Then my heart will go into a stir,
Your smile so gay and charming,
The tune of love keeps humming;
As long as you will love me too,
And say we'll never part,
You'll always be the one for me,
The one who'll have my heart.

It's time to say adieu
To you my only love,
I love you true,
I cherish you
Forever and for long
I'll always be your own
And put you in my song.

Note to Censor

Poor censor with eyes of blue,
Here's a poem I composed for you.
Letters come big and letters come small,
But you consider yours best of all.

If this bores you, like the rest,

FARMERS CAN GET LOANS TO GROW FOOD—The U. S. Department of Agriculture is making credit available to farmers, sharecroppers and tenants, as well as owners, who can use a loan to increase their production of vital war crops. At top, Cornelius King, right, assistant to the governor of Farm Credit Administration, explains to Thomas N. Roberts, special assistant to the USDA Personnel Director, how farmers can obtain loans through FCA. Below, Extension Farm Agent T. D. Williamson of Caswell County, N. C., advises farmers how they may consult their County-Farm Security Administration office about a Food-for-Freedom loan. (USDA Photo.)

Gandhi's Fast and Indian Freedom Is Lal Singh Topic

Declaring that "an understanding of India and its problems is essential to our struggle for victory", the Los Angeles Workers School has arranged a lecture with Lal Singh, Editor of India News and member of the All Indian National Congress. The lecture takes place Sunday, March 14th, 7:30 p. m. at the Embassy auditorium, Assembly Hall, 843 So. Grand Avenue.

Mr. Singh plans to discuss Gandhi's fast--the reason for it, its consequences and the problems of Indian freedom as related to the struggle to smash the Axis. There are certainly a number of "vital" problems to be clarified in relation to the Indian situation. The Los Angeles Time the other day seemed to have the problem "solved". Its editorial simply says "Gandhi lost his fight". Yet if Gandhi "lost", what becomes of the Indian people? What becomes of the vast resources of India--will the United Nations be in a position to bring India, its manpower, its natural resources into the fight for victory? Or should Japan and the other Axis powers and their agents be given an additional weapon against the United Nations?

The Workers' School statement on the forthcoming lecture indicates that these will be some of the problems Mr. Singh will discuss. Mr. Singh plans to give a lot of information as to the real situation in India—its economy, politics, and clarify what has been so much referred to as "the communial divergence of India, we are informed.

Admission is 35 cents including tax. Tickets can be obtained in the offices of the Workers' School 212 West 3rd St. The office of the People's World, 206 So. Spring St. and the Progressive Book Shop, 625 West 6th St.

COPPER BOY

copper boy . . . bronze from dreaming by the Nile your smile's flash matches ivory from the Congo your voice is singing of a thousand leaves in tropical sun you're no motherless child! a pharoah fathered you—circe knows you, too—copper boy . . . strong and straight as yonder bullrushes let the sun see your upturned eyes, don't lament your heritage sing to us always of love, your laughter, your tears copper boy . . .

—BILL SMALLWOOD.

Remember it's just a friendly jest,
You read a heap of silly goo,
It's real to others but junk to you,
The letters the servicemen and civilians' write,
Keep you awake for many a night.

What are your thoughts when you read all day,
The letters from sweethearts so far away
Forget the answer--Oh what the heck,
P.S.—I hope you took the joke as it was meant,
Or would it have been better had it never been sent.

★ POETS' POOL

RHAPSODY

You are a single thread of gold woven thru black chiffon lying on my windowsill at dusk.
A shockingly curious moonbeam, slanting across, feels your texture.
Then, enraptured, summons approaching nite to share such exquisite loveliness—
Lover-like, I want to close the blinds against such intrusion,
But, alas, gold woven thru chiffon is beauty to be shared —
This is the fate of my heart, alas!

LAMENT ON THIS DAY

It was as if long ago
I dug my hands into rich, black earth
Then held your passive face between these fingers
My eyes gave you life
My kiss gave you strength giving you a heart
Til you came of age!
But, alas, I made error in not Relieve muscle pain and strain while you work!

Address all communications to Prof. Herman, the Astrologer, care of The California EAGLE.

Since time immemorial we have had preached to us from every pulpit, in every classroom and in every institution which proposed to uplift mankind, the evils of alcoholic drinks. There is no denying that they are intoxicating, causing men to forget themselves, their loved ones and God. However, when we consider intoxication in its broader sense we can readily vision that alcohol is not the only offender.

Looking about us we can see men seeking to rule the entire world . . . intoxicated with an illusion of power, of mastery, of tyranny. Others are drunk over the thoughts of getting rich, risking all they possess to gain vast wealth overnight. Some are reeling and rocking with greed and envy of their neighbor's good fortune and, this sort of drunkedness causes them to behave in as unnatural a manner as any alcoholic beverage could ever do.

These and many other stimulants that now exist must be guarded against as they can be far more harmful than alcohol. It is Prof. Herman's desire to aid others in using temperance in their judgement and thinking and, to help them overcome any unhappiness that may be a hindrance to their welfare. For inside information on yourself, send for your personal 1943 Horoscope.

E. R.—Dear Prof. Herman: Your interesting letter received and found me eager to get started along the road to recovery and happiness. I am now wearing the Hindu Charm Bag and feel better just having it on. Certainly more satisfied that I will now find the love I so much desire. Thanks again for your help.

M. E. C.—Your letter was received, but you failed to send full name and address, upon receipt of this information will be glad to answer your question concerning your daughter.

Mrs. A. H.—Should I go back to my husband.

Ans.—Probing into the matter I find that the best solution to your problems is to return to your husband. You both love each other dearly, don't let a small matter stand in the way of future happiness.

R. M. J.—Why am I having so much bad luck?

Ans.—According to your Zodiacal sign, your luck is destined to change for the better. You have been passing thru a cycle that meant a little trouble and ill-fortune, but it is just about over. For further help, write me at your earliest convenience.

S. D.—Will I ever get my grand daughter back?

Ans.—Concentrating upon your question, I find that your grand daughter will return to you soon. Naturally her parents want to see her, but realizing what she means to you, will no doubt let her come back.

A. M. G.—Dear Sir: Some of my friends recommended you to me. They said you were good in answering questions, so I am coming to you with my problem. Why did he stop writing?

Ans.—It appears to me that O. L. has been very busy with matters concerning his new position hence his not writing. It will also take a long time for his mail to reach you now, so just be patient, you will hear from him soon.

M. L. McD.—Will I ever marry?

Ans.—Your Lucky Stars and Guiding Planet indicate an early marriage for you. Since you already love W. W., and he is also 'that way' about you, marriage will come into your life within the next few months.

F. B. H.—What should I do about my problem?

Ans.—A careful analysis of your case indicates the fact that you must stop worrying. Remember it really isn't as bad as it seems. If you try hard enough you can conquer any obstacle that confronts you. Just keep trying.

A. O.—Will the business my husband has opened up, ever pay?

Ans.—It seems to me that you lack confidence in your husband's ability to succeed. You must encourage him, he is making a start but he needs plenty of encouragement and help. Yes, it will pay just like many others have done, and you will be proud of him someday.

NEW FACTS ABOUT MILK PROFITS

A CLEARER understanding of profits in milk distribution is made possible by data from a nation-wide study released by the Milk Industry Foundation. Charts show profits of 2⅛¢ per dollar of sales, a figure slightly overstated as some reporting firms did not include income taxes

The report covers operating results of 141 milk distributing companies in 33 states and the District of Columbia with combined sales of $467,014,000 in 1941. All U. S. cities of 500,000 population or more are represented. Averages were based on figures submitted to the Harvard Bureau of Business Research.

Out of the average sales dollar of the 141 companies, 57¢ went to the farmer for milk delivered to plants.

Wages and salaries paid to labor and employees in the distributing branch totaled 22¢ on a nation-wide average — the second largest cost item. Officers' salaries were only ¾ of a cent.

Necessary operating expenses amounted to 18¢, of which 8¢ went for bottles, cans, cases, other plant and delivery supplies; 5½¢ for taxes, licenses, insurance and depreciation; the remaining 4½¢ for power, light, fuel, etc.

According to the Milk Industry Foundation, profit of 2⅛ cents per sales dollar would represent approximately ¼ of a cent profit on a quart of milk.

...the President's Message

In a recent radio message, President Roosevelt, in speaking of the Red Cross, said among other things:

"Wherever our fighting men are—all over the world—the American Red Cross is by their side."

"Even our enemies know about the American Red Cross, because it has never let international boundaries act as the limits of its mercy."

"The American Red Cross begins today the greatest single crusade in all history."

"By proclamation, I have designated the month of March as Red Cross month. To make sure that every American boy on every fighting front has everything he needs which the Red Cross can supply, it will require at least $125,000,000. That is all that we need to know—we will not fail."

WAR ON NEGRO
TRUTH: For 323 years a war of prejudice, discrimination, lynching and abuses has been waged against us. I began to fight this battle when I discovered that I was a 'made fool.' Mark you, not a fool but a made one', like many intellectuals.
Thinking people are asking: What are we—Negroes, colored People or what? What is a NEGRO? No educator has ever given a satisfactory answer. They haven't the courage. The truth has never been told. Why is NEGRO the most disputed name? Because the truth is not known. Truth Is The Basis Of Education. I went to a university; spent 5 years in law school in Boston, became counsellor in public schools. Worked in educational sociology at New York University.
After 15 years' investigation, study and research, I found the facts, the history, the truth about the race.
With my discovery, I made money, and gained world respect.
It can do the same for you. I have compiled it in the great book: "HUMAN SIDE OF PEOPLE." 399 pages, 84 pictures by myself, Raphael P. Powell. The demand for this book by thousands proves that it shows the way o success and is helping to win the war against race prejudice. Price $3. DRIVE TO SMASH POLL TAX GAINS MOMENTUM

WASHINGTON, Mar. 17 The drive to eliminate the poll tax at this session of Congress picked up momentum as 40 congressmen signed a petition to bring the anti-poll tax issue to the floor of the House.

There is still a long way to go, since 218 signatures are required.

But the machinery for a successful drive against the anti-democratic poll tax has already been set in motion.

FORM COALITION

Seven congressmen representing diverse political groups, joined in a formal announcement that they have formed a coalition to repeal the poll tax laws in the South. These congressmen will form a steering committee to guide the measure through the House.

They are Representatives Geo. H. Bender, Ohio Republican; Warren G. Magnuson, Washington Democrat; Thomas E. Scanlon, Pennsylvania Democrat; Joseph A. Gavagan, New York Democrat; William L. Dawson, Illinois Democrat; Vito Marcantonio, American Laborite of New York and Joseph C., Baldwin New York Republican.

Bender will be chairman of the steering committee.

All of these congressmen are united behind the discharge petition to bring H. R. 7, introduced by Marcantonio, to the floor of the House.

They joined in terming the Anti-Poll Tax Bill as "important win-the-war legislation."

The anti-poll tax drive has been greatly spurred by the National Committee to Abolish the Poll Tax.

This committee is coordinating the anti-poll tax drive, and has the support of the CIO, AFL, Railroad Brotherhoods and many church and civic groups.

Delegates to a recent conference here of this committee remained in Washington for a concerted lobbying campaign on Capitol Hill. The work of the delegates contributed substantially to the 40 signatures which have ben placed on the petition so far to bring the Anti-Poll Tax Bill to the floor.

SOUTHERNERS GET JOLT

WHITES BATTLE FOR NEGRO GOV. HOMES

A. CLAYTON POWELL RAPS LOUISIANA GOVERNOR IN SPEECH

"In a recent Saturday Evening Post article, Gov. Sam Jones of Louisiana says that if white American soldiers thought they were fighting for racial equality they would lay down their arms and desert the battle fields . . .

ADAM CLAYTON POWELL

This was the stout challenge which fiery Rev. Adam Clayton Powell, New York City Councilman, flung at Dixie reaction Sunday afternoon before a crowded Philharmonic auditorium in an address which climaxed a Unity for Victory Conference sponsored by the Negro Victory Committee, the NAACP and scores of other Negro and white organizations here.

Powell held that only a minority of "poll-taxers, fascists, crack-pots and crackers" maintained the system of Southern race hate and proclaimed that in the interest of victory and national survival Negroes must struggle against them, "for they would rather see the country defeated than Negroes liberated."

Norman O. Houston, militant executive of the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company, in a brief introductory statement, enunciated a clear victory program for Los Angeles' war working Negro populace.

Houston urged "utmost unity" with labor, a determined struggle against industrial discrimination and Jim Crow, and stated "above all else we must recognize this as the people's war, our war, one that we must fight through to real victory."

BRINGS WENDELL WILLKIE MESSAGE

A sensation was created when Powell brought the local audience a message from fighting Republican chieftain Wendell Willkie. "Fight 'em," the New York minister said Willkie had told him recently, "fight that poll tax gang like hell."

THIS IS OUR WAR

Powell charged that powerful interests in the United States opposed the President and the Nation and preferred defeat in the war to a people's victory. "This is our war," he told a cheering audience, "and we don't intend to let anybody take it from us!"

He urged unity with labor and other racial minorities in fighting for Negro rights and councelled an end to fear of "being called a radical."

Powell asked that Negroes "remove, purge and exterminate" Uncle Toms. Pointedly attacking the Los Angeles Railway Company he told his vast and enthusiastic audience, "If the L. A. Ry. isn't forced to obey the executive order of the President of the United States, fascism will have come to the West Coast and come to stay. Where is the War Manpower Commission? Where is the War Labor Board? Fight this case! Take it to the courts! Take it to the people!"

During his speech, Powell paid tribute to Rev. J. Raymond Henderson, militant pastor of Second Baptist Church and former New York associate of the speaker, and to Rev. Clayton D. Russell, leader of the fighting Negro Victory Committee here. "These two fellows alone," said Powell, "can turn this town upside

A demonstration of democratic unity in support of the nation's war for survival was given the whole country last week by the labor people of San Pedro, AFL and CIO, alike.

Immigrants from Texas and Oklahoma, here to work in war industries, found Negroes occupying homes, minus segregation, at the Normont Terrace housing project. The new-comers immediately took exception to the Negroes' presence and started ouster proceedings through a petition of protest.

But the reckoned without the win-the-war forces of labor in Southern California.

The effort was promptly killed, —and it is resoundingly dead,— by the action of CIO and AFL unionists. A special meeting was called to combat the petition. I have before me the heartening statement of these brothers in arms against native fascism. I quote the workers' statement:

"At a meeting of the representatives of both the CIO and AFL Labor Unions in the harbor area, the disturbing problem of discrimination against Negroes in a housing project in this district was discussed. After all these years of dilatory progress, and at a time when we are fighting a war against discrimination and oppression, the Negro and his family still have a constant struggle against unfair distinction in housing and employment.

"The CIO and AFL Unions in this area worked actively and strenuously to bring housing projects to this area before the emergency war production began. The Unions fought persistently against discrimination and separation of any workers. There was thought of excluding Oklahomans, Arkansans, Jews, Negroes, Filipinos, Spanish speaking peoples, etc. through the various prejudices. Union committeemen were perserving in their effort to keep these projects available to all. Again and again in the regulations the phrase "there should be no discrimination against race, color or creed" appears.

"All of these people are working wholeheartedly in production and contributing their full share to the war effort. Their families must be housed and their living conditions must be considered on an equal basis with the rest of the incoming population.

"If discrimination against one group is permitted, soon others will find themselves being treated in a like fashion according to the prejudices of various people. Misunderstanding and disunity in any group directly aids the Axis and hampers the all-out democratic war we are fighting. Such discrimination against minority groups must not be permitted. The right of all people eligible for federal, county and city housing projects must be de-

Street Car Rider to Sue LARY

Says He Was Beaten With Wrench By Conductor

A Negro L. A. R. Y. passenger charged today that he had been beaten by a conductor of the "3" car line Monday with 'what appeared to be a wrench."

The man was treated at Georgia Street Receiving hospital for injuries. He will file suit against the firm through Att'y Walter L. Gordon, he revealed today.

A verbatim statement by the man, Alvias Webster, of 1216½ E. 16th Street, follows:

"I boarded the No. 3 car going South on 5th street. I went and asked the motorman how far did he go, down to Central. I asked him the same question about 4 times, and he replied the same answer every time. I went back and sat down. He looked like he was mad any way. When the car got to 6th street at the end of the line, I asked him again, 'is this far as you go.' I did not know that was the end of the line. He said, 'you get off of my car'. I asked him for a transfer, and he said, it again, 'you get off my car', and then he pushed me off.

"When he pushed me off I fell and my head hit the pavement. Before I could come to myself, he had got off of the car, and started to striking me on my head with the weapon that looked like he was a wrench. He hit me about 6 times. It stunned me for awhile. Soon as I came to myself I walked to 7th Street and caught the U car. When I hit the pavement I cracked my sun glasses in two places.

"I got off the car at 12th St., and walked home and a girl washed the blood off of my head, and then I walked to Washington and Central and got a man named Mack, he has a shine stand at 1318 So. Central, and I asked him to call an ambulance for me, and I was taken to Georgia St. Receiving Hospital, where they dressed my head.

"I got about 6 stitches in the side of my head. I suffer from headaches, fainting spells, and my neck feels like a leader is broken. Neck stiff, eyes ache and can't see very good

FULL FREEDOM FOR NEGRO TO COME THRU UNIONS, SAYS MURRAY

CIO President Makes Main Address at Howard University Charter Day Fete

WASHINGTON, March 17—Full emancipation of the Negro people "must come through powerful intelligently led labor unions," CIO President Phillip Murray declared in making the main address at a Charter Day celebration of 76-year old Howard University here.

Murray, who was welcomed by Howard President Mordecai Johnson, stressed the fact that CIO offers full equality to all workers in its ranks, "regardless of creed, color or nationality," and declared flatly that "no labor organization, especially in the mass production industries, can hope to survive if it practices discrimination."

Full appreciation of this basic CIO policy was expressed by Johnson, who said in introducing Murray to more than 1000 Howard students, graduates and faculty members:

"In recent years there has risen a great movement of labor solidarity—the CIO. From the beginning it has shown interests in Negro workers, has gained their confidence and solidarity because of that interest and has taken them into its leadership."

INTEREST OF ALL

"It is in the interest of the white workers to stop all discrimination," Murray said, "because the white worker cannot hope to improve his conditions while the Negro worker has substandard wages.

"No institution is better equipped to help win the war and win the peace than the labor move-

Man Held for Attempted Murder

His refusal to sell narcotics netted Willie Smith, 30, of 5535 South Central Avenue, a rain of bullets from a gun held by William Pollard, 34, former businessman, at the former's home Saturday night.

Or, at any rate that's the wounded man's story. When rushed to the Georgia Street Receiving hospital, narcotics were found in Smith's possession.

At first considered seriously injured, police physicians report him out of danger at General hospital today.

Pollard, who lives at 1120 East 49th street, has been arrested and booked for attempted murder.

Formerly an executive employee of an agency of the Ford Motor Company, Pollard was once before involved in a near-tragedy when he attacked Spurgeon Jones, one-time Avenue business man and candidate for State Assembly.

San Pedro Housing Bias Quashed By Unionists

SAN PEDRO, Mar. 17 —Trade unions, housing project tenants and officials took swift action this week to quash attempts of a small group of Southern hoodlums to incite lynch spirit against Negro occupancy of the Normont Terrae housing development in San Pedro.

"Should any disturbance of the peace be occasioned by social intolerance," Chairman Nicolai Guilli of the city housing authority warned, "its originators will be requested to move. Discrimination in any form constitutes sabotage of the war effort."

UNITED LABOR SPEAKS

In a special statement to the California Eagle, drafted by a meeting of both CIO and AFL labor unions in the harbor area, it was pointedly asserted, "If discrimination against one group is permitted, soon others will find themselves being treated in a like fashion, according to the prejudices of various people. Misunderstanding and disunity in any group directly aids the Axis and hampers the all-out democratic war we are fighting. The right of all people eligible for federal, county and city housing projects must be defended right here in our own community."

Recently two Negro families, whose breadwinners both work in the shipyards, moved into the Normont project. A small clique of Southerners immediately began to circulate petitions seeking their removal, with the evident intent of inspiring an attack similar to the one of the Ku Klux Klan on the Sojourner Truth project in Detroit.

The People's' World learns that the ringleaders of this Jim Crow movement are known for drunkenness and wife-beating on the project.

MANY REFUSE TO SIGN

About half the Normont Terrace tenants were intimidated into signing the petitions, but a large number flatly refused to do

STATEMENT MADE BY PRODUCTION FOR VICTORY CONFERENCE

Parley Called by Negro Victory Committee, NAACP, L. A. Urban League, CIO, AFL

Total mobilization for victory is the chief task to which American people at home are dedicated. The Negro people and other minorities are essential sections of America; and if victory is to come, these minorities must be mobilized to their fullest productive capacities.

This truth has been recognized by the government and symbolized in the President's Executive Order 8802.

We the people and friends of the Negro community of Los Angeles know the military might of the Axis. We know the determination of the dictators. We know that any negotiated peace or appeasement will betray the cause of world security and freedom and open the way for worse warfare.

Therefore we of this community and our friends will make every effort for the total mobilization of this community.

We will urge the creation of a healthy war economy--in which available food stuff is distributed in such a way as to assure the health, morale and productive efficiency of our war workers.

We will continue to support the trade union movement and organize an educational program for full and complete integration and participation to which Negroes must look for the guarantee of labor's rights. But will fight against any form of discrimination in employment directed against Negroes, Mexicans and other minorities whose loyal participation must be enlisted for the war effort.

We will continue to support the trade union movement and which today hampers our war effort by disfranchising 10 million Americans in the poll tax states.

Finally, we of this community hold out the hand of fellowship to all democratic loving people of this city for the creation of that understanding which is so necessary for victory and the future peace.

NNC Asks Freedom for Burrows

Freedom of Man Accused of Rape Asked of Governor

NEW YORK, Mar. 17 — In a strongly worded telegram to Governor Paul B. Johnson of Mississippi, the National Negro Congress has called for the immediate freedom of George A. Burrows, returned to Mississippi by Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York, on a trumped up rape charge. The Congress also protested the action of Governor Dewey in sending Burrows back to Mississippi as "another step in the growing alliance of the Poll Tax spokesmen from the South with reactionary Northern Republican interests to destroy national unity", and at the same time called a "Free Burrows" mass meeting in Harlem at the Renaissance Casino for Thursday night, March 18. THE GANDHI FAST VIEWED THROUGH INDIAN EYES

By R. LAL SINGH

Editor India News, Member of Indian National Congress

Gandhi has ended his fast.

"Failure!" cries most of the press in America. With banner headlines above long editorials, many of them indicate great satisfaction.

But it was not a failure of the Indian people. The attention of the whole world has been focused on the necessity for Indian freedom.

Those who try to discredit and hurt the Indian national movement should remember: The war is a people's war. It is a war of liberation. Consequently, every injury or setback to the Indian people, is an injury and a setback to the United Nations, of which India is a part.

Gandhi's fast was a signal to his countrymen, regardless of party affiliations, to rally to the cause of national unity.

Gandhi's fast was a challenge to the Government of India which had falsely charged that there was no basis for unity between the Indian National Congress and the Moslem League.

Gandhi's fast was a call to the people's of the United States, the people's of the United States, to help achieve Indian freedom!

Gandhi, through his correspondence with the Viceroy proved beyond the shadow of a doubt that neither with Indian National Congress nor Gandhi himself was responsible for the violence, sabotage and Fifth Column disruption of India's war effort, which has occurred since August 9th, 1942--the date on which Gandhi, Nehru and the other leaders were imprisoned.

And since that date the failure of the Colonial Tories to free India's leaders, their failure to reopen negotiations with them for the purpose of establishing a national government, their failure to involve the Indian people in organized and powerful defense of the Motherland, has had but one result; Sabotage, resistance, bitterness on the one hand, and increasingly harsh wholesale repressive measures on the other, with danger of disruption of the war effect as the end result.

Unity Is Result Of Conference

Firm foundations for a broad, unified community effort to blast through discrimination and Jim Crow in the interest of all-out production in Los Angeles' war industry was charted here Saturday at a conference called by the Negro Victory Committee, the NAACP, the CIO and AFL, among others, at Second Baptist church, 24th and Griffith Streets.

Welcome outlines of a vast, new unity of efforts by Negro organizations, CIO and AFL labor unions, churches and progressive bodies generally in combatting industrial race bias was glimpsed as the large gathering, representing all walks of life, went on record demanding vigorous action against which limits the city's war vital production.

Need for community coordination was voiced, and a Victory Council set up to pump the war-support programs of the community through a single, unified organ.

GRIFFITH SOUNDS KEYNOTE

Att'y Thomas L. Griffith, president of the Los Angeles branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, sounded the unity keynote when he pointed out that the vast problems of the war-working Eastside community demands action from every source.

"The NAACP," he said, "has only 3,000 members in a community of 70,000. Obviously, it is unable to solve all the problems of the group. I wish to voice my firm support of a unified community effort, drawing in all organizations and individuals, to get through our urgent problems."

While not pushing aside situations existing within war plants and unions, Griffith urged closest attention to housing, pointing out that deed restrictions wound the war effort through jamming Negro workers into congested and inadequate communities.

SMACK NORTH AMERICAN

North American aircraft company came in for a thorough drubbing from rank-and-filers on hand. Discriminatory practices at the Inglewood plant directly limit out-put of vitally needed war planes, workers stated.

It was recalled that North American's president, J. H. Kindelburger, once said that this company would never hire Negroes in other than menial positions "regardless of their qualifications."

When this Hitlerite policy was cracked by President Roosevelt's executive order 8802, attempts at segregation of Negro workers in production, which continue to this day, were undertaken. One Negro worker, whose re-hiring was forced by the CIO, was fired because he spoke to a white woman employee.

BOILERMAKERS JIM CROW BLASTED

If any further indication of seething community indignation at the AFL Boilermakers' Jim Crow policy at Calship, Consolidated shipyards and the Western Pipe and Steel company were required, it was abundantly on hand throughout Saturday's confab. John E. Hargrove, progressive Negro AFL leader, staunchly struck the Jim Crow policy. He pointed out that Negroes do not oppose AFL as an organization, but only those remaining discriminatory practices carried on by a handful of the major AFL unions. As an example for the Boilermakers, Hargrove pointed to the AFL Hotel Employees unions in which unsegregated Negro members hold ranking offices.

MACHINISTS ON PAN

That the AFL Machinists union at Lockheed Aircraft Company refuses Negro membership was also struck. Support for the California Lodge 727 in its effort to lift the Grand Lodge regulation against Negro participation was voiced.

Keynoter for the Negro Victory Committee was its fighting chairman, Rev. Clayton D. Russell, who proclaimed "Negroes, along with all America's common people, are on the march!"

Att'y Marshall Denton was a surprise sensation at the meeting, outlining a vigorous campaign in support of anti-poll tax legislation. "Because we failed to secure passage of this measure in the last session of Congress is no excuse for defeatism, no reason why victory may not come to us in this session. What is required is a grass-roots movement from the masses of people, from us all, each and every one. We must extend democracy during the war for democracy. Passage of the anti-poll tax bill is everybody's business!"

A statement of the Conference deliberations begins on the front page. No date has been announced for the first meeting of the Victory Council, which has been developed out of the conference.

NAACP JRS., CIO, EAGLE, SAVE WAR JOBS

2 WOMEN WAR WORKERS LOSE JOBS AT DOUGLASS FOR -- GUESS WHAT?

Suppose you are a Negro women war worker.

You do your job well and mind your own business.

But one fine day you are fired, bam, just like that, on a trumped up charge by a prejudiced official.

Furthermore, your work availability slip proclaims that you are "insubordinate" (thus chances for work in other war industries neatly eliminated.)

Now, the question is, what should you do about it?

IF THERE IS A UNION, at your plant, make a bee-line for it.

IF NOT, the case of Evelyn Gibson, 22, 1521 Sixteenth St., and Frankie Batts, 22, 1811 Broadway, both of Santa Monica, should offer you some pointers.

The two girls, both possessing high efficiency ratings, both busily turning out the air-power with which the United Nations will drive Axis Europe to unconditional surrender, were fired from Douglass Aircraft Company a few weeks ago because they "pushed in line" while checking out of the plant. Both denied this accusation. Both were peremptorily discharged and labelled insubordinate.

NAACP JUNIORS

Reading that the Junior Council fought cases of Negroes discriminated in defense industries, the girls brought their problem to that youth at its regular Friday meeting at the YMCA.

BULLETIN

The Junior Council of the NAACP meets Friday night at 7:30 p. m. at the 28th Street branch YMCA.

War workers encountering discriminatory practices, jim-crow unionism unfair upgrading, are urged to report their cases immediately to the Council for prompt action.

Full details were filed. The NAACP Juniors went into swift action, appointing committees to contact the California EAGLE and the CIO United Automobile Workers, which is organizing at Douglass.

The girl's story appeared in the following week's edition of the EAGLE.

After conferences between Junior Council youth workers and CIO representative Revels Cayton, the greivance was taken over by United Automobile Workers, CIO.

Though management had previously told the women workers that there was no hope of their reinstatement, today they are both back on the job, producing the supplies our nation demands for victory.

A letter to the Junior Council president, John Kinloch, from Evelyn Gison follows:

"Dear Mr. Kinloch,

I am writing you to express my thanks and appreciation to the Junior, NAACP and the California EAGLE, for their interest in my case and for being instrumental in helping me secure my job at Douglass, Santa Monica, again.

"Through your efforts and the CIO, I am to start working tomorrow."

fended right here in our own community.

"We of organized labor reiterate our firm opposition to any form of racial or religious discrimination and renew our pledge, as an all-time duty, to carry on the fight for protection in law and in fact of the rights of every racial and religious group to participate fully in our social, political, and industrial life and in the realization of the supreme value of the individual, regardless of race, creed or national origin. In the determination of policies, and in employment of the scientific methods in the solution of the social economic, political and all other problems of our cultural and social life we wish to call to the attention of all men not to forget the part the other man plays in our national life."

The union labor statement to the Eagle was signed by:

Mrs. Werig, Monica, NMU; Mrs. Turpin, Rose, ILWU 1-13 Ladies Auxiliary; Mr. Padovan, Frank, Fishermans; Mr. M. E. Court, MCS; Mrs. Gomez, Andrea, Cannery AFL; Mr. Fi-Ansone, Martin, Cannery, AFL; Mr. Kunst, Victon, Fishermans; Mr. Young, C. C., ILWU, 1-13; Mr. Mitchell, J. T. ILWU 1-13; Mr. Mulholland, W. J., SWU No. 9.

Each week end, our city, including my beloved Central Avenue, is visited by soldiers from near-by camps. These soldiers come to town for recreation and pleasure. It is up to us to see that the most wholesome provision is made for them along these lines.

We have undertaken the serious job of winning the war, and subtracting from our losses in men and material a better America, a free world, in which men shall live in peace. It takes sober men to do this job.

The men who visit the Central Avenue district are from all parts of the nation. Some of them have been oppressed and denied the free expression of their rights in the pursuit of happiness and liberty. Stunned by the sudden changes that have come into their lives, they easily approach the extreme in whatever pleasure is offered. As a result, drunkenness is quite prevalent.

This is particularly the case among those men from sections of the country where they have been denied the benefit of education and training by the contemptible poll taxers. They are easy prey for those who exploit them in order to collect.

We shall have no preaching to these boys, who, after all, offer their lives in the defense of freedom.

If preaching there must be, let it fall upon our own wayward ears. Our support of the existing recreational facilities in the community must be sharply expanded. The superb work of USO, the AWVS, and numerous other groups must find increasing cooperation from everyone in town. Further, we must devise new means not only of entertaining the soldiers but of bringing to them programs that will illustrate in concrete terms the progressive nature of the war in which their lives are offered. We must somehow show them that we will not take their faith lightly. We must let them know that we WILL keep the home fires burning, bright with freedom and hope.

San Pedro Housing Bias Quashed By Unionists

so. The city housing authority has held one meeting with the lynch inciters to lay down the law of the land against racial discrimination, but this did little good, the prime-movers then threatening to "dump the Negroes in the slough" and to oust the project manager.

Meanwhile, other democratic forces have moved quickly into action:

1.—The CIO Maritime Committee, composed of representatives of every CIO union in the harbor area, at its March 6 meeting condemned the Jim Crow movement, voted to issue a statement setting forth the CIO's position on discrimination.

2.—The tenants' council of the Rancho San Pedro housing project also adopted a resolution backing the policy of the city federal housing authorities against discrimination in tenancy, and forwarded a copy of this resolution to the Normont Terrace project director.

WAR PROGRAM

Declared Guilii:

"This development is part of the federal government's housing program for war workers. Into our homes here, as in the factories turning out vital materials for victory or in the frontline battlefields, will come American citizens of all creeds, colors and from all sections of the country. Without them we cannot win.

"To the successful prosecution of the war and for the best interests of our country, tolerance and cooperation are as important in victory as guns, planes, tanks and troops.

Southland Plans Gigantic Post-War Developments

California's Southern Empire, comprising the seven counties of Southern California, will unite the combined efforts of engineers and planners to coordinate gigantic post war developments and projects.

This was disclosed yesterday by Supervisor Gordon L. McDonough whose proposal to coordinate activities of the Southern Empire speeded action of the Boards of Supervisors of these seven counties to develop reports on essential projects.

The seven counties are Ventura, Los Angeles, San Bernardino, Orane, Riverside, San Diego and Imperial with a combined total population of 4,000,000 people.

Under McDonough's plan each county is instructing its planning engineer road commissioner, surveyor and flood control engineer to prepare a report of project proposals which will be considered by the engineers of the seven counties together with the Boards of Supervisors.

SIGNIFICANT QUOTES

Significant quotes from Powell's adress, which drew what was actually an unprecedented ovation from his listeners, are stated in the order that they appeared throughout his address:

"Seven years ago I came to the West Coast under the auspices of the Hollywood Anti-Nazi League, and at that time it was considered very radical to speak against the Nazis and fascists.

"Negroes in this country were among the first to understand the theatre of world-wide Hitler domination because we knew about Hitlerism long before that little paper-hanger was born in Austria.

"Long before the Gestapo, we knew about the Ku Klux Klan.

"And we know today that you can't whip Hitler in Berlin and Tokyo and let him run up and down the streets of America . . .

"The Negro has never been a Fifth Columnist. We are in the first column of democracy . . .

"At the out-break of the war, the Atlantic Charter, the Four Freedoms and the Vice-President's Century of the Common Man speech gave us the hope that dream of our fore-fathers had at last come true. But we soon discovered that we were still unable to work in defense industry, unable to do anything but wash the kitchens and the toilets of the Navy, unable to enlist in the marines, unable to fly an airplane in the air corps.

"But today every door that was then closed is now open.

"I saw factories in Cleveland where CIO unions hung signs on idle machines stating "THIS MACHINE WORKS FOR HITLER" because management refused to hire Negroes. We won our victories in defense industry because we fought on the outside and Labor fought on the inside . . .

"Thank God, we are beginning to find new allies among the working people and other minority groups, especially the Jewish people."

"There is a dangerous movement in high places under way to obstruct the rising tide of Negroes, poor whites and trade unions, we, who are the forces of victory in this nation's war for survival.

"First, this movement is reflected in the effort to divide us from our great allies, China and the Soviet. Had it not been for the heroic defense of its homeland by China, invasion fleets of the Japanese imperialists would be off the coast of California now. Had it not been for the noble Russian defense of Stalingrad, Germany would be invading England today. China and Russia have paid with 10,000,000 lives, more than the present combined armies of England and America, to save the world until we were ready to fight.

"Today we still send oil to fascist Spain,—oil which ends up in the tanks of Nazi German mechanized equipment in North Africa

"Second, the men in high places launch an attack against the American laboring people. The National Association of Manufacturers, which does not wish to win this war, used Col. Lindberg until he was no longer useful. Now they're parading around another labor-baiter, and I refer to Captain Eddie Rickenbacker.

"Third, the forces of reaction have launched an offensive against the Negro people of this nation.

"In a recent Saturday Evening Post article, Gov. Sam Jones of Louisiana says that if white Americans soldiers thought they were fighting for racial equality they would lay down their arms and desert the battle fields.

"Gov. Sam Jones is a damn liar!"

" He speaks for a small, but powerful minority of the people of the South and of the nation. But until this gang is whipped, until Bilbo, Rankin and Dies and all the others are out of the Congress we cannot hope to win the war and certainly we shall fail to win the peace.

"From all this Negro-Americans should draw the conclusion that we are faced with a struggle that will determine our history for the next one hundred years. Upon what this generation does today depends our whole future. If we fail, future generations will damn us. If we succeed, they will praise us to the high heavens. In either case, the decision is ours.

"The first things Negroes must learn is that all white people are not crackers. We will find our allies in the common working class people. We the Negro people are a race of workers. Our place is side by side with all labor organizations, not only as members, but as holders of important executive positions. Where labor organizations bar Negroes, we must fight our way in.

"Especially may I caution you against the poison of anti-semitism. Brother, you can't hate a Jew and love freedom, even for yourself. The two things won't and can't go together The Jewish people and Negroes have borne a heavy cross. We must learn to bear it together.

"We must also learn to support all groups and organizations travelling in the same direction as we are. We must not be afraid of the term radical. Every progressive thinker in the history of the world was a radical. Christ was a radical, and he was crucified for that crime. The founders of this nation were radicals. Abraham Lincoln was a radical.

"When people say to me, 'don't associate with those fellows because they're radicals,' I ask them, 'what the hell do you think I am?

"Negroes have got to be radicals. Only radical measures can liberate us. My grand-father was a slave. The letter "P" was branded on his back. Until that memory is gone from my mind, I intend to remain a radical.

"A Negro is either a radical or an Uncle Tom.

"There is one thing we must do. We must remove, purge, exterminate the Uncle Toms from our midst."

OUR WAR

There is a group in Washington trying to delay victory in this war. They are trying to turn back the clock of history. They are trying to shackle Negroes to old blocks. Well, they may delay history for a while, but they will never stop it.

"This is the people's war. It is our war. No proposal to send us 'back' to Africa or anywhere else is going to make us forget that this is our land, and our war in its defense. I repeat, this is ours, the people's war, and no crack-pot cracker is going to send us anywhere.

"These are the principles around which the Negro people rally today: our war, our land, our world.. The world of the common man, everywhere.

"We must struggle now, with all our might, so that America may, in truth, become a government of the people, black and white; by the people, Jew and Gentile; for the people, Protestant and Catholic!"

Freedom for Burrows NNC Asks

of the Congress released by its Executive Secretary, Edward E Strong, follows in full:

"The extradition of George A Burrows to the lynch ridden state of Mississippi by Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York represents another step in the growing alliance of the poll tax spokesmen from the South with reactionary Northern Republican interests to destroy national unity through which alone the war can be successfully prosecuted, and the freedom of oppressed minorities won. It is of immediate concern, therefore, to the Negro people, the organized labor movement, and other progressive forces in our country that mass protests be made to Governor Paul B. Johnson of Mississippi, calling for the unconditional release of Burrows, and for the prosecution of his Mississippi attackers."

"The Burrows case arose over the usual charge on the part of a Southern woman that Burrows attempted to kiss and rape her. Upon being given this false information, two white men physically attacked and beat Burrows one of whom was shot in the fight that resulted. The charge of rape is false from beginning to end. As a matter of fact, Burrows was illegally caught and beaten without cause, endeavored to defend himself, and finally sought refuge in the North."

J.-CROW BOILERMAKERS INVITE 5,000; 5 SHOW!

Boilermaker Jim Crow Move Flops

MARIN CITY, Calif., Mar. 17—The Boilermakers local was not too well satisfied with the response to the 5000 notices sent out to the Negro shipyard workers for only five were present for the initiation in the effort to organize a Jim Crow local Tuesday evening, March 4th. During the process of initiation and instructions questions were asked by J. W. Walton who's suspicion had been aroused by an office clerk who had asked him to sign a petition asking for an Auxiliary charter for the Jim Crow local, but refused and was anxious to learn the real purpose of the separate local. Those initiated were James King, D. F. Burch, Wm. Moody, Ben Randle and J. W. Walton. A great voice of disapproval was sounded by the Marinship yard workers where discrimination is not practiced, and who has the distinction of being the largest shipyard in the Bay Area that has had no Labor or Racial trouble, and where both groups work in peace and harmony.

The same conditions exist at the dormitories and at Marin City family units which is also on record of being the only Federal housing project where segregation is not in force and discrimination has no place. Repudiating the theory that true Democratic ideas can not be injected successfully, all of which makes it quite convincing that the action of the Boilermaker local unnecessary and obviously has a post-war motive. Walton has a case on file against the Pipefitters local who has refused him membership or even a clearance.

The community Council of the Marinship dormitories have appointed a committee composed of L. A. Johnson, E. G. Berry, and J. W. Walton who have filed the case with Washington, D. C.

Post Exchanges Popular With Off-Duty Soldiers

CAMP LEE, Va.—Men who once met in swanky metropolitan night clubs and the boys who spent their idle hours at the country store at the cross roads will be found during off duty hours at the Post Exchanges. These women, in the job every day of the year, are Oakland's day air raid wardens. Five thousand strong and rapidly growing, the women's day warden organization has been called one of the finest of its kind in the nation by the State Council of Defense. "And that, knowing the time that it is time to make out of sleep, for now is our salvation nearer than when we believed." Romans 13:11.

The dinner and press conference given for Councilman Dr. Clayton Powell, of New York City, and the papermen at the residence of Correspondent O. Bryant, was a swell affair. Topics concerning the war effort and post war days were discussed over a delicious repast. National Negro publications were well represented.

Dr. Powell emphasized the need of concerted action by both labor and management, regardless of race, creed, or color. He asserted that the church should play a vital role in educating labor as to the benefits of organized labor. We were given an outline of his topic for his address at the Philharmonic Auditorium on Sunday, March 14.

Since becoming the first Negro councilman in New York five of the ordinances introduced by Dr. Powell have been enacted. This is the first time an independent councilman has been accorded that recognition in New York City. He has also been instrumental in placing five Negro professors in the city colleges.

The theme of Dr. Powell's Sunday address was: Victory at Home, Victory Abroad, and Victory over Ourselves. Dr. Powell stated, "We cannot lick Hitlerism in Germany and Japan and continue to let it run up and down the streets in America. This is not a black man's war or a white man's war, a Jews war or a Catholic's war, it is our war the peoples war. We cannot afford to hate Jews or anyone else. The black man of all people, who has been recipient of the worst type of hatred should love everyone. Hate knows no control and those who practice hating find themselves hating themself."

Post office employees are requested to write their legislators to pledge their support of bills S. 360 and HR. 1860. These bills will provide a bonus of $300 and time and a half over 40 hours per week based on a 260 work day year. This bill would be in force for the duration and six months thereafter.

The United Federal Workers of America, Local No. 191, will meet Sunday, March 21, 1943, at the 28 Streeet YMCA: CIO affiliate are cordially invited.

"The Delightful Side"

I see! What I've gotta get myself, ration-stamp 'n' all, is a pair of seven-league boots so I can successfully be everywhere at once while these eventful weekends pop up, as they somehow will . . . despite the intriguing tone of "nine p. m. until—" in the midst of the wording which bade us join the last Satd. nite crowd which eat a path to Villa Arlington to properly warm Thelma Johnson Streat's studio, we didnt reach that neighborhood til way AFTER "until." And we regret it, darn it, for we still haven't had chance to cast speculative eye over the Streat output, altho we do recall seeing a few things of hers over at Tony Hill's place recently . . . I daresay the studio warming was just that . . . we've never been to a party which was broadcast, and we're curious about that touch, too! . . . now, we'll sit quietly here til Leigh Whipper, irate at us for missing the party, calls our phone and raises the roof . . . ah, me, these confoozin', amoozin' Satd. nites—tsk! tsk!!

That's Carrie Williams' eye-filling sis, Juanita, who landed in Gen'l Hosp. as outcome of her flu siege . . . Edna Thrower, whose hostess-playing via the Sun. nite route is a bright spot on our list, as good cause for that new radiance she's shedding! . . . ran into her while the weekend merrie-go-round was a-swingin' thru its different phases, and she was really ticking . . . I've a vague idea Altonel Hines Matthews will be out next month when her baritone actor hubby, Eddie, arrives for the Gershwin thing. At least, I hope so.

Bob Robinson upped and dashed to Frisco to visit his mother last midweek . . . Gordon Croques was in town again over the wkend . . . Zetas Finer Womanhood Week got off to a brilliant start, with all hands on deck . . . The term "afterhours" continues thru our years to have a sure-fire cure for us, and we've recalled getting outve bed at 2 a. m. and blithely beelining to some distant choice celler. (We're a sucker for anything resembling the touch of Harvey Brooks or the caroling voice of Jean Sablon or Ivie Anderson's relaxed moments vocal). Accordingly, we gleefully popped in Herb Jeffries (sang with Eddie Beale's Trio) and Earl Griffin's Black Flamingo site t'other a. m. and found it to our liking. When Herb gets wound up he makes a surprising conversationalist!

Friday diary: Mad ride to Calship yards with Tommy Southern, who shepherded a few of us thru the afternoon like prize blue-ribbon scouts. Interesting session, and a rhythm rockin' one with Dootsie Williams and his lads, later. Then gobs of lunch (as "Shot" Burwell would say) in the administration dining room. And a playback on that mad ride with Tommy . . . was there ever another like that guy? . . . That probable dull thud you've been hearin right along is local intelligentsia—the hostess variety—swooning dead away on the rugs. Cause celebre is the presence of dynamic Rev. Adam Powell and his wife, as you well know . . . Bob Clark, on furlough, managed to arrive in time for Louise Beavers' birthday . . . Did you know one of the very finest picture frame designer and makers in town is a young beige-skin lad who creditable manages a large shop on Vine Street, near Sunset? His name, Sam Moody. We chanced in his shop recently with an artist crony, and was frankly startled to meet Moody (and his bride, who also frames etc.). Hats off to the Moodys!!

Jieno Moxzer marched off to war this wk . . . I dont know whence the rumor Jerome Carrington will be in town from DC, but it aint true. Jerome is glued to that town . . . Cold, icy stare: For the village lady who cannot verbally somehow make up her birdy-birdy mind just WHAT she'll do . . . King's gold: Benny Carter's magic sax. We did his Hollywood spot recently—and gosh!! . . . Bill Lawrie is an MP in Texas . . . Terrific shock, learning of Teddye Brown's recent passing in NY!! We loved Teddy dearly and when several of us touched champagne glasses to her at Georgette Harvey's in Sept. before the summer gang hit the road for the winter none of us dreamed that was goodbye to her. My heart goes out to Georgette. They went thru the Russian Revolution together . . . Joe Makel, in Chi, up again for induction and hoping hysterically he'll make it . . . Cherubic baby, the son of the Boyd Dades . . . Delifeful surprise over the wkend getting a hi-ya-bub! call from music critic Leonard Feather in town at the Hollywood-Plaza from NY. Much gab . . . Betty Bowen, in Chi, brings us up short with her airmail revealing she was sworn in the WAACS last wk!!

These following lads, our second well-dressed list, don't particularly have a closetful of clothes, but I list them simply because what they do wear they wear well, and consistently . . . our current list is sparse, with so many in uniform . . . Reading from left to right—Jimmy Robinson, Bene Greene, Luther Thompson (returned Satd. from army life), Joel Fluellen, Maurice Fielding, Cliff Bennett, Ernest Whitman, Norman Archer, Fred Toney, Eddie Atkinson Jr., Dr. A. A. Foster, Dr. Tom Griffin, the brothers Nicholas, Eddie Brandon (who said he was in the army? We saw him at Calship), Norman Houston Sr., Dr. Henry McPherson, and Rev. Karl Downs . . . we miss not being able to put Eddie Smith, Riddell Scott, Harold Batiste and Clifton Russell on that list this time . . . (then there's the wag who wants to know the best-dressed newspaperman—on our incomes, is he kiddin'?)

Kay Hartsfield is visiting her hubby in Ariz. Thelma Pryce Batiste is winding up her bride's (first) taste of visiting in Ariz. as a serviceman's wife. She'll be home soon . . . Quiet dignity and a user of eloquent English: Rev. Frank Haris, who we heard for the first time in last Sunday's pulpit. He welcomed the Zetas and Dr. Ruth Temple to Bethel AME Church . . . Lt. "Kewpie" Hampton (her train en route here was 12 hrs late) reached NY okay, and out've her drawing room right into the arms of her attentive cavalier, who, they say, wandered morosely about NY during her brief absence. And he's slender, tender AND tall! . . .

Congressman Wm. Dawson will be an early visitor, here. He'll speak, probably at 2nd Baptist . . . Camille Roane birthdayed last Sunday . . . Mills Bros. finishing their 8 mos. at Florentine Gardens this wk, will return East soon . . . Olivette Miller was slightly more than terrific with her harp at the Philharmonic assembly, Sunday! . . . she only was! . . . Doin' all right for himself: Busy Eddie Beale. Happy reunion with the guy late Sund. nite at the Black Flamingo. Gobs of folk around. Maceo Sheffield, stunning Edith Martin (ravishing, these days!), Camille Roane, Cal Bailey with cute "Jimmie" Taliaferro, his model, the Cullen Fentresses ringsiding, Jimmy Robinson, Chris Jones (he's publishing a picture mag), Lawrence Lamarr and the scribes, Lillian Randolph looking her usual well-dressed self in furs and large hat, Mrs. Brooks, the restauranteur, Satchmo Armstrong, Herbert Mills, Leon Coleman, Tee Smith, Sidney Dones, Lt. Frank (ex-photog) Terry, Red Allen, Bardui Ali, et al. JRobt. Smith was emcee but completely.

Zetas Present Plaque to Dr. Ruth Temple

Fitting climax to their Fifth Annual Finer Womanhood Week celebration, members of the local chapter of Zeta Phi Beta sorority were hostesses Monday at Casa Rafael to an invited number to witness their presentation of the coveted honor placque to Dr. Ruth Temple, their current honoree for distinguished service.

Curtailed this year due to war conditions ,the sorority's week of achievement recognition nevertheless has been well-rounded. The reception honoring Dr. Temple was marked with an interesting program. Soror Lillian J. Fentress introduced Soror Jessica Ravarre, mistress of ceremonies. In turn, she announced a piano solo by Miss Edith Owens, followed by two-minute testimonials from civic leaders Floyd Covington, Councilman Bennett, Rev. Troy, Mrs. Jessie L. Terry, Delta soror Hilda L. Allen, Melanie Temple, Dr. Henry McPherson, Naida McCullough, and Dr. Temple's husband, O. D. Banks.

Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, who was the initial honoree chosen by the progressive Zeta women, delivered a warm address of fitting testimony. She touched upon yesteryear recollections including Dr. Temple, mentioned at outline length her sterling qualities and deserving progress.

A piano solo by Mrs. Carol Gilmore Johnson preceded the reading of letters, etc. from leading citizens. Soror Clara Fentress presented the placque to Dr. Temple with simple, effective words. Almost overcome with emotion, the latter gave a beautifully-worded response, which elicited appreciative applause. She wore a gown of severe black, which flattered her with shoulder touches of black sequins. Punch and cake were served, later.

The third event on Zeta Womanhood Week ocgurs tonight (Wednesday) when the Annual Pledge and Dedication service (closed) is observed. Soror Helen Chappell-Smith will be speaker. The final event will be the informal dinner complimenting Zeta husbands and sweethearts, Saturday evening. Soror Edna MacPherson is chairman.

Soror Mary Martin sang and Soror Myrtle Douglass presented a lovely bouquet to Dr. Temple. Rev. Frank Harris delivered a stirring tribute to Zeta women.

★ CROWN CITY CAPERS

By PHILIPPA E. JONES

Well, hello again. You know that old saying about a bad penny always turning up? Well here's your bad penny back again for another try at it.

Once again Uncle Sammy has some more additions to his wonderous army. The latest privates are: J. T. Morgan, Bob Brown, Ezell Aldridge,(Harry Lester, Elbie Hiskambottom, Bill Boyd, Bruce Gibson and 'Butch' Gomez. I went up Arlington Way last Sunday to see their G. I. "zoot suits". Ezell and J. T. ought to know the latest style pants are cuffless. Theirs semed to be a bit too long so they had to create a style of their own. Elbie was getting kidded because they put his tiny 11's in size 12½ shoes. They were saying, "your feet's to big.". Pvts. Brown and Boyde were posing as the "paddies". They looked just looke 'em. Harry looked rather like a "lost drape". But on the whole the boys looked happy and say to the rest of the youngsters, "Jo in the army and see the latest movies".

Will be looking forward to the semi Johnny Burton, Paul Talliaferro, and Ralph McAfee are giving next Saturday at the Callier's. The affair is really due to jump and all the younger set will be there to help it do so. The invitation says, "couples only", but I hope a couple of girls pass all right. After al lboys there is a man shortage so what more can we do.

The Fine Melloweers have a way of solving the problem. Sunday they are planning on attending Church in Los Angeles, then taking in Benny Carter, the Mills Brothers, and Dooley Wilson at the Orpheum. So you'd better lok out L. A. when they invade your fair city.

NEWS FROM THE CAMPS

David Scott reports that now the army isn't too bad. You see he has found a "fine little chick", deep in the heart of Texas, so that sort of makes up for other things. Talking of Scott's, I hear Billy Scott is struggling out Wyoming way. He says just cause he's far away you don't have to forget about him. So those guilty had better answer his letters. How did you like her cookies Billy? Give me an arrow and call me cupdi . . . Well I hear Joe Collins has left, leaving a certain girl on Sunset and Hammond rather lonesome. I wonder did he even get his crew together? . . . Richard Bartlett was home on his furlough about two weeks ago. He came and he saw that quite a few of the girls had grown up since he was last here so he started out to conquer. He said he really had a fine time and the party his brother Ray gave for him really came on . . . . . Jackie Robinson was back in town for about a week in order to attend the funeral of his sister-in-law. We were sorry to hear of her passing but were glad to see Jackie back among us. He looked very fine in his uniform, and made two girls happy by saying to a certain friend of his, "Boy, we were born four years too soon", (who are you telling?) —Received a letter from Harrison Bilcy, and he says quote, "seeing Bill (Bill Duncan) has made me remember all the fine times I use to have and all the fine girls. I have met a lot of fine girls in my time, but none compare with those at home". You couldn't mean one particular one, living on Vernon could you Harrison? Sinme I'm up about Great Lakes way with Harrison, I guess I'll bring Bill Duncan into the picture. He's another who wants to know why the kids don't write. Is there a shortage on pencils or ink? So girls come on and write the Gob.

Rufus Blake wants everyone to know "Sippie is a blipty". He says every night all he does is read his magazines. He says when he's not playing solitaire, he takes a bok down from the shelf. Hearing all the programs on the air he keeps pretty much to himself. (Is he kidding?) But he said that week end trip he took to Baton Rouge, La. was strickly on business . . . They're beginning to think Obbie Jones is a veteran at Ft. Riley. They come and they go but brother stays on. They say he's getting grey headed, brother Ab. also states that I kept saying. "The boys were this and that". He says they still are, not were. Say brother, how do you like my N. S. this time? . . . They say the new girls that works in the P. J. at Ft. Riley looks like she came from Hollywood at least, that's Walt Knott's opinion of her. I don't want to be too curious Knott, but who told you Audrey B. was married? . . . Since I'm still Ft. Riley way: Get well Arthur and hello Forchie and Paul (your cousin Bill S.) . . . . Eddie Johnson is still down at Ft. Huachuca. He set some fine gifts up this way to the two Bunches. Can't you make your mind up Eddie? . . . Hello there Bernard Harris, how are you? Say J. T., did you ever see Hello Frisco Hello? . . . Frank Batiste was down a few days ago and brought Kenneth Bruce here to 'Dena with him. While here they let us know all the news up March Field way. It seems that Tom McLurkin was getting a lot of ribbing about the locket he gave Lucille Harrison and Willie Slayton (just think Tom, a box of candy, to boot) . . . anyway, did you ever get it straight? How is track, Frank?

What does Aloha Nui Kui mean, Kenneth Bruce? I wonder what Fred Valentine is doing up Camp Stoneman way? . . . Say, Elbie H. do they issue lockets with your GI uniform? . . . John Anderson is around Algiers but he hasn't seen Hedy Lamarr or Chas. Boyer yet . . . I wonder how Bill Irving is? . . . I wish I could go on and write about all of the 'Dena boys in service but I haven't the space nor knowledge. But you boys, if there is something you wish placed here in this column just let me know and I'll be glad to do it.

On the Homefront:

Congratulations dut for Lucille Fairfax. She's displaying a fine engagement ring from one Joe Roundtree, SN. Lots of luck, Lu . . . T. D. Floyde has a fine brother, one Eddie Floyde running around at East Campus. Some call him Dagwood . . . I hear Ray Stension is planning on going back to Ariz. He said it is colder here in more ways than one . . . David Jones married the cute lil Jones girl from Watts about a wk ago. The newlyweds make a cute couple . . . I hear Barbara Brown is going up to Pittsburgh to visit her hubby, Bob, now stationed at Camp Stoneman.

How about that fine time Audrey Boykins has up there? . . . Johnny Burton has decided that at last he's truly living. Could the LA Westside girls have anything to do with it? . . . Jessie Arnold is now at Lockheed doing her bit to build up war production . . I wonder how goes the Lora Jacques-Clarence Rucker combo. Say Lora, you kill me with "Well, how is the boy friend?" Well, share, share, share alike . . How goes it with Carolyn Collier and Norman Barnes? . . . Say Creola Bowens didn't you even hear Baby Don't You Cry? . . . Well, I guess I'll stop for this time. (Ed. Note: You SHOULD be tired, Philippa, by NOW!!) Will be looking forward to seeing you Faye . . . Bye now.

Southeast AWVS Unit Frolics With Servicemen

Southeast Unit, AWVS, dined and danced in the Service club at March Field recently. A band of mixed musicians swung out. One hundred and eigh junior girls and chaperones filled two busses.

Later, another group journeyed on Sunday to the air corps stationed at Victorville. A delicious dinner was served after dancing.

Monday, Inglewood played host to the girls. The 75th and 175th Chemical units are stationed there.

An underscored evening at the AWVS Canteen was last Wednesday. Joint hostesses were members of the Orchid Girls club and the American Legion Women's auxiliary.

A $10 check was donated by the American Legion Women's auxiliary. Other donations were homemade soap and cookies from Mrs. Gertrude Allen, delicious cookies from Mrs. Crystal Marshall, books from Leigh Whipper and magazines and books from Mrs. Altha Warren.

A rousing program was presented as the evening got underway. Corp. Orlando Johnson (played an original keyboard tune) and Pvt. Geo. Anderson, of This Is the Army, highlighted the show. Mantan Moreland and Ben Carter did a turn or two; Norma Amito sang, Hattie McDaniel contributed her usually dependable bit of show-stopping. Among the many celebs on hand were Ernest Whitman, who had to leave before the show began, Ruby Berkley Goodwin, noted poetess-writer, and other names.

Maurine Browning is due special mention for her tireless effort in putting over a topnotch Canteen evening. Other such nights are on the calendar, and soon.

Mrs. George Allen, Mrs. Nell McClanahan, and Mrs. Sadie Staley came early in the evening and prepared delicious sandiches.

Sunday, a convoy of AWVS hostesses made a trip to the Chemical unit in Inglewood to trip the light fantastic and jitterbug with the men in khaki. HERB JEFFRIES (second from left), former Duke Ellington vocalist, who with Earl Griffin, prominent photographer, has opened a new after dark spot, "Black Flamingo," just south of Vernon avenue on Avalon boulevard. The spot is already proving popular with stay-uppers.

During his stay in Los Angeles, Sgt. Kelly, (above), spoke at the Great Trinity Baptist Church, pastored by the great preacher and teacher, the Rev. J. L. Castor. Sgt. Kelly spoke on the subject: "Why I Now Defend The Christian Religion." He said the non-Christian Religion as a whole is negative or an affirmation of nothingness. He said Christ had tested the Christian Religion and found it secure and entrusted it in the hands of me to defend.

Sgt. Kelly repeated the Masterpiece Sunday in South Los Angeles at the Macedonia Baptist Church, pastored by the Rev. F. D. Farrell. Sgt. Kelly had no comment, other than my pastor, the Rev. J. L. Caston represents the highest type of ministry. I am only trying to be the preacher and teacher he is.

Sgt. Kelly was the house guest of Rev. and Mrs. Horace N. Mays, Director of Christian Education and Dean of the Baptist Institute of Leadership Training School.

Sgt. Kelly said he enjoyed most of all the Leadership Training School being conducted by the able Dean and Teacher, the Rev. H. N. Mays. Sgt. Kelly returned to Fort Benning, Ga. Tuesday.

Assistance League Members Visit OLAHA Sanatorium

The patients of the OLAHA Tuberculosis sanatorium were cheered immensely by the visit of the Assistance League members Sunday afternoon, Mar. 14, announces Miss Pauline Slater, president of the league.

This group held its regular meeting at the sanatorium. Inspection of the admirably administered sanatorium was preceded by a regular meeting of the league.

Those on program included Miss Margaret Bonds, nationally famed pianist from New York and Chicago of the Bond-Jackson piano duo; Mrs. Jane Chandler Dover of Seattle, Wash., who told of the splendid work being done by the Negro unit of the Women's Ordnance Workers; also, Miss Teresa Irvin, who directed the National Tuberculosis conference held during the past week.

The group was challenged to increased endeavor as Dr. Leonard Stovall reviewed the progress of the home and outlined future plans for greater accomplishment. Pride was evidentt, too, as he described the unique X-Ray machine recently acquired by the home with proceeds garnered thru the efforts of the Assistance league.

An atmosphere of cheerful cour ge pervades the immaculate well-appointed sanatorium, and vision of peacefulness, encompassed by its expansive, beautifully landscaped environment.

All members attending assisted in serving patients their dinner trays. Patients were radiant upon receiving the league's gift of candy to each individual.

Members of the league, both new and old, expressed renewed impetus as they viewed the splendid progress and maintenance of the home.

Mrs. Fannie Williams, founder and organizer of the Assistance league, again thanks all public supporters, without whose constant cooperation this great work could not have attained present heights. She reminds us that there is much more to be done and challenges us to continue to make this home an increasingly outstanding landmark on the horizon of national better health for Negroes.

Great Church Services Set

Another week of fervent prayers, powerful singing and uncomprising preaching is under way. True hearted volunteers are assisting us each night, which means much to our meeting.

Elder J. G. Jones, stands undaunted in his fight against sin as he preaches each night. Come and hear him before he closes his week on Friday night.

Last evening (Monday) the Holy Ghost through Evangelist J. A. Alexander set our hearts aflame. Each word he spoke were jewels of wisdom and our souls were enriched abundantly. We are marching on with Christ, reaching for higher heights and searching for deeper depths.

Rev. W. C. McRoy, will take over the gospel gavel Sunday night, March 21 through Friday. Come and hear these splendid messages and bring an unsaved friend with you. We are not interested in the good people; but in the bad ones, for they who are whole needs not a physician, but they who are sick. "He that winneth Souls is Wise."

Hattie M. Crooms, minister.

By JESSIE MAE BROWN

Last week end, little Ole LA, really jumped, just like old times, so to speak. The University clubs started the doings off in a groovey manner, and I mean just that. Instead of the usual Friday evening medical program led by Dr. Ruth Temple, the club gave a social at the home of Doris Garrison. The SC and UCLA members were on hand with a few of their friends, and pitched a miniature ball. Saturday night found the college crowd at Patriotic Hall, where the annual fraternity basketball games are held. Unfortunately, the Kappas bowed down to the Alphas in an interesting and fast moving game. Alpha man Lambert Green only felt solid, and called the whole Kappa team four fs. Local debs by the couple made their fashionable entrances, as in past years. Phyllis Hoxie was looking very sharp in some new creation, as were Gloria Tribble, Betty Wright, and Mildred Ricee. Catoe Robinson had to charming WAAC's at his side, still keeping up with the times. Garnell Burrell and Billy Faulkner were pitching a ball, and Lorenzo Morris, as in past years, was on the door keeping tab on the money.

Lowell tSewart, Neal Collins, Fritz Banks and all the old stars now in the army are really missed. However, Don Barksdale, the great UCLA star was right in there doing his bit, playing a fine game, and winning most of the feminine hearts. The Deltas and a group of Jeffersonites played the preliminary game. The Deltas were victorious with Leonette Walker as high point lady. Leola Beavers played a swell game and received many a pat on the shoulder fro mthe Dleta debs. Cookie Cook, Maethilde Kenner, Althea Warren and Earnie Mae Maxey were among the Delta players. The after party, held at Music Town Auditorium was tops, and I hear that the after, after party was only on, with Charles Earles and Claudie Young playing the Buggie and doing their original dance.

DATE FOR IVY LEAF DANCE SET

At least, the Ivy Leafs have set the date for their long awaited annual dance. The affair is scheduled for the 10th of April; invites will be out next week. Because of the war, a few of the old plans have been altered, but it will still take its place, as the dance of the year.

The Doll League is holding its Benefit Tea at the swank home of Louise Beavers on April 4th. Be sure and put this affair on your "must" list, because it is definately on.

WELL! WELL! WELL!

Helen Jane and Gloria Ford will journey to Tuskegee in July, to see Lowell Stewart graduate as a Lieut. in the air corps .... Dan cupid certainly turned a few surprising tricks last week. Idell Johnson up and married a sharp Lieut. from Ft. Huachuca. Florence Cornelius became the wife of First Lt. Nukes, and the whispers' going round town, that Hope Speights has taken her vows and is keeping it a secret . . . Word come that Miss Dwight, is Lt. Ernest Ashford's fiancee, quite surprising . . . Locals are wondering just how much time Leonette Walker and Ruth Williams were on with the Romeo Don Barksdale . . . Hear that a very suave Lt. came by plane, to see Betty Yarbrough, could she be forgetting Johnnie Alston .... Rachell Isom and Jackie Robinson are engaged. The sparkler worn on her left hand is really a dilly. It's rumored that the Madelyn Carrington, Clem Hooks marriage, plus Uncle Sam closing in, is reason for the sick look on John Seeley's face. Edna Cunningham let's us know that the life of a WAAC is o. k. she's studying hard, but likes it .... Ann Clay Anderson is received an invite to join the English Honor Society out UCLA, congratulations . . . The debs on, and off campus, definitely vote Edwin Sneed best dressed man round town . . . Ruth Stevens is engaged to Magellan Mars, one of the Kappa basket ball stars, before Uncle Sam tok over .... Sarah Collins and Pvt. Lane Cleaves will soon be engaged if rumor has it right . . . Catoe Robinson was quite impressed with Earnie Mae Maxey last week end . . . LeRoy Beavers leaves for the army Sunday night.

Will be seeing you at the game . . . Till next week.

Becoming well known among music lovers in this section are the 265th Qm. Corps Harmonizers. They will appear Sunday afternoon on the Victory Hour at First AME Church. Members are: Corp. J. D. Young Lady, does an old TABOO prevent your knowing this help?

In less enlightened days, women didn't discuss these things. Now, it's different. If a woman suffers from periodic cramp-like pain and other purely functional distresses, she tries to learn how to help herself.

Thousands of women praise the 2-way help of Cardui. Taken as a tonic, it usually peps up the appetite, stimulates the flow of gastric juices, thus aiding digestion and thereby helping build up energy and resistance. Started three days before the time, and taken as directed, it should help relieve much purely functional, periodic pain.

Try CARDUI. A 62 year record says it MAY help!

SINGER-ACTOR JULES BLEDSOE last week filed a $100,000 suit for mal-practice against three physicians employed by the Lumberman's Mutual Casualty company, insurance carriers for Universal Pictures. The suit was filed by Atty. Thomas Griffith in Superior Court.

Bledsoe, internationally famous figure in legitimate stage, concert and film work, alleges he suffered a bad fall in December, 1942, while working in "Drums of the Congo" on Universal lot, receiving a badly fractured leg.

Directed by his company to report to the offices of Drs. Francis McKeever, Jno. Wilson and Donald Blanche the following month, Bledsoe began a series of treatments, none of which, he claims, were properly done. Further, he describes his association with the medical trio in terms of "refusal fo permit him to use their waiting room, and improperly performed services as physicians and surgeons solely because he is a Negro."

His work, consequently, has been greatly impaired, as he is unable to use his leg normally. Bledsoe has since incurred great expense for the care of his knee by another physician.

EX-PERFORMER NEARS END OF THEOLOGICAL COURSE

When a leading theater and night club entertainer, who in addition has also shown outstanding screen ability, decides to drop out of all the glamor and possibilities of great fame and fortune to study for the ministry, it is unusual news, indeed This is the story of Billye Browne, who did that very thing three years ago while at the heighth of her success in an unlimited engagement at the swanky Swanee Club, and in the summer class of 1944, she will graduate from the coast's leading Bible college with the degree of Bachelor of Theology. The college is the lighthouse of International Four Square Evangelism, located at Angelus Temple, with 500 student only four of whom besides Billye are colored.

It was a big surprise to the theatrical profession when the widely known Billye with pretty face and complexion, a slender and trim figure, a rich, expressive voice and a pair of the cleverest, speediest dancing feet in the show bisiness, embraced Christianity on March 18, 1940, but throwing the same earnestness and determination into her work that had made her a top performer, she persistently makes some of the highest marks of her classes, in spite of her difficult studies. Her proficiency has attracted the attention of Aimee Semple McPherson, famous pastor of Angelus Temple, who encouraged her and predicted a fine career for her in the clergy.

Planning her pulpit work along the modern, liberal lines of the present day, Miss Browne will start out on an evangelistic tour of many states, filling many engagement that have already been made for her—15 months before her graduation. She will be accompanied by her mother, and a pianist to play her songs, which she plans to make a feature of her appearances.

In addition to her theatrical work, Miss Browne was formerly very active socially, as president of the Entre Nous club, the Crescent Bridge club; secretary, the Lady Ester club, etc.

Victory Hour at 8th and Towne

"Civilian Corporation in Military Morale" will be the subject of the address to be delivered at the First AME church Sunday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock by Lieut. Lincoln Byars of the 265th Q. M. Corps, USA. He will be accompanied by a glee club under the direction of St. George Whitfield of Taylor, Texas.

Before entering the service Sgt. Whitfield was a member of a professional music troupe traveling under the name of Boots and His Buddies band. He served a three-year enlistment in the Army being discharged in 1939, and drafted back in the service in 1942.

Most of the members of his group are from Texas and Georgia. These include Corp. J. D. Pratt who for three years was a member of a quartet featured on a commercial program over San Antonio radio. Other members of the group are Pvt. John C. Dorsett, Leroy Williams, Hardy Coley, all of Texas; and Cicero Hendley, James W. Dorsey, Herschel Gibson of Georgia, and Ernest Ginn of Virginia.

Special selections which the group will use are The Great Lord Is My Shepherd, Time Is Winding Up, Noah, Precious Lord, and the Babe of Bethlehem.

Through the cooperation of Pvt. Judge McBryde, the glee club of the 775th Military Police Battalion stationed at Burbank, will also be present and contribute a number of their best selections to the afternoon entertainment. This group has been kept so busy in filling engagements in various parts of the city that this will be their first appeaarance on the Eastside since their arrival in California several months ago.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

The Golden Text of the Sunday Lesson-Sermon on "Matter" chosen from John's Gospel, reads, "It is the spirit that quickeneth; the flesh profiteth nothing."

The following selection from Deuteronomy is included in the Lesson-Sermon: "And now, Israel, what doth the Lord thy God require of thee, but to fear the Lord thy God to walk in all his ways, and to love him, and to serve the Lord thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul, To keep the commandments of the Lord, and his statutes, which I command thee this day for thy good?" Also Paul's exhortation to the Corinthians: "Be ye not unequally yoked together with unbelievers: for what fellowship hath righteousness with unrighteousness? and what communion hath light with darkness? . . . And what agreement hath the temple of God with idols? for ye are the temple of the living God; as God hath said, I will dwell in them, and walk in them; and I will be their God, and they shall be my people."

Mary Baker Eddy writes in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures:" "The three great verities of Spirit, omnipotence, omnipresence, omniscience, — Spirit possessing all power, filling all space, constituting all Science, — contradict forever the belief that matter can be actual. These eternal verities reveal primeval existence as the radiant reality of God's creation, in which all that He has made is pronounced by His wisdom good."

HITLER'S SECRET WEAPON: The Bogey of Communism

In the interests of national unity to defend our country and speed victory over Hitler's Axis, the National Committee of the Communist Party is reprinting herewith the text of the Lincoln Day address delivered by Earl Browder, General Secretary of the C. P. U. S. A., at Baltimore on Feb. 12, 1943.

HITLER'S SECRET WEAPON—The Bogey of Communism

By

EARL BROWDER

General Secretary, Communist Party, U. S. A.

There is deep significance for today in the fact that we combine in this meeting the commemoration of Abraham Lincoln, America's foremost contribution to the world leadership of democratic liberation, and of Vladimir Ilyich Lenin, founder of the Soviet Power which at this moment is liberating the world from the menace of Nazism.

In the joining of these two commemorations in one we are expressing the understanding, now general among the American people, that the destinies of these two countries are intertwined, that close and ever closer relations of cooperation inevitably arise from the deepest of common interests.

At this moment the common interests of the United States and the Soviet Union are expressed in the goal of victory over Hitlerism. When the Axis is destroyed that common interest will lie in the reconstruction of a world order in which peoples can peacefully work out their own destinies.

Achievement of victory over Hitlerism is the supreme common task today. In the name of Lincoln and Lenin we devote all our capacities to that goal.

Great events are taking place. Hitler's armies on the Eastern Front are being encircled and annihilated, one after another. All history contains nothing to compare with the mighty deeds of the Red Army under the guiding genius of Stalin. They have turned the tide of war definitely in favor of the United Nations. They have brought victory within reach.

The brilliant military occupation of North Africa by American forces, the heroic actions in the South Pacific which halted the Japanese and threw them back, the resounding defeat of Rommel in Libya by the British—all these facts show that the time is ripe to deliver a concerted smashing attack by all the United Nations which can break the backbone of the Axis. We must be profoundly dissatisfied, however, with the contribution which our country, the United States, has so far made to winning victory in 1943. The Conference at Casablanca gives us promise that America's might will be thrown soon into the scales of war. It is high time that this were so. Laggards cannot win this war; victory does not come "at leisure."

HITLER'S VICTORY IN CONGRESS . . .

At this moment when the black clouds of doom gather over Hitler and his armies, Der Fuehrer has gained one brilliant victory. To our shame we must confess that Herr Goebbels-gruber's single victory was won in the United States, in Washington, in Congress. By a vote of 302 to 94, the House of Representatives endorsed Martin Dies, the clearest and most consistent exponent of Hitler's policies and slogans within the United States.

I could spend hours in quoting from the most serious spokesmen of all political groupings, to show the general acceptance of the fact that the future of the world, and of our own country, depends upon friendship, understanding and cooperation between the United States and the Soviet Union. But the majority of Congress on Wednesday, by a vote of 302 to 94, voted no confidence in this whole line of policy by giving their confidence to Martin Dies, who is the embodiment of hostility against the Soviet Union in the full spirit of Hitler.

Evidently, the majority of Congress does not wish, or does not consider important, the friendship and cooperation between the United States and the Soviet Union. Those who wish to cement that friendship are put on notice that they must defeat the majority of Congress on this question. We cannot eat our cake and have it, too, nor can we travel in opposite directions at the same time. No more can we have Martin Dies as the symbol of our policy, and also have friendship with the Soviet Union. It is a contradiction in policy and interests.

If the Congress of the United States is still an important policy making body of our government, this latest endorsement of Martin Dies must be looked upon as one of the most sinister threats to victory in the war, and to the future of our country. For Martin Dies has declared that he hopes for the defeat of our ally, the Soviet Union. He has slanderously denounced Joseph Stalin, Commander-in-Chief of the Red Armies, as the chief enemy of our country. He has echoed all the slogans of Hitler and promoted them, and now the majority in Congress has renewed its declaration of confidence in that same Martin Dies and all he stands for.

It is small comfort to remind ourselves that Martin Dies does not represent the vast majority of the people of our country. It is small comfort to repeat that he does not represent the Administration of President Roosevelt, whose correct war policies are supported overwhelmingly by the people. For this Congress has the power, and a reactionary, defeatist coalition of Hoover Republicans and Wheeler Democrats is influencing a majority of Congress to use this power, under our Constitution, to throw confusion into the war effort, to disrupt the national unity, to negate the declared policies of the President and to serve notice on our Allies that they cannot depend upon the United States honoring the commitments which have been made by the President.

Is there anyone who can dismiss all this as merely the exaggerations of a special pleader, because I have for years been insisting upon the importance of friendship between our country and the Soviet Union? Today this importance is recognized by conservative circles of all former political ideologies.

The New York Herald-Tribune is a conservative Republican newspaper. It has always hitherto supported Martin Dies. But before Congress voted this time it called for a halt of this "play into Hitler's hands." And yesterday, enlarging upon its argument in connection with our fumbling diplomacy in North Africa, this conservative newspaper said:

> "How can the oppressed Europeans believe in democracy if we give them the impression that we believe so little in it ourselves? There are but two choices before the democracies now. One is to cooperate with Russia in rebuilding the world—as there is an excellent chance of doing, if we believe in the strength of our own principles and prove it by applying them. The other is to get involved in intrigues with all the reactionary and anti-democratic forces in Europe, the only result of which will be to alienate the Kremlin..." (New York Herald-Tribune, Feb. 11, 1943.)

It is very interesting to examine the thought expressed by the Herald Tribune before quoted. That conservative organ has come to the conclusion, reluctantly we may be sure, that we of the United States may ally ourselves with the forces of democracy in Europe ONLY on condition that we ally ourselves with the Soviet Union; if we reject the alliance with the Soviet Union, then inevitably we shall find ourselves plunged into intrigues with all the reactionary and anti-democratic forces in Europe. This means, further, that when our government engages in intrigues with those reactionary forces, all intelligent men everywhere understand this to mean that we are thereby abandoning our alliance with the democratic forces of Europe, especially with the Soviet Union.

Earl Browder says:

American democracy needs more confidence in itself in order to win the war. It needs to snap out of the hypnosis induced by Hitler and Martin Dies, in which the cry of "Communist" raises hysterical fear and sets the democrats to examining one another for hidden "Reds" and protesting each his own innocence of the "terrible" charge of which few know the meaning. American democracy must grow up, and stop believing in ghosts and witches.

Above all, American democracy must throw off the fear of victory. Yes, there is being deliberately cultivated in our country the fear of victory over the Axis because that victory is being advanced today primarily by the armies of the Soviet Union. That fear is stupid and senseless, in the first place, because America still has the opportunity despite all past delays of striking decisive blows against Hitler and winning an honorable position in the victory by the side of the Soviet Union. We need fear only our own failure to strike in time with our full force. Such a failure, truly, would endanger victory, would have terrible consequences for our national safety and the common cause of the United Nations.

There is a profound truth in this thought of the Herald-Tribune. Recognition of this truth is sweeping away one of the biggest lies of all history, the lie that socialism or communism is "undemocratic" or "anti-democratic." The Union of Soviet Socialist Republics is so much the foremost champion of all the democratic forces of Europe that the United States, our country which for a century and a half stood in the vanguard of world democracy, can now be allied with those democratic forces in Europe ONLY ON CONDITION that we are allied with the Soviet Union. That is not my statement, that is the statement of the New York Herald-Tribune, one of the outstanding conservative newspapers of the United States. This is a mere restatement of the thought clearly expressed in the editorial which I quoted verbatim.

A POLICY THAT POINTS BOTH WAYS . . .

Our country, in the midst of life-and-death war, has not clearly defined its policy. Our Commander-in-Chief points in one direction with the Atlantic Charter, the United Nations, and alliance with the Soviet Union; but powerful forces in the State Department point in the opposite direction by its entanglements with Vichy, with Franco, with Mannerheim, with Mikhailovitch, with Otto of Austria, with Bethlen of Hungary, while Congress emphatically contradicts the President by voting its confidence in Martin Dies. And the same Congress emphatically refuses to express its confidence in the President.

Our national policy is ambiguous. It points both ways. And the conflict is not only within Congress and between Congress and the Executive; it is within the Executive Department itself. The President considers it necessary to conciliate a hostile Congress; even more serious, he considers it necessary to tolerate the same hostility within his own cabinet.

In the State Department we have the ineffable Mr. Adolph Berle, Jr., spinning his webs of intrigue in Europe and Latin-America. This is the person whom a prominent visiting Britisher is reported to have sized up in these few words: "He is not only anti-Soviet, he is also anti-British; he is not only anti-British, he is also anti-American."

At the head of the Department of Justice we have Mr. Biddle, whose chief virtue is weakness of character which prevents him from following his mischievous theories to their logical conclusions. He introduced a brief in the Supreme Court on the Schneiderman case (and argued it against Mr. Wendell Willkie, which bases itself on the conception that the Soviet Union is essentially hostile to the United States in particular and to democracy in general. He issued an order for the deportation of Harry Bridges with a legal argument lifted bodily from Hitler's "Anti-komintern," the lunacy and obscurantism of which can be matched only in Nazi Germany. He tried to imitate Senator Stanley Nowak of Michigan on the same basis on which he wishes to deport Harry Bridges, but had to drop it with a bald "admission of error." He shares the basic theories of Martin Dies, but is jealous of the Texan's prominence.

Yes, our national course is ambiguous. The President has charted a clear and correct policy. But it is challenged not only by Congress but also by members of his own cabinet and executive appointees. Instead of a showdown and clarification, the nation drifts along with compromise and appeasement of irreconcilable policies.

In the North African political muddle which followed a brilliantly executed military occupation, we experienced our first sharp example of the disastrous results of an ambiguous policy. It required the personal intervention of President Roosevelt, flying 6,000 miles to Casablanca, to begin to bring some order and sense into that mess. The release at last of 27 French Communist Deputies, and some 900 other prisoners, did much to clear the moral atmosphere. But even on this question of the North African prisoners, it seems we have not heard the last word. Some 25,000 French patriots, Spanish Republicans and other anti-fascists, are still held behind barbed wire, and Mr. Hull has still not clarified his cryptic hints that Francisco Franco may wish to be consulted as to their fate.

In the question of the North African prisoners we are learning the first lessons on the political problems of Europe. By the way in which we handle this question the United States will be judged by the peoples of occupied Europe. Uncle Sam is preparing to enter Europe heavily armed and ready to shoot on sight; the peoples of Europe are anxious to know if Uncle Sam's eyes are keen enough to distinguish clearly between friends and enemies! In the shadow of the Stars and Stripes in North Africa, 25,000 anti-fascist fighters still languish in prisons and concentration camps! The Nazi-inspired laws against the Jews are still enforced!

We cannot leave such questions to be settled at leisure. The war goes on and time waits for no man or nation. If our national policy in its application remains ambiguous, then the results it will bring to our nation will also be ambiguous.

There is a loud-mouthed cult in our country which is willing to admit every weakness and error so long as it can blame it on the President. These are the demagogues of reaction. But there are also too many honest democrats, progressives, and even labor men, who weaken the President's position by leaving all problems for him to settle, by failing to take energetic action themselves to help solve all these problems. This was the main factor that enabled the President's foes to gain strength in the last elections, for the President's supporters sadly neglected that campaign with the excuse that "F.D.R. can take care of it." Now they chide the President for conciliating his enemies, but they are themselves among the first conciliators. No one has any right to criticize the President who is not himself in the midst of the hottest and most uncompromising fight to halt the mob of reaction now controlling the majority of Congress and threatening the whole country and its war effort.

RED-BAITING IS SABOTAGE OF CORRECT WORLD POLICY . . .

The President has himself given more than a hint of the course all democratic Americans should follow. Speaking at a recent press conference, the President quoted from an interview given by General Giraud in North Africa. Giraud had declared his intention, following the example of De Gaulle, of uniting all Frenchmen, from conservatives to Communists, with the only condition that they unite to fight Hitler and not play politics. The President expressed the opinion that this would seem to be a good line for any country to follow. He evidently meant that this would be a good line for the United States also.

I wish emphatically to support this proposal of the President, on behalf of the Communist Party of the United States. There are thousands of Communists and friends of our party in the armed forces of the United States, ready and anxious to fight Hitler and not to play politics. But too many of them are being transferred out of fighting units into non-combat duties at home, and even into police substitutes for concentration camps. We have raised this question with the authorities, but have not been able to obtain clarification of the problem. Until the Communists are permitted to fight Hitler and his accomplices on the same basis as all other Americans, we must continue to discuss this problem publicly, and press for action in the spirit of the President's expression on French unity.

Some well-meaning persons advise me not to keep raising the question of discrimination against the Communists, but simply to keep our mouths shut, to grin and bear it in the interest of the war and national unity; after all, they say, the Communists are only a small group in a big nation.

My intelligence compels me to reject such an easy way out of the problem. If the Communists of the U. S. are but a small group in a big nation, that is all the more reason for insisting that correct principles be applied by the nation in relation to the Communists. If the United States is so fearful of its own small proportion of Communists that it must have special laws against them, special committees of Congress to hunt them out of governmental service, and special segregation of them into labor service in the armed forces—then it will certainly be impossible for such a fearful United States to have a realistic relationship of alliance with the Communists of Europe and Asia, who are much more powerful, and without whom it is impossible for the United States to have an alliance with the democratic forces of the world. When we fight for the full admission of American Communists as citizens of the country without discrimination, we are fighting for a correct world policy which is necessary for victory in the war.

American democracy needs more confidence in itself in order to win the war. It needs to snap out of the hypnosis induced by Hitler and Martin Dies, in which the cry of "Communist" raises hysterical fear and sets the democrats to examining one another for hidden "Reds" and protesting each his own innocence of the terrible charge of which few know the meaning. American democracy must grow up, and stop believing in ghosts and witches.

Above all, American democracy must throw off the fear of victory. Yes, there is being deliberately cultivated in our country the fear of victory over the Axis because that victory is being advanced today primarily by the armies of the Soviet Union. That fear is stupid and senseless, in the first place, because America still has the opportunity despite all past delays, of striking decisive blows against Hitler and winning an honorable position in the victory by the side of the Soviet Union. We need fear only our own failure to strike in time with our full force. Such a failure, truly, would endanger victory, would have terrible consequences for our national safety and the common cause of the United Nations.

The Remnants of Chamberlainism must be destroyed . . .

That fear of victory came before a Congressional Committee last week in Washington, in the person of Herbert Hoover. That specter from an almost forgotten past inaugurated a new slogan for America: "We start do too much, too soon."

Hoover wants to drag out the war for two, three, four or more years, with America doing little fighting. Above all, we must not strike in 1943, he insinuated. He sees the good side of the war in the opportunity it offers him and his cronies to try to transform it into chiefly a term of martial law against the American working class, with unlimited profits for the capitalists. Hoover is still clutching close to his heart the banner of Chamberlain and Munich.

But the last shreds of the ghost of Munich were scattered to the four winds during the past weeks, by the events of Stalingrad, Schlüsselburg, the Caucasus, Kursk, and on the long list of smashing victories of the Red Army. Any attempt to resurrect the shameful policy of Munich can result in nothing but disaster for those who try it. That old world which produced Munichism is dead beyond recall. All those who try to follow that path now will find that it leads immediately to the grave.

We are in war, a war to the death. We are fighting to save the world from reversion to barbarism. We are fighting to save civilization from destruction by Nazism and its Italian and Japanese allies. We are fighting for the possibility of future progress for humanity. We are fighting a just war. All this means that we must fight with all our might, not in some tomorrow but NOW. We must fight with a full heart, for the destruction of the enemy, his complete annihilation, the wiping of Hitlerism forever from the face of the earth. We must fight with complete good faith toward our allies, and with full confidence in them. We must strengthen the Anglo-Soviet-American Alliance in the fires of war so that it will be an indestructible instrument for an ordered peace. We must forge the United Nations as the guarantee of liberty and independence for all nations.

ALL THIS MUST STILL BE WON.

IT CAN BE WON ONLY BY FIGHTING.

THANKS TO THE RED ARMY THE WAR HAS TURNED IN OUR FAVOR.

LET AMERICA ALSO STRIKE NOW, FOR VICTORY IN 1943.

Gain Conference Aims

The forces of reaction took a thorough drubbing at the Unity for Victory Conference held Saturday at Second Baptist Church here as a clear-sighted policy of continued struggle against all forms of victory-delaying discrimination was outlined.

An expanded program of protest against the anti-Negro policy of the Los Angeles Railway Company was one of the important decisions of the gathering. Whole local rail lines are jam-packed and street vehicles are held in yards and garages because of a "man-power shortage," yet the L. A. Ry. continues its refusal to employ Negroes as conductors and motormen.

Particularly offensive is the fact that the company, street railway union, and the War Man-power Commission had previously agreed to the unbiased employment of Negro workers.

Another significant step of the Conference was its unanimous determination to oppose the Jim-Crow union of the International Association of Boilermakers into which Negro workers at Calship, Consolidated shipyards and the Western Pipe and Steel Company are railroaded. No would-be Negro stooge in this community can now step forward with any plan for the establishment of a branch of the Jim-Crow outfit here (all Jim-Crow union dues at present are forwarded to the "Local" at Kansas City). Los Angeles has spoken clearly its conviction that Jim-Crow and the War for Freedom are impossible bed-fellows.

But more important than the number of specific grievances which the conference probed was its reflection of a great and growing community unity around an uncompromising program of win-the-war policies.

Discrimination on the basis of race, creed or color is sabotage of war production, was the full-throated proclamation of this gathering,—one which saw delegates of the church, labor and even social clubs joined in a single militant program.

'Damn Liar,' Powell Calls Louisiana Governor

"In a recent article in the Saturday Evening Post, Governor Sam Jones of Louisiana said that if white American soldiers thought they were fighting for racial equality, they would put down their guns and quit the battle fronts. Governor Sam Jones is a damn liar!"

That's New York's fighting City Councilman, Adam Clayton Powell, speaking to a crowded Philharmonic auditorium Sunday afternoon as the climax of a Conference for city-wide unity to break discrimination which wounds local war production.

Rev. Powell, pastor of the largest Protestant Church in the world and editor of the brilliant Negro newspaper, The People's Voice, brought a fiery message to Los Angeles,—one which received an ovation such as has been seldom witnessed here.

Negroes, Powell proclaimed, are in the first column of democracy. He said that despite the noble outlines of a future world glimpsed through the Atlantic Charter, the Vice President's Century of the Common Man' address, and the Four Freedoms, Negroes have had to fight for every gain they have secured since outbreak of the war. The fight must be continued, he pointed out.

The employment of hundreds of thousands of Negroes in basic war industries throughout America today Powell laid to a double attack on race bias, "Labor on the inside and the Negro people on the outside."

"Thank God," he said, "we are beginning to find new allies among the poor white people, the workers, and other minority groups."

Powell perceived three great, reactionary movements on the part of "those in high places" throughout the nation. First, he noted unwarranted attacks upon China and the Soviet Union, our heroic, anti-imperialist allies.

But for the Chinese, he held, Jap invasion fleets would skirt the California coast today.

Without the Soviet's inspiring defense of Stalingrad, England would face annihilation today.

Second, Powell emphasized the threat of an attack upon the laboring people of the country. "The National Association of Manufacturers," he said, "used Lindbergh to smear labor and now they use Captain Eddie Rickenbacker."

Third, the fighting minister pointed to the vast anti-Negro conspiracy percolating through the poll-tax section of the U. S. Congress. It was here that he hurled the lie at Louisiana's equality-fearing chief executive.

Powell declared that the history of Negro-America for the next one hundred years is being written by our action today. To fight through to victory, we must, he said, (1) recognize our allies in the labor movement and other minorities, especially Jews; (2) support all groups and organizations fighting our cause and renounce the fear of "radicalism"; (3) "remove, purge and exterminate" all Uncle Toms; (4) keep this a people's war and permit no one to take it from us. Referring to Sen. Bilbo's proposal to send Negroes "back to Africa," Powell shouted, "This is our war and because of that some men in high places DON'T WANT to win it. Yes, it is our war, our country, and we aren't going to let any crackpot cracker send us anywhere!"

To struggle, he concluded, along with our allies within the nation and our allies in the world, is the key to that government which "is of the people, black and white; by the people, Jew and Gentile; for the people, Protestant and Catholic!"

Abolish North Africa Race-Hate Laws

Popular will has scored a huge victory over the pro-fascist clique of appeasers in the U. S. State Department with the speech this week of Gen. Henri Giraud promising discontinuance of all Nazi and Vichy laws of racial discrimintion, aimed against Negroes and Jews, in North Africa. Giraud further promised the return of the progressive statutes of the Third French Republic.

Immediately after that speech, for the first time Gen. Charles DeGaulle announced enthusiastic support of Giraud and the United Free French movement, urging however the speedy translation of Giraud's new policy into "acts."

It should be thereby demonstrated with utmost clarity that "politics" and "military affairs" are not, as the State Department has rapturously declared for the past several months, inhabitants of isolated never never lands.

They are entirely interdependent aspects of one and the same struggle.

So long as the slightest stench of Vichy remained about Giraud's North African policy, it was impossible to enlist military support from the democratic elements of North Africa and of France itself.

With the political act of renouncing Vichy race-hate laws and promising reinstitution of the statutes of the Republic, that long-sought after, mysteriously elusive (to the State Department, anyhow) MILITARY unity of the French people has been welded.

To American Negroes, this is an event of challenging importance. What happened in North Africa is a blue-print of our struggle for victory in the war effort. All the power of American and French pro-fascist interests were exerted to maintain an imperialist North Africa, replete with Dixie race-hate laws. The fading energies, prestige and might of American and Gallic appeasers were put to the test of popular will and popular will has triumphed.

It was the democratic protest of the people of the United States which broke the back of pro-fascist North Africa and has today converted it into a bastion of world democracy in the struggle against the appeasers' beloved fascist world-state. Further, correct political policy, enforced by the will of the common man, has brought about its natural corollary, correct military policy; in this case, the unity of the whole French command, from DeGaulle to Giraud to the new hero of the French guerilla armies, Gen, Cartier.

It would be senseless to suppose that the pro-fascists here or abroad have now been conqueerd and will roll over and die.

We are still sending oil to Spain, and from Spain to Germany, and from Germany to the Nazi tanks of North Africa which mow down the young men from your home and ours.

We are still prohibiting ten million Americans from the right to vote in seven southern states of the U. S.

We are still graced with the noisy Fifth Column disrupters, in and out of Congress, who spout foul abuse of our great Russian and Chinese allies.

But the blue-print of North Africa is clear. Nowhere has reaction struggled so desperately to maintain itself. Its failure at the hands of the will of the democratic peoples of this earth is a welcome indication of tomorrow's world.

Memo on Book of the Month Club's May Selection

The Book-of-the-Month's choice for May is "The Fifth Seal," by Mark Aldanov. It is to be published by Chas. Scribner's Sons, April 19.

This book was written in Paris in Russian in 1937-38, and published in Paris in 1938. The author left Russia in 1920 never to return. He has been in the U. S. since the outbreak of war. The translator, Nicholas Wroden, a member of Scribner's bookshop staff, is president of the American Booksellers association (1942).

From the book's jacket: ". . . It presents a panorama of the modern world as seen through the eyes of Soviet officials—the chief characters are members of a Soviet embassy stffa in Paris." Aldanov ". . . because of his deep and sincere devotion to liberal principles has been living since 1920 in Paris."

We append part of the author's preface, excerpts from the book, and a letter of resignation from the Book-of-the-Month Club from Prof. Dorothy Brewster, of the English faculty of Columbia university.

The letter explains the position of those who feel publication and wide distribution of the book at this time would be injurious to the prosecution of the war and disruptive of efforts at all-important unity in the post-war world, as well as insulting to the national hero of a brave and staunch ally.

To distribute in great quantity in the Soviet Union today a book that threw mud on the memory of George Washington or Abraham Lincoln, and cast derogatory asperions on our democracy and ideals ,would surely be considered by Americans an unfriendly, if not outrageous act.

It is hoped that those to whom we are addressing this memorandum will do all in their power to urge the publishers and the Book-of-the-Month Club to reconsider their decision to publish and distribute this book. It seems to a number of Americans that this matter is of such serious importance in the war effort that it should be called to the attention of Elmer Davis, of the Office of War Information, Washington, D. C.

Mr. Harry Scherman
Editor, Book-of-the-Month Club News
385 Madison Avenue
New York City

My Dear Mr. Scherman:

I see by the papers that Mark Aldanov's FIFTH SEAL is the Book-of-the-Month choice for May. A very surprising choice, it seems to me, at the present moment in history, when friendly relations with our Allies, including the Soviet Union, are imperative, if we are to win the war and not lose the peace. Is this coming Spring the time to give new life to old misunderstandings? This novel of contemporary life, THE FIFTH SEAL, of which an English translation might have appeared here with some reason five years ago after its publication in France, seems out of its time now, in a curious and even a sinister way. I have read it with great care,—contemporary fiction being my particular concern in my Columbia University work.

The anti-Soviet passages, whether little details or full-length discussions, are colored by the same distortions, halftruths, and bitter prejudices that had almost the entire field to themselves here in the United States for years. But since the Book-of-the-Month Club's very successful promotion of Jan Valtin's dubious autobiography, the situation has been clarified by events and by such important books as MISSION TO MOSCOW. Truth and falsehood about the Soviet Union have at last had a fair chance to grapple in that free and open encounter in which Milton put his trust.

Since 1933, during nine of the most threatening years in modern history, the Book-of-the-Month Club has contributed to the understanding of Russia—the Russia of today—one psychological novel about the purges and treason trials, and an untrustworthy and sensational narrative by an international German spy. One need only contrast BRITISH AGENT, a choice in February, 1933, with OUT OF THE NIGHT in 1941, to be shocked at the decline in the Book-of-the-Month Club's standards in this field. It is to keep this record of hostility unsullied that your Editorial Board has selected Mr. Aldanov's novel for May, 1943?

I have eight of the Russian exchange students in one of my English classes—well-educated young Soviet citizens, men and women. I shall find it very difficult to explain to them why the Book-of-the-Month Club lends its great prestige to distribute many tens of thousands of a novel that grotesquely misrepresents their revolution, their great leaders, past and present, their foreign ambassadors, and their culture.

The selection at this time of such a book, as well as the failure for years to choose any book—fiction or reportage—that might indicate a fair-minded attempt to balance the scales—leaves me no alternative but to withdraw from the Book-of-the-Month Club. I have wished to make my reasons as clear as possible to you. To select THE FIFTH SEAL is indeed to use "books as weapons"—and to place these weapons in the hands of the enemies of our country's aims in this war and the peace to come.

Sincerely yours,
DOROTHY BREWSTER.

AUTHOR'S PREFATORY NOTE

"I left Russia a long time ago, when the liberal, republican, democratic form of government was overthrown there. The men connected with that government, whose political beliefs I shared and who were my personal friends, had attempted to build in Russia a free social order, based on respect for human dignity and similar to that which exists in the United States. Like most of them I chose to live in a free country, where I could work without being subject to anyone's orders.

"This novel was written in 1937-38, and it appeared in Russian in pre-war Paris. I have made virtually no changes for the American edition. When the novel was first published in Russian one of the critics on a large New York paper, in a much too flattering article about it, pointed out that, in spite of my anti-bolshevism, I portrayed individual Bolshevists as impartially as I portrayed other characters. May I be permitted to say that I concur with this observation just as wholeheartedly as I believe that this is a natural thing for me to do. Following the tradition of tistic truth. There cannot be two Russian literatures—one Soviet and the other exile. Both spring from the same great masters, and they constitute one integral whole, with possibly one essential difference; the writers in exile are free of governmental persecution, and can tell the truth . . ."

EXCERPTS: (Bold face ours)

Page 5: The old revolutionist—who is killed because in some unexplained way he has incurred the enmity of the Gay-Pay-Co.—watches a detachment of young Nazi storm-troopers, and is disgusted by the dull, pleased, self-satisfied expressions on their healthy young faces, but "had to admit that the other young people, who marched around Moscow, had the same general appearance and even more the same expressions, only the Germans looked stronger, healthier, neater."

(Since the author has not been in Russia since 1920, is he in a position to make this comparison?)

Page 7: This same old revolutionist, in his reveries, reflects that Prince Kropotkin's prestige depended nine-tenths on his title and his beard, and if he had been named Petrov and someone had shaved his beard, "who on earth would have paid any attention to him?"

Page 13: The ambassador, Kangarov, before leaving for his post, sees Stalin: "Overcoming the physical fear which Stalin's presence instilled in him as well as in all the other members of the party, Kangarov . . . reminded Stalin that he had made his acceptance subject to a condition . . . But Stalin immediately interrupted him and transfixing him with a heavy, sardonic stare, had said he was in no position to discuss conditions . . ."

Page 17: A few pages farther on, the old revolutionist thinks of Lenin's and of Napoleon's mausoleum—and "Stalin, if he is killed and if those who kill him don't win, or at least if he dies at the right time—will be placed in a special mausoleum."

Page 24: The old Tsarist general who has stayed on in the service of the Soviet plays an important role in the story, (he is finally sent to Spain, to report on the civil war and is killed.) His first thought when he crosses into Germany: "Now that we are across the border, I could stay here forever and no one could touch me . . . I could become an emigre like the others." He is represented as loyal but always making unfavorable comparisons between the old days and the new.

Page 383: The old general's mission to Spain is used to attack the Spanish republicans, on the patern "A plague on both your houses." The general reflects: "What is my attitude? . . . It makes no difference to me who wins: Miaja or France . . . They are both musical comedy generals . . . If the republicans should win, what brand of liberty will they establish? Probably they will stop gouging out eyes, though I would not be too certain about that . . . Obviously there are wars that are justified, but this one is senseless."

A great many slight details build into a total damning impression of Soviet society as barbarous, treacherous, etc. A few examples:

Pages 125-127: ". . . a human cordiality which he had forgotten in Moscow. People in Paris did not try to poison each other's existence, they did not denounce one another, and they were not secret police agents . . ."

"Tamarin left the money on the table . . . (during the first few days he was amazed that this could be done without fear of its being stolen) . . ."

"The very thought of returning to Moscow horrified him . . ."

OF THE SOVIET GIRL: "Her whole generation has no conception of real life. God has deprived them of their heritage."

"Instead of using liberty as camouflage for their dirty game . . . the fascists use religion . . ."

Pages 109-114: This passage is of great importance, though too long to quote in full. It is the reverie of the old revolutionist on the subject of Lenin and the revolution. It is built on the premise that "the error in our combination was that our theory was built on faith in men, on faith in his dignity and the possibility and necessity for his moral improvement. In practice, however, everything had to be based on the assumption that man is stupid and foul . . . Lenin had developed this line of thought but he had concealed it from us until the time came to carry out some of his decisions." Lenin played his "game of misanthropic, inhuman socialism by building on the eternal hatred of the poor for the rich . . ." etc.

"In practice everything had to be based on the assumption that man is stupid and foul, and because of that—temporarily, only temporarily of course! he had to be made even more stupid and foul for the sake of the ideal and ultimate success. Lenin had developed this line of thought . . ."

"The experiment was carried out. It proved that a human soul cannot exist under the terrific pressure to which we exposed it. Under such pressure people turn into slime. We were depraving them in the name of a socialist ideal, but they became depraved without any aim or objective . . . The cancer which we had introduced into the souls of the governed soon spread to the rulers . . . As soon as the governed came to resist we also turned into slime. We had contaminated them with a form of moral syphilis, but they in turn contaminated us, and we became depraved, crippled human derelicts, who had lost respect for everyone and for ourselves."

"If there was any subject which had been overlooked by Ilyich it was the one of human happiness and of the moral qualities of humanity. To him it was shallow and boring . . . If Ilyich had given . . . thought to the human being as such, he never would have accomplished anything. Part of his strength was that he never gave him any thought."

". . . Socialists . . . can wave the red rag . . . For their enslavement and debasement, for the crippling of their souls, for their own cowardice . . . they pay us back . . . We have led them back on the path to mediaeval barbarism . . . without any pretense of an ideology, or at most, justified by an ideology invented on the spur of the moment to fit the circumstances. That is why rivers of blood have flowed, are flowing and will continue to flow. It is something even that Lenin had not foreseen. Life has turned out to be more misanthropic than Lenin . . .

"The clever untaltering crafty leader has been inventing crimes against the state and throwing criminals to the mob for so long . . . No one knows who will be right when history makes its final appraisal; perhaps it will be Trotsky, perhaps—Hitler."

COMMENT

The comment is made that if the old revolutionist were clearly presented as a man suffering from the "moral syphilis" which he himself declares al the leaders of the revolutions suffered from, and if he were contrasted with an honestly drawn builder of the new regime the significance of these and other passages would be quite different. But as he is presented as the typical Russian revolutionist it becomes a portrait of degeneracy.

★ SPREADING JOY

A shadow of sorrow fell over the "golden circle" of the pioneers last week when two of the early settlers were called home.

Last Tuesday, Mrs. Myrtle Carter Crumbley passed away after four months illness. Mrs. Crumbley and her sister, Mrs. Anna Banks came to Los Angeles from Iowa in 1892.

She was a popular member of the young people of that day. She was converted in the big revival at Old Sixth Street Church, Wesley Chapel in 1898, and joined the First AME Church on Azusa street.

Just after the Spanish-American War she met and was married to Captain F. H. Crumbley. Her only relatives, three sisters, passed ahead of her, and she has for years resided alone at her home, 1107 So. Dewey street.

At the beginning of the year she suffered a stroke and was taken to the Wilson Sanatarium in Watts, where she succumbed last Tuesday evening. Arrangements for the funeral have been completed by old friends.

The parting ceremonies will be held at the Conner-Johnson chapel Tuesday afternoon, which I will describe next week.

Saturday, another pioneer, Father Jackson C. McLemore feel asleep.

I remember the day Father McLemore and his young family arrived in Los Angeles. It was some 44 years ago; they arrived on a Saturday afternoon. I met him at the men's meeting at Old Azusa the next day, Sunday afternoon. An outstanding churchman, a gentleman of the old school, a devoted husband and father, he was loved and respected by people of all races.

At this writing plans for the funeral have not been completed. I hope to give an account of it in my next column. My heart goes out to the bereaved family.

I have just been informed that the remains of Elmer Bartlett, the famous director, formerly of Eighth and Towne avenue, has arrived in the city and will be laid to rest Monday, March [illegible]. Surely we all sympathize with Mrs. Bartlett in her great distress. We all remember the light-hearted, good-natured Elmer, and loved him for his musical soul and his tolerance, his kind consideration and his devotion to the church.

I think the following shut-ins would appreciate a card from my readers: Mrs. Sallie Richardson, Mrs. Dan Smith, Mrs. Betty Hill, Harry Frye, William Wells and Albert Lewis jr.

★ WHAT ARE WE LIVING FOR?

By RUTH TAYLOR

"It's not what you would die for--it's what you're living for that counts!"

He wasn't much more than eighteen, and he didn't look that old, but rather like a schoolboy dressed up in sailor's clothes. His face with its soft childish lines was very serious as he tried to make clear what he believed.

"I'm not going out to DIE for England", he said, "though I'm not afraid of death. I'm going out to LIVE for my mother, and a home, and a country where she can live in comfort and security. That's what I'm living for, and that's what really counts."

It's what we're living for that counts today. To talk of dying is very heroic, but it belongs in the days of slow motion battlefields where enemy faced enemy according to the rules of warfare. Today our battlefields are everywhere--our enemy is unseen until he swoops down from the clouds or rises up from the depths of the seas. Death lurks in many places and under many guises. But it is not what we would die for but what we live for that counts.

What are WE living for? It is the vision upon which this nation was founded, a union of free men who live for the great and limitless dream of freedom for all. This is the creed of democracy. This is the spirit of the republic. This is the reason why we will win. This is the secret weapon unknown to the dictator ridden countries.

We are LIVING for our homes, our families, our rights as free men to speak the truth as we see it, to work at the job we want to do, to agree or dissent as citizens without fear of consequences, to earn for our children a better world, and to worship God according to the dictates of our own consciences.

We are living FOR the ideal that the four freedoms--of speech, expression and of worship, freedom from want and from fear may be extended to all peoples of all the world.

What are we living for? The Secretary of State expressed it thus, in stating our war aims.

"We have always believed--and we believe today, that all peoples without distinction of race, color or religion, who are prepared and willing to accept the responsibilities of liberty, are entitled to its enjoyment. We have always sought--and we seek today—to encourage and aid all who aspire to freedom to establish their right to it by preparing themselves to assume its obligations."

This is what we are living for—and it is what we as individuals and as a people are living for that will count in the final victory!

"NATIVE SON" ★

From the book by
RICHARD WRIGHT

AN EXCLUSIVE CALIFORNIA EAGLE SERIAL

"The State may call its witnesses," the judge said.

"Yes, Your Honor," Buckley said.

The first witness was an old woman whom Bigger had not seen before. During the questioning, he heard Buckley call her Mrs. Rawlson. Then he heard the old woman say that she was the mother of Mrs. Dalton. Bigger saw Buckley give her the earring he had seen at the inquest, and the old woman told of how the pair of earrings had been handed down through the years from mother to daughter. When Mrs. Rawlson was through, Max said that he had no desire to examine her or any of the State's witnesses. Mrs. Dalton was led to the stand and she told the same story she had told at the inquest. Mr. Dalton told again why he had hired Bigger and pointed him out as "the Negro boy who came to my home to work." Peggy also pointed him out, saying through her sobs, "Yes; he's the boy." All of them said that he had acted like a very quiet and sane boy.

Britten told how he had suspected that Bigger knew something of the disappearance of Mary; and said that "that black boy is as sane as I am." A newspaperman told of how the smoke in the furnace had caused the discovery of Mary's bones. Bigger heard Max rise when the newspaperman had finished.

"Your Honor," Max said. "I'd like to know how many more newspapermen are to testify?"

"I have just fourteen more," Buckley said.

"Your Honor," Max said. "This is totally unnecessary. There is a plea of guilty here . . ."

"I'm going to prove that that killer is sane!" Buckley shouted.

"The Court will hear them," the judge said. "Proceed, Mr. Buckley."

Fourteen more newspapermen told about the smoke and the bones and said that Bigger acted "just like all other colored boys." At five o'clock the court recessed and a tray of food was placed before Bigger in a small room, with six policemen standing guard. The nerves of his stomach were so taut that he could only drink the coffee. Six o'clock found him back in court. The room grew dark and the lights were turned on. The parade of witnesses ceased to be real to Bigger. Five white men came to the stand and said that the handwriting on the kidnap note was his; that it was the same writing which they had found on his "homework papers taken from the files of the school he used to attend." Another white man said that the fingerprints of Bigger Thomas were found on the door of "Miss Dalton's room." Then six doctors said Bessie had been raped. Four colored waitresses from Ernie's Kitchen Shack pointed him out as the "colored boy who was at the table that night with the white man and the white woman." And they said he had acted "quiet and sane." Next came two white women, school teacher, who said that Bigger was "a dull boy, but thoroughly sane." One witness melted into another. Bigger ceased to care. He stared listlessly. At times he could hear the faint sound of the winter wind blowing outdoors. He was too tired to be glad when the session ended. Before they took him back to his cell, he asked Max:

"How long will it last?"

"I don't know, Bigger. You'll have to be brave and hold up."

"I wish it was over."

"This is your life, Bigger. You got to fight."

"I don't care what they do to me. I wish it was over."

The next morning they woke him, fed him, and took him back to court. Jan came to the stand and said what he had said at the inquest. Buckley made no attempt to link Jan with the murder of Mary. G. H. and Gus and Jack told of how they used to steal from stores and newsstands, of the fight they had had the morning they planned to rob Blum's. Doc told of how Bigger had cut the cloth of his pool table and said that Bigger was "mean and bad, but sane." Sixteen policemen pointed him out as "the man we captured, Bigger Thomas." They said that a man who could elude the law as skillfully as Bigger had was sane and responsible." A man from the juvenile court said that Bigger had served three months in a reform school for stealing auto tires.

There was a recess and in the afternoon five doctors said that they thought Bigger was "sane, but sullen and contrary." Buckley brought forth the knife and purse Bigger had hidden in the garbage pail and informed the Court that the city's dump had been combed for four days to find them. The brick he had used to strike Bessie with was shown; then came the flashlight, the Communist pamphlets, the gun, the blackened earring, the hatchet blade, the signed confession, the kidnap note, Bessie's bloody clothes, the stained pillows and quilts, the trunk, and the empty rum bottle which had been found in the snow near a curb. Mary's bones were brought in and women in the courtroom began to sob. Then a group of twelve workmen brought in the furnace, piece by piece, from the Dalton basement and mounted it upon a giant wooden platform. People in the room stood to look and the judge ordered them to sit down.

Buckley had a white girl, the size of Mary, crawl inside of the furnace "to prove beyond doubt that it could and did hold and burn the ravished body of innocent Mary Dalton; and to show that the poor girl's head could not go in and the sadistic Negro cut it off." Using an iron shovel from the Dalton basement, Buckley showed how the bones had been raked out; explained how Bigger had "craftily crept up the stairs during the excitement and taken flight." Mopping sweat from his face, Buckley said:

"The State rests, Your Honor!"

"Mr. Max," the judge said. "You may proceed to call your witnesses."

"The defense does not contest the evidence introduced here," Max said. "I therefore waive the right to call witnesses. As I stated before, at the proper time I shall present a plea in Bigger Thomas' behalf."

The judge informed Buckley that he could sum up. For an hour Buckley commented upon the testimony of the State's witnesses and interpreted the evidence, concluding with the words:

"The intellectual and moral faculties of mankind may as well be declared impotent, if the evidence and testimony submitted by the State are not enough to compel this Court to impose the death sentence upon Bigger Thomas, this despoiler of women!"

"Mr. Max, will you be prepared to present your plea tomorrow?" the judge asked.

"I will, Your Honor."

Back in his cell, Bigger tumbled lifelessly onto his cot. Soon it'll all be over, he thought. Tomorrow might be the last day; he hoped so. His sense of time was gone; night and day were merged now.

The next morning he was awake in his cell when Max came. On his way to court he wondered what Max would say about him. Could Max really save his life? In the act of thinking the thought, he thrust it from him. If he kept hope from his mind, then whatever happened would seem natural. As he was led down the hall, past windows, he saw that the mob and the troops still surrounded the court house. The building was still jammed with muttering people. Policemen had to make an aisle for him in the crowd.

A pang of fear shot through him when he saw that he had been the first to get to the table. Max was somewhere behind him, lost in the crowd. It was then that he felt more deeply than ever what Max had grown to mean to him. He was defenseless now. What was there to prevent those people from coming across the railings and dragging him into the street, now that Max was not here? He sat, not daring to look round, conscious that every eye was upon him, Max's presence during the trial had made him feel that somewhere in that crowd that stared at him so steadily and resentfully was something he could cling to, if only he could get at it. There smoldered in him the hope that Max had made him feel in the first long talk they had had. But he did not want to risk trying to make it flare into flame now, not with this trial and the words of hate from Buckley. But neither did he snuff it out; he nursed it, kept it as his last refuge.

When Max came Bigger saw that his face was pale and drawn. There were dark rings beneath the eyes. Max laid a hand on Bigger's knee and whispered:

"I'm going to do all I can, son."

Court opened and the judge said:

"Are you ready to proceed, Mr. Max?"

"Yes, Your Honor."

Max rose, ran his hand through his white hair and went to the front of the room. He turned and half-faced the judge and Buckley, looking out over Bigger's head to the crowd. He cleared his throat.

Bakersfield Hears Paul Robeson

By G. A. JACKSON

Mr. Paul Robeson, internationally famous singer was presented at a musical, Wednesday evening at the Fox theatre in Kern County. Mr. Lawrence Brown, Mr. Robeson's acompanist, was assisted at the piano by Mr. William Schatzamer, pianist. The theatre was packed by a capacity crowd, and seats were placed on the stage to accomodate the music lovers. Never before has the association witnessed a larger number of people gathered at one time at any concert. This outstanding singer left a profound impression in the minds of all music lovers. His selections consist of classics and spirituals. Mr. Robeson graciously responded to repeated encores.

The beautiful USO Center located at 419 19th street, that recently had its grand opening, has every modern convenience for the servicemen's pleasure. On the personnel staff we have: Hon. Frank T. Layton, director; Hugh Lowery, associate, and Miss Gladys Ellis, sec'y.

The Brother and Daughter Elks are doing their part to make servicemen feel at home. Feb. 20, the Lodge and Temple entertained the soldiers with a bridge and whist tournament, prizes went to the winning soldiers.

The first meeting of Brother and Daughter Elks was held Feb. 19, and was very uplifting. Dtrs. Ethelena Upshaw, Dtr. Ruler, and Austin Hawkins, ex-Ruler, are working together for greater and larger organization. A delicious turkey dinner was served. Addresses were given by Raymond Ray and others.

The VFW Hall was the setting for one of the seasons loveliest teas, with charming Mrs. Lydia Foster as mistress of ceremony. A lovely program was enjoyed by a large attendance. Mrs. Joe Mackey, president was delighted over funds raised.

The NAACP meetings are coming along nicely. The president, Mr. J. E. Ward has changed the meeting date to the fourth Sunday in each month. Mrs. C. B. Howard the secretary, was presented a lovely brief case for her untiring services.

★ ALOHA

HONOLULU, Hawaii, Mar. 10. (Delayed, Censored, Special to The California EAGLE)—WAIKIKI AFTER BLACKOUT: Waikiki at nightfall—wealthy tourists, movie stars, big names and other celebrities usually left the islands with memories of Waikiki as a gay playground. There used to be dancing under the starlight on lanais of well known Hawaiian hotels. There used to be parties at the Hawaiian village where elaborate hula programs and luaus were held in grass shacks. There used to be serenading by Hawaiian boys under hotel windows.

Now night life is practically gone except for dancing in blackout rooms in a few of the beach hotels. Because of the curfew hour set by the military governor's office, dancers must be guests of the hotel. A few Hawaiian women still sell flower leis outside the hotel gates, adding the Hawaiian touch to the dance scene. Beautiful Hawaiian hotel is now the retreat of our Armed Forces; romance attached to this famous hotel is practically streamline.

Near sunset hour, the benches along the beach are filled with servicemen and young couples, out watching Hawaiian sky-liners that sometimes look like streaks of fire blazing in all their glory against banks of white clouds and a blue sky. The blue-green Waikiki waves lapping against the shoreline also add a scene. Although the world is at war, the Hawaiian sunset and Hawaii's rustic beauty will still reign.

When dusk comes by, "kanaka," singing boys, would start their night serenading, playing ukeleles and guitars. This sometimes develops into a community sing when soldiers, sailors, marines, war workers and other malihinis join in with the kamaainas. Curfew hour would come with bustling sounds when the crowd disbands. Others who like bright lights and crowds would head for the bowling center after dark instead of staying outside.

New sight in Hawaii: War workers in grease-smeared working clothes and wearing brogans and helmets—also carrying gas masks—hurrying home on late afternoon buses. They stop at grocery stores, pick up some food and rush for home to cook and then prepare for the next working morning.

Although there is no tourist season here now, the beach is still a popular spot, usually with lots of swimmers. You'll see kids gathering colored fish in glass bowls and chasing sand crabs. You may even see a man breaking bread crumbs for the mynah brids. There'll be service boys playing chess or checkers, or a Hawaiian mother, counting her kiddies before she piles them into her car, homeward bound.

Waikiki is war-streamlined, but it is still a center where busy workers seek a brief period of fun and amusement. The natural charm and beauty of this famous beach is still there.

Hope I'm not making any of you former residents of the Paradise of the Pacific just a little homesick.

ENTERTAINMENT

Shaw Sends 'Em: Soles sizzled when the hepcats got a load of Artie Shaw's real, out of this world music. The King of the Licorice Stick, the master of jive, made his Navy Yard debut and as always his solid sending had the cats and the 'gators drooling and panting. As a warm-up, Shaw played "Begin the Beguine," always solid; "Stardust," mellow; and then with real cooperation from the rest of the band, including "Sad Sam" Donahue on the sax, found the groove with "Just Kiddin' Around" and "Suite No. 8." Claude Thornhill did his stuff on the piano to show us why he was tops.

Joe E. Brown Here to Make Soldiers Laugh: Joe arrived in Honolulu, after receiving permission from the War Department, with Johnny Marvin, famed guitarist and singer, who will help entertain the men of the Hawaiian department. He was wearing a pair of silver wings of the Army Air Forces in honor of his son, Don, who was recently lost in action.

Can't Overlook the 369th: The fine jive band composed of all colored boys from the infantry stationed here. They can hold their own wtih Shaw and the rest of the big bands of today. Everytime they play it is a complete sell-out. All the boys are former members of the name sepia bands of yester-year.

HUMAN INTEREST

Bus Incident: Struck me as being most illuminating. A colored boy, being polite as possible, ups and gives his seat to a middle-age Hawaiian-Chinese woman. She, standing and loaded down with packages, while the majority of the bus seats being occupied by haloes (white men), fail to offer her their seats. In return for this thoughtfulness on the part of the Negro boy, she ups and offered her seat to a young haloe fellow who had just boarded the bus. What can you make of it? I can't.

What's Your Opinion?: A local Negro worker, called the equivalent of a "dirty nigger" by a white companion, takes an understandable poke at the latter. His reward: One year in the city bastille at hard labor. Boy, where's my copy of the Atlantic Charter? Due to the militant stand of his fellow workers, colored as well as white, along with many islanders, the military authorities intervened and his sentence cut to 30 days. New Slogan: Discriminate the individual and the individual only. That's what the colored brothers are preaching to their newly acquired brownskin friends, as well as the boys from "way down yonder," who don't realize this as yet.

SPORTS

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Samules, who today became the proud parents of a five and a half pound girl. This is the second youngster in the Samuels family. Sammy is one of the better pro boxers over here who rose out of the simonpure ranks and made gooo in his pro bid. He may not always come out with the decision in his favor, but he is known as a scrapper who always puts forth his best efforts which please the fans very much. He has lots of friends in Los Angeles, having left the island several years as a stablemate of Johnny Hutchinson, and did some successful campaigning in that city.

RIGHT ON

Wartime Chance Meeting in Honolulu: Colored soldier meets girl by dialing the wrong number. Sweet young voice answered the phone and informs party that he has the wrong number. In a few minutes time the phone rings again and girl is asked if she would be kind enough to chat with a lonely person. From then on the cat takes over.

Aloha Gesture: Lamarr Hill is leaving for home soon after finding Honolulu just wasn't the paradise he expected to return to. A few interesting achievements of Mr. Hill: Ignored his colored brothers by trying to pass for an O-phay. That being nothing because the fellows didn't mind his slighting them in town. The climax is when the younger Peterson boy told me he tried to enlist in the Air Corps, but backed down when the fear of being discovered overtook him. Can you imagine a person who will eat, sleep and live with his own people and then when away from home, actually tries to disown his race?

The Thrill: It can only happen here! Star out with nothing but a bathing suit, make for the country, some Hawaiian village maybe, swim and spear fish all day. When the sun goes down, eat raw fish and poi with the beautiful native girls. Then before retiring on a bed of sand, sing the old Hawaiian favorites under the romantic moon while the guitars play on through the night.

Honolulu ces: A shortage of poi, which is Hawaiians' bread, will be a catastrophe in its own right. Prices for poi are set at two pounds for 25 cents. In old times one could buy 8 pounds for this amount.

Fascinating: We have in our midst one better known to the boys as "Hobo." He was a member of the notorious 22nd street gang, headed by one Louis Johnson and Shorty Ruff. He is now stationed here with the great 369th, proving there is lots of good in everybody. He is making an enviable record as a soldier.

Parting Is Such Sweet Sorrow: Lawrence Menard, playboy from San Francisco and all parts up north, has up and done it—left his sweet wife, Cherry, also from 'Frisco, and took a clipper back to playdom; sold his new car and quit a $1.50 an hour job that he has held for the past two years. He did the wrong thing when he left the sweet little Mrs. at the mercy of all these wolves over here.

Aloha until next time.

About 15 million shearling sheep pelts are needed to line aviators' coats.

THE GANDHI FAST VIEWED THROUGH INDIAN EYES

Sir Reginald Maxwell, a member of the Viceroy's Council, during the course of Gandhi's fast stated that since the August arrests, 940 persons have ben killed, 1630 have been injured by the police or military, 60,229 have been convicted and 18,000 have been detained without trial.

Gandhi's fast and his continued imprisonment has thrown into sharpest perspective the role of the die-hard Tory policy of India. It is the desire of the Whithall Colonials to crush the National Congress Party and thus destroy any chance for national unity.

The great English writer, George Bernard Shaw, hit the nail squarely on the head when he said that the detention of Gandhi was the most stupid blunder the government had "let itself be landed in by its Right Wing of incurable die-hards."

The Complete Unity of India's Patriots is Now Possible:

The achieving of that unity is being prevented by force on the part of the Government of India. There has been a constantly repeated demand on the part of Congress and League representatives to come together for joint negotiations. There is ample evidence, including even the resignation of three members of the Viceroy's Executive Council (who could no longer stand the situation), that it has penetrated and influenced even these inner circles.

Only prison walls now prevent Indian unity! Free Gandhi now!

Thus help the Indian people achieve the unity they must have for defense of their Motherland, for Indian freedom, for defeat of the Axis!

The ending of Gandhi's fast proves once more that the tens of thousands of imprisoned Indian National Congress leaders and members are the sole force able to unite and inspire the Indian masses. The imprisoned Congress leaders alone are able to mobilize the Indian masses for complete support of the United Nations. They alone can organize India's resources and manpower for defense of India.

Very, very little has been done to break the deadlock between the Government of India and the Congress leaders. There has been resistance even to such a simple matter as allowing President Roosevelt's representative, Mr. Phillips, to visit imprisoned Nationalist leaders. Trust has been betrayed; confidence has been impaired.

National patriotism is not wanting in India. But machine guns turned against the Indian people have left the masses terror-stricken.

Through such events the expression of national patriotism has been fearfully thwarted and misdirected by the diehard Tories.

Axis agents, in the atmosphere of frustration, sordid, bitterness and anti-British feeling, have had many field days. The present period gives them still more opportunity. Bridges and schools have been blown up. Incensed at the loss of their leaders, the Indian masses have resorted to sabotage and other forms of struggle against the British administration. India's meagre war effort far from being properly and rapidly developed and expanded has been reduced, has been disrupted. Thus the work of the Nazis and Japanese has been made easier, and the cause of Indian independence, the cause of the United Nations, has thus been harmed the more.

The immediate step, the step most urgently needed, is the immediate releasing of the imprisoned Congress leaders, Gandhi, Nehru and all the others. They can assist those free patriots in India who are today laboring without respite for Indian freedom.

The Indian people must be given more than promises of a future freedom. They must be given a stake in the war. They, too, must know beyond doubt that they are fighting a war of liberation, a Four Fredoms War, a United Nations Charter War. They must be vitalized through one single measure: the granting of a provisional national government NOW for the defense of their Motherland.

Morris Defends Race Press in Address at White Church

TUCSON, Ariz. — Occupying the pulpit of the fashionable First Methodist church (white) here Sunday evening, Dr. Charles Satchell Morris, II, of Los Angeles, Calif., delivered an impassioned sermon on: "The Spirit of Christ in Action" to an audience largely composed of members of the other group. Miss Coroania Hayman, graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music rendered two spirituals which were warmly received by the throng.

During the half hour that he spoke the eloquent and dynamic Los Angeles minister and educator held the rapt attention of the crowd. However, the fireworks came in the question and answer period which followed his prepared address. Originally intended to cover ten or fifteen minutes only the session lasted for more than an hour and even then the multitude was loath to have it close.

Questions fired at Dr. Morris ran the entire gamut of Negro life from what he expected in the war until what he expected in the peace. In reply to an interrogation as to the organized Negro labor attitude toward the church the speaker declared it to be substantially what the white attitude is. The church in most instances has not identified itself closely with the struggles of organized labor, asserted Dr. Morris, with the result that organized labor had grown cold toward the church.

But the bombshell of the evening came when a questioner made an indirect attack upon the Negro press. Dr. Morris who is public relations counselor for The California Eagle stated that the paper with which he is identified as well as nearly all other colored journals are fighting today on two fronts: First, to secure justice for the Negro within the provisions of the Constitution of the United States, and, second, to have him take his full place as a soldier in the nation's army. The speaker denounced Brown whose recent article in the Reader's Digest gave rise to the question and declared there was no warrant for the charge that the Negro press to communistic. For the Negro press to abandon its fight to secure justice for a persecuted people would be for that press to betray true Americanism. Asked if he did not think that Negroes should patiently wait for their so-called rights until white people should bestow those rights upon them the speaker replied with a thunderous "No", and added significantly that that time never would come.

BEHIND THE SCENES WITH HARRY

By HARRY LEVETTE Theatrical Editor

SHORT AND SWEET will have to be the description of the Ol' Kolyum this issue, so here's a word or two about the studios:

WITH HIT PARADE OF "43" featuring Count Basie all set, March will mark Republic Studio's third straight full-schedule month, with eight pictures definitely set to roll.

"False Faces," a mystery melodrama started on the 3rd. Roy Rogers started one March 10th, following a six weeks army camp tour of the Southwest, and will start another late in the month. "Song of Texas" is first and then "Silver Spurs."

The National Maritime Commission has given Republic Studios its official o. k. on the script of "The Merchant Marine." Associate Producer Albert J. Cohen plans to make the story a cavalcade of the history of the U. S, Merchant Marine.

Before a wildly cheering crowd of 2000, Rev. Adam Clayton Powell, Negro councilman, publisher here from New York, made his first of a series of ten patriotic speeches, for which he came west under the auspices of the Los Angeles Victory Committee.

SAYS IT'S LAZINESS TO SWING SACRED SPIRITUALS

NADINE COLE, who is very thoughtful and conscientious in spite of her youth, inherits her deep reverance for the spirituals from the fact that she grew up in an atmosphere of religious observance. She fondly remembers her great grandmother, from near Baton Rouge, La., and her mother singing the plaintive sorrow songs and hope songs of the race when she was just a child. Besides this she has two uncles who are both ministers of the gospel. Rev. Fred Oliver and Rev. Walter Oliver. She reports that many radio listeners are against swinging the spirituals.

Nadine declares that it is purely laziness on the part of music composers to take the ready written notes of a spiritual, and jazz it up, because otherwise they would compose something new, or even swing some old ballad. She further comments on the fact that there is a vast difference in swinging a Scottish folksong, and one of the hymns that played such a part in our history.

Earl is now readying his comedy with music "Africana", the ers to Broadway.

Alex Lovejoy, who is contributing additional sketches and lyrics will portray the role he created on Broadway in "Africana."

AWVS ENTERTAINED OVER 100 FORT ORD SOLDIERS

In one of the biggest patriotic tasks they have undertaken since the setting up of their southeast canteen, on 45th and Central Avenue, the American Women's Victory Service, entertained 200 servicemen last Wednesday night. Over a hundred of these made the trip here from Fort Ord, near San Francisco, on special leave, to accept the invitation of the AWVS, the rest were from nearby camps at Long Beach, Inglewood and elsewhere in the immediate area.

Lending their presence and talents to make the visit of the young soldiers who may be called for overseas duty, at most any time, were a number of noted Hollywood celebrities. These included Hattie McDaniel, who at the insistence of the soldiers sang one of her vaudeville favorites "Some of These Days", accompanied at the piano by Ben Carter. Ben and Mantan Moreland who have a very amusing double talk, broken sentence act brought out a lot of laughs; while Ernest Whitman, Leigh Whipper, Nicodemus Stewart and Norma Amato, all delivered their best specialties to prolonged applause.

Plenty of eats, donated by the Ladies Auxiliary of the American Legion, and the Orchid Girls Club were served the boys, besides plenty of coffee and soft drinks. The Fort Ord boys voted it one of the best of their infrequent outings.

Here's beauty and talent, plus that verve which makes a performer popular! Dorothy Dandridge is an unusually gifted negro artiste who appears as vocalist with the Count Basie Band in Republic's "Hit Parade Of 1943." His musicianship, plus her beauty and talent, make a solid combination for audience pleasure.

JOE LOUIS UNABLE TO ATTEND CAMP SHOW

World's heavy-weight champion Joe Louis gladly accepted the invitation of the Hollywood Victory Committe last week to join a bus-load of sepia movie stars who are to be sent to entertain the servicemen at Camp Young the coming Sunday. All that is necessary then is to secure the official "leave" from Joe's company commander, who heads 'Provisional Task Force, Services of Supply," unit here working in the big government sponsored film, "This is the Army". The leave was secured and the group of celebrities, recruited by Ben Carter, member of the Hollywood Victory committee, was complete with this most famous figure of all topping the list. Carter, who recently finished, a "Dorie Miller" role in Fox's unreleased "Crash Dive" is one of the most active and willing of the Hollywood Victory Committee of which Hattie McDaniel is chairman, but this trip was for the longest distance, 160 miles, and to one of the largest camps they have visited. The largest was Ft. Huachuca, entertained shortly after the 93rd Division started training there. But after all Joe could not go.

The ones who actually managed to donate highly valuable talents for the pleasure of the 30,000 soldiers of both races away out in the desert near Indio included Hattie McDaniel, Marie Bryant, Mantan Moreland, Judy Carrol, New York's Mae Johnson, Clarence Muse, Nicodemus, Paul White, Bob Parrish, Joe Turner, Princess Luwanna, The Layson Brothers, Anita Brown, The Two Hot Shots, Marie Walker and Napoleon Whiting. At the last minute Bill Robinson learned that he could not go, being called to Fox studio on business.

6 BOYS PAID $79 FOR MAKING 'COMB, PAPER' MUSIC IN FILM

Wide-eyed at more money than they had ever dreamed of making in one day, six boys received $79 each for a days work in Warner Bros.-First Nation's new period feature "Saratoga Trunk". Their ages averaging 10 years, they filled an important and amusing episode in the large all-Negro sequence of the story, which has its locale in New Orleans of the 80's.

The youngsters equipped with paper-wrapped combs and a couple of jugs, formed a band which made music of a sort, but which served to add to the medly of sights and sounds, taking place on a street in the old French quarters of New Orleans. The interesting point in their good luck is that although they were not musicians, Edward Bailey, president of Musicians Local 767, secured the same rate of pay for them, as trained adult artist get. This included $10 per hour in a three hour session fo recording, then the union standard rate for playing.

Incidentally the six little members of the make-shift were so influenced by the easily made "big money" that they declare they intend to study and become real musicians.

SCREEN PROVING GREATEST MEDIU ONE OF NATION'S MS FOR VICTORY

Predicting a new era for the motion picture industry as a result of the war, Charles Francis Coe, Vice President and General Counsel for the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., was principal speaker before an audience of 1000 educational, community and industrial leaders here today.

"What the screen is contributing to the mighty efforts of our own country and the nations associated with it in this supreme struggle for freedom", Coe declared, "is written in figures of light on the screen. Nothing constructive which sight, sound and color can portray for recreation and morale, for military training and for every fighting front, is being neglected on the screen. Talking pictures are amply able to speak for themselves in relation to the public, and we are proud of what they say. It is a comparatively simple thing to measure the impact of the motion picture upon the public. What seems to me to have been left unmeasured is the impact of the public upon motion pictures."

LINCOLN BILLS PHA TERRELL

Decca's famous recording and vocalist star, Pha Terrell, brings his band and entertainers to the stage of the Lincoln theatre this Saturday. Terrell's outfit is doing a swing tour around the land, playing at the largest dance emporiums and theatres.

Terrell made famous such hit tunes as Until The Real Thing Comes Along, What Will I Tell My Heart, and I'll Get Along Somehow.

For a long time Pha Terrell was a highlight of Andy Kirk's band, and contributed considerably to that band's initial success. Critics now say Terrell's talents have been put into his own band, making him better than ever. Local swing lovers will be on hand to welcome Pha. z

FLO CADREZ GETS MATES FOR SAILORS

Recently Officer of the Day Bill Wolfenden received a call from Fort Hueneme that 90 Negro sailors were arriving at the Hollywood Canteen in two hours. Through the cooperation of Florence Cadrez, Negro hostess and canteen representative of Musician's Local 767, 30 Negro girls were ready and waiting when the sailors arrived.

Things Picking Up at Olympic—Thanks to Babe

Believe it or not, but the Olympic auditorium is getting out of the "big barn" class.

Back in the early '30s the Grand Avenue auditorium was in her glory. And then came a slump and it looked like the place was to be jinxed as a white elephant. Several promoter-matchmakers tried to make her click consistently but no go.

Then a few months ago, a portly and affable gent who knows his business took the reins as matchmaker. His name, Babe McCoy. The column met him when he was matchmaker for the Eastside Arena.

Well sir, he matched old Hank Armstrong with Juan Zurita and the turnstiles started to really hum, and week after week since, they have been humming fairly consistently. There was the Thomas-Joyce thriller, the Armstrong-Joyce upset, and things began to look up.

All of which is a healthy sign for the sport in this town, which, incidentally, is fully capable of supporting two major boxing clubs. Hollywood Legion stadium, whose generalissimo is Charley MacDonald, has long enjoyed the reputation of being the most successful boxing club in the U. S. Every week is either a sell-out, or so close to being one it might as well be. In fact, since the ban was lifted on Negro boxers at the film city plant, our boxers have played no little part in maintaining Hollywood Legion stadium's reputation.

Which brings us to today's sermon. For the next three weeks the Olympic figures to do most of its accounting in black ink. Slugger White and Jackie Byrd headline next week, and although Byrd doesn't figure to upset the Slugger it should give local fans a welcome opportunity to have another gander at White before he meets local pride John Thomas. Incidentally, McCoy must not have thought much of George Morelia's chances last night either. The Slugger was his opponent, which makes the Maryland champion appear twice in 7 days.

The week following Matchmaker McCoy pits Cecil Hudson against Carlos Malacara, and that should be a humdinger. Both boys have been going great guns. We sat in on Hudson's convincing win over Rodolfo Ramirez at Hollywood Friday night. Preceding that fracas Hudson had taken the measure of Jimmy McDaniels.

Following the Hudson-Malacara go, Matchmaker McCooy brings in Clevelander Jimmy Bivens. It gives knockerouter Watson Jones his first taste of name opposition, and the chance to make a rep overnight—if he can land first! That's an angle that may pack 'em in.

So, hats off, to matchmaker Babe McCoy, and promoter Snowy Baker, currently holding forth at 18th and Grand.

Alpha Quint in Easy Win Over Kappas

In a game which kept the fans in a frenzy of excitement, a smooth, fast-breaking Alpha fraternity team, overpowered the Kappa Alpha Psi fratmen Saturday night at Patriotic hall, by a score of 44 to 34. Spectators called it one of the best of the long series of frat games that have been held here.

The Alpha five quickly grabbed the lead and were never headed, but at all times the Kappa team was within striking distance of the lead and of the gamae.

Play opened with Joe Oliver, local boy from Cal, sinking a one-haanded shot from the foul circle. From there the Alphas ran up an 8-point lead before the Kappas were in the game.

Nate Shaw brought the Kappas to life when he dropped in two points.

BARKSDALE STARS

The game proceeded to the half with an Alpha team that completely dominated the game and backboard the first half dude to the services of their elongated center, Don Barksdale, sensational UCLA player.

Barksdale, who last year scored 29 points against the Kappas when playing for the Oakland YMCA, was extremely handicapped by lack of practice with the Alpha basketball aggregation. He managed, however, to tip in 10 points over the heads of the Kappas.

The second half was marked by the brilliant play of both teams. With the Kappas trimming the Alpha fratmen down to as low as five points. The Alphas recovered, however, and in the last two minutes of play brought their lead back to 10 points.

RANDOLPH IN FORM

John Randolph displayed excellent form and ability in holding Barksdale to a total less than he ever scored in a Pacific Coast conference contest. Nate Shaw stole top scoring honors for the evening by hitting the rim for 12 points.

In a prelim game, the Delta Sigma Theta sorority took the Jefferson Tri-Y in stride, winning 16 to 6. The Delta women were led by Leonette Walker and Mattie Kenner, who scored their total points.

This week-end the fratmen will bring a dangerous underdog Omega Psi Phi team against the Kappas. With the addition of several players the Omegas look powerful enough to defeat the Kappas and possibly steal the season's honors from the Alphas. The preliminary game will feature the 10th Cavalry soldiers quintet and the Club Alabam.

South Carolina State Bags SIAA Basketball Crown

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala., Mar. 17.—The 10th Annual Southern Conference Basketball tournament came to a brilliant and successful close in Logan Hall here Saturday night, Mar. 6, before 3000 enthusiastic hardwood fans who saw the classy and colorful cagers of South Carolina State college crowned champions of the circuit, defeating Xavier university of New Orleans, 42-40.

The three-day tourney, which opened Thursday afternoon, was studded with a series of stellar basketball performances, but the race for the championship was close all the way, and when State finally disposed of the smooth functioning Gold Rush team, Carolina partisans staged a demonstration that rocked the rafters.

The consolation game staged between Morris Brown college and Clark college, both of Atlanta, was not to be denied any of the color and brilliance in play that went to the winner.

These two teams staged one of the hardest battles of the series and Saturday night both were in rare form, Clark winning 52-43.

South Carolina State, Xavier, Morris Brown and Clark were the seeded teams. Clark and Florida tied for fourth place and Clark won the toss.

DEFENDING CHAMPS LOSE

In the opening game Morris Brown met Morehouse and turned back her neighbor, 47-38. Knoxville in the second game on the afternoon card defeated Lane, 52-42. Xavier won over Fisk, 48-32, in the last game of the first round of play.

In the quarter finals Clark defeated Alabama State Teachers college, 52-30; South Carolina polished off Tuskegee, 50-33; Morris Brown won handily over Knoxville, 59-44, and Xavier eliminated Florida, the defending champions, 61 to 35.

The semi finals brought South Carolina and Morris Brown together. Coach Ollie Dawson's team defeated the Wolverines, 52 to 50. Xavier triumphed over Clark, 47 to 30.

TRYST

If you could know the anguish and despair I've felt,
The tears I've shed in sheer delusion—Alone, amidst all this teeming life;
The very beat of my heart reechoing the stifled fear I've held in check—
Behind a mask of chosen solitude.
If I could break thru the barrier of time,
And shed this hull, that keeps me chained—
I would be young, and in love—carefree.
With each new dawn my mind
wanders forth to find you
But returns home—sad, but wiser.
I stare at each passerby, in fear
I'll miss you—
I linger at the crossroads . . .
drink to quench my thirst,
Free my inhibitions at the mart of desires.
Partake of what life offers—for the moment.
Yet untouched—my heart is there, waiting . . .
If there's a GOD on high, we'll meet—
Someday . . . somewhere . . .
'Cause I have a rendezvous with you, a fate I can't escape.

WARNING

When we met, you were a convenience.
To soothe my every whim.
I didn't want love, so I warned
you to forget me,
By thoughts I had instilled.
I told you how futile love could be;
Still you pursued me, much against my will.
I was an adventurer, told you I could not be chained.
You wanted love—affection was all I could give,
So omy tongue was glib drooling sacarine sweets—to please your vanity.
Yet I loved you for the moment
with true desires,
Lent you happiness, you said,
you could never forget.
So I laughed when you said you would teach me to care.
That I would never want another love affair.
Because there was still a part of me.
That you could never begin to share.
Even in the thralls of—this synthetic love affair.

They say we all have to pay the fiddler sooner or later—and we've certainly had plenty of fiddling around on the tax question this year. Talk about confusion—we've been pulled more ways than a piece of bubble gum in action. Seemed like everybody had a solution for the tax problem—but there wasn't time to try them all. We all wanted to do our part, but nobody could agree on the script. It was as baffling as six fingers in a glove—and as upsetting as a broken rocking chair. But now the zero hour is almost here—and after the 15th we'll all have zero.

I see where a Congressman claims the guns mounted on the House roof are dummies. Maybe the Army figures congressional smoke screens make other protection unnecessary.

Whatever way you look at it a smoke screen won't hide the fact that you are offered the finest selection of excellent liquor, wine and beer at the House of Morgan, 2729 Central Ave. Our well arranged displays make it easy for you to find what you want, and our large choice of mixings assures you exactly the right kind of cocktail you desire.

'Slugger' to Box Byrd Tuesday

Standout matches follow in successive weeks at Olympic auditorium, it was revealed yesterday by Matchmaker Babe McCoy.

Jackie Byrd, the swift punching Arkansas welterweight who has turned in several thrillers at the big Grand avenue club, faces Luther (Slugger) White, rated world lightweight champion in the eyes of the Maryland Boxing commission, next Tuesday night.

White decisively defeated Willie Joyce last January in a blistering 15-round battle at Baltimore.

Byrd kayoed Al Calderon and defeated stocky Max Hutchins and cagey Bob Castro in recent weeks.

When John Thomas is able to box again (he is on the sidelines with an injured ankle), the Olympic will stage the White-Thomas fight, one of the most important lightweight matches of the season.

HUDSON VS. MALACARA

McCoy has roaring Cecil Hudson facing Carlos Malacara of Mexico Mar. 30.

Hudson punched out a clean cut win last week against Rodolfo Ramirez at Hollywood Legion stadium. He is making a strong bid to land a Henry Armstrong match here.

Malacara is managed by Gus Wilson and only recently drew in 10 furious rounds against Earl Turner at Oakland.

The fans started a riot when it was called a draw. Bay region critics said Malacara had a good edge.

Malacara meets Max Hutchins tonight at Oakland and will return here to start training in a few days for the Hudson natural.

Edwards and His Visit to Berlin

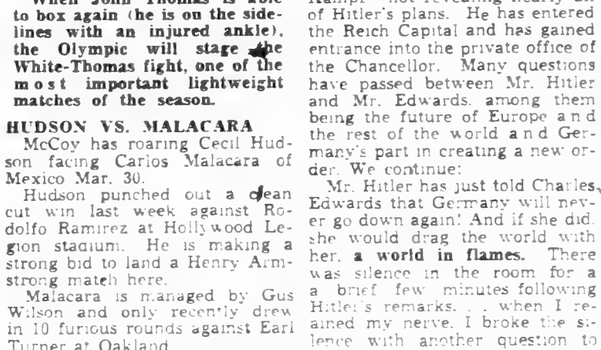
(An exclusive California EAGLE Serial)

The California Eagle takes sincere pride in presenting the first public presentation of the mission fulfilled by America's number one youth leader, Charles Edwards, on his "Asignment to Berlin," . . . What has gone on before Mr. Edwards recalled your memory to December, 1941, when war was declared. He now attempts to expose the facts of why. He recalled his dramatic journey through Berlin, Germany between May, 1937 and September, 1939 during which time he was granted a personal interview with Adolph Hitler. The purpose of his interview was to try to understand and explain to the World Christian Youth Conference the aspirations of the German Government.

Mr. Edwards told of 'Mein Kampf'—not revealing nearly all of Hitler's plans. He has entered the Reich Capital and has gained entrance into the private office of the Chancellor. Many questions have passed between Mr. Hitler and Mr. Edwards, among them being the future of Europe and the rest of the world and Germany's part in creating a new order. We continue:

Mr. Hitler has just told Charles Edwards that Germany will never go down again! And if she did, she would drag the world with her, a world in flames. There was silence in the room for a brief few minutes following Hitler's remarks. . . when I regained my nerve, I broke the silence with another question to Hitler which I thought might slightly change the subject from setting the world on fire.

"What do you think of brought about the unhappy conclusion for Germany at the end of the last war?"



His voice was in peaceful tones now as he answered, "It was the superior armament of our enemies that had brought about the unhappy end of the last war."

"Do you say then that it is arms that decides a war?"

"H—, no! It is not arms that decide a war and the strength of your enemies, it is the men behind those arms," he rebuked.

"Who says that I'm going to start a war anyhow, like those fools in 1914? All our efforts are bent toward peace. Most people have no imagination."

Here his face twisted into an expression of contempt. "They can imagine the future only in terms of their own petty experiences. They are blind to the new, the surprising things. Even the generals are sterile. They are imprisoned in the coils of their technical knowledge. . . he continued . . . The creative genius stands always outside the circle of the experts. I have the gift of reducing all problems to their simplest foundations. War has been erected into a secret science and sur-

'Red' Barker Suspended; New Pact for Salica

J. M. Genshlea, secretary of the State Athletic commission said this week that the commission body had taken action in the following cases:

Ill and Unavailable—Chas. W. Morris, boxer of Stockton, 10 days, injured eye; Al Citrino, S. F. boxer, two weeks, injured eye; Wayland Douglas, S. F. boxer, two weeks, injured hand; Vernon K. Lester, S. F. boxer, three weeks, injured eye.

Suspensions—Alvin "Red" Barker, L. A. boxer, indefinite, retired and unavailable; Jimmy Meadows Aviles, L. A. boxer, indefinite, violation of rules.

Contracts Filed—Harmon C. Bettis, boxer—Mary Francis Bettis, manager, effective Mar. 4, for one year; Lou Salica, boxer—Willie Friedland, manager, effective Mar. 5, for one year.

rounded with momentous solemnity. But war is the most natural, the most every-day matter. War is eternal, war is universal. There is no beginning and there is no peace. War is life. All struggle is war. War is the origin of all things. Let us look back to primitive life, the life of the savages. What is war but cunning, deception, delusion attack and surprise? People have killed only when they could not achieve their aim in other ways. Merchants, robbers, warriors—at one time all these were one. There is a broadened strategy, a war with intellectual weapons. What is the object of war? To make the enemy capitulate. If he does, have the prospect of wiping him out. Why should I demoralize him by military means if I can do so better and more cheaply in other ways? Then Hitler went on to develop the outlines of his war as he has since widely tested it. At that time it seemed a novel and not very convincing doctrine. It was evident, however, that he had given much thought to these matters.

"Listen, Charles Edwards," he said, "when I wage war, in the midst of peace, troops will suddenly appear, let us say, in Paris. They will wear French uniforms. They will march through the streets in broad day-light. No one will stop them. Everything has been thought out, prepared to the last detail. They will march to the headquarters of the General staff. They will occupy the ministries, the Chamber of Deputies, and within a few minutes all of France, Poland, Austria, Czechoslavokia, will be robbed of their leading men. Can't you see—an army without a general staff!

Zurita and Peralta Clash

Juan Zurita and Joey Peralta tangle Friday night in the 10-round main attraction at Hollywood Legion stadium.

Peralta, once managed by Wirt Ross, who once handled Henry Armstrong, Young Peter Jackson, Dynamite Jackson and numerous other Negro stars at one time, boasts a win over Chalky Wright, former featherweight champion, but has lost to Chalky twice this year. He has also dropped verdicts to both Willie Joyce and Slugger White.

Zurita, one of the Mexican stars of the George Parnassus stable, was stopped by Henry Armstrong several months ago and has beaten Eddie Marcus, Vern Bybee and Jimmy Florita this year.

WHY CANNED FRUITS, VEGETABLES, AND SOUPS ARE RATIONED

Every week we are sending shiploads of canned goods to feed our fighting men and our fighting allies in Africa, Britain, and the Pacific islands. We must see that they get all the food they need.

We at home will share all that is left. Point Rationing will be used to guarantee you and everyone a fair share of America's supply of canned and processed fruits and vegetables, soups and juices.

HOW they are rationed

1. Every eligible man, woman, child, and baby in the United States is being given War Ration Book Two. (This book will not be used for sugar or coffee.)

2. The BLUE stamps are for any kind of Canned or Bottled Fruits and Vegetables
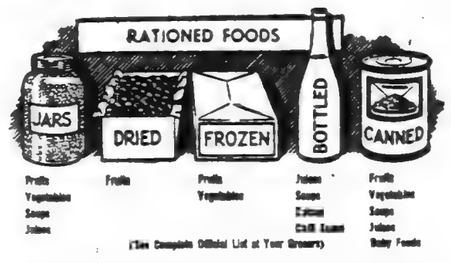
Canned or Bottled Juices and Soups
Frozen Fruits and Vegetables
Dried Fruits
(The red stamps will be used later for meat.)



3. The stamps in this book are POINT stamps. The NUMBER on each stamp shows you how many POINTS that stamp is worth.

4. The LETTERS show you WHEN to use the stamps. The year will be divided into rationing periods. You can use all BLUE stamps marked A, B, and C in the first rationing period. A, B, and C stamps cannot be used after the first rationing period ends.

5. You must use the BLUE stamps when you buy ANY KIND of the rationed processed foods. See the official list, showing every kind of rationed processed food, at your grocers. Different kinds of these foods will take different numbers of points. For example, a can of beans may take a different number of points from a can of peas.

6. Of course, the more of anything you buy the more points it will take. For example, a large can of peas takes more points than a small can.

7. The Government will set the points for each kind and size and send out an Official Table of Point Values which your grocer must put up where you can see it. The Government will keep careful watch of the supply of these processed foods and make changes in point values from time to time, probably not oftener than once a month. The Government will announce these changes when it makes them and they will be put up in the stores.

8. The number of points for each kind of processed food will be THE SAME in ALL STORES and in all parts of the country.

G. Vernon Bennett Opens Campaign Headquarters

Lee Vaughn, campaign manager to retain G. Vernon Bennett as Councilmanic representative for the Tenth District, announces the opening of Bennett headquarters at 1934 So. Central avenue and at 530 West Washington Street.

Vaughn, in speaking of the Bennett candidacy said: "We intend to conduct a most intensive campaign to return Mr. Bennett to the City Council and we feel sure that we shall succeed in doing so. Mr. Bennett's record as councilman is such that he deserves re-election and the very fact that his fellow councilmen elected him president fo the council proves conclusively that they, who work with him daily, believe him to be a man of exceptionally ability. I want to call the voters attention to the fact that Mr. Bennett is the first councilman from the Tenth District to be chosen as Council president and I think we should all be very proud that the district has received this great honor".

G. VERNON BENNETT

The Bennett campaign, according to Vaughn, will use paid advertising in the newspapers in the district, billboards, folders, quarter cards and throwaway cards as well as an exceptionally large group of volunteer workers who will make a house to house canvas for their candidate.

Outdoor Play Advised By McDonough

Play outdoors whenever you can.

Work in your Victory gardens.

This was the advice given today by Supervisor Gordon L. McDonough, chairman of the County Board of Supervisors, who urged all citizens to plan their work and duties to permit a little time out-of-doors.

"Wholesome fresh air is a guarantee of continued good health." he said, "and it is our patriotic duty to keep healthy so that sickness will not be a contributing factor for any slow down in contributions to the War effort."

For those who want recreation in play activities, McDonough, explained that the county has 50 parks and parkways with with a total of 2663 acres. These play areas are under jurisdiction of the County Park department, he said, but in addition, there are many playgrounds in cities throughout the county where people may enjoy fresh air and recreation.

Rasmussen Seeks 3rd Term as City Councilman

Councilman Carl C. Rasmussen is now seeking re-election to the City Council from the 7th District for the third successive term.

A great many leaders of the community have expressed great satisfaction and approval of the councilman for his fearless fighting spirit for what he thinks is right.

Councilman Rasmussen, who is also an ordained clergyman, has brought to the City Council a real understanding of the needs of the Southeast area. The Southeast Polyclinic at 55th and Central has now been purchased and is being fully equipped as one of the finest clinics in the country. As chairman of the Committee on Public Health and Welfare, Rasmussen initiated the project in the Council and fought successfully for its completion.

He is now cooperating with the City Health Department in an effort to obtain more satisfactory hospital facilities for patients from this community.

It is a well known fact that the public housing program in this city, which has brought many millions of dollars into the community and has afforded homes for thousands of needy families, owes its achievement largely to the uncompromising leadership which Rasmussen gave to this whole program. It was upon his recommendation and arguments before the City Council that one project after another was approved, until today ten large housing projects have been completed.

In the fight for wage increase to city employees, Rasmussen steadfastly maintained that employees in the lower brackets such as the Maintenance Department employees should have the largest increases in pay. He stood firm in his conviction and finally won out, thus bringing to these families a larger income than would have been possible under any of the other ordinances which were proposed. "Councilman Rasmussen has the satisfaction of telling the employees in the lower brackets that they are receiving more than they would have received had it not been for his forthright and courageous action", said Mayor Bowron concerning this.

As evidence of his genuine desire to keep in constant touch with the problems of his district, Councilman Rasmussen has met frequently with citizen groups to discuss ways and means of bettering conditions in the community. Forums on city government have been offered to those interested. Group discussions, round table conferences and innumerable contacts with people from the rank and file have given Rasmussen an unusually close first-hand knowledge of the every day problems of the men and women whom he represents.

Mrs. LaRue McCormick in Race for Board of Education

Launching the election campaign with a series of radio broadcasts, Mrs. LaRue McCormick will speak over KMTR at 9:00 p. m. each Thursday night until the April 6 primaries, with a final broadcast on Monday night, April 5, at 9:00 p. m.

On filing for the Board of Education, Mrs. McCormick said that she accepted this responsibility with one thought in mind, to help mobilize and unite the community for the all-out effort which is needed on the home front as well as the battle fronts.

She stated, "Our public school system can and must be made the heart of a united community devoted to public service for victory. We need a Board of Education which will give its first attention to strengthening the understanding of democracy, training the youth of all races and nationalities for jobs in war production, providing adequate care for the children of working mothers, and establishing community centers in which all the people may benefit from a program of health, consumer and cultural education."

The Communist Party endorses the candidacy of LaRue McCormick for member of the Board of Education and urges the establishment of listening in parties every Thursday night at 9:00 p. m for a clear understanding of the issues of the elections.

Labor Backs George H. Moore for City Council

GEORGE H. MOORE is a candidate in the 15th district for City Council in the April 6 primaries, with heavy CIO endoresment.

George H. Moore, president of the Los Angeles harbor commission, and a candidate in the 15th district for City Council in the April 6 municipal primaries, has received the official endorsement of both the CIO and the San Pedro-Wilmington central labor council, it was announced jointly by Phillip M. Connelly, president of the CIO, and AM (Pop) Gruber, veteran secretary of the council.

The two union spokesmen stated that representatives of a joint council voted unanimously for Moore, basing their vote on the fact that Moore has been a real factor in aiding shipbuilding, harbor development, employment and maintaining adequate wage in the harbor department.

It was pointed out that more than a year ago when shipping was being diverted to San Francisco, and longshore work was at its lowest, Moore went to San Francisco, conferred with government authorities and prevailed upon them to divide commerce betwen San Francisco and this port.

Postwar aims of this section, which includes harbor expansion, continued employment and the maintenance of the current American standard of living, are expected to progress more rapidly and smoothly with Moore as district representative, Gruber stated.

Moore has been a resident of San Pedro and Wilmington for the past 16 years, and for four years has been a member of the harbor commission. He is also a director of the National Port Authorities.

MME. MAMIE WILSON, famous scientific scalp specialist.

If you are having trouble with your scalp, and your scalp needs astringing, the oil vessels need awakening, you have excessive dandruff and falling hair; if your hair is dry, brittle and falling, just see Mme. Wilson. She has the remedy for diseased scalps.

Mrs. L. Robinson writes:

"Dear Mrs. Wilson—I am a living witness that Mrs. Bettie Thomas truly was baldheaded. Not one strand of hair could be found. I have known her for many years. To see her now, with a full head of hair, I can scarcely believe my own eyes. I am coming to you Friday, and I wish you to treat my hair, as it is very thin."—Mrs. L. Robinson, 2925 Michigan avenue, Los Angeles, Calif., phone AN-0947.

Mrs. Relda Bowis, 958 E. 11th street, Los Angeles, writes: "Dear Mrs. Wilson: "I must write and let you know how my hair has improved, as it may help someone who is suffering with their scalp. I am not writing for an outside show; this is from my heart. I wish you to help others with their hair problems, as you have helped me. I shall never forget how despondent I was when I came to you. I had gone to different doctors, and most beauty shoppes on the avenue, but all failed to help me. I suffered terribly with itching and sore scalp, and all my hair came out, except a few strands on top and sides.

"My head was as clean as my hands, and I was compelled to keep it covered. Had you turned me down when I came to you, I was so desperate I scarcely knew what to do.

May God bless you, and I do hoope you will live forever to take care of those who need your treatments: the men as well as the women.

"Anyone wishing a healthy head of hair see this God-sent woman who prays over the head, and takes God as her partner in business, and there lies her secret. She is a wonder. Take my advice and see for yourself. Should anyone wish to get in touch with me, call at 959 E. 11th street, Los Angeles, phone VA-7997."

Food Shortage

BUT Electricity IS STILL PLENTIFUL!

War has caused many foods and other essential commodities to be rationed... but electricity is still plentiful. Although most Southern California war-plants and farms are using more Edison electric power than ever before, you can still use all the electricity you need in your home. The Edison Company, a community enterprise, was ready when the war emergency came... had anticipated future needs.

ARIES
Mar. 22 to April 19

People born under the sign of Aries like to lead, because to follow after, has never appealed to them. To rule is their heaven, and they regard drifting as just another name for purgatory.

Planning and carrying out his own plans are the chief functions of the "Arian." There is a continual desire for novelty, and so ideas are frequent. Throughout everything there is the strongest evidence of an effort to improve existent methods.

The "Aries" person is quick to anger, but forgiveness comes quite easily to this type. Impatience is strongly evident, however, any suspicion of shilly-shally methods infuriates him.

Aries is the birth-mark of the everlasting modern, and PROGRESS is the "Arian's" watchword. Send for Prof. Herman's 1943 Horoscope for your birthday.

R. R.—Dear Prof. Herman: As you will notice, I have moved at last, and feel so much better. The change is just what I needed; you certainly were right in that respect. I am now sending for the Prayer and Meditation Combination that is so highly recommended. Sincerely yours.

L. S.—Will someone ask me to marry them soon?

Ans.: A careful analysis of your question indicates the fact that you have been asked to marry again, and because you have always refused this party, you are wondering if you should accept this time, as you feel they will not ask you again. Yes, my friend, I suggest that you do so, as you both care a great deal for each other. For further information please write in for a private reply.

M. J.—Did H. J. go to see N. M.?

Ans.: It appears to me that a visit was made but nothing but friendship exists between these two persons. Dismiss your doubts and suspicions and you will be much happier.

C. L. W.—Will I get married again?

Ans.: According to your Zodiacal sign, I do not vision another marriage. Your life is pretty well settled; you are close to 70 years of age, and seem to be quite happy.

E. W.—If I do what I have in mind, will the results be harmful?

Ans.: It seems to me that you should not consider what you have in mind as you would be sorry later on. While the results might not be harmful, your opinion of yourself would be lowered, and that would lead to other things that might cause trouble.

J. G.—Dear Sir: I've been reading your column every week, and you have helped so many others with their problems I was hoping you would help me. Does this man I love, care for me or is he just fooling?

Ans.: A great deal is revealed to me concerning you and this young man, and I find that he is sincere in his feelings for you. Naturally he has faults just as everyone else has, and it so happens you know what they are. Perhaps you doubt him too much, give him the benefit of the doubt until he proves otherwise. And in regards to the last objection, he really cannot help that, so I suggest you accept his offer for marriage.

R. J.—Will we get any help from the government?

Ans.: I suggest you write to Washington, D. C., to the allotment division for information concerning your husband and the allotment due you and the children, at your earliest convenience.

M. P.—What must I do?

Ans.: It appears to me that you should make the best of the situation as it is now, until this young man gets home again. As you have already sacrificed a great deal for your children, it does seem that you should get some pleasure out of life. But conditions are such that you will have to wait a while longer to determine your future activities.

H. L.—Who took the money?

Ans.: It seems that a child stole the money from your mother. She should be more careful about laying her purse down where it can be easily picked up, as it was this time.

Chicago Songwriter Seen as Boon to Those Who Worry

CHICAGO, March 17—Near the top of the list of outstanding people who are making a definite contribution to the mental stabilization of the citizenry by using his extraordinary talents is Thomas A. Dorsey, 755 Oakwood boulevard president of the National Gospel Chorals convention and one of the most widely known gospel songwriters in America.

Thos. A. Dorsey

Many people know him since World War II began as the man who has saved many persons from becoming morose, who has caused them to renew their faith in their Redeemer by his inspiring songs, the words and lyrics of which are very consoling.

SEES THE REAL LIFE

When questioned recently concerning the part he is playing in comforting people, Professor Dorsey merely declared that the songs, the tunes and the words just seem to come to him. He often asks what is life without a song, but his songs are solely for the glorification of the Saviour and to strengthen human beings and enable them to have more faith, and see the futility of wrong living.

"I have stood at the bier of a child and have seen a devoted mother weeping," Professor Dorsey said, "and I have seen the look on an aged mother's face when news came that her son had been killed in action overseas. I have talked to Jewish refugees whose relatives were mowed down by a firing squad before their very eyes, and as a result I have tried to fathom this mystery of misery . . . one of the many life holds for us. I have been able to console myself and others in song only."

Judging from the reputation Professor Dorsey bears as a gospel songwriter, he has rendered great service to many. Here is a stanza of one of his latest songs.

"I don't know why I have to cry sometime;
I don't know why I have to sigh sometime.
It would be a perfect day,
But there is trouble in the way;
I don't know why, but I'll know 'bye and 'bye."

WAR ON NEGRO

TRUTH: For 323 years a war of prejudice, discrimination, lynching and abuses has been waged against us. I began to fight this battle when I discovered that I was a 'made fool.' Mark you, not a fool but a 'made one', like many intellectuals.

Thinking people are asking: What are we—Negroes, colored People or what? What is a NEGRO? No educator has ever given a satisfactory answer. They haven't the courage. The truth has never been told. Why is NEGRO the most disputed name? Because the truth is not known. Truth is The Basis Of Education. I went to a university; spent 5 years in law school in Boston, became counsellor in public schools. Worked in educational sociology at New York University.

After 15 years' investigation, study and research, I found the facts, the history, the truth about the race.

With my discovery, I made money, and gained world respect.

It can do the same for you. I have compiled it in the great book: "HUMAN SIDE OF PEOPLE." 399 pages, 84 pictures by myself, Raphael P. Powell. The demand for this book by thousands proves that it shows the way o success and is helping to win the war against race prejudice. Price $3. Send orders to: PHILEMON CO., 224 West 135th St., New York City, GUARANTEED: The only book which gives the TRUTH about our race.

30-Year Marriage Ends

After a marriage of more than thirty years, Mrs. Chesia Brown, 1153 E. 49th St. was awarded her interlocutory decree of divorce from Andrew Brown as the result of a trial before Judge George M. Dockweiler last Friday morning in which Mrs. Brown who is still comely for all her years, testified that her husband deserted her more than two years ago without cause. There were eight children born of the marriage, all of whom are now of age and also married, Mrs. Brown testified.

Brown who is employed by the Board of Education, did not contest the action but sat quietly by while his Attorney, Ivan Miller, stipulated with Attorney Curtis

SUGAR HILL RESIDENTS BATTLE TO KEEP HOMES

Recruiting the most powerful battery of legal talent available, movie stars and other Negro residents, now occupying fine homes in the Hobart Street district, are determined to hold them against the action of a restricted district movement set on foot last week. Recently nicknamed "Sugar Hill" after the New York sector of that name, most of the colored movie stars, and many prominent, successful business and professional figures, have bought on Hobart and Harvard streets and vicinity within the past three years. They were attracted by the fine two and three story homes, beautiful sweeping lawns, shrubbery and many other improvements that make it an ideal section for residence.

Among the many famous folk and leading citizens living there are Hattie McDaniel, Ethel Waters, Sam McDaniel, Ben Carter, Noble Sissle, Lillian Randolph, Horace Clark, Sidney P. Dones, and others, all of whom declare that in a democratic country everyone should have a right to live where he is able.

The movement they are ignoring and intend to fight and beat is that of the so-called West Adams Improvement Association. In a call to its members last week it put out a proclamation that included the following words: "You are urged to be present at the Women's Club House, corner 21st and Hobart Blvd. next Wednesday night. An outstanding attorney will discuss the probability of enforcing the restrictions which were signed by over 90 percent of the property owners in this district in 1937. The value of your property can be maintained if you take proper action now."

While the determined homeowners are preparing to defend their rights, Mr. Allen Woodard, realtor who sold many of the homes to the colored buyers, reassures them that they cannot be ousted. He states that although the district was formerly restricted against colored, the measure is no longer valid.

Clear Woman of Theft Charges

Mrs. Orea Hill, 4981 Ascot Ave. was spedily acquitted of charges of petty theft after a court trial by Judge Arthur Guerin last Wednesday morning. The charges had been preferred against Mrs. Hill by Mrs. Rose Haymon, white, of 4425 Boyle avenue who complained to police that on February 4th Mrs. Hill took a $69.00 coat suit from her room while employed as a maid at her residence. After she made the charges police officers went to the home of the accused woman and found the coat suit hanging in her closet.

Under the questioning of her Attorney, Curtis C. Taylor, Mrs. Hill tok the stand and testified that the coat suit was given to her by Mrs. Haymon on New Year's Day and delivered into her possession. She further testified that she worked for Mrs. Haymon's daughter-in-law shortly after New Year's day and continued to work for her up until the time of her arrest and that no complaint had been made about the theft of the coat suit.

Mrs. Hill told Judge Guerin that Mrs. Haymon became enraged because she walked off on the last day of her employment and refused to perform any more work because an excessive amount of work had been placed upon her which she refused to do for the amount of money paid and that Mrs. Haymon thereupon had the charges filed against her for spite.

After listening to the evidence Judge Guerin quickly found Mrs. Hill not guilty and absolved her of all charges.

Movie Stars Come to Aid of Folkes

Hollywood movie stars will aid in raising funds for the defense of Robert Lee Folkes, charged with the "Berth 13" murder of a woman passenger or a speeding passenger train near Albany, Oregon, when they will appear at a dance on April 1 at Elks' Hall. Folkes will go to trial on April 7 on a charge of murder at Albany and funds raised at the dance will go to pay attorney fees.

"Grave doubts exist as to Folkes guilt and it is imperative that his constitutional rights to a fair trial be safeguarded by seeing to it that he has competent counsel," a spokesman for a Citizens Committee which is sponsoring the affair said today in explaining the committee's interest in the matter.

It was pointed out that despite the conflicting statements and "confessions" made by Folkes, the physical facts surrounding the murder all indicate Folkes' inocence. Detailed examinations of Folkes' clothing and chemical analysis of scrapings from his finger nails and shoes show that no blood or other incriminating evidence of any kind was revealed.

HOUSE MEMBERS ISSUE POLL TAX STATEMENT

In an attempt to rush the passage of anti-poll tax legislation through the House in the next few weeks in order to give ample time to defeat any filibustering tactics in the Senate, the following statement was issued by seven members of the House.

"There has been filed (Friday March 5) with the Speaker of the House of Representatives a petition to discharge the Committee on the Judiciary and the Committee on Rules from further consideration of H. R. 7, a bill to abolish the poll tax as a prerequisite to voting in primary and general elections for national officers. The petition will be known as House Petition Number 3.

This has been done in an effort to secure speedy passage of this important win-the-war legislation in the first session of the present Congress. The undersigned members of the House of Representatives have agreed to joint sponsorship of this legislation and to cordially invite all of their colleagues in the House, who desire to do so, to become members of the steering committee to sponsor this legislation.

It is our desire that this measure, which has received the support of broad sections of the American people and which is endorsed by members of Congress in all political parties, shall not become a narrowly partisan measure. For this reason the steering committee will have as its chairman, Representative George H. Bender, while Representative Warren G. Magnuson will be in charge of the bill on the floor for the Democrats, and the time for the Republicans will be controlled by Representative Baldwin."

The representative who signed the statement are George H. Bender, Republican, Ohio; Warren G.

Clear Man in Mail Theft

Charges of theft from the mails were dismissed against Walter Thigpen, veteran railway employee of 1334 E. 42nd Place last Wednesday morning on motion of his counsel, Curtis C. Taylor, on the grounds of lack of sufficient evidence. Thigpen had been arrested after an investigation by Postal Inspector C. B. Lowe whose offices are located in the Federal Building.

Thigpen was arrested along with another man as co-defendant, but after evidence presented to the Federal Grand Jury they refused to return an indictment against Thigpen. His bond was exonerated and the charges against him were dismissed.

On the Sidewalk

by W. L. D.

This week the editor received the following letters which plainly reveal two schools of thought in our American life. One, from a Negro mother, reads as follows: Dear Mrs. Bass:

I don't know if this has come to your attention or not. I tried to come to see you but have been so very busy. I have been attending the Christian Church on 30th and Western Avenue off and on for the past seven months. My children attended Sunday School. Due to illness, I have not been there but twice in the last three or four months. Last December their church members went around asking people to come to church. Some Negro children were allowed to attend. Three weeks ago, my neighbor went with me, with her two grandchildren. We were made to sit in pews by ourselves. No one spoke to us. A week later the pastor's wife, Mrs. Sam Bernhard, called to ask me not to bring any more Negroes, but asked me to take them to some Baptist Church which I never attended. My neighbor has been invited to come by their own church members, as I have been too ill to attend or send my own children for some months. Several other Negro children were also asked not to return to church because whites objected. Mrs. Bass, I believe that they are disobeying what Jesus told his disciples not to do. They are forbidding our children to come to church because of their ignorant racial prejudices.

At the time I sent my children to church, I asked the pastor's wife if she was race prejudiced and she told me no. I have never tried at any time to hide our race and I refused to see anything disgraceful in our color. Our children were more refined and orderly than the whites and I had to sit behind two boys to make them stop fighting and running around in Sunday School. Because my children are so fair, I was told not to tell people they were Negroes. I feel that NO church, regardless of color, has the rgiht to forbid any child to attend church because of his color. Am I right?

Mrs. Simpson
2062 W. 30th Street

The other letter is from a white citizen who has recently read the Eagle and has been impressed with the cases we have cited on racial inequality, as practiced by certain white citizens. The letter is as follows:

Dear Mrs. Bass:

Your paper of March 3rd is the first Negro paper I have had the pleasure of reading. The note throughout your splendidly edited paper that was most surprising was that of racial inequality. I had no manner of knowing

'TENN. JOHNSON' FILM BRINGS MOVE FOR TRUE HISTORY TEXTS

Controversy in Nation's Press Over Film Reveals Need of True Portrayal of Negro

By JOHN KINLOCH

Discussion of the controversial M-G-M film, "Tennessee Johnson," in the Negro as well as the white press, where confusion was to be expected, reveals an abysmal ignorance of the history of the Reconstruction period and its huge significance in the heroic struggle of Negro-America toward full democracy.

An intensified campaign for correction of proved fallacies of the history texts taught by 90 per cent of American schools thus achieves number one priority in the day to day battle of our people.

That the history of the Negro in this nation has been grossly distorted is a truism which will produce fond amens from almost any group of Negro spokesmen. But as yet there is no clear understanding of just where our "standard" history texts err or what volcanic events their spurious misinterpretation entombs. Some of the criticism of "Tennessee Johnson" in Negro journals actually advances arguments favoring the film on the basis of the "standard" texts, at the same time observing that these authorities are likely to be wrong! A knowledge of the facts of the Negro's history in America is indispensable to a militant struggle for his full rights today.

"Tennessee Johnson" pictures the Administration of President Andrew Johnson, successor of Abraham Lincoln, betrayer of the Civil War and founder of the a hero, while it shows Thaddeus Stevens, leader of the progressive forces of Reconstruction, as a dengerous, Negro-loving fanatic.

Actually, what were the issues of the era which "Tennessee Johnson" attempts to show us? What was the bone of contention which brought Andrew Johnson to trial for impeachment.

The answer is this: Reconstruction of the South.

The Confederacy had been defeated at the hands of the North, with its 200,000 Negro troops, and also as the result of a Southern revolt by poor whites, "mudsills," and Negro slaves against a handful of autocratic plantation owners who had betrayed the Nation to preserve and extend slavery.

There were two proposals for the reconstruction of the South: first, the progressive, profoundly revolutionary road outlined by Stevens, Douglass, Sumner and others; complete over-throw of

Dr. Powell Speaks for CIO Rally

Rev. A. Clayton Powell, Jr., only Negro Councilman for the City of New York and pastor of the great Abbysinia Baptist Church, who has been making world history during the past two weeks he has been in Los Angeles, spoke for the CIO Rally, to an overflow crowd at the Second Baptist Church, Sunday evening, March 21, 1943.

The dynamic Rev. Powell spoke on the subject "The Black Man in the Post War World." "Seven years ago," began Dr. Powell, "when I stood here and spoke on a Sunday afternoon, I spoke in the midst of a day and hour in which any one who was anti-Fascist or anti-Nazi was supposed to be a Communist. But we have seen iHtler, during the past seven years, unfold his plan and have seen him become a threat to every decent person in the world."

In enlarging upon this subject, the speaker explained just how Hitler devgloped into the power he is today. Continued Rev. Powell: "He began by striking at the heart of the trade union movement. He outlawed the trade unions in Germany and set up his own. He pushed the workers back—back until all they had fought for was lost. Then he began his campaign against the Jews. While he was busying himself with this minority group, the church set back and said this is not our problem. However, after he had finished with the Jews, he began to work against the Protestant Church. The Catholic Church said this is not our problem, and they did nothing about it. He soon got around to the Catholics and after that began the rape of Europe. So we see how Hitler gained his power, first by hitting at the trade union movement and ending up by putting in concentration camps trade unionists, minorities, Protestants and Catholics alike."

Pointing out the grave responsibility that rests upon every individual in bringing about a better post-war world, especially for the Negro, Dr. Powell warned that during these days when the people's victory is coming closer there is a well organized group in America that is going to do everything in its power, even if it means an appeasement peace or loss of the war, to keep down the struggles of the trade union movement, the Negro people, and the right side of the Christian Church. Our only solution, according to Dr. Powell, is in the coming together of the people, black and white, all creeds and colors. We must believe that this is our war, our world—and it will be our victory. He stated that

SHIPYARD WORKERS FIGHT RACE BIAS

That shipyard workers can do something about discrimination was the keynote of a recent leaflet issued by the Shipyard Workers Committee Against Discrimination.

The Committee, appealing to workers in Richmond and Oakland shipyards, called for trade unionists to "speak up in meeting and demand an end to discrimination."

Pointing out that Boilermaker's Local 513, Richmond, has been found guilty of the Advisory Committee to the War Manpower Commission of "withholding a supply of labor," from the Richmond Shipyards by refusing to send Negroes to these yards, the committee stressed that a vital supply of manpower essential to win the war is being sidetracked.

Further, the Committee charged that the strength of trade-unionism is weakened by the Boilermaker's policy of Jim Crow Auxiliaries, whose members "have no real voice or vote in union affairs that directly affect their jobs and their future livelihood." The Committee contrasts this policy and that of the majority of trade unions which, quoting the leaflet, "fight for the equal treatment of race minorities."

The Oakland Committee, chairmaned by Mr. Ray Thompson, has for several months carried on a fight against race discrimination by addressing the shipyard workers through printed material, through such mass meetings as that of last September at which Paul Robeson spoke, and by pressing for action on individual Famous Author, Who Gave Race Girl Poetry Prize, Dies

NEW YORK (C) — Stephen Vincent Benet, 44 year old author and poet, who just recently presented the Yale Series poetry prize to Miss Margaret Walker for her starring poem on the Negro, died this week of a heart attack at his home, 215 East 68th St. Mr. Benet is author of "John Brown's Body", a 100,000 wor narrative piece on the Civil War, which won the Pulitzer Prize in 1928. Mr. Benet comes from a long line of literary men. His brother, Wm. Rose Benet and his sister Laura Benet are brilliant poets.

Winner of the O. Henry short story prize and a Guggenheim Fellowship, short-sighted Benet had just finished some anti-Axis writings, namely "Freedom From Fear".

As judge for the Yale Series of younger poets, he selected the first colored winner since the beginning of the contest in 1919. Her poem, "For My People" was published by the Yale University press. Mr. Benet described it as the expression of the times, written in straightforward words conveying the "controlled intensity of emotion" of this young poet. The tone of the poems in this collection is that of spiritual and folk-song.

Edwards and His Visit to Berlin

(An exclusive California EAGLE Serial)

The California Eagle takes sincere pride in presenting the first public presentation of the mission fulfilled by America's number one youth leader, Charles Edwards, on his "Assignment to Berlin", . . . What has gone on before Mr. Edwards recalled your memory to December 1941, when War was declared. He now attempts to expose the facts of why. He recalled his dramatic journey through Berlin, Germany between May, 1937 and September, 1939 during which time he was granted a personal interview with Adolph Hitler. The purpose of his interview was to try and understand and explain to the World Christian Youth Conference the aspirations of the German Government.

Mr. Edwards told of "Mein Kampf", not revealing nearly all of Hitler's plans. He has entered the Reich Capitol and has gained entrance into the private office of the Chancellor. Many questions have passed between Mr. Hitler and Mr. Edwards, among them being the future of Europe and the rest of the world, and Germany's part in creating a new order . . . We continue:

"Listen Charles Edwards, when I wage war," he declared, "in the midst of peace, troops will suddenly appear, let us say, in Paris. They will wear French uniforms. They will march through the streets in broad daylight. No one will stop them. Everything has been thought out, prepared to the last detail. They will march to the headquarters of the General Staff. They will occupy the ministries, the Chamber of Deputies, and with in a few minutes all of France, Poland, Austria, Czechoslovakia, will be robbed of their leading men. Can't you see, an Army without a general staff. . . . All political leaders out of the way! The confusion will be beyond belief. But I shall long have had relations with the men who will form the new government . . . A government to suit Germany . . ."

But where will you find such men, Herr Hitler? . . . "We shall find such men, we shall find them in every country. We shall not need to bribe them. They will come of their own accord. Ambition and delusion, party squabbles and self seeking arrogance will drive them. Peace will be negotiated before the war is or has begun . . . I promise you, that the imposisble is always successful. The most unlikely thing is the surest. Today you may not believe me, but I am going to accomplish it, move by move.

"Perhaps we shall land at their flying fields. We shall be capable of transporting, not only men, but arms, by air. No Maginot line will stop us. Our strategy, Edwards, is to destroy the enemy from within, to conquer him through himself."

Hitler went on with growing enthusiasm: "How to achieve the moral break down of the enemy before the war has started—that is the problem that interest me. Whoever has experienced war at the front will want to refrain from all avoidable bloodshed. Anything that helps preserve the precious German blood is good. We shall not shrink from the plotting of revolutions.

"Remember Sir Roger Casement and the Irish in the last war. We shall have friends who will help us in all the enemy countries. We shall know how to obtain such friends . . . Mental confusion, contradiction of feeling, indecisiveness, panic: these are our weapons. Of course you know", here Hitler turned directly toward me, "the history of revolutions. It is always the same: The ruling classes capitulate. Why?—Defeatism: they have no longer the will to conquer the lessons of revolution. these are the secrets of the new strategy. Do you know the doctrine of the coup D'etat study it. Then you will know our task."

At that moment the buzzer on Hitler's desk sounded . . . his secretary informed him that the photographer was there . . . I had previously asked Hitler if I could be allowed to be photographed with him . . . He had agreed and a photographer was called . . . the picture was taken, and we sat down to resume our talk . . . which will by the way be continued in the next issue of this paper . . . the photograph will appear with the last chapter of this serial. Continued next issue.

Service Men's Version of L. A. Map Off Press

The All-Year club, Southern California's community advertising spokesman, today brought out a special Service Men's version of its famous official sightseeing map of Los Angeles City and county.

It will be distributed by the thousands to soldiers, sailors, and marines stationed here, to help give them a taste of the famous attractions that have brought tourist visitors flocking to the Southland in peacetimes.

This map is designed to supplement the "Getting Acquainted With Southern California" sightseeing jaunts which the All-Year club distributes to Service Men from its official information bureau, 505 W. Sixth street, Los Angeles. It points the way to parks, museums, movie and radio studios, freak animal farms, Olvera street, China Towns, vineyards, missions, beaches, and historical spots.

A mailing sticker is attached to the map urging Service Men to mail the piece home as a souvenir. Many of the Service Men taking the sight-seeing jaunts have mailed the instruction sheets home, afterwards, the All-Year club learned.

poll-tax South.

The film portrays Johnson as the old feudalistic order dominated by the traitorous plantation owners through confiscation of their vast properties, which were to be distributed among the new and democratic governing class of emancipated slaves and poor whites. The land-holdings of the South were to be opened to the same home-steading as that which prevailed in the West (the great rallying cry of the slaves—"forty acres and a mule!"), every remnant of chattel slavery was to be destroyed, including the economic and political power of its former masters, whose prominent leaders were to be denied the right of political activity (which could take only the direction of anti-Negro, anti-democratic agitation). Property restrictions on the ballot were to be removed, along with poll taxes, and all Negroes were to be promptly enfranchised. With such a Reconstruction, the Negro problem as we know it today could never have developed and the South would have grown inevitably into the advanced stages of industrial and agricultural production which characterize the rest of America.

But there was a second, reactionary road to Reconstruction, —one which the American people recently repudiated when our State Department attempted to apply it to North Africa. This approach proposed returning the vast plantations to their Confederate owners, thus assuring the economic basis for a bitter counter-revolution against the progressive and liberating achievements of the Civil War in the South. Further, this second out-line for the future of the South proposed disenfranchisement for Negroes and based itself firmly on the slave-masters' now fascist doctrine of white supremacy. For poor whites, this approach to Reconstruction proposed no change in the marginal status of the masses as they subsisted before the war, socially ostracized by the land-owners and disdainfully dubbed "poor white trash."

Here then are the essential measures of the two conflicting policies of Reconstruction advanced during the administration of President Johnson.

The first, would: (1) Confiscate the plantations, breaking the economic and political power of the former slave-masters. (2) Divide the land among the poor, white and black. (3) Enfranchise Negroes and poor whites, assuring democratic, people's representatives in the local states and in the Federal Congress rather than bigotted delegates of an oppressing class.

The second proposed: (1) Return of the Confederate slave-owners, securing their future political power over the suppressed classes, Negro and white. (2) Disfranchisement of Negroes, later extended also to poor whites. (3) Forgiveness of all Confederates and their immediate return to official status in the South, Congress, (4) Retention of the theory of white supremacy.

Andrew Johnson became the tool of those forces pressing for the second, disastrous Reconstruction policy. Despite the fact that Congress in 1863 had confiscated to the Nation the properties of the greatest Confederate leaders, Johnson returned all their lands. He voted only when the progressive American Union Congress passed granting civil liberties and the vote to Negroes. He was the ranking spokesman for the theory of white supremacy, stating in his third annual adress to Congress that Negroes are incapable of self-government and when left to their own devices revert to barbarism.

All this was hidden behind a pious smoke screen of love, peace, charity and "healing the nation's wounds." It was peace, however, based upon Negro suppression and the betrayal of democracy in the South for all people. It was the same kind of peace between the races for which Rep. John Rankin speaks today.

What forces opposed Johnson and his alliance with the former slavemasters? The enraged democratic masses of America, whose sons had gloriously perished in the effort to suppress the slave-masters' rebellion, the millions who had forged victory under the banner of the Emancipation Proclamation, with the decisive aid of 2000,000 Negro troops, denounced the traitorous President. Congress' great leader of these forces was Rep. Thaddeus Stevens, who, with Senator Charles Sumner, led the fierce Congressional opposition to Johnson, nearly causing his impeachment.

Wherever Johnson travelled throughout the nation, black flags were hung and the word TRAITOR blazoned forth from windows. An attempted speaking tour around the country by him resulted only in furious demonstrations against his appeaser policies.

Mighty Frederick Douglass, leader of the Negro people, blasted Johnson incessantly, his militant rebuttals to the President's wild flights on white supremacy ranking today as superb democratic documents.

In 1866, the nation answered Johnson by electing a Radical Republican Congress committed to democratic Reconstruction.

Johnson, however, continued to veto all measures for Negro emancipation and civil rights, issued full pardons to all Confederate leader and returned the landed estates despite Congress' confiscation laws.

In 1866, so despised that he dared not run for re-election, Johnson left the White House, later returning to the Senate from Tennessee, the very prototype of all the Dixie legislators who have since disgraced Capitol Hill.

It is interesting to note that MGM film version equips President Johnson with a letter of approbation from Abranam Lincoln which was never written and a "beautiful" speech before Congress during his trial for impeachment. He never made the speech.)

Reconstruction took the alternate, democratic road following Grant's election, and the greatest strides forward in Southern history were accomplished during this period. Public school systems were inaugurated, extensive railroad facilities built, government democratized and vastly improved in efficiency, segregation abolished, and the proud dream of democracy extended to the masses of Southerners as it has never been before or since.

But Andrew Johnson's diabolical work bore its fruit. Because he had prevented confiscation of the landed estates and their distribution among small holders, the new political power of the masses lacked a firm economic base. The aggressive plantation owners, now heavily indebted to Northern capitalists, launched inevitable counter-revolution against the people's peace of the Reconstruction era.

Northern labor and capital, formerly joined in opposition to the suffocating power and aggression of the slave-lords, were split in the latter years of Reconstruction as Wall Street became increasingly nationalist and dominant over the nation's affairs.

Northern allies of the fledgling democracy of Negroes and poor whites were scattered and the cause of abolitionism dead. Wall Street, in the decade the real power behind debt-ridden plantation owners and the entire reaction of 1877 lashed out with all its fury against Negroes. The support that any of white laborers had also black dominated was turned to split the common people of the South and lead to the rise of the Civil War Savages, led by the Ku Klux Klan, Knights of the White Camelia, Southern Regulators, the Red Shirts, the Jim Crow Democratic Party, Federal troops were withdrawn from the South so that Dixie could continue its night of terror unchecked. In its totality, Reconstruction was a symbol once of love and understanding between and isolated Negroes fought the wave of plantation barbarism heroically with their "Union League" militia bodies, but were hopelessly defeated from the start. Many whites remained loyal to the democracy they had so briefly enjoyed, but the planters skillful white supremacy propaganda, supported by armed terror bands, effectively divided the landless people.

At that one moment, directly following the Civil War, when consfiscation of the plantations was possible and real democracy for Negroes and poor whites of the South within grasp, Johnson's treachery turned back the clock of progress and laid the economic basis for a later resurgence of the slavocrats.

If we fail to understand this betrayal as the basis for today's Negro problem, what explanations are we left with?

Listen to them: Negroes had their chance at democracy but failed; Reconstruction was a horror; Negroes are incapable of self-government; Negro - white unity is impossible; solution of the Negro problem is impossible, etc.

If we do not recognize Johnson's hypocritical plea for "peace between the states" on the basis of Negro suppression, we are unable to combat effectively the same plea raised today by such apostles as Dies, Rankin and Cox. The fact that democracy existed in the South, for even a brief period, and that this democracy existed on the solid foundation of Negro-white unity are specters that must be pursued relentlessly by today's champions of white supremacy. That knowledge, freely known by all Americans, would send the whole, base structure of the poll-tax South tottering to well-earned destruction.

Here is the concrete political necesity which has driven American historical scholarship into the arms of hypocrisy and falsehood in the treatment of the Reconstruction era. This is the reason for "Gone With the Wind." And here, also, is the explanation for "Tennessee Johnson."

Johnson's dictum of "peace at any price," if supported by Negroes today, would rank as a denial of our whole struggle against domestic and foreign fascism. There is only one step further to deny necessity of fighting the whole war against fascism. If peace is so beautiful a condition that it must be maintained even on the basis of the oppression of peoples, then the nation's war for survival is wrong. The Revolutionary era Patrick Henry put that question as sharply as it has ever been put: "Is life so dear or peace so sweet as to be purchased at the price of chains and slavery?"

Another step, and we arrive at the prospect of world reconstruction. Shall it be after the fashion of Andy Johnson or Thad Stevens? Shall we return the factories and the fields of Fascist Germany, Italy and Japan to Hitler, Goering, Goebbels, Mussolini and the Japanese militarists? Shall we forgive them all? Shall we refuse to liberate those Germans, Jews, Poles, Italians, French, Norwegians, Russians, Austrians, Czechs, Chinese, Africans, Malayans, Burmese and Japanese whom the fascist Axis has oppressed in order to maintain "peace" with their oppressors? That is how President Johnson answered the question of Reconstruction in his day.

Shall we as Negroes in the midst of the nation's greatest crisis permit the sabotage of our entire war effort by a handful of Southern poll-taxers in Congress who destroy national unity, prevent full production for victory, and intrigue against vital war measures in order to preserve "peace between the states." That is the road Andrew Johnson would have us take!

America, and the democratic people of the earth, have already thundered their answer to the first question. With all their energy, will and determination the common people of all nations intend to struggle for the realization of a full people's peace, the unrelenting destruction of fascism and fascists in all countries, and the liberation of all oppressed peoples, including those of Africa, India and Dixie America.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

"The century on which we are entering—the century which will come out of this war—can be and must be the century of the common man."—Henry A. Wallace.

Friday, March 26, at 8 p. m. the Aquarian library will present Dane Rudhyar, the famous author-philosopher, who will review one of his latest books, "The Faith That Gives Meaning to Victory." Mr. Rudhyar, pioneer in creative synthesis, is the author of several books and writes articles for a number of well known magazines. In one of Mr. Rudhyar's articles, "The Great American Tradition," he writes, "Lincoln, while he strove apparently first of all to preserve the wholeness of our nation, nevertheless did so on the basis of principles significant for entire humanity. He did so as a "human" even more than as an "American." Even with his limited background and lack of experience in world-affairs, Lincoln approached his task with a religious, a humanitarian and a democratic spirit which had deep roots in the ardent faith of New England's early pioneers and in the fervor of those who saw in the American Democracy of the Declaration of Independence a model for a world-wide birth of human freedom. Lincoln made it clear that his concept of "union" was as broad as could possibly be: that it had to be Union on the basis of a moral and spiritual-political principle, which had no class or geographical restrictions.

"Few people perhaps realize this fact, but there were no 'nations,' in the modern sense of the word, before France, then England, became national entities. A modern 'nation' is always the result of the integration of many races and many cultural groups. 'Racial purity' in a nation simply does not exist. There can be no real 'nation' where there is only one racial group. One racial group means a 'tribe'; only the integration of several different races, languages and cultural backgrounds within definite geographical boundaries can produce a 'nation.' Thus France is the result of a synthesis of Celtic, Latin, Germanic, and Viking peoples; Great Britain of Celts, Anglo-Saxons and Vikings. The United States cannot be considered a 'nation' unless they be seen as the integration of ALL the races living on North America—including Negroes, American Indians and Asiatics. Because nearly all racial strains make up this national entity, the United States constitutes a UNIVERSAL NATION. They will be so, at least, when all races living in these States will become integrated in their national consciousness . . ."

Former St. Louis Socialite Seeks to Divorce L.A. Man

Pretty Mrs. Frankie Nash, former St. Louis socialite and graduate nurse has filed an action against her husband, James Nash, Los Angeles man-about-town and waiter at the Tail-O-Cock, a swank Beverly Hills nightery located on La Cienega Blvd.

The marriage which started out under very romantic circumstances, ended on the rocks after less than one year. Mrs. Nash complains through her Attorney, Curtis C. Taylor, that the handsome defendant has been guilty of extreme cruelty toward her. She asks the court for a restraining order to prevent Nash from molesting her during the pendency of the action.

He has been cited to appear in Superior Court, Dept. 8 on April 13th to show cause why he should not pay his wife alimony and Attorney's fees and costs.

Housing Official Bows to Poll-Taxers in Detroit

DETROIT, Mich—The recent action of Asistant Administrator of Public Housing, Herbert Emerich, in turning thumbs down on the demand of a Detroit delegation that discrimination be abolished in the dormatory unit built with federal funds at Ford's Willow Run Bombing plant has caused wide resentment here among Negro, labor and progressive groups.

Opinion here is that this "retreat" by Housing Commission Authorities from the Administrations non-discriminatory policy is the direct results of blackmailing sabotage by the Poll-taxers who control the powerful House Appropriations Committee led by Poll (cat) taxer Starnes of Alabama, this group has threatened to withhold appropriations unless "racial equality" policies be abandoned.

The deleation warned that insistance on segregation of Negroes from white in this project will keep Negro workers out of jobs. The appeal will now be taken to John Blanford, head of the Housing Authority, who has previously denounced discrimination. The Ford Co. is said to be "neutral" in the dispute.

The Senate Truman Committee, investigating production at Willow Run, pointed out that the plants failure up to now to meet schedules must be blamed on improper transportation and housing shortages which aggravate manpower difficulties. Mr. Ford of course opposed public housing at Willow Run. The present attempt to jim-crow Negro workers, therefore raises the question: how can they be employed—and what effect will segregation have on manpower at this vital war center?

I don't intend to forget you, my love—
New symphonies will crash about your ears,
New stars will be born to live in your eyes,
And new candles will be lit at the altar of your soul.
Another hand will hold yours as you resume those strolls in moonwashed meadows—
I don't intend to forget
(But let's enjoy these things now, just in case!!)

Betty Vaughn, and Ronnie, leave next Thursday night for Dee Cee. They'll go via Chi, and probably stay East til mid-summer. It'll be the first time Betty and Ralph's folks have seen their grandson. Meanwhile, I can well picture Ralph burning his toast, dusting the living room and savagely marking the calendar til his family choo-choos back here! . . . Marie Joe Browne's (she birthdayed Mar. 17) return has been pushed back til later. After Chi, she decided to dash back to NY for added flingeroo.

Yep, and she's positively beaming about the whole thing. As to details, nothing is definite at this reporting. By the bye, her mom is readying for her annual trip to th heart of Texas . . . After hearing the news Paul Whiteman will head NBC, locally, I've since wondered if Jimmy Mundy, back from NY, will join that outlet's staff of arrangers? . . . Margaret Bonds left Thurs. for NY via Chi. She'll pick up her mom there and proceed home to her red-hair hubby, Larry. They'll be out here in July. Calvin Jackson leaves next Thurs. with Harry James for NY where he'll arrange for his band for 26 wks, plus a veddy handsome income. Ironically, after Calvin and Margaret decided to temporarily shelve their twin pianos, their agency ups with a 6 mos offer from Abe Lyman plus two spots on nationwide airshows!

Thelma Taylor is in the midst of (interesting) special work at SC . . . Sophistocratic: Cornelia Leggett . . . Speculative eye: Who, in the Mme. Tommy Long leaves for Salt Lake City Friday a. m., at his Uncle Sam's military invitation . . . Induction blues: Malcolm Wells and Jimmy Kelly . . . Has that femme vocalist an announcement to make? You wouldnt hold out on a chum, would ya? . . . Jimmy Navarre leaves within the next few wks for NY whence he ships out as a merchant marine. Good landing, fella! . . . we think his wife, Jessica, has one of the most radiant smiles it's been our good fortune to admire . . . Did you know Floyd Covington is a plastics student? . . . No wonder we'd missed seeing Hylda Bobker. She lives in Pasadena, now.

Nice, getting a chance to gab with Ollie Greene, at the Zeta reception. Seldom see her, somehow . . . and twas there we met for the first time Cosby Turner's (gosh, has he gotten heavy!) attractive, quiet young wife. They make a nice couple . . . Interesting, hearing the news Dr. John West is in N. Africa . . . Homer Smith, former member of the Southernaires, is directing Manhattan Beach (NY) Coast Guard's Choral Society . . . Snudder: The energetic, patriotic and visionary group of victory gardeners who must be awake nites just so they can begin whooping lustily at the first crack of dawn, the rest of the neighbors go hanged! . . . Gov't decision to close racing at Saratoga for duration fetches a ruminative sigh from us. Ahhhh, the times many of us have had—heigh-ho!

Eye-filling, Hilda Allen so veddy smaht in her silver fox coat with always just the right touches to accentuate it . . . Solly Metoyer is now a topkick in his Miss. camp . . . Marie Fielder Smith (birthdayed March 11) will join her hubby, Frank, at his Miss. camp in late May. She's enthused over their plans . . .

It's Bill Lawrie who is planty depressed about conditions in "prison" camp he's planted in, deeper in Texas. Its pretty unbearable, with a Col. who calls them n———s, than has their Chaplain transferred because he had "nerve" to resent it! . . . Note from George S. Schuyler anent his Assoc. For Tolerance, etc.: "Our first target is going to be Mobile, Ala. We are beginning at the source of racial intolerance—the Deep South."

Memo pad entry: Must check with Paul Williams about the usual perfect job his pen is doing again. This time its the recreational center at Huachuca . . . Add memo pad entry: Must check with Mrs. Evelyn Warren about the splendid offer she received from Riverside March Field) to assume duties of Chief Hostess. She's undecided . . . Rita Christiani will go b[illegible] the cameras again, soon . . . We like: Jeanette Cohen's column, which recently caught our eye . . . and we're curious to know more of the incident, reported by her, at the Palladium when a beige lad was asked out by bouncers . . . Harold Browning will be in Chi from today (Wednes.) til Friday, much to his enjoyment . . . his show gang will continue East.

WAAC Aux. Myrtle Anderson is doing a crack job of training at Des Moines, we hear. With her flair for entertaining folks, she's endeared herself commendably. In a note from her, she described interesting angles of her studies, etc. She graduates nxt wk, then will apply for OCS. She gets her furlough in July. She does NOT like her hard bed, she adds . . .

Delightful touch to last Sunday was our good fortune to be asked over to Juanita and Loren Miller's whence the Allied Arts League was meeting, then listening to Si-Lan Chen, the utterly charming, unaffected and artistically finished dancer who so captivated us recently in Hollywood. After the meeting, Miss Chen talked informally of Soviet Russia, then invited our queries. She's lived an exciting, colorful life. And still is. I hope she will dance again, and soon . . . and you shouldve seen the perfectly wonderful assembly of pages from Vogue, as I can always safely describe the members of the League! Without a doubt, theyre one of the smartest crowds of dressers in town . . . interesting suggestion: there, from Dorothy Johnson (in a hat we couldnt keep our eyes off) anent forming a local chapter of Chaparral Poets. We will, and soon . . .

Later—too late, in fact—to the Girl Friends coffee benefit (USO) at Vera Clark's. Everyone had trekked off Blueberry Hill elsewhere by the late hour w blandly showed, but Seth Lee, Edith Houston and Lola Beavers assured us the morning was a topnotch success . . . so, Fay Jackson and moseyed into the same elsewhere and reflectively sipped sherry til dusk . . . recounting miles, years bygone, old faces and vagaries . . . Fay's done her place in tropical motif, and it's really brow-raising, no less.

Betty Hudson's kid brother is in khaki . . . Fred Robinson is in General Hospital . . . Cal Bailey did those black flamingoes adorning the walls of the Jeffries-Griffin spot . . . We rather vigorously wish Satchmo would get another theme song . . . Satchel Morris, speaking back East, may get an army Chaplaincy . . . Evelda Morris is attending UCLA, and loves the idea . . .

April 4 is the date for the annual Doll League tea. It'll be poured at Louise Beavers' from 4 til 7. Bill Robinson and La Horne will be emcees. Hazel Moreland is proxy this season . . . Incidentally, Isabel Washington (Rev. Clayton P's wife) was guest at a recent meeting of the Doll League.

Second look: At the Caspar Milquetoast guy who overnite turned basso profundo, telling his wife (built like a Wagnerian soprano) to choose betwixt him and sashaying to ALL canteens & centers!

March Field Officers, Men Feted Here by Eastside USO Hostesses

Stormy weather means absolutely nothing to the faithful Junior Hostesses and Volunteer Workers of the Eastside USO, who often say that if the service men can give up all that they hold dear for our protection, it is up to them to forget about such small things as rain or bad weather and help whenever and wherever they can to give the boys an evening of pleasure. Such was the case last Wednesday when over 200 men from March Field were brought in by their officers, whose wives accompanied them, and were given a full day and evening of fun as a reward for some meritorious service.

The Commanding Officer had phoned and made arrangements with the Director, Miss Vye Aldridge, for a very complete program of varied activities. On the arrival of the men, Volunteer Canteen Workers served punch and sandwiches to the entire number at the USO Club, then they were taken on a tour of Hollywood which culminated at a Broadcast.

In the meantime Mrs. Mamie Waugh, cateress was preparing a feast of turkey, cranberry sauce, candied yams, peas, hot rolls and ice cream.

The Director had engaged the entire Masonic Hall on E. 50th Street, and on the men's return, they were served in the dining rom of the hall by the following Vertner L. Gordon, C. A. Roberson, Bessie Shaw, Capitola Green, Ethel Atkinson, Selena Faulkner, Ruth Kimbrough, Opra Jacobs, Mae Oliver, Julia Reed, Sammy Moore, Ethel Bullock, Ethel Johnson, Irene Beize, Lena Wilson and Miss Thompson.

After dinner, all retired to the upstairs ballroom, where beautiful Junior Hostesses greeted them and danced to the strains of enchanting music. Wonderful cooperation was given by the Masonic Lodge.

On Saturday, Feb. 27, Staff Secretary, Mrs. Evelyn Warren, accompanied the girls to Compton, where the service men entertained them in the new USO club house; this was the first affair to be given in the new Spanish type building; after the dance, the men graciously served the hostesses a delicious steak dinner. Lieut. Brooks managed the program, making each moment enjoyable.

Donors for the week were: Morning View Charity Club, Narcissus Art and Litrerary Club, the latter being hostesses last Sunday. Five tickets, each good for a couple, to the Alabama Theatre Cafe, were donated through the Radio Advertising Department handled by War Perkins, for the owner of the club, Mr. Curtis Mosby.

Baptists Close Institute of Leadership Training Here

On the evening of Mar. 10, one of the most significant training institutes ever held on the Pacific coast convened at the Second Baptist church here. Using as a theme, "Teaching Under Tension," and as a Scripture the challenging words of Romans 2:21, "Thou that teachest another, teachest thou not thyself?" The Institute majored on the teaching ministry of the Church of Jesus Christ.

History making in its very inception the Institute marked the beginning of a new day for cooperation betwen the Western Baptist State Convention and the Los Angeles Baptist City Mission Society. For the two organizations have cooperated in the joint appointment of Rev. Hoorace N. Mays to serve as the Director of Christian Education for the churches of Metropolitan Los Angeles, and this was the first institute to be launched through the new director.

Since the new Christian Education project is sponsored by the local Baptist City Mission Society and our Western Baptist State Convention, it is the plan to use mixed faculties in all institutes as a concrete example of inter-racial harmony and Christian fellowship. Rev. Mays as the Director of Christian Education automatically becomes Dean of the institutes. Rev. A. Howard Plummer, Minister of the Atherton Baptist Church of Los Angeles, was the member of the other group who served on the faculty in this first institute. Rev. Plummer taught the course on "The Essentially Missionary Character of Christianity. The seminar leaders for his course were Rev. Frank James, newly elected Missionary-Evangelist for the Western Baptist State Convention, who conducted the seminar on Negro Baptist Missionary Work at home and abroad, Rev. Frederick J. Berger, a member of the staff of the Los Angeles Baptist City Mission Society who conducted the seminar on the projects of the local Baptist City Mission Society, and Rev. Plummer who conducted the seminar on Northern Baptist Convention work and Southern California Baptist Convention work in addition to teaching the first hour. The seminars were held the second hour of a two hour class session each night.

The other three courses were taught by members of the Western Baptist State Convention. Rev. J. Raymond Henderson, Minister of the Second Baptist Church, Los Angeles, where the Institute was held, taught the course on "Understanding Youth." Mrs. Helen Watson of the Mt. Carmel Baptist Church, conducted the seminar on Young People's problems. Rev. Jonathan Lyle Caston, Minister of the Trinity Baptist Church of Los Angeles, taught the course on "How To Teach in the Church School". The four seminars for that course were conductde by the following: Rev. Caston conducted the seminar on Intermediates and Seniors, Mrs. Horace N. Mays, wife of the Dean, conducted the seminar on Juniors, Mrs. Suretha Granberry of the Mt. Zion Baptist Church conducted the seminar on Primaries, and Mrs. Estelle Caffey of the Trinity Baptist Church conducted the seminar on Beginners. Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, who for many years has conducted Vacation Church Schools in the Pasadena area and who is a member of the Friendship Baptist Church of that city, taught the course on "How to Plan a Vacation Church School." Mrs. Marie Sheffield, Superintendent of the St. Paul Baptist Church Sunday School, was Seminar Supervisor for this course. The seminar leaders were: Mrs. S. A. Reed of the Second Baptist Church who conducted the seminar on Handcraft, Mrs. W. P. Carter, of the Calvary Baptist Church, Santa Monica, who conducted the seminar on Worship, and Mrs. Smith, who conducted the seminar on Recreation in addition to teaching the course the first hour.

Each night an inspirational assembly was held in between the lecture hour and seminar hour. The opening night of the Institute, March 10, Dr. Ralph L. Mayberry, Executive Secretary of the Los Angeles Baptist City Mission Society, brought the keynote address on the subject: "Jesus, Teacher of Teachers," Dr. W. P. Carter, Executive Secretary of the Western Baptist State Convention, addressed the training school the second night from the subject, "The Mission of the Teacher." The third night Rev. Joseph T. Thomas, Minister of the Second Baptist Church, Long Beach, brought the message on "The Creative Opportunity of the Teacher."

Dr. Ralph Jensen, Executive Secretary of the Southern California Baptist Convention was the guest speaker the fourth night. His subject was "The Crying Need for the Teacher." The value and spiritual tenor of the Institute's inspirational assemblies were greatly enhanced by th efforts of the Song Leader who was Mrs. Marie Sheffield of the St. Paul Church and the Institute Pianist who was Mrs. Ineze Caston, wife of the Minister of the Trinity Baptist Church. Miss Jacqueline Bruce of the Mt. Carmel Baptist church gave unsparingly of her time as registrar for the Institute.

A special feature of the Institute was the coming of the Rev. Louis P. Jenson, West Coast Secretary of the American Baptist Foreign Mission Society, who addressed the combined Missionary seminars two evenings of March 10, 11, 12, 15, and 16 was the first undertaking of its kind in Convention annals. From 22 convention churches there assembled 215 delegates, selected leaders in the fields of Missions, Youth Work, Church School Work and Vacation Church School Work. Sitting under the able faculty of four proven teachers and 12 seminar leaders, 132 fulfilled requirements for course cards which were issued in a unique commencement ceremony Tuesday evening, March 16 with President Hampton of the Western Baptist State Convention bringing the final message on "Go ye Teach!" and presenting the cards.

The Institute just closed, a Standard Leadership Training School, accredited under the International Council of Religious Education, is but the first in a great Christian education program under way for the Western Baptist State Convention churches. A yearly cycle of institutes to train leaders in every department of church life is being planned for the spiritual enrichment and building up of the "Body of Christ."

By JESSIE MAE BROWN

Spring is here and the frolicking has started. Mrs. Portwig's L. A. Tri-Y entertained the subdeb group Friday night with a very successful box lunch social. All the young things were there having the usual good time. Saturday night found all sets, as usual, in the grandstand of Patriotic Hall, witnessing the defeat of the Kappas. Nat Shaw and Joe Oliver played some fine basketball and received a grand ovation from the crowd. Took note of Lamarr Hill and Puffy Huston, Marcella Monroe looking ritzy as ever; Wenie Allen, Joyce and Gerry Stewart, Carl Alexander, with a bevy of fair damsels and, oh yes, Leon Coleman, looking the crowd over during intermission. The after party at Music Town aud., was a solid as ever. Vashti Peake and Bob Edwards were there; Billy and Harold Faulkner, on another leave, were kicking their boots high, as were Laura and Johnnie Brewer . . . Herb Jeffries' Black Flamingo served as an after stop for some, while the after hour party given by Maceo Jones was well attended by others.

None other than local tripper Wallace DeCuir, is planning to take a bride. His choice happens to be an Oakland deb, if latest reports are on the up . . . Dick Terry, now in officers' training school, has received his appointment to become a flying cadet. William Spencer is sending lovely gifts to Marian Patterson, latest, a bracelet necklace set . . . Vivian Stayton was on time several weeks ago, when she worked in the movies as La Horne's stand in . . . Charles Weaver ended his local furlough with a bewildered look on his face; could the Leo Williams-Lt. Carl Gross engagement be reason enough . . . Army man George Harpole is scheduled to come home soon, to see his bouncing baby girl. The latest khaki root zooter is none other than Frank Underwood. Must say, he's dressed to the minute. If rumor is on solid time, the dazzling Paulette DeJoie receives plenty of mail from Tamlin Harris . . . Albert Hicks and Cornelius Cooper blew in from Oakland last week, Cooper leaves for the army Sat. morn, while Hicks has a few more days to play. And dame rumor has it that petite Betty Williams has made her exit, and Vashti Peake may take up where she left off . . . Clara Fentress is on the graveyard shift at Douglas. Here's hoping she'll live thru it . . . By now, John Kinloch is well in New, and we only know he's pitching a ball . . . The Paulette Coleman, Joe Oliver twosome didn't last long, wonder why? . . . Very glad to hear that Connie Monroe's eye operation was a success . . . Learned that Lucille Gross plans to join her fiance Herbie Boswell in the very near future . . . By the way, Fay Thompson's fiance, Douglas Van Vactor, is scheduled for a furlough soon . . . Did you get to see Buck Private Artis Grant in his uniform? My, my . . . What's this! Rumor from up north has it that Arnette Lewis is married . . . but won't tell the bride's name.

The college crowd is shaking its head and buzzing over the actions of a few young sophisticates, who have recently become constant indulgers . . . Take it easy, debs, remain ladies so that Johnnie will be proud when he comes marching home . . . In closing, the locals are wondering when the Alpha Phraternes are going to give an invitational affair and use up a few of the proceeds from that very successful cabaret party.

chain of circumstances which have been pointed to as connecting Folkes with the murder are the fact that the marine who is reported as having seen Folkes fleeing from the death car was extremely vague in his explanations as to how and why he discovered the woman's plight and was able to dress fully at the time he made the chase.

Fellow workers of Folkes, who was a second cook on the train, are unanimous in disavowing belief in his guilt and pointed to the fact that he performed all of his usual duties on the morning when the killing occurred. They also said that they noted nothing unusual in his demeanor.

CRANE'S EYE VIEW
Workers Ask for Equal Treatment of Negroes
By Donovan Bess

"Taxation without representation is tyranny."

Since 1775 these words have rung in Americans' ears. Once more, today, the Nation revolts against tyranny—this time international.

Ray Thompson, a shipfitter at More's found himself last May, a "colonist" who was taxed but had no voice. Like other Negro shipfitters, he did his work, paid his dues, but could not attend untheir meetings to the extent of being an observer or for the purpose of becoming acquainted with your people, knowing how local lodges are operated and the business conducted, I don't believe they would deny you a seat in the lodge, without voice or vote, I stated."

Ray showed the answer to two more fellow workers, Earl Wynne and Mel Andrews.

They fixed up a petition to the union declaring that "every shipfitter should be assured his democratic right by being accorded a vote in this local."

They might have added what Patrick Henry said in 1775: "If this be treason, make the most of it."

The Way It Started

The petition was circulated for one week, and was signed by 175 members of Shipfitters' Local, No. 9—members of all races, and most of them white.

This was the beginning of the shipyard workers' committee against discrimination. It now has 160 members, white and colored, from three Bay Area shipyards. It holds regular meetings at 3716 San Pablo avenue, Oakland, and it is growing stronger every day.

At their executive meeting last Friday night they emphasized that they aren't fighting labor unions.

"We are for labor 2000 per cent," said Ray Thompson. "That's why we've taken the trouble to work for democracy. The CIO unions and most AFL unions believe in equality, and practice it.

"We are only attacking those few unions that discriminate against Negroes. We believe 95 per cent of Bay Area workers want us to have a voice and a vote, and we know unions will be stronger if we are accepted equally with white, Chinese, Filipino and Mexican workers."

No Vote, No Voice

They charge that Steamfitters' Local, No. 590, San Francisco, has not given any Negro clearance to work; that the boilermaker locals which do clear them bar them from union floors by putting them in all-Negro auxiliaries where they have no real voice or vote in their union affairs.

there is no power that can stand up against the people when the people move.

In conclusion, the Rev. Powell said: "If you would go forth from here tonight with a determination to build a post-war world to include all peoples on the basis of equal opportunity then there are certain steps you must take: First, you must come to a clear-cut decision in your thinking processes in which you abolish all concepts of races and think on just one term—one human race—regardless of color, with one just as good as another. The whole structure of the post-war world is based on this one point and revolves around that one point—the ability of men to throw off the artificial barriers that separate them and join hands and build here in America a symbol of the kind of world we want when the war is over. Secondly, we must throw aside every allegiance and loyalty that we may have to petty institutions and isms and give our all-out loyalty, now, to one common cause, a complete and full victory of every human being in the world. Lastly, you must have one organization to support. You can't go along paying your allegiance to any particular institution to the exclusion of all others."

According to Dr. Powell, only one type of leadership is going to take us out of the dark of this day into the dawn of tomorrow's world—that is the leadership that springs up naturally from the masses of the people. The leadership that is honest. There must be only one race—the human race—one cause—the people, and one organization to which we give our allegiance. One leadership from the rank and file, and one fight. There is only one thing we are fighting for and that is full equality for all peoples. There is only one victory we want—that is a world where all people, regardless of color, can walk across the world living in every way then want--according to any standards they want. We are willing to pay the price and we know that their people are going to live in such a world tomorrow because here, in this hour, we didn't turn back--we went forward.

Organizations sponsoring the rally, all CIO unions, were as follows: Furniture Workers, Rubber Workers, State, County and Municipal Workers, Women's Auxiliary, United Auto Workers, ILWU, United Steel Workers of America, American Newspaper Guild, American Communications Association, National Maritime Union, Red Caps, Fur Workers, North American UAW, Utility Workers, Vultee UAW; United Fishermen's Union, Packing House Workers, International Longshoremen and Warehousemen's Union, Oil Workers and Shipyard Workers.

One of the highlights of the meeting was the statement by the Rev. J. Raymond Henderson, pastor of Second Baptist Church, that he wished to make a public announcement to the effect that he was solidly behind organized labor and that he believed in it unequivacably.

Revels Cayton, organizer for the CIO, who never fails to say something concrete when he speaks, gave some timely remarks prior to the main address by Dr. Powell. Said Mr. Cayton, "Never since the days of the Civil War have the Negro people found themselves surrounded by and united with such powerful allies as he is today. For today we stand with the working people in our unions, with the colonial peoples, the little peoples of the world, challenged by a common task, confronted by a common enemy. Through all the confusion of the past, the threat of Fascism in all its beastliness, regardless of race or previous conditions of servitude or geography, has separated the people into two opposing camps, those who hate Hitler and all he stands for, and those who are for Hitler. Our CIO understands this—our national leaders and our local leaders, and we are determined, we have pledged ourselves to work unceasingly until we have done our share of the job in uniting all the people who oppose Fascism, until one solid fighting front has been established. So that out of the misery and struggle of this war, all mankind will have a new lease on life, so that the colonial people, the little people of Europe, the people of America will have a new breath of freedom. The CIO movement here in California, comprising some 200,000 workers, stands as a great and powerful fighting partner to the Negro people in California. We united with them and they united with us can be a great force for winning this war and seeing that the peace is the kind of peace that we want."

During the course of the rally, telegrams of greeting were received from Assemblyman Gus Hawkins, Paul Schnur of the San Francisco CIO Council, Mervyn Rathborne of the California CIO Council, Max Yergar President of the National Negro Congress, and from Ferdinand C. Smith, National Secretary, National Maritime Union, which read as follows. "May we take this opportunity to congratulate the Los Angeles CIO Council in their untiring efforts to bring about greater unity between the CIO and the Negro people. Your securing of Reverend Powell to participate as the principal speaker is very timely. Knowing Reverend Powell as I do, I am sure that his contribution to your gathering will be of inesteemable value in your constant efforts to integrate the Negro people into the organized labor movement for the prosecution of an effective war effort. Convey my warmest fraternal greetings to Councilman Powell and your associates." This message was heartily received by all present.

On Monday, March 22nd, Dr. Powell spoke before the City Council of Los Angeles and before the Town Hall Club. In the City Council meeting he was introduced by G. Vernon Bennett, president of the City Council. In his talk before the City Council, Dr. Powell brought out the fact that as against the fine preparedness and alertness of the civilian population in New York City on air raid procedure, the citizens of Los Angeles were noticeably lax in their observance of this very vital protective effort. The members of the Council were very enthusiastic in their praise of the Rev. Powell and it is the consensus of opinion that he is the outstanding leader of his people in the nation today.

At the Town Hall Club meeting Dr. Powell was introduced by Mr. Gleason, who is chairman of the Church Federation for Interracial Goodwill. Mr. Gleason, incidentally, is an active member of the Negro Victory Committee.

According to an announcement made at the Sunday night meeting, a transcript of Dr. Powell's speech before the City Council was to be made and broadcast over Radio Station KMPC at 7:15 on Monday evening. Those of us who listened in, expecting to hear this broadcast, are wondering why this speech failed to come on the air as scheduled. It goes without saying that many were disappointed and are demanding to know why it was not broadcast as previously announced.

Dr. Temple Congratulated as Health Work Supervisor

The above photo shows DR. RUTH TEMPLE, L. A. Asst. Health officer recently appointed as District Health officer of Southeast Polyclinic, being congratulated by Councilman CARL C. RASMUSSEN of the 7th District. Dr. Temple, who has been one of the principal proponents of the Southeast Health Clinic, has now been placed in the very important position of having general supervision of all health work in the community.

Shown also are PAUL R. WILLIAMS and RALPH LAWTON, civil engineer. Both, at the request of Councilman Rasmussen, made a thorough check of the clinic building, after the recent fiasco in which an attempt was made to make a political football of it. They pronounced it sound and adaptable for clinical purposes.

Mr. Williams, who has designed several public housing projects, stated that the clinic is ideally located within transportation distance and with minor repairs will make an earthquake safe structure. Its development, to date, is commendable and most fortunate for the community, he added.

It is generally conceded Councilman Rasmussen's type of leadership will better living conditions for all people of Los Angeles. He personally thinks the Southeast area more than fortunate in producing Dr. Ruth Temple.

History of Ward Chapel AME Church

The nucleus of our present Ward Chapel AME church was a consolidation of two missions, Calvary and Bethel in 1908. However, the present location is not the original one. The church was moved from Channing Street to 25th Street in 1919, and the present building was rebuilt after a fire had demolished the old one. From 1908-1943 the following ministers pastored Ward Chapel: Reverends J. A. Dunkin, Robert H. Herring, M. J. Johnson, F. F. Moten, J. W. Price, J. H. Greene, J. Edward McCorkle, H. B. Gantt, B. R. Guy, G. E. Lyles, J. W. Howard, F. A. Harris, and our present pastor, J. W. Price.

In 1916, Bishop Parks being unable to find a minister, Rev. Price volunteered to serve the struggling church, and saved the property which was about to be lost through delinquent taxes. He remained three years paying $300 on the indebtedness and before the expiration of the third year, arranged for the purchase of the lots where the present church now stands.

In 1919, when the Conference convened, Rev. Price made his report for the three years. After the report, the Bishop asked the conference for $1,000 to help with the work. Rev. Price refused the money and suggested that it be given to the new minister that would fill his place.

Charles Ray, member of the War Priorities Board will be the speaker. You must hear him. At 7:30 p. m., the Usher Board and the Maids and Matrons' Guild will sponsor the service, and a fine evening is assured. The Guild contest will close, and the results will be announced.

Invade Europe Now!

With the Third Republic restored in North Africa and the establishment of a guerrilla army on French soil itself, this week all Axis-dominated Europe is ablaze, impatiently chafing at the bit as days continue to pass without the promised invasion of the continent by British and American forces.

The anti-second front howlers of last year are noticeably quiet today. They no longer dare oppose what is now the clear, decisive determination of the American and British peoples,--a battle to "unconditional surrender" with the black tyranny of Adolph Hitler and his fascist aides all over the world.

Today the anti-second front shouters are employed in more direct sabotage of the land invasion of Europe. Behind the mask of a "farm bloc," the American friends of Hitler at Washington attempt to limit the military manpower of the nation and to break down the authority and prestige of the nation's anti-fascist commander-in-chief.

Shorn of their familiar wail about 'shipping shortages,' the defeatist gang bellows fire and thunder against our Russian ally in a desperate effort to resurrect the ghost of Munich and turn the people's war of national liberation into an anti-Soviet crusade.

Hitler's helper Herbert Hoover emerges with a new formula for postponement of attack on the wholly unique grounds that we musn't do "too much, too soon."

Hitlers helper Willy Randolph Hearst proclaims the imminent threat of a Japanese invasion of Australia or California (daily alternating) to argue against the invasion of Europe and attempt to switch the war's decisive battlefront to the Far East.

Hitler's helper Martin Dies officially launches the season's anti-Negro campaign with the attempted ouster of Dean William Pickens from the Treasury department. Object: split national unity, delay resolute action against the Axis powers.

But the grimy conspirators of the pro-fascist wing of U. S. politics reckon without the mounting determination of our people to smash Hitler's world its death blow now, while we can still benefit from the swelling offensive of the magnificent Red armies.

Black and white, mothers and fathers of America want this war over as quickly as possible. They want to spare the lives of millions of young men who would be consumed in the long, disastrous warfare outlined by the Messrs. Hoover, Hearst and company.

America wants to hit Axis Europe and hit it hard . . . NOW!

San Pedro Labor Shows the Way

No more inspiring news story has come out of the war than that bearing a San Pedro dateline in last week's EAGLE, and concerning the efforts of that city's white trade unionists to block an anti-Negro campaign being waged at a local housing project by migrants from the deep South.

The Dixie citizens, we are glad to report, took a thorough lacing from California labor, both CIO and AFL, in this case. Already final word has come down from high housing authorities that all attempts at racial exclusion and segregation will be fought at the San Pedro housing unit.

Southerners, newly arrived in California had attempted to launch a lynch-spirit campaign against Negroes occupying Federal housing units near them and circulated a petition calling for the removal of the colored residents. Most of the working people in the project refused point-blank to sign that document, although a number were bull-dozed into affixing their signatures.

At this point, a group of trade unionists formed an organization to battle for the Negroes' rights to full and equal accomodation. They took the fight to housing authorities, who, feeling they had rank-and-file support, issued a scathing statement in denunciation of the Southern clique.

Unionists urged the authorities' action on the ground that discriminatory practices today directly wound the nation's war for survival, pointing that all Negro residents of the project were engaged in vital war production and were contributing fully their share in defense of our common country.

The Immigrants from Southern states have learned a graphic object lesson. But a great deal more is necessary. We must understand that these strangers in Southern California have been subjected all their lives to a fierce propaganda campaign smearing the Negro people and urging their utter oppression. Poll taxers and the Bourbon economic interests which they represent have corrupted educational systems in the South so that whites from that area poisoned at life's outset with a whole slew of fascist race theories.

It is not enough for the win-the-war forces of labor or the Negro people to crack the efforts of the Dixie gang when they attempt to bring "down home" segregation and discrimination to the Far West.

We must launch an educational program, largely through the unions, to undermine the years of Hitlerite baloney these workers have been fed by demagogues like Bilbo and Rankin. Both major national unions have conducted pamphlet campaigns throughout the South during the last two years in an attempt to break the interracial hostility which anti-labor forces foist upon working people, black and white.

Such campaigning is urgently needed,--and right here!

Boilermakers Jim Crow Outfit in Trouble

An attempt to establish a Jim-Crow unit of the International of Boilermakors for Negro ship-fitters in San Francisco came to a disastrous climax last week when Negro rank-and-filers employed the first meeting of the proposed Jim-Crow outfit to blast it sky-high.

The struggle against the Boilermakers' Jim-Crow policy, now percolating throughout the West Coast, was launched several weeks ago by the California EAGLE in an exclusive expose of an attempted organization of Negro workers at Calship, Consolidated ship yards and the Western Pipe and Steel Company into an "auxiliary" of the Los Angeles Boilermkers union.

Immediately Negro workers at the yards formed a Committee For Equal Participation, which body has since conducted a blistering propaganda warfare against the union Jim-Crow policy and also has lined up solid support from rank-and-file white workers.

Up North, the San Francisco Chronicle has entered the lists as a contestant for the rights of Negro workers to equal membership in the union. One of the most powerful daily publications in the West, the Chronicle has published lengthy articles, well displayed, setting forth the position of the Negro workers and their objection to the Jim-Crow Boilermakers outfit.

Quoting a Negro worker, one of the recent Chronicle articles stated, "Most shipyard workers are primarily interested in getting the job done, Jimmie Batiste, burner leaderman at Richmond. 'If you're a good worker, they want you on their gang; doesn't matter what color you happen to be.'

"Jimmie pointed out that he has had both Negro and white people working for him for nine months in perfect harmony.

"'My helper is a man from Arkansas,' said Mel Andrews, a journeyman shipfitter. 'He asked to be assigned to me. We get along swell. Why not?'

"These men think the shipyard companies themselves are not to blame for the 'colored gangs.' They blame minor officials who are 'afraid of trouble which simply wouldn't happen.'

"There's no trouble now on mixed gangs,' said Mel, 'and there wouldn't be any if all Negroes were treated equally. We would have a little more incentive to produce, too.

"A NEW SPIRIT

"The shipyard committee against discrimination is not an isolated 'radical' development. It is an expression of a new spirit in our Nation, a spirit that has been forced on us by attack from without.

"Americans of all races are sharing great risks together, and the feeling is growing that all races must share, too, in the great privileges for which we are fighting.

"The shipyard committee against discrimination is not 'asking for the moon.' It asks only that all citizens, no matter what their race, have a stake in our democracy.

"It is convinced that it is speaking the desire of the majority of Americans. It feels sure that it speaks for Bay Area workers."

Listing the objectives of the committee against discrimination, the Chronicle sites the following:

"1—See that Negroes are hired on an equal basis with other races in Bay Area industries.

"2—Eliminate segregation of Negroes in war housing projects. (The Marin City project in Sausalito does not discriminate against Negroes.)

"3—Require equal treatment of Negroes entering defense classes. (They claim that qualified Negro applicants have sometimes been rejected or dicouraged from enrolling.

"4—Persuade Boilermakers' Local 513, in Richmond, to accept any qualified Negro seeking a job. This local policy has been that it won't accept Negroes unless they live in Richmond."

These goals are set in addition to smacking down the Jim-Crow auxiliary proposal.

The San Francisco Chronicle and the white and Negro workers of the Bay Area shipyards have launched a fight that is symbolic of all those things for which Americans of all colors are dying all over the world.

Dark Laughter . . . . BY OL HARRINGTON

"NO, I DON'T MIND DANCING WITH YOU, BOOTSIE . . . BUT JUST KEEP YOUR DISTANCE WHEN YOU DO."

★ Madame Chiang Kai-shek Calls for the Freedom of All People

By LLEWELLYN RANSOM
(Exclusive for Continental News)

Although the white press said nothing about it, it is a fact that Negroes took an important part in honoring China's First Lady in New York! They received special invitations to her reception at City Hall. They were members of the citizens committee to honor Madame Chiang Kai-shek, that sponsored the great Madison Square Garden honor rally, and they were invitted to her reception at the Waldorf Astoria.

When the office of the consulate general of the Republic of China was approached about a special press conference for the Negro press, Mr. Cheng, public relations representative, said the Chinese do not believe in discrimination or segregation and that the Negro press should come to the regular press conference.

I attended the conference at the Waldorf. Many of the Negro and white prss did not make the conference due to a sudden and last minute decision to change the time because of the Madame's illness. This was told me later at the consulate.

SHE IS AGAINST EXPLOITATION

At the Waldorf I asked Madame Chiang to comment on the need for post-war planning for the liberation of the long occupied countries of Asia and Africa. She said she sees it the responsibility of all the United Nations to make that which will keep the peace their consideration. She also referred to her previous statements against exploitation and discrimination.

At Madison Square Garden she had said: "All nations, great and small, must have equal opportunity of development. Those who are stronger and more advanced should consider their strength as a trust to be used to help the weaker nations to fit themselves for full self-government and not to exploit them. Exploitation is spiritualy as degrading to the exploiter as to the exploited." In the same speech she said: "We in China, like you, want a better world, not for ourselves alone, but for all mankind, and we must have it."

COLORED RACES SHARE HATRED OF DISCRIMINATION

Many of us forget that Chinese and East Indians feel, and have good reason to feel, bitter about race discrimination. I talked with many of both races on this question. They reminded me that the United States, by law, excludes them from becoming citizens. Many were disappointed that the press did not ask her about this exclusion act. There is a bill now in the House Judiciary Committee to abolish this insult to our ally.

In her Garden speech the Madame, referring to the Roman Empire that laste so long, said: "All the people in the Roman Empire could become citizens. Some of the Emperors even were Syrians or sprang from other foreign origins. There was no racial discrimination as we have it today." She saw this as the chief cause of Rome lasting over a thousand years.

Madame Chiang, at Wellesley, recently quoted Article Six of the Chinese Constitution, which reads: "Among the citizens of the Republic of China there is no distinction as to sex, race, religion or class; they are equal before the law."

CHINA KNOWS NO RACE DIFFERENCES

I talked to a Chinese scholar in Radio City shortly after the press conference with Madame Chiang. He pointed out that although China has a number of ethnic or racial groups differing in culture and coloration of skin, there is no discrimination. He mentioned the Hans; Mongolian; Tibetans; the people from Sin Kiang near the Indian border and from Chinese Turkistan. He said they all are considered one family. He also said a man's religion is his own business, and that there had never beep a religious war in China. A Jew, he said, was considered as just another Caucasian.

WOMAN EMANCIPATED

This liberality is extended to women also. In her Washington press conference some one asked the Madame about women's opportunities. She answered that she never knew brains to have any sex. In New York to a similar question she explained that Chinese women who had been cloistered for centuries broke the bonds during the revolution that made China a republic. They are playing an important part in the war also, she said.

QUIET ON INDIA

Although Madame Chiang Kai-shek insisted she was here only to recover from her illness, she undoubtedly knew she would do her suffering people a great deal of good by establishing good-will that will bring them material assistance. That is why her press remarks and public speeches were general and not too controversial.

I learned from good sources that the Chinese felt that they were denied much help by this country for a time because Great Britain was offended by China's stand for India. Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and Nehru of India are very close. A few hours before Nehru went to prison he wrote Chiang a long letter. On the eve of the Madame's and the Generalissimo's departure for China after an historic two-week visit in India, he said in a speech: "Since my arrival in this country I found to my great satisfaction that there exists among the people of India a unanimous determination to oppose aggression.

"China and India comprise one-half of the world's population. Their common frontier extends three thousand kilometers. Today they have not only identical interests but also the same destiny.

"Lastly, I sincerely hope and I confidently believe that our ally, Britain, without waiting for any demands on the part of the people of India, will as speedily as possible give them real political power so that they may be in a position further to develop their spiritual and material strength and thus realize that their participation in the war is not merely aid to the anti-aggression nations for securing victory but also the turning point in their struggle for India's freedom."

At the press conference the Madame was not definite about a trip to England when questioned by a British correspondent.

FUTURE OF COLONIES

I asked her what she thought about poolin the colonies under an international mandate to insure their future development. She answered that that would have to be worked out, that the responsibility rests with all members of the United Nations. She said further that any good thing has a small beginning and because China and America work so well together because of their ideals, she thought they would be a very good beginning.

In a message June 13, 1942, Madame Chiang said more: "Exploitation, imperialism and all the other anachronisms of the pre-war world society must be swept out of existence . . . It is paradoxical but true that nations like individuals, can only permanently enjoy privilege and rights if they are willing to share them with others. If they attempt to reserve them for themselves they will lose them. History has illustrated this time and again.

"War can only be prevented if the world society is so constituted that all races are given equal opportunity to develop their natural genius; not hampered but aided by stronger and more advanced races."

IDENTICAL PURPOSE

Speaking to a Chinese audience at Carnegie Hall in New York following her Madison Square speech, the Madame probably had discrimination in mind when she told her people they may be proud of being Chinese in America because America and China have identical purposes in this war. Again in the same speech she told them they have to behave like good American citizens while they are in America, just as Americans will have to behave like good Chinese when they are in China. This sounded like a plea for reciprocity.

U. S. EDUCATION

Madame Chiang Kai-shek's father came to this country as a poor boy, received a college and a theological education and returned to China to make a fortune by publishing the Bible in Chinese. Madame, then Mayling, was sent to America as a child to be educated. She graduated eventually from Wellesley with special honors.

Besides doing war work, holding important government posts, and directing the women's department of the New Life Movement in China she writes books and magazine articles.

Spreading Joy

By John Fowler

The last chapter of the life and existence of Myrtle Carter-Crumbley was closed with the characteristic quiet and dignity of her fifty years of residence in Los Angeles.

The parting ceremonies were simple and beautiful. There in the solemn sanctuary of Conner-Johnson, flooded with the soft appealing strains of the great organ; touched by the deft finger of Mrs. Fannie Benjamin, the old songs of the saints revived fond memories and lifted the hopes and faith of the friends of the deceased assembled to say, "Good Night", for those of us who knew her and were acquainted with the upright life she lived daily, knew that when the morning comes, we shall meet again, where we shall know each other better.

The ceremonies, under the direction of Rev. J. M. Price of Grants Chapel AME Church were impressive with a poetic beauty lent by the continuity of the reading of the Twenty-third Psalm, which was the underlying theme.

Rev. S. M. Beane, of Hamilton Methodist church, read with much feeling, "The Lord is my Shepherd, I shall not want."

Mrs. Madaline Osburn sang, "I've Done My Best."

Pioneer S. P. Johnson sang, "The Twenty-third Psalm," in tribute to the deceased.

The obituary, a literary gem of rare beauty, was written and read by Mrs. Ester Bruce.

Mrs. A. Johnson read a resolution for the Sojourner Truth Home, of which Mrs. Crumbley was a charter member.

The tribute of the Pioneer club was given by this writer.

The eulogy by Rev. Price washer, founded on the Twenty-third Psalm, of which he gave a very picturesque analysis of the promises of God to His children. Indeed it was fitting that hundreds of old Pioneers gathered to pay the last tribute of respect to one who in her half century of life in the community had led such a spotless life that no one could saw in her life any act that would reflect against her clean and virtuous way of living.

A large host of friends joined the mourners in viewing the remains which were lying in a handsome plush covered couch, and surrounded by artistically arranged floral pieces which were mute testimony of the esteem and love in which she was held. Chief among them were the florel pieces from the Pioneer Club No. 1, the Stewardesses of Eighth and Towne, and girlhood friends.

The beautiful casket spray was the gift of Mesdames Mary Reed, Laura E. Fowler, Susie Green, Caloin Brown, Julia Staunton and Flora Jones.

She was borne to her last resting place by life long friends They were James Alexander, Garner Grayson, Care Hale, Isaac McVea, Sandy Gardner, and Will Gray.

As we stood there on the eaknoll of beautiful Rosedale overlooking the resting place of hundreds of old pioneers, among whom were the Reeds, Busbys, Coopers, Brights, Andrews, Poseys, and many others, we realize in our hearts that what we had just returned to Mother Earth was but dust of the earth, and that the woman made in the image and likeness of God had taken the wings of the morning and flown back to God who gave

ROOSEVELT BLUEPRINT

President Roosevelt's plan to achieve "freedom from want" in the post-war world would extend unprecedented government influence over the Nation's economy after the war, while immediately expanding the Social Security system. The program was drawn up by the National Resources Planning Board which feels the government should promote and maintain a high level of national production and consumption—guarantee a job for every man released from the armed forces and war industries—give equal access to security, education, nutrition, and health—wholesome housing conditions. For the farmer, the plan recommends measures to maintain the fair share of the farmers in the benefits of an expanding economy with opportunity for higher standards of living and greater security. The plan would expand the "four freedoms—freedom of speech and expression, fredom to worship, freedom from want, and freedom from fear" into a new "bill of rights," including those securities, the lack of which, begets fear among human kind. The National Resources Planning Board, headed by President Roosevelt's uncle, Frederic A. Delano, has long been a "pet" of the President's. Some years ago, it drew up some recommendations for reforms in national government to which political scientists have since pointed as ideals toward which to work. At that time, however, Congress voted them down.

WILLIAM H. STANDLEY

There was great to-do, worldwide, over Admiral Standley's remark to a press conference that he regretted the Russian people were not more cognizant of the aid America was giving them. The Admiral, a "blunt old sea-dog," without the finesse of career diplomatists, in all probability felt the understanding of the Russians on this score would militate toward post-war friendliness. In any event, the official Soviet government felt the implication in his remark and hastened to announce over official radio networks, and through the press, the full measure of American Lend-Lease. The Axis were quick to jump on the remark as food for "a split between the Allies," but on the whole, the honest opinion of an honest man probably did more good than harm, inasmuch as it may establish a future policy in the Kremlin for keeping the Russian people better informed.

ON YOUR HONOR?

OPA Administrator Prentiss Brown last week ordered an end to police enforcement of the East's ban on pleasure driving, saying future compliance would depend upon an honor system.

"It's one of those irritating things we want to avoid," declared Mr. Brown. "The time now has come to stop all unnecessary inconvniences to the public . . . Positive enforcement measures must be used with criminals, but they are unnecessary with the general public." The effectiveness of the ban on non-essential driving has been demonstrated by studies of traffic data, collected by the Public Roads Administration. Sunday, normally a peak day for drivers, has become the lightest day for traffic on eastern highways, especially popular with drivers. OPA has estimated that elimination of unnecessary passenger car trips saves the east coast approximately 1,350,000 gallons of gas a day. Tank cars and barge and tanker space thus become available for bringing gas and fuel oil to the east for essential purposes. If banned pleasure driving moves westward, it will be for the purpose of keeping our highway cargo fleets rolling, with their enormuosly important "food-for-freedom" and war production cargoes. For one thing, 2,000 tires are required daily to run the trucks in the North African campaign! When these facts and figures are realized, the honor system becomes common sense. The war we must win. A trip to see Aunt Gertie, come Sunday, can wait.

"NO RETREAT"

General Sir Bernard L. Montgomery told his British Eighth Army in Tunisia that the enemy was crippling himself and it would then be "our turn to attack him. There must be no withdrawal anywhere and of course, no surrender." Those words will go down in history.

TRUMAN COMMITTEE

The Truman Committee, prophesying a grim year ahead, attributes shortcomings in the nation's war effort to three basic weaknesses, now being corrected: Inadequate over-all planning; conflicting authority; hesitancy to adopt unpopular policies even when the facts indicate their necessity. These seem to be the weaknesses all fisen heir to.

★ LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Gentlemen:

With the close of this year's tax filing period, I cannot refrain from expressing my appreciation of your assistance and cooperation in the difficult task of disseminating income tax news, instructions, and information to the taxpayers of this district.

As each year goes by our office is faced with increasingly difficult problems. This year the number of tax returns was greater than ever before and the amounts remitted were the largest in our history. In open your columns to us our task was very definitely eased and we were able to handle the unprecedented volume of business with a good deal more promptness and efficiency.

You may be sure that our entire staff joins me in conveying my sincere personal gratitude.

Respectfully,
NAT ROGAN

"NATIVE SON"

From the book by

AN EXCLUSIVE CALIFORNIA EAGLE SERIAL

Max rose, ran his hand through his white hair and went to the front of the room. He turned and half-faced the judge and Buckley, looking out over Bigger's head to the crowd. He cleared his throat.

"Your Honor, never in my life have I risen in court to make a plea with a firmer conviction in my heart. I know that what I have to say here today touches the destiny of an entire nation. My plea is for more than one man and one people. Perhaps it is in a manner fortunate that the defendant has committed one of the darkest crimes in our memory; for if we can encompass the life of this man and find out what has happened to him, if we can understand how subtly and yet strongly his life and fate are linked to ours—if we can do this, perhaps we shall find the key to our future, that rare vantage point upon which every man and woman in this nation can stand and view how inextricably our hopes and fears of today create the exultation and doom of tomorrow.

"Your Honor, I have no desire to be disrespectful to this Court, but I must be honest. A man's life is at stake. And not only is this man a criminal, but he is a black criminal. And as such, he comes into this court under a handicap, notwithstanding our pretensions that all are equal before the law.

"This man is DIFFERENT, even though his crime differs from similar crimes only in degree. The complex forces of society have isolated here for us a symbol, a test symbol. The prejudices of men have stained this symbol, like a germ stained for examination under the microscope. The unremitting hate of men has given us a psychological distance that will enable us to see this tiny social symbol in relation to our whole sick social organism.

"I say, Your Honor, that the mere act of understanding Bigger Thomas will be a thawing out of icebound impulses, a dragging of the sprawling forms of dread out of the night of fear into the light of reason, an unveiling of the unconscious ritual of death in which we, like sleepwalkers, have participated so dreamlike and thoughtlessly.

"But I make no excessive claims, Your Honor. I do not deal in magic. I do not say that if we understand this man's life we shall solve all our problems, or that when we have all the facts at our disposal we shall automatically know how to act. Life is not that simple. But I do say that, if, after I have finished, you feel that death is necessary, then you are making an open choice. What I want to do is inject into the consciousness of this Court, through the discussion of evidence, the two possible courses of action open to us and the inevitable consequences flowing from each. And then, if we say death, let us mean it; and if we say life, let us mean that too; but whatever we say, let us know upon what ground we are putting our feet; what the consequences are for us and those whom we judge.

"Your Honor, I would have you believe that I am not insensible to the deep burden of responsibility I am throwing upon your shoulders by the manner in which I have insisted upon conducting the defense of this boy's life, and in my resolve to place before you the entire degree of his guilt for judgment. But, under the circumstances, what else could I have done? Night after night, I have lain without sleep, trying to think of a way to picture to you and to the world the causes and reasons why this Negro boy sits here a self-confessed murderer. How can I, I asked myself, make the picture of what has happened to this boy show plain and powerful upon a screen of sober reason, when a thousand newspaper and magazine artists have already drawn it in lurid ink upon a million sheets of public print? Dare I, deeply mindful of this boy's background and race, put his fate in the hands of a jury (not of his peers, but of an alien and hostile race!) whose minds are already conditioned by the press of the nation, a press which has already reached a decision as to his guilt, and in countless editorials suggested the measure of his punishment?

"No! I could not! So today I come to face this Court, rejecting a trial by jury, willingly entering a plea of guilty, asking in the light of the laws of this state that this boy's life be spared for reasons which I believe affect the foundations of our civilization.

"The most habitual thing for this Court to do is to take the line of least resistance and follow the suggestion of the State's Attorney and say, 'Death!' And that would be the end of this case. But that would not be the end of this crime! That is why this Court must do otherwise.

"There are times, Your Honor, when reality bears features of such an impellingly moral complexion that it is impossible to follow the hewn path of expediency. There are times when life's ends are so raveled that reason and sense cry out that we stop and gather them together again before we can proceed.

"What atmosphere surrounds this trial? Are the citizens soberly intent upon seeing that the law is executed? That retribution is dealt out in measure with the offense? That the guilty and only the guilty is caught and punished?

"No! Every conceivable prejudice has been dragged into this case. The authorities of the city and state deliberately inflamed the public mind to the point where they could not keep the peace without martial law. Responsible to nothing but their own corrupt conscience, the newspapers and the prosecution launched the ridiculous claim that the Communist Party was in some way linked to these two murders. Only here in court yesterday morning did the State's Attorney cease implying that Bigger Thomas was guilty of other crimes, crimes which he could not prove.

"The hunt for Bigger Thomas served as an excuse to terrorize the entire Negro population, to arrest hundreds of Communists, to raid labor union headquarters and workers' organizations. Indeed the tone of the press, the silence of the church, the attitude of the prosecution and the stimulated temper of the people are of such a nature as to indicate that MORE than revenge is being sought upon a man who has committed a crime.

"What is the cause of all this high feeling and excitement? Is it the crime of Bigger Thomas? Were Negroes liked yesterday and hated today because of what he has done? Were labor unions and workers' halls raided solely because a Negro committed a crime? Did those white bones lying on that table evoke the gasp of horror that went up from the nation?

"Your Honor, you know that that is NOT the case! All of the factors in the present hysteria existed before Bigger Thomas was ever heard of. Negroes, workers, and labor unions were hated as much yesterday as they are today.

"Crimes of even greater brutality and horror have been committed in this city. Gangsters have killed and have gone free to kill again. But none of that brought forth an indignation to equal this.

"Your Honor, that mob did not come here of its own accord! It was INCITED! Until a week ago those people lived their lives as quietly as always.

"Who, then, fanned this latent hate into fury? Whose interest is that thoughtless and misguided mob serving?

"The State's Attorney knows, for he promised the Loop bankers that if he were re-elected demonstrations for relief would be stopped! The Governor of the state knows, for he has pledged the Manufacturers' Association that he would use troops against workers who went out on strike! The Mayor knows, for he told the merchants of the city that the budget would be cut down, that no new taxes would be imposed to satisfy the clamor of the masses of the needy!

"There is guilt in the rage that demands that this man's life be snuffed out quickly! There is fear in the hate and impatience which impels the action of the mob congregated upon the streets beyond that window! All of them—the mob and the mobmasters; the wire-pullers and the frightened; the leaders and their pet vassals—know and feel that their lives are built upon a historical deed of wrong against many people, people from whose lives they have bled their leisure and their luxury! Their feeling of guilt is as deep as that of the boy who sits here on trial today. Fear and hate and guilt are the keynotes of this drama!

"Your Honor, for the sake of this boy and myself, I wish I could bring to this Court evidence of a morally worthier nature. I wish I could say that love, ambition, jealousy, the quest for adventure, or any of the more romantic feelings were back of these two murders. If I could honestly invest the hapless actor in this fateful drama with feelings of a loftier cast, my task would be easier and I would feel confident of the outcome. The odds would be with me, for I would be appealing to men bound by common ideals to judge with pity and understanding one of their brothers who erred and fell in struggle. But I have no choice in this matter. Life has cut this cloth; not I.

"We must deal here with the raw stuff of life, emotions and impulses and attitudes as yet unconditioned by the strivings of science and civilization. We must deal here with a first wrong which, when committed by us, was understandable and inevitable; and then we must deal with the long trailing black sense of guilt stemming from that wrong, a sense of guilt which self-interest and fear would not let us atone. And we must deal here with the hot blasts of hate engendered in others by that first wrong, and then the monstrous and horrible crimes flowing from that hate, a hate which has seeped down into the hearts and molded the deepest and most delicate sensibilities of multitudes.

"We must deal here with a dislocation of life involving millions of people, a dislocation so vast as to stagger the imagination; so fraught with tragic consequences as to make us rather not want to look at it or think of it; so old that we would rather try to view it as an order of nature and strive with uneasy conscience and false moral fervor to keep it so.

"We must deal here, on both sides of the fence, among whites as well as blacks, among workers as well as employers, with men and women in whose minds there loom good and bad of such height and weight that they assume proportions of abnormal aspect and construction. When situations like this arise, instead of men feeling that they are facing other men, they feel that they are facing mountains, floods, seas; forces of nature whose size and strength focus the minds and emotions to a degree of tension unusual in the quiet routine of urban life. Yet this tension exists within the limits of urban life, undermining it and supporting it in the same gesture of being.

"Allow me, Your Honor; before I proceed to cast blame and ask for mercy, to state emphatically that I do NOT claim that this boy is a victim of injustice, nor do I ask that this Court be sympathetic with him. That is not my object in embracing his character and his cause; it is not to tell you only of suffering that I stand here today, even though there are frequent lynchings and floggings of Negroes throughout the country. If you react only to that part of what I say, then you, too, are caught as much as he in the mire of blind emotion, and this vicious game will roll on, like a bloody river to a bloodier sea. Let us banish from our minds the thought that this is an unfortunate victim of injustice. The very concept of injustice rests upon a premise of equal claims, and this boy here today makes no claim upon you. If you think or feel that he does, then you, too, are blinded by a feeling as terrible as that which you condemn in him, and without as much justification. The feeling of guilt which has caused all of the mob-fear and mob-hysteria is the counterpart of his own hate.

"Rather, I plead with you to see a mode of LIFE in our midst, a mode of life stunted and distorted, but possessing its own laws and claims, an existence of men growing out of the soil prepared by the collective but blind will of a hundred million people. I beg you to recognize human life draped in a form and guise alien to ours, but springing from a soil plowed and sown by all our hands. I ask you to recognize the laws and the processes flowing from such a condition, understsand them, seek to change them. If we do none of these, then we should not pretend horror or surprise when thwarted life expresses itself in fear and hate and crime.

"This is life, new and strange; strange, because we fear it; new, because we have kept our eyes turned from it. This is life lived in cramped limits and expressing itself not in terms of our good and bad, but in terms of its own fulfillment. Men are men and life is life, and we must deal with them as they are; and if we want to change them, we must deal with them in the form in which they exist and have their being.

"Your Honor, I must still speak in general terms, for the background of this boy must be shown, a background which has acted powerfully and importantly upon his conduct. Our forefathers came to these shores and faced a harsh and wild country. They came here with a stifled dream in their hearts, from lands where their personalities had been denied, as even we have denied the personality of this boy. They came from cities of the old world where the means to sustain life were hard to get or own. They were colonists and they were faced with a difficult choice: they had either to subdue this wild land or be subdued by it. We need but turn our eyes upon the imposing sweep of streets and factories and buildings to see how completely they have conquered. But in conquering they USED others, used their lives. Like a miner using a pick or a carpenter using a saw, they bent the will of others to their own. Lives to them were tools and weapons to be wielded against a hostile land and climate.

"I do not say this in terms of moral condemnation. I do not say it to rouse pity in you for the black men who were slaves for two and one-half centuries. It would be foolish now to look back upon that in the light of injustice. Let us not be naive: men do what they must, even when they feel that they are being driven by God, even when they feel they are fulfilling the will of God. Those men were engaged in a struggle for life and their choice in the matter was small indeed. It was the imperial dream of a feudal age that made men enslave others. Exalted by the will to rule, they could not have built nations on so vast a scale had they not shut their eyes to the humanity of other men, men whose lives were necessary for their building. But the invention and widespread use of machines made the further direct enslavement of men economically impossible, and so slavery ended.

"Let me, Your Honor, dwell a moment longer upon the danger of looking upon this boy in the light of injustice. If I should say that he is a victim of injustice, then I would be asking by implication for sympathy; and if one insists upon looking at this boy in the light of sympathy, he will be swamped by a feeling of guilt so strong as to be indistinguishable from hate.

"Of all things, men do not like to feel that they are guilty of wrong, and if you make them feel guilt, they will try desperately to justify it on any grounds; but, failing that, and seeing no immediate solution that will see things right without too much cost to their lives and property, they will kill that which evoked in them the condemning sense of guilt. And this is true of all men, whether they be white or black; it is a peculiar and powerful, but common, need.

Race Woman Best Welder at Brooklyn Shipyard

NEW YORK CITY—The startling revelation that "the best woman welder at Todd Shipyard, Brooklyn, is a Negro, and the next best a Cherokee Indian," comes to light in an article by Miss Mary Anderson, Director of the Women's Bureau, U. S. Department of Labor, appearing in the current "Brown American Womanpower" issue of Opportunity, Journal of Negro Life. Miss Anderson's authentic and interesting article, "Negro Women on the Production Front," blasts theories set forth by manufacturers that Negro women are not efficient workers. Several other instances are cited by Miss Anderson which prove that Negro women are doing more than just "making the grade," in all types of skilled war production jobs.

"When the Brooklyn Navy Yard last year opened its doors to women mechanics for the first time in 141 years," the article states, "a Negro girl received a grade of 99, the highest made by the 6000 women who took the Civil Service examinations to qualify for Navy Yard jobs." Miss Anderson acknowledges the Negro woman's part in the war further: "The accomplishments of Negro women are a part of the whole remarkable production record of America's fifteen million women workers. It is impossible to mention every instance of outstanding work by Negro women on the production front."

Pha Terrell And Band Held Over At The Lincoln

BEHIND THE SCENES WITH HARRY

By HARRY LEVETTE — Theatrical Editor

JOHN KINLOCH, my best buddy on the Eagle, and for the past several years quadrupling as city editor, reporter, linotyper, make-up man etc. left last week for a long postponed visit back to New York to his mother. Hence "Yours Truly" will have to pinch-hit on some of the duties he has been fillin until he returns, so the Ol' Kolyum may come up as bob-tail-as as a bulldog puppie from time to time. But just stick along, you'll find something in it to make you happy, or make you angry. (Hope it's not the latter).

News From Musicians In The Army

MUSICIANS LOCAL 767 was visited last week by one of its most faithful, live young members now in the armed services. This was Roy Preacley tenor saxaphonist, now with the 42nd Aviation Squadron located at Camp Roswell, New Mexico. Roy is one of the nine members of the "Jive Bombers," official band of the squadron, and the boys have been a life-saver to the outfit ever since they left the Ft. McArthur induction center, where the first steps were taken to form a camp band. Douglas Byars, is the leader and the gang all like him and give him full cooperation. Incidentally Preacley, who is the brother of Emma Preacley, well known dancer, has risen to Private first class, with a corporal's chevrons the next step. The band has played a number of USO and other engagements, with increasing popularity.

CAMP ROSWELL also has a drum and bugle corps of 21 men under the direction of Sgt. Jos. Crawford, also a well known local musician. The "Jive Bombers" includes Douglas Byars, Roy Preacley, John Searcie, Chas. Earley, Clarence Woods, Joseph Crawford, Sheldon Cornelius, David L. Brown and "Slitz" Byars.

ELMER FAIN, formerly long time assistant to President Edward Bailey, is doing all right in the Tenth Cavalry band, of 20 men, stationed at Camp Lockett on the border. Fain is not only a good musician, but has the steady qualities that will advance him in the army, just as it did in musical circles. The present recognition of Local 767, as a strict business like organization that believes in both fairness to employers and justice for the members, was aided a great deal by Fain's strictness in carrying out the rules of the local. The present assitant, Baron Morehead who succeeded Fain, after his enlistment, is also doing an excellent job, as assistant to the president, which calls for covering the field, and visiting all the spots where NOBLE SISSLE and band opened at the swank Casino Club, with the innovation of a line of 12 chorus girls, most all local talent lead by Juanita Bostick who came here from New York for Fox's "Stormy Weather". The Casino is one of the most popular of Hollywood's nite spots.

EUGENE HENRY HUFFMAN, author of the dramatic play "The Lost Chord" which ran recently at the Embasy Auditorium, has postponed the immediate eastside showing of the pretentious production schedulad for the Lincoln. Defense work and other counter attractions has hit his cast just as it has other fields of endeavor and business. Meanwhile Huffman is writing a series of screen comedies for mixed casts, one of which is to be an animated cartoon.

MICKEY ROONEY IN NEW HARDY FILM AT UNITED ARTISTS

Hitting a new high for comedy and juvenile romantics are the amorous adventures and collegiate preparations of Andy Hardy in this excellent audience pleaser, "Andy Hardy's Double Life," now at the United Artists theatre, 933 So. Broadway, downtown Los Angeles.

It comes as close as any previous entry in the series to a combination of entertainment elements for both the young and the old.

This new M-G-M picture finds the beloved screen family still intact, with Lewis Stone, Mickey Rooney, Fay Holden, Cecilia Parker and Sara Haden returning to their favorite roles. And, introduces to the Hardy public a new screen personality, and a new sweetheart for Andy, Esther Williams.

As the co-attraction 20th Century-Fox presents "Quiet Please, Murder!" with George Sanders and Gail Patrick. This is an absorbing film, taut with excitement.

Don't miss "Andy Hardy's Double Life" plus "Quiet Please, Murder" now at United Artists theatre, downtown Los Angeles.

COAST USO CAMP SHOW PLAYS TO 1200 WAACS

"Keep Shufflin'," the West Coast USO Camp Show unit, headed by Harold Browning, made a recent appearance at Des Moines, entertaining over 1200 WAACS of both groups in the post theatre. Lt. Ward, special theatre officer, and her staff, entertained the cast, at the reception hall.

There are over 450 Negro women now in training at Des Moines. Among them are Myrtle Anderson, Viola Richardson and a half dozen others, all from California. The show unit has visited over 80 camps.

Mrs. Priesly and Mrs. McGregor are in charge of the race USO center at Des Moines and helped entertain the cast. The show headed east, will be touring for the next few months or more.

ANNE BROWN IN RETURN DATE AT BROOKLYN ACADEMY

BROOKLYN, N. Y. (C)—From the Broadway stage of Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess", to a successful career as a concert artist, in one year, is the amazing success story of one, Anne Brown, who returned to her home, the Brooklyn Academy of Music, in a series of concerts last Tuesday evening.

A product of the legitimate stage by circumstance and not choice, Miss Brown, who has spent most of her young life training to be a concert singer, took a one night leave of absence from her "Porgy and Bess" show last February, a year ago, to appear in the concert series at the Brooklyn Academy of Music. Her ability was immediately recognized and she was given a re-engagement.

DANCE OF DRUMS MOST SPECTACULAR SCENE

From the lips of studio technicians, electricians, cameramen, set dressers, usually blase about movie scenes, comes the expression that Bill Robinson's dance on 20 drums last week, was the most spectacular sequence they had ever seen in all their movie experience. With Fox's "Stormy Weather" as a whole officially completed a week ago and the more than a hundred players dismissed, the really important scene that would prove or disprove Bill as the king of all dancers was yet to be rehearsed and filmed.

Twenty-five drums of assorted sizes had been specially built strong enough to bear the rapidly tapping feet of the marvelously agile dancer as he leaped from one to another. However, it was decided to cancel the use of five of them which still left twenty to traverse, a feat probably no other dancer in the world could master in the same length of time. One of the drums was located so high above the stage that a mis-step would have caused serious injury to Robinson from a fall.

In the scene concerning which too much cannot be told prior to release of the picture, the song is "Jungle Drums" in English, except for African language phrases interjected by Jester Hairston, who assisted Eddie Jones in the vocal arrangement. The drummers, 20 in number, are singing as they play, following the introduction of the strange melody by Babe Wallace, famous New York singing M. C. The singers who spent two days recording, two days rehearsing and four days filming, were Jester Hairston, Bene Green, Caunchey Reynolds, Chester Jones, Edward Hort, Andrew Taylor, Hamilton McClain, Gonzales Jones, Dandridge and Watkins.

THEATRE WORLD

Vol. 63—No. 50 Los Angeles, Calif., Wednesday, Mar. 24, 1943 Page 2B

An event worth putting your heaviest red-circle around will be the appearance of the one and only Billie Holiday, above, with the one and only Sammy Franklin's incomparable band at Elk's Hall, Sunday night, March 28.

Just in from the East, where she's been doing her usual job of smashing attendance records at theatres and dance halls, Miss Holiday will be in these parts indefinitely. A large turn-out is expected, Sunday. Many "names" well known in Hollywood music circles will attend. On the Holiday program will be such tried and true favorites as, Fine and Mellow, Love Me Or Leave Me, Billie's Blues and Jim. Admission is 85 cents.

MOVIE PLAYER PROTESTS; GETS EQUAL PAY FOR RACE ACTORS

Proving that a justified and properly made protest against acts that smack of discrimination will bring both results and increased respect for colored workers, Jesse Graves, well known movie player, secured the proper wages for himself and several other players in Warner's period picture, "Sarotoga Trunk" last week.

They had been called and assigned to each drive a carriage as coachmen of the dorse-drawn vehicles of the year 1880. When they checked in, their pay vouchers were stamped at $10.50 per day, the Guild wages for ordinary atmosphere players or extras. But in the same scene were more than a dozen white players driving wagons and before the day was gone one of them revealed the fact that all whites were receiving $16.50 checks. Making himself a committee of one, Graves complained of the difference in wages, but at first received no satisfaction. Finally, as a last resort, he appealed to director Sam Wood. Without hesitation, Mr. Wood gave orders for the checks of the colored drivers to be adjusted up to the same rate as the whites.

MARLENE DIETRICH HEARD BY 40,000 CALSHIP WORKERS

Appearing before the builders of the famous Booker T. Washington, and volunteering as a War Savings Bond booster in behalf of the U. S. Treasury Department, Marlene Dietrich addressed three shifts of shipyard personnel, totaling 40,000 workers, on a 'round the clock schedule last week at the California Shipbuilding Corporation, Wilmington.

Miss Dietrich, it was announced by the Hollywood Victory Committee, was guest of honor at the Treasury Department's presentation of a "T" Flag to Calship, in recognition of the employee's subscription of more than 90 per cent of the company payroll to War Savings Bond purchases under the payroll savings plan.

The screen star, according to the schedule, made her first talk at 10 a. m. and her final appearance before the graveyard shift of 15,000 workers at 4 a. m. Wednesday.

7 BOYS, 7 GIRLS, DANCERS, STILL IN 'STORMY WEATHER'

Like "Ol' Man River," 20th Century Fox's all colored cast musical, seems to go on, for although it has actually finished, certain scenes are still being shot.

In one of the most important of these, which called for the clear, rhythmic sound of tapping feet to be recorded on the sound strip, seven of the cleverest girl dancers in Hollywood and seven boys of equal ability were started last Monday at the Fox Hill lot of the studio. They were Patsy Hunter, who did such an excellent job as assistant to dance director Clarence Robinson, Cleo Herndon, Artie Brandon, Avanelle Harris, Lucy Battle, Fannie Bufford and Louise Franklin.

The boys were Bernard Bradley, Henry Roberts, Andrew Jackson, Johnny Thomas, Babby Johnson, Sam Montgomery and Sammy Warren. It was quite a compliment to both groups to be selected for this important production work, for the girls were selected from the 26 who worked all through the picture and the boys who worked opposite them.

CENTRALIA, Ill. — During their road itinerary the world famous International Sweethearts of Rhythm and their managers have agreed to stop here and give their services to Uncle Sam and the American Red Cross by playing a benefit dance at the spacious Recreation Center on Walnut Street. MUNI STAR OF FILM AT LINCOLN

The return of Paul Muni to the screen in the role of leader of "Commandos Strike at Dawn," which opens at the Lincoln Theatre Saturday for four days, is an occasion which has aroused considered comment in the moviegoing world. The film unfolds a gripping tale of danger and daring in a Norwegian fishing village and Muni acquits himself magnificently in his role.

The cast includes Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Anna Lee, Lillian Gish and Robt. Coote. Muni's role is a worthy successor to his performance as Zola and Pasteur. To prepare for it he left no stone unturned in his efforts to insure accurasy of detail. He read every book he could find on Norway and the Commandos. Four flying cadets from the Royal Norwegian Flying school near Toronto were among the many extras.

SNOOKUM RUSSELL JAMS MILWAUKEE JAM ROOM

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Mar. 24. Snookum Russell and his orchestra were quite a sensation here at the Jam Room on their one-night appearance Sunday, Mar. 21. Annie Laura Page, featured vocalist, was loudly acclaimed as a great new discovery.

City Fathers Move in Right Direction

At hand is the regular Pacfiic Coast Baseball release from the office of the esteemed Mister W. C. Tuttle, president, whose address is 435 E. 42nd place, this city.

Which immediately brings to mind a conversation we had yesterday with fellow newsman Herman Hill of the Pittsburgh Courier. Several months ago, all of the local weeklies carried stories stating that "Pants" Rowland, Los Angeles ball club prexy, had made some definite commitments regarding try-outs for Negro baHplayers this Spring. However, the other day, so the info goes, Mister Rowland reniged. It seems that the war had the smaller loops in its throes, leaving the Angel club with more than its usual share of pre-campaign hopefuls. This, of course, left the Negro ballplayers, who were nominated last winter for try-outs, out in the cold—or some such undesirable spot.

At any rate, Messrs. Hill, and Halley Harding of the Tribune took the matter before the Los Angeles City Council this week, and Tuesday Councilman Carl C. Rasmussen, supported by his fellow councilmen, went on record as "expressing their conviction that there should be no distinction, restriction or discrimination against the hiring of baseball players in organized baseball because of race, color or creed."

All of the local weekly sports editors—Eddie Burbridge of the Los Angeles Sentinel, Messrs. Hill and Harding, and this department, have always been of one mind on this subject—the future of the nation rests upon the integration of all its groups into its national life. The time to begin doing that is now!

A similar resolution will be sought from the Board of Supervisors, it was said yesterday. Again brought out into the open, the cause of the Negro in organized baseball should now get the undivided support from all sports fans, and lovers of fair play it so richly deserves.

This Bivins Must Be Quite a Guy

Jimmy Bivins, Cleveland's duration light heavyweight kingpin, comes to town Saturday, for his April 6 date with our young knockout artist, Watson Jones.

It's hardly likely that Jones will upset Bivins, but the appearance here of the man who whipped Tami Mauriello with so much ease eastern sports writers still don't know how good he is should stir quite a ripple at the Olympic auditorium.

A poet and artist, and conqueror of the best of the civilian heavyweights, Bivins definitely has box office appeal.

Bill Smith Hangs Up Spikes for Khaki

Bill Smith, San Jose State's one-man track team, expects to go into Mister Whisker's armed forces next month. From Belmont high school here, the streamlined Smith had a 9.5s century as a freshman last year, plus a 6 ft. 5 in. high jump, and a 25-ft. broadjump . . . The Kappas and Alphas ring down the curtain on the 1943 interfraternity basketball season Saturday night. And it may be the last frat game for the duration, all of which makes possible a capacity turnout . . . St. Augustine and Arrowhead Rubber tangle at Rancho La Cienega Sunday afternoon at 2 for the championship of the Municipal South A. A. League. Umpiring is popular Emmett Ashford, quite an athlete himself . . . Luther (Slugger) White, Maryland's lightweight champion of the world, fights Vern Bybee in San Francisco on April 5, returns for his postponed scrap with John Thomas slated for April 13 or 20 . . . Can't for the life of me see how the Joe Peralta we saw bow to Juan Zurita Friday night at Hollywood could boast of a win over Chalky Wright . . .

Take a gander at that Billy Hardges Tuesday night at the Olympic. No less a judge of fighters than Babe McCoy says he's a comer . . .

March 15 wa sa red-letter day in the life of Carlyle Perry, above, veteran newspaper distributor. He reached the young age of fifty years. A pioneer in Southern California, Mr. Perry has been an active, well-known figure in these parts. He began distributing the California Eagle, and other publications, at the northwest corner of Vernon and Central in September, 1932, making that corner a landmark. His daughter and granddaughter reside in 'Frisco. Mr. Perry's hobbies range from baseball to newspapers, and back. The Eagle wishes him a belated, though sincere birthday.

Madam, here's one TABOO you can forget when you want relief

You can thank your lucky stars that women are no longer squeamish about discussing their troubles. Otherwise you might never know of the 2-way help that CARDUI may bring when nervousness, headaches and cramp-like pain are due only to periodic functional causes.

Many women find that, started three days before the time and taken as directed, CARDUI aids in relieving functional periodic discomforts. Used as a tonic, CARDUI often wakes up sleepy appetites, aids digestion by increasing the flow of gastric juices, and thus helps to build up resistance against the days it's needed most. TRY IT!

Rasmussen Raps Ball Prejudice

Highlighting last Tuesday's City Council meeting, Councilman Carl C. Rasmussen, long recognized in our community as fighter and torch-bearer willing to go to bat for our rights in civic matters, made the following motion which definitely bears the distinction of being a milepost in his distinguished career of service.

He motioned: "I move that the City Council of Los Angeles go on record as expressing its conviction that there should be no distinction, restriction or discrimination against the hiring of baseball players in organized baseball because of race, color or creed."

Councilman Rasmussen reasoned with his intently listened audience that in all fields of American sport recognition should be given on the grounds of inherent ability and no other barriers should be allowed to operate against participants.

Supporting his opinion, the councilman cited the record of Kenny Washington, now on the local police force.

Several others, present as onlookers, argued in his behalf, when recognized by the chair. When Councilman Rasmussen concluded his effective reasoning, the City Council unanimously approved the motion.

Hardges to Box Mendoza at Olympic

A toe to toe exchange of flying fists is on the Olympic knuckle party Tuesday night when the sensational Detroit lightweight, Billy Hardges, makes his first fight at the Grand avenue arena, facing the slugging shoemaker from Mexico, Jose Zapatero Mendoza, in Matchmaker Babe McCoy's star 10-round match.

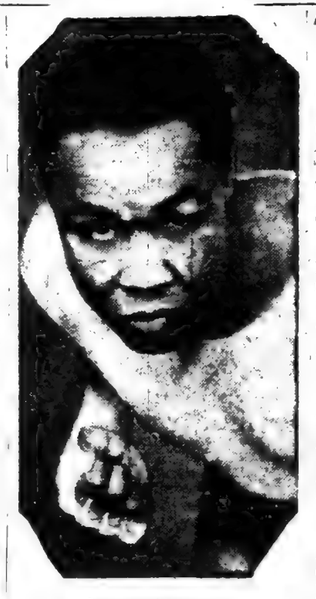
Zapatero has turned in two good fights at the Olympic, in as many starts, drawing with Chuckie Garcia and beating Jimmy Doyle just three weeks ago, and in Hardges the beltway senor faces his stiffest test.

In rapid succession, here is what Hardges has done in recent months at Ocean Park arena:

Kayoed Art Rojo, defeated Babe Antuna, flattened the rugged Everett Rightmire, stopped the clock for classy Bobby Yeager and just recently knocked out Charley Miegel.

Hardges is a stablemate of Cecil Hudson, and is managed by Tony Palazola and Gladstone Bell.

BIVENS DUE SATURDAY



Shifty, fast and a hard hitter, Hardges looms as one of the best young fighters of the season.

Jimmy Bivens checks in Saturday from Cleveland to start training for his big match with Watson Jones April 6 at the Olympic. Bivens is fresh from a smashing win over Tami Mauriello in the Garden.

The Cecil Hudson - Carlos Malacara welterweight fight has been set back a few weeks due to a badly cut lip Carlos received in his match with Max Hutchins last week at Oakland.

Jones has started the training grind at Soper's mountain camp near Ojai.

Bivens will work at the Main street gymnasium, starting next Monday.

SCORES IN EAST—AGAIN . . . did Hammerin' Hank Armstrong Monday night when he won a unanimous 10-round decision over Al Tribuani in Philadelphia. Winner of 16 battles in his comeback, Hank takes on No. 19 in Beau Jack (N. Y. lightweight king) Friday night, April 2, in the Garden.

Jeff B Cagers 2nd in Loop Play

The Jefferson high school 'B' basketball team finished the season as second in the Southern League, due to its defeat by Washington's 'B' team, 7-11, on Tuesday, March 1o.

It had a chance of playing off a tie for first if the Fremont 'B's' had succeeded in winning Friday's game against Washington. However, Washington won, thus leaving Jefferson in second place.

The 'B' team made a much better record than the Varsity this past season. The Varsity won only one game all season.

The team: Johnson and Cravens, forwards; Pyles, center; and Bayard and Baker, guards, and the substitutes, Neivez, Mayfield, and others, won eleven straight games at the first of the season.

DUDLEY M. SPENCER DIES IN SAN DIEGO

SAN DIEGO, Mar. 24.—Death came yesterday to Dudley M. Spencer, veteran and active worker in American Legion political, business and civic circles of this city. He leaves a host of relatives and friends to mourn his passing.

By HARRY MORGAN

They say we all have to pay the fiddler sooner or later—and we've certainly had plenty of fiddling around on the tax question this year. Talk about confusion—we've been pulled more ways than a piece of bubble gum in action. Seemed like everybody had a solution for the tax problem—but there wasn't time to try them all. We all wanted to do our part, but nobody could agree on the script. It was as baffling as six fingers in a glove—and as upsetting as a broken rocking chair. But now the zero hour is almost here—and after the 15th we'll all have zero.

I see where a Congressman claims the guns mounted on the House roof are dummies. Maybe the Army figures congressional smoke screens make other protection unnecessary.

Whatever way you look at it a smoke screen won't hide the fact that you are offered the finest selection of excellent liquor, wine and beer at the House of Morgan, 2729 Central Ave. Our well arranged displays make it easy for you to find what you want, and our large choice of mixings assures you exactly the right kind of cocktail you desire.

ALPHAS, KAPPAS CLOSE FRAT HOOP SEASON

With revenge in their hearts an improved Kappa Alpha Psi frat basketball squad will take on the Alpha Phi Alpha quintet this Satd. on the Patriotic court. The game will be the last of the season, and may mark the end of the games for the duration.

Since losing to the Alphas the Kappas have dropped a close game to the Omega Psi Phi team. But to offset these losses they have played a total of 5 practice games against powerful non-frat squads. They have registered the impressive record of five wins and no losses.

On comparative scores, the Alphas now rate a slight favorite on comparative scores and their improved condition.

It is possible that Alphas may yet have the services of their rangy center, Don Barksdale. He's an inductee now and is stationed in California and will probably be in uniform Saturday nite for the Apes. It was in the Oakland YMCA encounter with Barksdale wearing the Oakland Y uniform that he scored 29 points to set a new Patriotic game scoring record.

Lanky Gene Williams and Speedy Nate Shaw usually lead the Kappas to high scores. The Kappas have shown themselves to be the best polished floor team of the locals but they have been having trouble all season finding the range.

Prelim game is scheduled at 7:30 when Dick Adams, former JC footballer sends his charges against a Jeff Hi-Y team.

In Adams team known as the Y Counts, there will be seen a well drilled and smoothly playing team. Most of them are comparative youngsters but they have tripped various assortments of older and more experienced teams. The Hi-Y is composed mostly of Jeff High varsity squad.

Garrison, Ramirez Headline at Legion for Fourth Time

Facing each other for the fourth time, Jimmy Garrison and Rodolfo Ramirez level for 10 rounds or less Friday night in the headline attraction at Hollywood Legion stadium.

All close, interesting fights, Ramirez holds the edge over the veteran Garrison with two wins, one loss.

Scheduled to meet a week ago matchmaker Charley MacDonald had to postpone the bout to allow Garrison's eye cuts to heal. He suffered them in three kayoes scored recently in Portland.

Cecil Hudson subbed for Jimmy and proceeded to take a well-earned verdict over the classy Mexican battler.

Houston Boys Athletes, Scholars

Adding to their already long list of accomplishments are Norman and Ivan Houston, W'41 and S'42 graduates of Polytechnic high school, respectively.

After graduation, the University of California (Berkeley) was the next step in continuing their eduddcation.

Norm, first string guard on Cal's frosh team of two seasons ago, played second-string varsity guard last year and won the heavyweight wrestling title.

Ivan, besides playing second string frosh football, clinched the light heavyweight boxing title.

While at Poly both were active in extra-curricula activities Norman was a Poly Knight, varsity football co-captain, American Legion Award medalist, and Tri-Y president. Ivan served as a Knight, varsity football player, Tri-Y president, and Boys League treasurer.

Norman, in the Army but a few weeks, serves as a truck dispatcher.

Gossip: This column is only for fun, so smile when your name appears, as that is the lick.

When you see this writer say "Give me that tab and pencil" and then write something so you can read about yourself and friends.

Guy Johnson, meat cutter at the packing house and one of the best in the country, you are terrible when you take too many strong drinks and a bad actor. Slow down or you will get into serious trouble.

Mexico City races are under way, off sailing with no sign of red ink or hard times. It looks like a good and big game.

Here is a tip, playboys--Vera Marshall, the waitress at Jack's, is a swell kid and rich, but don't try to take her too fast in case you latch on or she will get cold feet.

I'm warning you men again to try and get along with your wife because in case she gets sore and complains to the Draft Board, off to the Army you'll go, and she is compelled to get that $50 each month from Uncle Sam and there can be nothing done about it, so keep your boots laced.

When you gals and charmers come to 'Frisco, swing on to Julius Delifus and Clarence Estell, co-partners in the Havana Tavern on Fillmore. They are big spenders and swell people.

Bartenders and waitresses is harder to get in 'Frisco than customers.

Louis Verette, Curtis Mosby of Los Angeles, Vernon Brown, Jess Wilson, Mrs. Velda Wilson, Mildred Maxwell, Mr. Sid Drummond and several other big sports took over all the night clubs t'other night before the banquet given in honor of Curtis (Alabam) Mosby, by Mr. and Mrs. Jess Wilson.

Did you know that Billy Powells, one-time bartender at the Douglas Hotel, San Diego, is out of the Army, lucky sport.

Lloyd Evans, now out of the Army, is home visiting his kin, but his wife, Betty Marshall, is way up in Seattle—Tee! Hee!

See that cute little number, Yvonne Thomas taking her mail at the Geary Hotel, 1764 Geary Street seems to be running loose now-a-days.

Here is one for Sweeny and the End Book, Mr. Kingfish, well known around the big time spots, wears his white sport shoes regardless of how hard it rains or if there's mud up to his knees.

Who do you think I saw looking like a million playing the spots—no other than Evelyn Williams, the entertainer, of Seattle, and Mr. oh what's his name?

Wonder if Dicky Boy Lewis' wife knew he was sipping choice drinks at Jack's with Mrs. Mareta Garcia and Mrs. Riggs minus Larney and Al.

Mrs. Gert Simpson, the widow, seems to be getting along swell after worrying and crying real tears for several weeks.

After peeping around the corner at the pretty Mona Eventi of Oakland the Mr. Big Time Night Club and Cocktail Bar owner, was fed up on Ward, the owner of the Douglas Hotel Barber shop, San Diego, trying to locate her and had the phone plugged.

Little Hicky, and Sam Jones, are housemen at the Bay Meadows, but never have a holiday or a Sunday off.

The four sisters, Bertha, Ollie, Lithia and Bee has not been to Bay Meadows this season.

Wonder why the Whitfield sisters gets so much mail from Uncle Sam's men.

Did you know that Hazel Davis' sister is a beautiful thing, very graceful with a swell figure.

Ben Wilkinson's all star band at Club Alabam, play all the late show hit tunes and is a big draw at dances and the 8am night spot.

Globe-Gossip: Sonny Lee and his wife, Jimmy Lee, on a three months vacation thorugh Texas and the east gave Los Angeles and 'Frisco a good going over, spending plenty of cash.

Officer Benny Ayers of Los Angeles, retired from the force after 20 years, and was given a banquet in his honor with enough eats and drinks to feed the Russian, English and American armies. Some party.

Adolph Clay, the Dunbar hotel barber, is getting rich since the prices have skyrocketted so high and the Bull Durham he lays on his clients.

Three lovely ladies seen playing the clubs and spending their money were Mrs. B. L. Jones, Mrs. Minnie Calhoun, and Mrs. Swopes, looking like a million.

Little Joe, top waiter at the Alabam, is so happy (?) since his little wife returned from Oklahoma.

Alonzo White, Alabam Club waiter sure is playing hard these early A. M.s. Catch on, Mae?

Pat Cashen still around doing the nite spots.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Fuller with Oliver and Jane Hambrick out for a family dinner, celebrating Mrs. Fuller's birthday.

Mrs. Peggy Armstrong had a lovely dinner party for Mrs. Thelma Hill, Irene Pitts, Ethel Brown, Naomi Foster and others. They all had a swell time. Jay Gould dropped in for some drinks.

Percy Campbell of Larks Club, Oakland, is still sporting buying wine for a bunch of friends at all the clubs, what a time he had with the checks.

Bonita Williams was seen enjoying a Chinese dinner t'other night.

Leslie Armstrong on a furlough was spotted in all the different night clubs racking the drinks back for his wife, Thelma Hill, Miss Adele Ward, Sadie Roby, Baby Lundy and her husband, Bud, Gene Holly and this writer. Some sports.

Mr. and Mrs. St. Joseph just returned from Chicago and Los Angeles to 'Frisco from a three weeks vacation. Had a swell time with Mr. and Mrs. Gant of Los Angeles.

★ POST OFFICE FACTS & FIGURES

By PAUL L. HACKETT

"To thine ownself be true, and it must follow as the night the day, then how can thou be false to any man."

In telling the truth one may tell it a thousand times without fear for it will be just the truth. Anyone with just grievance should not fear intimidation for voicing or registering a complaint. While there may be certain individuals who may feel like Hitler, the department as a whole encourages telling facts as they are.

This is America and the birthplace of democracy and if we are to perpetuate democracy we must see that it is practiced in actuality as well as by lip service. The Post Office Department in Washington has promised us its cooperation in adjusting differences in the Los Angeles Post Office Department. We have every reason to believe this will be done, but if we expect results, we must cooperate with them.

More important than pay raises and other secondary issues is winning the war. The Post Office Department personnel has been drawn on heavily and will continue to be as long as this war lasts. It is vitally important that mail for defense industries and government agencies move as speedily as possible. When personnel is curtailed and volume is stepped up, efficiency must be increased. There is only one way to do this and that is to upgrade the most capable employees by reason of experience and efficiency regardless of race, creed or color. Anyone refusing to utilize or recognize talent is hindering the war effort, thereby aiding the Axis.

All Federal employees are much concerned over pending payraise legisdation. The bill in question H. R. 1366, introduced by Congressman O'Brien of Michigan, does not include all Federal employees. It passed the House 383-4, but there may be a possibility of veto as it did not embrace all Federal employees.

Covington Honored By U. S. Society

On Friday evening, Mar. 12, in Town and Gown on the University of Southern California campus, Floyd C. Covington, executive director of the Los Angeles Urban league, was elected to and initiated in membership in the Alpha Kappa Delta, national honorary sociological society.

In a letter to the executive from its president, Dr. Bessie A. McClannahan, the following statement was made, "By virtue of your special status, the initiation fee and the regular annual dues for this year are waived."

Covington has periodically been pursuing work on his doctor of philosophy in sociology and social work. He was recommended by several members of the faculty, and through the graduate division of the university for this signal honor.

The executive is to address the society at its next meeting on April 16 on "The Problems of Racial Minorities." This will be the last address of a series on this subject and will complete the year's activities for the society.

Covington has lectured annually in the sociological classes at the University of Southern California and many other colleges and universities in the state. To be elected to this national society as an off-campus student is a recognition of the contributions to the sociological field by Covington.

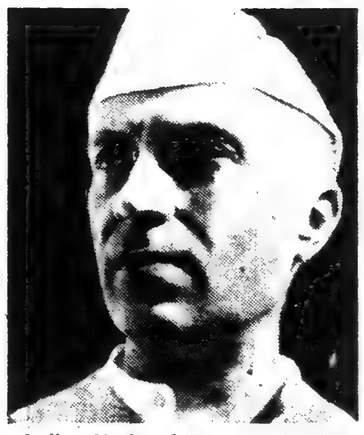
An open letter to Mr. Anthony Eden, Viscount Halifax, Mr. Cordell Hull, Mr. Sumner Welles and the other distinguished statesmen now discussing post-war plans:



WHAT ABOUT INDIA — NOW?

1. India wants freedom—freedom that will speed the victory which alone will guarantee a durable peace.

2. India believes that realistic post-war planning requires immediate steps to insure freedom for India—not after the war but now! Why court disaster by waiting?

3. India demands freedom for Gandhi, Nehru and all her other imprisoned leaders. They must be released to mobilize the vast resources of India in defense of the Motherland.

4. India feels a United Nations victory is seriously menaced by a continuance of the present colonial policy.

Indian National Congress Leader

"India is going to resist every attempt at domination, and a peace that has not solved the problem of India will not be of long purchase. Primarily this is Britain's responsibility, but its consequences are world-wide and affect this war. No country can therefore ignore India's present and her future, least of all America, on whom rests the vast burden of responsibility and toward whom so many millions look for right leadership at this crisis in world history."

—NEHRU

370,000,000 PEOPLE IN INDIA WANT FREEDOM NOW

India today has a population of 400,000,000. No less than 370,000,000 Indians, acting through their various organizations, support the demand for freedom now. All the following organizations in India have gone on record for the immediate release of the imprisoned leaders and the formation now of an interim national government:

The Azad (Free) Moslem Conference; The Christian Federation of India; The Indian Trade Union Congress; The All-India Kisan Sabha (Peasant Party); The Liberal Federation of India; The Indian Chamber of Commerce; The Communist Party of India; The All-India Akali (Sikh) Conference; The Indian Women's Federation; The Indian Student Federation; The Hindu Mahasabha.

How leaders of American thought answer "The Indian Question:"

"The Indian question is one of the most important facing the world today. There can be no sound peace and no future for the East or for the entire world until a settlement is reached. It seems to me to be the obligation of all concerned to make every effort for a settlement as rapidly as possible."

—Louis Bromfield

"The day of subject people is past. India deserves a free government."

—Irving T. Bush

"I congratulate the people of India upon the progress made toward the realization of independence and to the establishment of India as an independent nation. Right and justice will eventually triumph. Be assured of the continued support of the American Federation of Labor."

—William Green

"I am for Indian freedom. Without it, we will not win the war, no matter how conclusively we will have defeated the Axis."

—Louis Adamic

"Am confident Indian people will attain freedom in our time. This freedom can come only as result of united and determined war against Axis powers for a victorious independence."

—A. F. Whitney

"There is nothing insoluble in the Indian situation except the attitude of the parties—British and Indian—if there be anything at all insoluble. Essentially the British and the Indians have both the same interest in this matter, that is, self-preservation in both cases. Britons are fighting to preserve Britain, and Indians must be fighting to preserve India. They can do better together than against each other."

—Senator Claude Pepper

"I express the earnest hope that before the war is over, Great Britain will recognize the complete freedom of India."

—Senator Walter F. George

"The argument that people are unable to rule themselves makes no appeal to the true American."

—Upton Close

ndorses Proposals of itizens' Tax Committee

roposals for the Citizens' Tax mmittee for temporary chang- in the state tax structure and allocation of surplus state ds, recently submitted to Gov- or Earl Warren and accepted his official program, were en- sed today by directors of the Angeles County Chamber of mmerce.

Beebe, rman of the citizen's commit- and all members of the group ch prepared the report to the ernor. The Citizens' Tax Committee appointed by Governor War- when mounting state surplus ds showed increasing need for rganization of the tax struc- e, at least during wartime en citizens faced tremendous eral tax burdens. AS I SEE IT

By JEANETTE COHEN

A roof was raised in Califor- on Sunday, March 14. Climax- a Conference called by the gro Victory Committee of Los geles, New York Councilman, A. Clayton Powell, jr., ought the Negro and white dience to its feet with applause, outs and cheers when he spoke the Three Vs Campaign in our r against fascism—"Victory broad, Victory at Home and ctory over Ourselves."

The conference, held on Satur- y, March 13 at the Second Bap- t Church with representatives m CIO, AFL, NAACP, Church, vic and fraternal organizations people of varied political ought all gathered to discuss e Negro in the Battle for Pro- uction.

Mr. Wood of the War Manpow- Commission, Mr. James Ander- n of the AFL, Mr. Revels Cay- n of the CIO and many prom- ent civic leaders, revealed in e discussion that although there as been a tremendous increase the number of Negroes em- loyed in our war plants, our ountry has not nearly begun to tilize either the Negro man- ower or the skilled workers mong them.

The main emphasis of the con- erence was laid on the upgrad- ng of Negro workers already employed and a demand for the iring of Negroes by the L. A. Railway Company.

While the entire conference was n agreement that through the ressure of the trade union move- ment lies the solution to the existing problems, the question was raised of the outrageous dis- rimination found in such unions as the Boilermakers and the In- ternational Association of Mach- inists.

My one regret, was the negligi- ble number of white people present. We are the ones who can BENEFIT from Dr. Powell's speech. We are the ones to be re- minded that "long before Hitler was born in Austria, the Negroes were acquainted with Hitlerism in America--long before anyone knew of nazism, the Negroes knew its synonim, 'crackerocracy' —long before there was a Gesta- po, the Ku Klux Klan burned its way through the South—in fact, the Negro met Hitler face to face in Jamestown, in 1620."

Yes, we are the ones who must be made to feel this. The Negro has known it all his life. We should carry the brunt of the re- sponsibility in forcing the hand of the FEPC. We must raise our voices loud and long against lynching and the poll tax. We have a Debt to pay not only to the Negro people, but to the De- mocracy of our country and the cause of the United Nations.

More so did I feel this burning within me, when Dr. Powell took up the fight against Anti-Semit- ism. I felt his strong handclasp across the stage when he pleaded "You can't start out by hating a Jew without ending by hating yourselves. You can't whip Hitler in Europe or Japan and let him run up and down the streets of America." The roar of applause that followed was the clearest in- dication that our cause is ONE. The Negroes, Jews and all nation- al minorities who make up Am- erica will fight together. As Rev. Powell so rightly said: "This is OUR War, OUR Land, OUR World. Together we will win this War and the Peace."

Stabs Husband in Theatre Lobby

Because he resented interfer- ence in an argument between his wife and himself, Elmer Ren- fro, 1376½ E. Washington Blvd. was stabbed in the left side, last Saturday night.

According to his story told Newton officers Johnson and Col- lins, he and his wife had attend- ed the Rosebud Theatre, while passing through the lobby en route home they had become in- volved in an argument over some trivial matter. Fred Riggins, 24, of the 1500 block Washington Blvd. entered the discussion and a quarrel ensued between him and the husband. Allegedly chal- lenged by Riggins, Renfro had struck at him with his fist, whereupon the interferer re- taliated with a knife, plunging it into Renfro's left side. He was treated at Georgia Street Receiv- ing Hospital. Riggins faces charg- es of Assault with a Deadly Weapon.

All three headquarters are now in full swing with the largest group of volunteer work- ers ever to work for any candi- date in the district.

Folders, showing the qualifi- cations and accomplishments of Councilman Bennett, are now be- ing distributed to augment the newspaper advertising campaign which starts today in this paper.

Councilman Bennett has repre- sented this district in the City Council for the past eight years during which time he has intro- duced, supported and voted for some of the most important legis- lation adopted in the entire his- tory of the city. Previous to his entrance into the City Council Bennett was in the government service in the Vocational Re- habilitation of Veterans of World War 1 in charge of Southern California and Arizona. He was a High Schol teacher and School Superintendent of Schools in Pomona and served ten years as Professor of Education and Poli- tical Science at USC.

His Councilmanic record in Los Angeles was reconized by his as- sociates when they named him President of the City Council last year and is deserving of further recognition by re-election to the Council by the voters on April 6.

what the black man was up against; truly the Eagle has in my case proven to be a complete encyclopedia in re-education; for now I can realize how little I had known the colored man or of his struggle.

Perhaps others as myself would greatly change or at least modify their views should subscribers make it a special effort such as did one of your readers when he sent me a copy; if each subscrib- er would send one or two copies to some of the white race, I do believe the change in racial at- titude will within a reasonable period show marked improve- ment should my suggestion be followed.

Sincerely,
V. K. McKinney.

When Christ was here on earth he said to his disciples "Go ye in- to all the world and preach my gospel to every creature. He did not say to "whites only." I am wondering if these Christians who would bar Negroes from their re- ligious worship realize that we are standing on the eve of the greatest events in history. And the challenge now is as no chal- lenge has ever been in the annals of human struggle for freedom. If we would only stop and think-- pause long enough to forget our narrow prejudices and all the false barriers that separate us as human beings--we would realize that we are all at the point now where we must decide whether we are going to live together or die apart. Even as one white reader is able to see and recog- nize this challenge, so must all come to the decision that the big problem that contronts us is the winning of this war--the preserv- ing of all that we hold sacred and dear. The seeping hatred in our midst must be stamped out.

The people of America must join in one great army and that is the army to wage a democratic fight to win freedom for all peo- ples, regardless of race, color or creed. It is evident that many persons of the other race do not know all the problems that exist because they have not been in- formed, just as is admitted by the white reader whose letter ap- pears above. We wholeheartedly accept the suggestion made by this good reader and will act ac- cordingly. We feel confident that many white citizens are ready and willing to join in this fight, if they are only given to see the light.

Whether it be in the church, the schools, or in any phase of the public life here in America, we are determined to fight against Hitlerism and Fascism, not with hate, but with tolerance and a spirit of understanding.

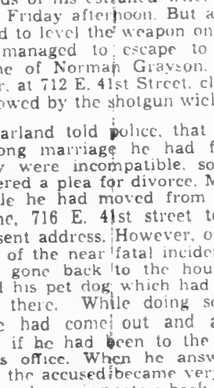
Wife Attempts to Shoot Husband With Shotgun

Only a speedy retreat from the muzzle of a double-barreled shot- gun, saved David Garland, 4194 Naomi street from death at the hands of his estraned wife, Julia last Friday afternoon. But as she tried to level the weapon on him, he managed to escape to the home of Norman Grayson, next door, at 712 E. 41st Street, closely followed by the shotgun wielder.

Garland told police, that after a long marriage he had found they were incompatible, so had entered a plea for divorce. Mean- while he had moved from their home, 716 E. 41st street to his present address. However, on the day of the near fatal incident he had gone back to the house to feed his pet dog, which had been left there. While doing so his wife had come out and asked him if he had been to the law- yer's office. When he answered yes, the accused became very an- gry and running into a back room returned with the loaded gun.



Shouting, I'm going to blow your brains out she pointed it at him. Investigators from Newton Station later found the gun to have two shells in it, although she had told them that it had not been loaded.

Public School Week Is Planned

Friends of the public schools, parents, and especially invited guests will help Jefferson high school observe Public Schools Week, Monday, April 12, through Friday, April 16.

The plans for the week, which are being made by a committee headed by Mrs. Elsa Mae Smith, girls' vice principal, provide for a special program for each of the five days. Monday will be the day for the raising of the Minu- teman flag, which the school ex- pects to be able to fly by that date. The flag is being purchased by the P-T A, and will be raised at a ceremony held before the en- tire student body. The winner of the Miss Victory contest, which is being held in connection with the sale of War Stamps and Bonds in order to reach the necessary ninety per cent owner- ship which qualifies the school to fly the flag, will officiate at the raising.

Vocational Day will be on Tues- day. Guest speakers will tell stu- dents and visitors about today's opportunities in the vocational fields of wartime. Exhibits of the vocational classes will include work of the shop classes, weld- ing, riveting, wood and metal work, auto shop, nad printing, as well as drafting; the commer- cial department; the vocational sewing classes; and the agricul- tural classes, which are emphasiz- ing the war needs.

Pan-American Day will be cele- brated on Wednesday, with Pan- american music, a good neigh- bor speaker for the assembly, and with the members of the Jeffer- son Mexican club acting as hosts and hostesses.

On Thursday, the regular P-T A meeting will take place, and provision will be made for the members and other guests to at- tend the Girls' Glee club pro- gram which will be given in the afternoon instead of in the morn- ing, at which time Jefferson as- semblies are usually held.

A finale, which will send the students home with a good start for Easter vacation and which will demonstrate the physical fit- ness program of the schools to the parents and friends, will be the field da which will be held on Friday. Drills, dancing, and games in which every girl and boy of the school will participate will be held in the afternoon.

Shapiro Seeks Municipal Judgeship, Office No. 1

Whether a man who has served on the bench for more than 35 years and is approximately 80 years of age should be continued in office, will be decided by the voters at the coming municipal election, Tuesday, April 6. The office in question is that of Mu- nicipal Court Judge, Office No. 1. Opposed to the incumbent is Herman S. Shapiro, prominent and respected member of the bar of this city.

Mr. Shapiro addressed many audiences throughout the north- eastern part of the U. S. in favor of the Federal law against lynch- ing.

According to Al Monroe, pro- minent business man who is sup- porting Shapiro's candidacy for Office No. 1, the latter should re- ceive very serious consideration at the hands of the voters.

"I have known Mr. Shapiro for many years, know that he is a respected member of the bar, a member of the Lawyer's Club and is privileged to practice before the Supreme Court of the United States," said Monroe. "Further- more, he has the judicial tempera- ment that makes good judges, is a much younger man than his op- ponent and it may be expected that he can carry on the duties of the office for many years before the cares and illnesses of old age overtake him."

Demos Rally to Fay Allen

At a membership meeting held March 4 at the Hollywood Roose- velt hotel, the Hollywood Demo- cratic Committee passed a resolu- tion to fully support Fay Allen for reelection to the Board of Education.

This resolution was inspired and prompted by her outstanding contributions to the welfare of this city. The committee is both proud and happy to help her campaign in any way possible, they have informed Mrs. Allen.

Nurses Aide Corps Active

At the Eastside Health Meeting held on March 7, the Jefferson high school Nurses' Aide Victory corps acted as ushers.

This corps is active in doing volunteer work at hospitals and clinics.

Training as Nurse's Aides Women Wanted for

Wanted: women willing to work hard to win the war. Apply at the nearest American Red Cross chapter for training as nurse's aides.

Stating that many California cities are below their quotas in training nurse's aides, Dr. Walton L. Halverson, director, California State Department of Public Health appealed for women to volunteer in the Red Cross nurse's-aide program.

"If sick civilians are to be given necessary nursing care and the public health protected during the war, it is essential that more nurse's aides be trained to release graduate nurses for skilled services," he declared.

"One nurse's aide working 3-hours a day, 5-days a week, contributes 750 hours a year which is equivalent to three months of a graduate nurse's time at the rate of eight hours a day. By giving bathes, taking temperatures, pulse and respiration, making beds and performing other essential services, nurse's aides release graduate nurses to give highly skilled, desperately needed care."

Warning that nurses's aide work is the most demanding volunteer war service open to women, Dr. Halverson outlined qualifications and work which are stipulated by the Red Cross.

To be accepted for training, women must have high school education or its equivalent and be between 18 and 50 years old. Women over 50 must have a doctor's statement that they are physically able to do the work. Applicants must have sufficient time to take the 80 hour training course in six week period and to give a minimum of 150 hours of service a year.

A SHINNING STAR

Rare indeed is there a day that passes, but that we are not aware of a conflict of emotional desires. Life itself, is made up of frustration and disappointments, resulting in conflict and indecision. Happiness and sucess in life oftimes depends upon the length of time we take in making a definite decision on some perplexing problem.

For instance the individual who decides hastily and unwisely usually blunders. A few are slow but wise in their decisions. There are many who are uncertain and never decide until the opportunity is past. The fickle person is constantly recalling his decisions and deciding all over again. He is usually the most unhappy one of the lot, and, the greatest failure.

Make decisions that you feel are wise, but fast, then, stick to them. Aim your star toward a goal, and strive with all your might to succeed.

W. E.—Dear Sir: After receiving that fine Horoscope, I have decided to make some changes in my course of study. I knew the subjects that I was taking were not interesting to me, but failed to do anything about them, until I read the Horoscope which informed me of the career I am best suited for. Now I am much happier and doing nicely, thanks again Professor.

A. M. T.—Will I be successful with the case?

Ans.—It appears to me that you will be successful in the case you now have in court. At least the decision will be in your favor, so don't worry.

P. N.—Will I move soon?

Ans.—A careful analysis of your question indicates the fact that you will soon get to move into your own home. The reason for the delay is due to war conditions, which you must realize, holds up private buildings and improvements in homes.

M. C.—What shall I do?

Ans.—It seems that your friend writes to a girl he used to go with. But, you have no cause to worry, nothing but friendship exist between these two, as he loves you dearly.

L. L. E.—Will I find happiness this year?

Ans.—A careful interpretation of your question reveals 1943 as a very happy year for you. Your financial affairs will improve and you will find true love during this year. Look forward to the future.

C. B.—Will I get to see my girl friend this year?

Ans.—I vision you making a trip soon, and it will be to see your girl friend. A little careful management on your part will enable you to make the trip sooner.

V. M.—Will I get the job?

Ans.—Probing into the matter I find that you have placed your application at various places but there is one particular job you would like to get. It seems that you will hear some good news soon, from that company.

H. R.—What shall I do, marry the one in camp or the one in the south? Will I get a job soon? Which one would make the best husband?

Ans.—Only one question is answered in the column; I suggest you write in for a private reply, and perhaps I can help you.

E. C.—Is it possible for me to win him again?

Ans.—Your lucky Stars and Guiding Planet indicate the fact that you care a great deal for this person. And that altho' he is now going with someone else, he is very fond of you. It isn't his fault that he was unable to see you, so now you must be patient. You will win his friendship back again, if you try.

★ LIBRARY NOTES

Among books recently added to the Helent Hunt Jackson branch collection are:

Come Back to Me Beloved: Norris—The story of the Hazeltines is fast moving with the ecstasies of youth and the more involved emotions in the perplexed elders. The Hazeltines are Paula, married to successful, popular Stephen; their four children, Mimsie, the baby, Marlys, young Stephen, Trez and Paula's sister, Deborah.

Angel Mo' and Her Son Roland Hayes: Helm—Although told by a close friend, Dr. Helm, this story of a great singer is in essence an autobiography told with restraint and delicious humor. Roland Hayes was brought up in a little Georgia town, where his education was very scanty. After his father's death, the family moved into the city and Roland became a bread earner, so that he had to continue his education after he was sixteen. Throughout Roland's life, his god angel has been his mother, the "Angel Mo'" of this story.

Covering the Mexican Front: Kirk—This book is the work of an outstanding foreign correspondent in Latin America. It is the eye-witness account of one who saw land division, who lived through the breathless moments of the oil expropriations, who covered the news on Trotsky from his arrival in Mexico until his assassination, who reported the social upheavals created by the course of the Mexican Revolution under President Cardenas and the adoption of the middle way under President Camacho.

If you have read the account of the Marines in "They Were Expendable," you will want to read the following two books, which take up our fight in Guadalcanal and the Solomons.

Guadalcanal Diary: Tregaskis—This is a new chapter in the story of the United States Marines. The diary begins on July 26, 1942 and continues until September 26, 1942. It describes the transports bound for an unknown destination; the landing at Guadalcanal; the occupation of the tiny seven mile strip that included the invaluable air field built by the Japs; and the defense of this territory.

Battle for the Solomons: Wolfert—Ira Wolfert was sent to Guadalcanal by the North American Newspaper Alliance early in October. He travelled to Honolulu by troop transport, and by plane down the amazing seaway and skyway the navy has thrown southwest across the Pacific, reaching Guadalcanal just as a Japanese task force battered its way through. This is the most vivid and exciting eye witness account of fighting in three dimensions—air, land and sea—that has come to date from the present war.

Young People's Day Sunday at Second AME Church

The Baby Contest of Second AME church, Cor. 43rd place and San Pedro in connection with Women's Day, is over.

Presiding Elder F. A. Harris delivered the message at both of the services on Sunday. The Quarterly Conference report showed the church to be progressing very splendidly.

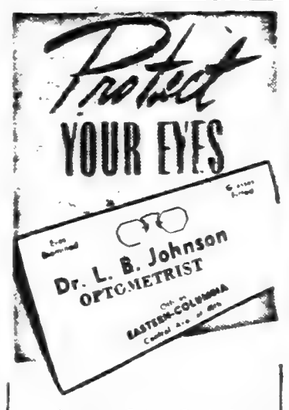
Next Sunday, March 28, will be observed as Young People's Day with Miss Ella Mae Cresland in charge. The message at the morning hour will be delivered by the Rev. Wilbur Johnson, Youth pastor of 1st AME church, Pasadena. The last of the series of Twilight Musicals will be presented at 5 p. m.

Lenten services are being conducted on Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock by the Pastor, Rev. J. B. Isaacs.

Music for Young People's Day will be furnished by the Young People's Choir under the direction of Herman Woods. The groups is composed of 54 voices.

Jeff Air-Raid Drill Works

Jefferson high school, like the Los Angeles City Hall personnel, carried out an orderly air-raid drill on March 16.



It was the first time that the street signals had sounded before the school signals for a drill. The pupils and teachers heard the street sirens. They waited for the school signals, ready to go to their places. The school signals sounded. Classes marched two by two to the inside walls of classrooms in the approved buildings, or to the corridors of those buildings, or to the auditorium, all to their appointed places. Fire squads reported for duty; First Aid corps reported for duty. Jefferson was ready.

WAR ON NEGRO

TRUTH: For 323 years a war of prejudice, discrimination, lynching and abuses has been waged against us. I began to fight this battle when I discovered that I was a 'made fool.' Mark you, not a fool but a 'made one', like many intellectuals.

Thinking people are asking: What are we—Negroes, olored People or what? What is a NEGRO? No educator has ever given a satisfactory answer. They haven't the courage. The truth has never been told. Why is NEGRO the most disputed name? Because the truth is not known. Truth Is The Basis Of Education. I went to a university; spent 5 years in law school in Boston, became counsellor in public schools. Worked in educational sociology at New York University.

After 15 years' investigation, study and research, I found the facts, the history, the truth about the race.

With my discovery, I made money, and gained world respect.

It can do the same for you. I have compiled it in the great book: "HUMAN SIDE OF PEOPLE." 399 pages. 84 pictures by myself. Raphael P. Powell. The demand for this book by thousands proves that it shows the way o success and is helping to win the war against race prejudice. Price $3. Send orders to: PHILEMON CO. 224 West 135th St., New York City. GUARANTEED: The only book which gives the TRUTH about our race.

Kinloch Interviews California Solon On Legislation

By John Kinloch
Special Eagle Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Today I talked with a man whom Joe Stearnes, John Rankin, Martin Dies and Theodore Bilbo have scared pink.

He is Rep. Jerry Voorhis, California progressive and decisive leader of the Golden State Democratic delegation in Washington, who has refused to sign a petition to draw the Marcantonio anti-poll tax legislation out of the judiciary committee to the House floor for a vote,

Others Seek To "Hatchet" Anti-Bias Agencies

By JOHN KINLOCH
Eagle Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — If you work at a Los Angeles aircraft plant, a ship-yards or in other defense industry, the safety of your job hangs in balance this week as poll-tax Congressmen prepare to hatchet every anti-discriminatory agency of the Administration. Your great hope, however, is the blistering campaign for support of the Marcantonio anti-poll tax bill which has developed here in the last 13 days.

With a coalition of Democrats and Republicans joined behind the Marcanotio measure, with unified support from AFL, CIO, the NAACP and Below is reprint of an article from the March 19th edition of the N. Y. Times, which speaks for itself:

THE Midtown Business and Professional Women's Club of this city brought suit in the Supreme Court here yesterday to enjoin the New York State Federation of such clubs from withdrawing its charter after it had admitted two Negro members.

According to the complaint and supporting documents filed in court, the New York State Federation notified the Midtown Club on March 3 that its application for membership had been rejected at a January meeting; and the federation returned at the same time all the dues which had been forwarded for members of the Midtown Club since it was organized last July, although meanwhile it had apparently been accepted.

The Midtown Club offered in evidence a charter received from the national federation, the over-all body controlling some 1,500 clubs throughout the United States with a membership of 76,000 business and professiinal women. It is the preservation of full membership and equal rights in this national body which the Midtown Club identifies as the object of the suit. Such membership in the national federation is obtainable only through the State Federation.

"CLERICAL ERROR"

THE CONTENTION

THE State Federation, according to the complaint, now declares the national charter to the Midtown Club was issued "through a clerical error" and it bars any further attempt to get such a charter by rejecting the Midtown.

"The question of clerical error came up," says the Midtown complaint, "only after it had been learned by the state president that we had admitted to membership two Negro women. The action of the State Federation has been determined solely by virtue of the conduct of the Midtown Club in accepting Negroes into membership."

In advance of a formal answer in court, a statement was issued yesterday for the State federation by Miss Frances K. Marlatt, president, who is a Westchester attorney.

"Most unfortunately," said Miss Marlatt, "the racial issue has been injected. How the Nazies in our midst must re-

War Jobs For Negroes On Increase

According to a statement made to the California Eagle last week, the office of War Information, in answer to inquiries, stated that employment of Negroes in Los Angeles had more than doubled in less than a year. The rate of increase has been from 1.1 per cent, to 2.6 per cent of the total between May of last year and January of this year.

In exact figures 5,200 Negroes of both sexes have received war jobs in that period. However, although the board did not make this statement, it is well known that the employment of Negroes took a sharp boost following tha President's executive order, and persistent mass meetings and matches by protesting local citizens.

Examples of such employment are the Calship Corp. which rose from 400 in May of 1942 to 1,132 in January, 1943, and other ship-

Purse Snatchers Reaping Harvest

In broad daylight at 7:00 a.m. last Sunday morning, Mrs. Lydia Woods, 1020 Hooper Ave., lost $41 and her purse to a purse snatcher at Vernon ave. between McKinley and Avalon.

However, even though she may not recover her cash and valuables, she gave Newton police th name and description of the suspect. She declares that she can idntify him as Jack Kurtin, of light olive complexion, and a resident of the Rosslyn Hotel.

BOYS GRAB PURSE

While walking to a streetcar intersection on San Pedro between 11th and Pico at 8:30 last Saturday night, Mrs. Marie Mc Milan was robbed of her purse by two unidentified boys.

Unsuspected by her, they slipped up behind her and suddenly snatched the purse out of her hand, running out of sight.

STEALS BOTH WATCH-DOG AND VALUABLE CHICKEN

Some bold chicken thief is probably having a laugh to himself over the fact that he not only stole a valuable chicken, but the pedigred young watch-dog also, last Friday night.

The victim was Lydia Woods, 1020 Hooper Ave., who had left home at 7:00 p.m. to attend a nearby church. When she returned, the chicken, a Rhode Island Red, for breeding stock was gone, and also the dog which had been tied on the back porch.

Hotel Bars Race Union Organizer

Uaw-Cio, With Will Aid, Gets Criminal Summons For Hotel Manager

"Our union won't stand for discrimination of any kind," declared Regional Director Alex McGowan of the CIO's United Auto Workers, when he came out of Jefferson Market Court in N. Y. Thursday (March 25) with a dozen of his organizers, after his union had succeeded in getting Magistrate Charles Harsmaki to issue a criminal summons against the night manager of NY's Knickerbocker Hotel for refusing to accommodate a Negro UAW organizer, William Bowman.

The trade union delegation in court consisted of leaders of more than 200,000 war workers in the East enrolled in the UAW. The group included Charles Kerrigan, regional aircraft director for UAW, George Cranmore, UAW's assistant regional director, and Irving Salert, regional director of the CIO War Relief Committee, Attorney Max Delson, board member of the Workers Defense

Stabs Husband During Family Quarrel

Without stating that he did not want her prosecuted, George Jones, 1225 E. 25th street, related to police who arrived at the scene last Sunday night, that his wife had been responsible for painful stab wounds, from which he was suffering.

Jones declared that his spouse had been drinking and had become intoxicated. Suddenly flying into a rage during an argument she had snatched a knife and stabbed him. Only his attempts to defend himself, prevented him from receiving more serious wounds he stated.

STABBED BY COMPANION AT BEER PARLOR

After several hours spent in his company drinking at a beer parlor at 52nd and Long Beach Avenue, Ona Porter, 5641 Morgan Avenue, became the victim of her companion's anger. She was not sure of his name.

At 2:00 a.m. while leaving the beer parlor at closing time, the man who had become intoxicated, was a little in front of her, whipped out a knife, stabbed her and attacked her, inflicting painful but not dangerous wounds.

Thousands of All Races Greet Madam Chiang Kaishek

By HARRY LEVETTE

With hundreds of colored citizens, present and showing their interest in the great woman who is an ambassador of the Democracy and interracial understanding so dear to them, Madam Chiang Kaishek, wife of the generalissimo of China, was greeted bythousands yesterday. Arriving in the morning and greeted by a welcoming committee, while throngs crowded the vicinity of the Union Station, she was escorted at once to the Spring street steps of the City Hall, by units of the armed forces, and a parade led by Mayor Fletcher Bowron. Facing the platform, upon which the honored guest stood, before loud speaker and radio microphone was a special section for the Honorary Citizens Committee including seats for an Eagle representative, and Publisher Charlotta A. Bass, specially invited by the mayor.

Looking fresh and youthful despite her exacting transcontinental tour, the beautiful, militant, "First Lady" of China, carried a huge boquet of beautiful flowers, as she mounted the platform to be introduced by Mayor Bowron. An unrivalled greeting met her with thunderous applause from the thousands of all races. A large number of Chinese children carrying out the theme of a melting-pot of races, colored patrolmen were stationed on many of th corners in the vicinity of the City Hall. Incidentally Madam Chiang, was closely guarded every moment; machine guns and bayonetted rifles being much in evidence.

MME. CHIANG KAI-SHEK, China's First Lady, whose arrival here Wednesday stirred widespread interest in the war conscious Southland. Lavishly entertained by L. A. notables, Mme. Chiang, who on innumerable occasions has said that only complete eradication of race prejudice and intolerance can win this war, will make her only public appearance Sunday afternoon at Hollywood Bowl.

Shoot Two Who Beat Pedestrian

Quick retribution overtook two strong-arm bandits shortly after they had beat brutally and beaten a pedestrian early yesterday morning for both were felled by police bullets, as they fled from the scene of their crime. That one of them was not instantly killed by a second bullet, was due to the mercy of one of the officers, who urged his fellow officer not to fire again, after he saw the first ball had hit its target.

Now in the prison ward of General Hospital are Robt. Allen, colored, 23, of 804 E. Third street, suffering from a bullet in his shoulder; and Rudolfo Mason, 17 year old Mexican of 409½ Seaton street with a slug in his leg. Physicians say that it will probably have to be amputated.

Their victim was Clarence McClure, a Santa Fe R. R. dining-car waiter, who was shadowed by the men about 12:30 a.m. while walking north to his home at 815 E. 6th street. As he reached 7th and Gladys he suspected he was being followed, but continued on towards Sixth street. Shortly after this the pair caught

RACE BIAS BILL PASSES COMMITTEE

Assembly Bill number 50, dealing with racial discrimination, was passed out of the Labor and Capital Committee by a margin of one vote, with the comment as given by State Assemblyman Kellem that there will not be a flood of bills of this nature passed by this committee.

There are still several bills dealing with racial discrimination on housing and employment pending.

Asembly Bill Number 295, in which a number of railroad employees are interested, which asks "an itemized statement in writing showing all deductions made from wages shall be furnished by the employer at the time of paying wages to any employee, either as a part of the check, draft, or voucher, or separately. Also, a statement in writing shall be furnished the employee on or before March 1 of each year showing the total compensation paid to the employee during the preceding calendar year," was passed by a large margin with a recommendation of "do pass" to the Assembly floor.

BERTH "13" MURDER SUSPECT COUNSEL CHARGE FRAME-UP

With his defense counsel and family determined to see that he gets a fair trial, limbering up all legal artillery, word comes from Alba Oregon that arguments are to be heard next Monday in the case of Robert Lee Folkes, 20 year old cook charged with the "Berth 13" slaying of Mrs. Richard F. James.

The arguments will be based on the indefinite postponement of the first degree murder trial, with Judge L. D. Lewilling presiding. Leroy Lomax, Portland attorney for the defendant asked for the continuance on the ground that the Linn County District Attorney Harlow Weinrick and the S. P. Railway Co. had conspired against a fair trial for Folkes.

Open charge that the Southern Pacific aRilroad and Oregon law enforcement officials are conspiring to prevent Robert Lee Folkes from getting a fair trial in the famous Berth 13 slaying this week spurred preparation and heightened interest in a dance slated for tonight (Thursday, April 1) at Elks Hall to raise funds for the defense of the accused man.

The charges of conspiracy were voiced by Leroy Lomax, Port-

Editor On Madam Chiang Welcoming Committee

Bestowing on her the honor coveted by virtually every citizen in Los Angeles, Mayor Fletcher Bowron last week, mailed a special invitation to Editor-Publisher Charlotta A. Bass to be a member of the Honorary Citizens Committee, welcoming Madam Chiang Kaishek.

The Committee was ordered to be present at the City Hall steps at 9:00 a.m. yesterday, in order to take their places in the special seats prepared for them.

This unusual, honor accorded the Eagle publisher, is in recognition of the 64-year-old publication as not only the leading race paper on the coast, but as one of the most consistent of the national race papers, in a never ending fight for Democracy the message the illustrous Madam Chiang is bringing to America.

With Los Angeles as one of the most important stops in her nationwide tour, the wife of China's great Generalissimo, will terminate her visit here Sunday, with an address before an over capacity audience in Hollywood Bowl.

LAST-DITCH FIGHT OPENS TO END BIAS IN LABOR

Los Angeles, March 28—The opening salvo of a last-ditch fight to wipe jim crow from the ranks of organized labor in this area was fired here last Sunday evening at a potest ally of Negro and white shipyard workers held at the People's Independent Church of Christ. The meeting was called by the Committee for Equal Participation in the Shipyards, a rank and file body, formed specifically to map the fight for full and equal participation of Negro workers in the Boilermakers' Union and in industry.

The meeting, chaired by Garner V. Grayson, also chairman of the committee, got off to a rousing start as speaker after speaker took the floor to denounce the jim-crow auxiliary setup imposed upon Negroes by employers and union officials, at the California Shipyards, Western Pipe and Steel, and Consolidated.

Plans were formulated for the issuance of a special circular to white union members calling for their support in the fight, and pointing out the anti-American, anti-union nature of the union discrimination policy and its disastrous effect upon war production.

Negro stooge officials of the jim-crow auxiliary came in for special lambasting. Particularly resentful was the audience at the unsolicited intervention of Mr. George Streater, Negro A. F. of L. representative of the National War Production Board. In a meeting last week of Negro shipyard workers, at the Y. M. C. A., it was reported that Mr. Streater not only threw cold water on the fight for the just demands of Negro welders, but actually advocated their passive acceptance of the jim-crow set-up.

Rev. Clayton Russell and Mrs. Charlotta Bass, members of the Victory Committee, participated in the discussion, pledging full support to the workers in their fight.

A well thought out and comprehensive resolution calling for immediate action to remedy the situation was adopted by the body and forwarded to President William Green, A. F. of L., the Executive Board of the Boilermakers International, and Mr. Blackwell, secretary-treasurer of the local Boilermakers. The resolution is as follows:

Today, as never before, our country is engaged in a life and death struggle for its very existence. This war, if lost, would make the trade union movement in America what the Hitler hordes have made of all working class organizations in Germany;

For The Board of Education

The California Eagle urges the people to throw their full support behind the present incumbent, Fay Allen, as a member of the Board of Education. Her record, as a member of the Board, has been progressive and she has served faithfully and well. We also urge the election of Lester W. Roth and LaRue McCormick as new members. The Board of Education needs new blood, and we believe that with those above mentioned, we will have three voices instead of one voice, fighting for equality of opportunity for all people in our educational system.

CALIFORNIA'S SHEPARD MUST BE POLL-TAXER

WASHINGTON.—California Democrat H. R. Shepard yesterday told a California EAGLE reporter that he could not sign the petition to discharge the anti-poll tax bill or would he promise to support that legislation.

"I have always liked the colored people," said Representative Shepard.

"I had a lovely black mammy down in Alabama," he added.

Charge Attempt to Split Negro Vote April 6

Fay Allen Has Key Role In Elections

To split the Negro vote and disunite the Negro people in their patriotic war efforts can be the only motive behind the Los Angeles Times' endorsement of Beatrice Polk Johnson for the Board of Education. Its support of her candidacy is undoubtedly aimed at defeating Miss Fay Allen, a leader in the Negro community and the only outstanding progressive on the Board. Only defeatists and "politics as usual" elements are interested and would benefit from such an outcome in the April 6th elections.

Miss Allen's membership on the Board of Education is of national importance, since she is the only Negro citizen in the United States to hold a city-wide office in government. Not only the Negro people, but also all progressive sections of the people in Los Angeles welcomed this.

There is a danger that the defeatists will achieve their objective unless all victory-minded citizens mobilize to ensure the re-election of Miss Allen. I urge all voters to rally their friends and neighbors today to go to the polls on April 6th and guarantee that this progressive voice remain on our Board of Education. It is essential for the welfare of the Negro people and of our entire city.

One of the tasks which I have assumed in my campaign for the Board of Education is to bring to the people of Los Angeles the real role which Miss Allen is playing. We need more such members on the Board of Education to guarantee greater war service by and for our public schools.

Mrs. La Rue McCormick.

E. F. MacDonough Opens Headquarters for Council

Negro citizens of the Fifth Councilmanic District will have a "friend at court" in the Los Angeles City Council when E. F. MacDonough, for 10 years a director of the Urban League, is successful in his campaign to be elected to the Council from this district.

Prepared to wage an intensive drive to secure the nomination of MacDonough at the primary election, April 6, a volunteer committee of MacDonough supporters this week opened campaign headquarters at 3624 West Washington Blvd. All willing to volunteer their help are invited to visit there.

A friend of the workingman, as well as of the Negro, MacDonough when manager of the Santa Barbara Chamber of Commerce, before coming to Los Angeles, pioneered in harmonizing labor and business elements when he persuaded the Chamber to invite Labor to representation on the Board: Jim Smedley, Santa Barbara labor leader, was offered and accepted a place on the directorate.

In Los Angeles, MacDonough for 15 years was domestic and foreign trade extension secretary of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce and in that capacity so increased Los Angeles' trade outlets in the United States, the Pacific Basin countries and western Canada that he was instrumental in bringing millions of dollars to local factories, creating new jobs and increasing payrolls.

For the last several months MacDonough had been executive secretary of the War Price Rationing Board at 3967 Wilshire Blvd., resigning to become a Councilmanic candidate in the Fifth District. He lives, with Mrs. MacDonough, at 1180 Tremaine Ave.

BUY A WAR BOND!

Mrs. Fay E. Allen Will Address League Sunday, April 4th

MEMBER L. A. EDUCATION BOARD

Public Meeting of People's Equality League Will Unite All Citizens for Common Struggle

In a public address built around the timely and significant theme of "Equal opportunity for each citizen to contribute the maximum to the winning of the war," Mrs. Fay E. Allen, progressive member of the Los Angeles City Board of Education, will speak under the auspices of the People's Equality League at 6 p. m. Sunday, April 4. Rose Hill Courts Administration Building, 4466 Florizel street, is the site of this meeting.

People's Equality League is active in a program to build and expand better relations between citizens of all races, creeds and colors. In a national way the League is striving to do what is dictated by the force of events on the international scene. Members of the League feel that nothing is more important to the winning of the war and the peace than the participation of each citizen on a basis of full equality in all activities in the decisive struggle against reaction and Fascism.

Mrs. Allen's background, activities and recognition indicate clearly why she is so eminently fitted to carry on the struggle for all the youth of the city as well as for the working people in general. From a childhood at Ottumwa, Iowa, her magnetic an genial way has carried her to a broad education gained in the states of Iowa, Illinois, Colorado and in Los Angeles. She is a musician of note, having studied abroad in France and Italy. For 30 years Mrs. Allen has been in Los Angeles. First she was a successful teacher of music in the city schools, and now for many years has been a member of the city board and always a fighter for civic equality.

Activities of Mrs. Allen for social improvement of all the people indicate just how for the scope of her struggle has extended. They include membership in the Jefferson High P.T.A., Y.M.C.A., Sigma Gamma Rho Sorority, Auxiliary 4 vice-chairman in the present American Red Cross drive, executive board of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the Urban League and trustee of Local 767, Musicians' Protective Association.

Honors and citations have been many, including a special citation from President Woodrow Wilson for outstanding services in the first World War, the Gold Plaque Award of the Los Angeles Fellowship League for outstanding achievement and the Bronze Plaque of the Citizens' Committee for outstanding work in the city.

This opportunity to hear Mrs. Fay E. Allen at her very best should not be missed. Everyone is invited to come and enjoy an evening of education and entertainment with refreshments. It is an unusual opportunity to hear a fearless fighter for civic equality and as well to become familiar with the progressive program of the People's Equality League.

To arrive at the meeting place take Sierra Vista (red car), north on Main street, get off at Monterey Road.

Made Corporal

TUSKEGEE, Ala., March —, Pfc. Ollie D. Parker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis F. Parker of 1509 North Mesquite street, Las Cruces, New Mexico, has been promoted to the rank of corporal.

Cpl. Parker, an aircraft mechanic, was inducted on the 13th of August, 1942, at Fort Bliss, Texas, where he received his transfer to the Tuskegee Army Flying School, Alabama. Cpl. Parker is now attached to the 890th School Squadron.

DID YOU "A" DRIVERS HAVE TIRES CHECKED?

Los Angeles motorists with "A" mileage ration books were reminded today by B. B. Bratton, chairman of the local War Price and Rationing Board, that March 31 is the deadline for initial inspection of their tires under the Office of Price Administration's program of periodic examinations to extend the life of casings now on cars.

"Many already have had the inspections made, but those who have not can be of help to themselves and to the busy operators of inspection stations by going in as soon as posible in order to avoid a last-minute rush," Mr. Bratton said.

"The ordinary inspection takes no longer than an oil change," the Board chairman said, "and inspections generally pay dividends in the form of added tire mileage for the motorist. In many cases, expert examinations has disclosed the need of repairs and recapping to drivers who were not aware that their tires needed any attention."

HAS PRE-FLIGHT MATH CLASS

Unique is the record of Phil Lieb, (white) instructor in the Polytechnic Evening High School. Every member completing his pre-flight mathematics class so far has passed the entrance examinations for Army or Navy Air Corps.

This class, conducted from 7 to 9 Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, covers mathematics fundamentals, algebra, geometry, trigonometry, physics, navigation, and use of the slide rule.

Young men, interested in entering the air forces, are invited to investigate the opportunity offered by this class.

● AS I SEE IT

I would not relish being a foreign diplomat in the United States. One has always to be careful of International complications, even when speaking the truth.

Mr. Emanuel Aguilar of the Mexican Consulate in Los Angeles, I'm sure found himself in this position when he spoke to the Citizen's Committee for the Defense of Mexican-American Youth, on Sunday, March 14th.

This Citizens Committee was formed in defense of 17 Mexican-American boys convicted on charges of assault and murder—a crime they did not commit.

Need I go into the details of the case? They are practically the same as any other frame-up—just another locale.

Los Angeles is composed of approximately 26 national groups; 1/6 of the population, Mexican; 125,000 Jewish; 90,000 Negroes, 10,000 Filipinos, 60,000 Italians; 4,000 Chinese, etc. Each Community labelled "bad," each looked upon with disdain.

Keeping within his diplomatic bounds, Mr. Aguilar, giving a picture of a Mexican's life from childhood to manhood, said:

"A child born of Mexican parents in the United States is told, 'you are different, you cannot study together with other children; you have to go to another school, or another classroom.' The child continues his life being segregated, humiliated. He goes to a moving picture, a swimming pool, he is told, 'you are different'.

"After going through school, hurdling all obstacles, he has a degree, but 'he is different'.

"We are fighting a battle for Democracy and it is our hope, that the cooperation of all civic minded peoples, of the trade unions, of the churches and of every American with red blood in his veins will fight off the hordes of fascists. The case of these 17 American Mexican youth is of great interest to the people of Mexico. The Good Neighbor Policy, the 10th Anniversary of which was celebrated on March 4th, should be not only the concern of the Government, but should be practiced by all the people, if we are to achieve good results."

Realizing the closeness of this case to their own problems, the Negro Victory Committee, from its conference on March 13-14, sent a delegation to the Mexican-American Conference, pledging its full support in defense of the boys.

Concrete proof of the injustice of the verdict, holding three boys for first degree murder, nine for second degree murder and five for assault, was the maneuvering of Asst. Dist. Attorney Clyde Shoemaker, prosecutor, to sabotage the Citizens Conference. He did not think it was "necessary" for the people to meet on this issue. As a result, at the last moment, the Conference had to be moved from the Unitarian Church to the Belmont Studios, located a good distance away from the Mexican Community.

The fight to free these youths is part of what Rev. Clayton Powell calls "Victory At Home." We cannot have Victory abroad without the fullest support from the people at home. We must have a united people to get the fullest support. We must stop the persecution of minorities to have a united people.

"THE BLACK MAN'S BURDEN"

A New Approach to Missions by Trinity Baptist's Pastor on World Outreach Sunday

Dr. Caston says: Negro Church should prefer crucifixion on a million Calvary's rather than support decadent white non-Christian social order.

"The field is the world." Matt. 13:38.

"Go . . . make disciples of all nations," Matt. 28:19.

". . . for one is your Master, even Christ; and all ye are brethren" . . . for one is your Father, which is in heaven," Matt.8b and 9b.

The words in the first of our texts have a similar modern day ring: "the field is the world." There is something within us that responds to them. We say: "Of course, the field is the world," but on the occasion of the utterance of these words, by Jesus, those who followed him hardly felt as we feel now. The global conception so familiar to us had not entered their thinking. They were obscure people with the limitations of such people. When Jesus lifted the veil that they might see what he was seeing and said: "Lift up your eyes and look on the fields ready for harvest" and "Go, make disciples of all nations," there were many who put him down as a dreamer of dreams, a fantastic visionary. And when he dared say that the whole human race is one family they sneered at him saying: "We are Romans" or "We are Abraham's children, all others are outsiders and inferior dogs." Nevertheless, Jesus thought, lived and died with his world outlook and world outreach. Every Day was World Outreach day with him. What could these outstretched arms on the Cross better symbolize?

Therefore as we come to-day to World Outreach Sunday and seek to interpret the meaning of his way of life in terms of our program this year, I felt that a fresh look at God's world in the light of the thinking of Jesus would help each of us as we attempt to make up our minds about our financial purposes. If you can be made to see that this war is at bottom more than a conflict of arms, that is has a deeper spiritual basis and that the Master is depending on us to put our all on his side, we will be more generous. Moreover, I felt that the necessity laid upon us could well be shared by the Negro church in America today. Therefore when I refer to the Negro church, I want you to localize it and say: "That is my responsibilty at Trinity." One other word of introduction. Let no one feel that we are such an insignificant part of world affairs that it really doesn't matter what we do or say here. That service flag representing the long arm of our local church, reaching out to the four corners of the globe is a silent rebuke to such wingless thoughts. We are in London. We are in China. We are in India. We are in Africa. Sister Carpenter just received a letter from her son, Luther, in Africa. We are in Burma. We are in India. We are everywhere the Stars and Stripes unfurl the chance of freedom. Truly "the field is the world."

You see, that thought is not so fantastic after all, because everything we do is don on a global scale. We can't even buy sugar or gasoline without reaching out to the four corners of the earth. We can't read our newspapers or turn on our radios or dial for the time of day without being led right out of our homes on to a field which is the world. Therefore, as we turn to Jesus this morning for our lesson, we cannot but face our world situation. All men everywhere must do this and I wish to guide your thinking about "The Black Man's Burden."

There was once the myth of THE WHITE MAN'S BURDEN, by which white men regarded themselves as the guardians of the darker race. It took deep root in their thinking. To some of them it was a challenge to aid the darker races in the name of Christianity. To others it was a signal for all kinds of evil visited upon the darker peoples by a fearful ruling class. No race of black peoples has any better first-hand knowledge of the terrific consequences of that than the American Negro. But its sweep was world-wide taking in the darker races of Asia, Africa and the Isles of the Sea. If the vision aroused white Christians to send missionaries with their Bibles, it also encouraged imperialists to follow up the Christian approach with enocomic exploitation and social immoralities, the fruits of which are returning to plague the entire world in a senseless orgy of slaughter and destruction.

It is ours to live in a period of the world's history when the tides are coming in. What they have washed up and are washing up on our shores in human degeneracy and social mal-adjustments compel us to consider anew the timeless significance of the philosophy Jesus expresses in these texts. They mean that whether we will or not, we are unavoidably involved in the world scene. We are internationalists whether we like it or not. We are world citizens. That citizenship places on us certain responsibilities from which we dare not turn away without courting disaster. There is no such thing as foreign missions any more simply because our geography has been contracted so severely that we can sit in our living rooms and feel the heartbeat of Africa. We must, if we are to be Christian, be in haste about making disciples of all nations that as citizens of a common world, we may each think and act together in the light of the common fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man. We dare not turn from these plain implications. They come to white men and they come to men of darker skins alike. The necessity, the burden is on us here in the United States as much as on the people of the world anywhere. I also set forth the thesis that upon the Negro church in particular, this burden is laid.

Have you not felt that sense of burden? Listen to George Haynes writing in the current issue of the Survey Graphic on "The Racial Roots of War." After carefully destroying the myth of race superiority, he says: "At the same time that science is exploding these myths, and true religion, history and philosophy are expnging them, the darker races of the America, of Asia and of Africa are slowly awakening to their position. The ideology inculcated in them to keep them subordinate is melting before the sun of their own racial loyalty. They are coming to realize the raw deal they have experienced." "Herein," he continues, lies danger, no less than deliverance. There are clashing tides of color. Power politics and the 'reeking tube and iron shard' cannot much longer keep the 'inferior races' under. In the four quarters of the earth, we find more and more of them aroused, fearful, suspicious and embittered. These groups will bear the serfdom they suffer just so long as they feel they cannot successfully resist and no longer. They are looking upon the present European struggle of arms with hopes and fears."

Who can read that without a deep sense of burden? Is not the future wrought with danger unless we can find a Redeemer adequate for our need?

What, do you ask, has weighted the privilege of world citizenship until it is for men of darker skins a burden? The first answer is racism, that spurious doctrine of race superiority so erroneously traced back to the story of Noah, and subsequently embraced by pseudo-scientists and demagogues until in our day it has its modern incarnation in such loathsome monsters as Mussolini and Hitler. In the second place, nationalism, that cult of government which idolizes power and enslaves the free spirit of man; that contagion of pride which pursues its evil course with utter disregard for the dignity and sacredness of human persons. Look at Europe and see how it hypnotizes and imbues its hapless victims with dreams of world domination until there are no depths of infamy to which they will not descend to maintain the supremacy of the state. Only its nationals are the elect of the earth. All others are but its scum. In the third place, the privilege of world citizenship becomes, in reality, a burden to men of dark skins because of their separatism. Non-white nations and non-white peoples have too long been strangers to each other. They have, of couse, never thought of the color of their skin as a unifying principle. On the other hand, white peoples have taken full advantage of the separatism of non-white persons and have based their relationships of race on the silly difference of color. The folly of their course has probably done more to unify the darker races than any other attitude would have done. Today the folly of separatism is becoming more and more apparent as Britain humiliates India, as China is given the run around by the United Nations, as Africa becomes the battleground of free men, as American fascists court defeat rather than yield their prejudices. Nevertheless, "the field is the world" and though the black man's privilege is weighted until it is burdensome, there remains but one sensible way out and that is the way of universal brotherhood.

The Negro church must do much more about this than give up her sons to the battlefield. And what it must do assumes monstrous proportions when its outlines are drawn against the religious, socio-economic and political backdrop of the peoples of the world. Insofar as we can this morning, let us look at the mountainous matter.

We live in a world of white and non-white peoples. A 34.4% white world is 30.3% Christian in name. A 65.6% non-white world is 69.7% religious, but non-Christian. The Negro church in America is a part of the 30.3% nominally Christian white world. It is also a segment of the 34.4% minority of the human race. Thus we must classify it, yet it must be plain to all that racially it belongs to the non-white 65.6% majority of the human race. Sooner or later, unless the white world begins to practice its professed Christianity, the Negro church will be forced to realign itself, if not from the standpoint of religious beliefs, certainly from the standpoint of its racial allegiance and color predicament. It may yet have to count its supreme joy to be crucified on a million Calvarys rather than support a decadent white non-Christian social order. There are those who will say "that would be suicide. I seriously oppose that, but the very contemplation of such a forced outcome does stagger thought and beggars imagination. It poses in a new sense the tragic folly of race prejudice and a Christianity which Jesus described in those caustic words: "Why call ye me lord, lord and do not the things I say."

Again, this racially white and so-called Christian minority, of which the Negro church is a part is itself divided into: 1) 53.7% Roman Catholic, which by organization and practice does not lend itself to the development of Negro solidarity, but effectively swallows up its few Negro communicants in its own massive unity; 2) 19.4% Orthodox Catholic, with the same racial resultant and 3) 26.9% Protestant, the only white religious area out of whic ha distinctive and effective racial solidarity of consequence has been able to emerge. This emergent religious movement is almost entirely indigenous to the United States of America. Here, where one-tenth of the population has been subject to race prejudice and discrimination based on color, there has grown up this powerful religious agency variously estimated as to number as being between six and ten millions. No other single force operating within the lives of thirteen millions of Negroes in the United States can seriously challenge this mass influence. No other force, therefore, has as great an obligation in this fateful hour when the world so desperately needs guidance as the Negro church. To is Jesus speaks down the years saying: "the field is the world," but there is little evidence that his voice is heard. Too often it lacks vision or too often it fears for its own life and dares not challenge the world that is with the world that must be. Too often it is so poor that it can hardly conduct its own affairs with decency and honor and has only pennies for world approach.

Still the hushless voice of Jesus lifts itself above the din of politics and the roar of artillery; above the deafening noises of war industries and the jungle sounds of selfishness and in the quietness of this sanctuary when you are not there, I often hear him saying: "the field the world,' the 'whole world, the whole world of men and nations. 'Go . . . make disciples of all nations' . . . 'send out thy Light,' and today I come on this annual day pleading with you to give generously of your funds for missions, the arsenal of world brotherhood.

Once more, then, there has come a day when a chosen people has been called to match racism, nationalism and separatism with prophetism, to declare boldly and without regard for the price we must pay that "one is your Father, one is your Master and all ye are brethren." Within the United Nations there must be found those who stay at home, but who neverthless are willing to reach out helping hands to all men of goodwill who love freedom for all men because all men are essentially brothers. And, make no mistake about it, there are those whom we now must number among our enemies, who would do as much were it possible for them to once again enjoy freedom of religion such as we know this morning.

As your minister and as a minister within the Negro church and the Christian tradition, I covet for the Negro church the signal honor of being, during these difficult days, the rabbinical expounder and practitioner of this new morality, that "one is your Father, one is your Master and all ye are brethren." I, for one, desire that we shall join hands with all forward-looking and straight-thinking peoples regardless of race, that we shall not fall one whit behind the best moral conscience of our day. I, for one, desire that our church shall have ample funds to support in a tangible way every effort toward racial understanding, equality and simple justice the world over.

We may still be THE WHITE MAN'S BURDEN but he is today the burden of the darker races of the world and THE BLACK MAN'S BURDEN. In his denial of the simple elements of brotherhood, he is both our and his own burden. On the other hand we must not be too sure that we are not our and his burden in our uncritical acceptance of his irreligion, which were we in his dominant position would as surely lead us to his same end. This is the tragic bunder of Japan. It need not be ours if we dare accept the philosophy and practicuum of Jesus, the Christ of God. Let us be disciples of his and God help us to face the acid test which Jesus set up with regard to his disciples. Said he: "By this sign shall men know that ye are my disciples, that ye have love one for another."

War Workers Housing Problems Discussed

Housing Conditions in S. F. Aired

The whole problem of housing the war worker, with particular emphasis on the Negro people, was discussed by speakers in various branches of Federal Housing at the meeting in San Francisco of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People on Sunday, March 21st.

After a constructive report by the Association's Housing chairman, Walter Alley of the National Housing Agency presented a picture of Federal Housing in general. He stated that following the Administration's stand in the matter, the Regional Director, Langdon Post, has recently made a ruling that there shall be no discrimination on any housing project under his supervision.

M. C. Dempster, manager of Marin Dormitories, a Federal project for men who work at Marinship, told of the success of mixed housing over there. Even among Southern whites discrimination is fast breaking down.

Robert Flippin, who will manage the Westside Court project, the only project in San Francisco to date to accept Negro applicants, discussed residence qualifications.

It was learned that Clarence Johnson of the War Manpower Commission was in Sunday's large audience, when the chairman and president, Miss Berlinda Davison, called on him to express an opinion. Mr. Johnson spoke from the floor. For several years he had been connected with Federal Housing, and his terse comments carried authority. Reactionary Southern Congressmen, he said, are doing their utmost to cause a split on racial lines, and are using their legislative power to cripple the housing program. They hold the purse strings, and recently reduced Federal Housing funds by $100,000. The question of housing must be kept alive not only locally, but in Washington.

In line with Langdon Post's ruling, there will be no discrimination against Negroes on the very large Hunter's Point project, now being built for shipyard workers there.

APRIL 6 ARMY DAY HAILED

President Roosevelt's proclamation designating April 6th as Army Day and an occasion to intensify America's War Effort was greeted today by Carl Winter, Los Angeles County Secretary of the Communist Party in a message to the Party membership in this city.

"Army Day on April 6th will have added significance this year for citizens of Los Angeles," said Mr. Winter in his message, "in that it is also election day. Our Commander-in-chief's appeal that the people mark Army Day by increased efforts to aid our fighting men and 'maintaining in this nation a country worthy of their sacrifice and fit for their return' makes doubly important our obligation to mobilize every voter to go to the polls on April 6th and use the city elections to elect candidates who will give us a Council and Board of Education devoted to strengthening our nation's fight against Fascism abroad and defeating its reactionary agents at home. Let us defend democracy by using it, rallying a great turnout of the voters at the polls on April 6th."

The Los Angeles County Committee of the Communist Party has endorsed Mrs. La Rue Mc Cormick, candidate for the Board of Education and her program for greater war service by and for our public schools.

18-Year-Old Trio Rob, Beat Benton Way Citizen

Graduating out of the misdemeanor field of petty thievery, and similar juvenile offenses, a number of youthful fellows are apparently growing bolder, and are committing major crimes. Newton police are searching for three boys, all described as 18 years old who robbed and beat their adult victim, and left him lying on Vernon avenue and Griffith, last Sunday morning. He was Herman W. Hext, middle-aged, and from 854¾ Benton Way, and was treated for his injuries at Georgia Street Receiving Hospital.

Hext was overtaken at 5:00 a.m. by the young strong-arm bandits who quickly surrounded him and knocked him down, beating and kicking him as he lay on the ground. But they only received 85 cents for their trouble, all Hext had in his pockets.

ASK PARDON FOR FESTUS COLEMAN

The Coleman Defense Committee announced that the next step in the effort to secure the freedom of Festus Lewis Coleman, young San Francisco Negro now serving 65 years in San Quentin for "rape and robbery" would be the request for a pardon from Governor Warren. At the same time a request will be made for immediate parole pending the decision of the Governor.

Mr. Coleman was tried before an all-white jury and a prejudiced judge. He was defended by an incompetent lawyer since disbarred for "moral turpitude." The case has aroused interest all over the country and support has come from some of the most distinguished names in the field of American letters, art, and the professions. A large number of trade unions went on record endosing the defense of Mister Coleman and hundreds of union members contributed to the defense fund.

All those interested are asked to write to Governor Warren urging the pardon of Festus Coleman.

San Bernardino USO Holds "Second Anniversary" Program, Sunday

With hundreds of citizens and more than a thousand colored soldiers enthusiastically enjoying the treat, a special program in celebration of the second anniversary of the Court Street U.S.O. at San Bernardino, Calif., was held at their Center last Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass, editor-publisher of the California Eagle, was guest speaker of the day.

Among the units of the armed forces represented at the memorable affair, were the 303rd Aviation Squadron, 378th Engineers, 356th Engineers, 259th Battalion QMC, 855th Engineers from March Field and the 49th QMC Truck Company.

Beginning at 2 p.m., the junior hostesses pleasantly explained the U.S.O. services to citizens and soldiers. The formal program opened at 4 p.m. with the "Negro National Anthem," sung by the audience, and the invocation, pronounced by Chaplain Carr of the 356th Engineers. Several choral numbers were rendered by the 303rd Aviation Squadrons' Glee Club. Timely remarks were given by Mr. Ray Doyle, vice chairman of the San Bernardino U.S.O. council on the history of the Court Street U.S.O. Center. Piano selection by Corp. Herman L. Forbes, 259th QM Ser. Bn., Sgt. Herman Wooley of the 259th QM Ser. Bn., gave a very inspiring talk on "The Meaning of the U.S.O. to a Soldier."

Then came the beautiful choral number, "Over My Head, I See Trouble in the Air," by the 259th QM Ser. Bn. Glee Club; a vocal solo by Sgt. B. F. Watson, 303rd Aviation Squadron; a select reading by Miss Margaret Ann White of Redlands, Calif.; "The Meaning of Volunteer Service to the U.S.O." by Mrs. Bertha Blakely, chairman of Senior Hostesses; "Religious Services Related to the U.S.O." by Rev. Jesse W. Boyd, pastor of St. Paul AME church of San Bernardino; singing of "God Bless America," led by the Glee Club. Following this, came the address by Mrs. Bass. Amid frequent applauses interrupting her remarks, Highly praising the work of the U.S.O. group, Mrs. Bass stressed the effect their service has on the men in camp. To the men, she directed special words of encouragement, assuring them that all good citizens are behind them.

At the close of her remarks the audience sang "The Star Spangled Banner." Its rendition in the midst of this, our greatest conflict, seeming to take on greater significance.

Chaplain Martin, of the 378th Engineers, pronounced the benediction, and the program came to a close. Photographs were taken of the occasion by the Eagle photographer. Refreshments were served.

FREE DEFENSE WORKER ON ROBBERY CHARGES

Tyree Madison, defense worker employed at the California Shipyard and residing at 2560 Essex St., was acquitted of charges of robbery after a trial by Judge Leslie E. Still sitting without a jury in Dept. 46 of the Superior Court last Wednesday morning. Madison who was represented by Attorney Curtis C. Taylor, was arrested on the night of Feb. 5th upon charges by Guy Domino (white) also a defense worker employed by the Warman Steel Casting Co. and residing in the Goodyear Tract, who complained that he was set upon and beaten by Madison and Willie Robinson at 116 St. and Central Ave. at about 2:00 a.m. in the morning after a collison which occurred during a heavy rain. Domino told the Court that he accidentally ran into M[illegible]'s car after which he stopped and got out to see what was the trouble. He testified that Madison also got out of his car and as the two met he was set upon and beaten by Madison and Willie Robinson and that they took his wrist watch and $30.00 from his pocket. However, on cross-examination by defense attorney Taylor, Domino testified that he and Madison decided to go to the Watts police station for the purpose of securing police officers to come to the scene of the accident and that while they were waiting for a car to take them he and his wife, Madison and two women passengers got into a nearby car and smoked and chatted amiably. He stated that the reason he made no outcry was because he was afraid he would be beaten up by the two men. Police officers however, testified that Domino made no complaint when he came to the Watts police station with Madison to report the accident. After listening to the evidence and to argument of counsel Judge Still ruled that Madison was not guilty and ordered him discharged and his bond exonerated.

NAME SUPERVISORS ON STATE SOUTHERN EMPIRE

Members of the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors were yesterday appointed by Gordon L. McDonough, chairman of the board, to serve on committees of the California Southern Empire, comprising the seven counties of California.

The seven counties have agreed to unite the combined efforts of their engineers and planners to coordinate gigantic war developments and projects.

The appointments announced by McDonough are as follows:

Supervisor William A. Smith, who was selected by the Southern Empire to serve as Chairman of the Legislative Committee.

Supervisor Gordon L. McDonough to serve as member of the Highway Committee.

Supervisor John A. Ford to serve on the Natural Resources Committee.

Supervisor Oscar Hauge to serve on the Parks and Beaches Committee.

Supervisor Roger Jessup to serve on the Industrial Committee.

The plan for united action in postwar proposals was approved by the Boards of Supervisors of the seven counties recently, and instructions have been issued to the individual boards to their Planning Engineers, Road Commissioners, Surveys and Flood Control Engineers to prepare reports on proposed projects.

It is expected that Supervisor David W. Bird, San Diego, Chairman of the California Southern Empire, will arrange for meetings of the various committees at an early date to consider the proposal submitted by the engineers.

The seven counties included in the Southern Empire are: Ventura, Los Angeles, San Bernardino, Orange, Riverside, San Diego and Imperial.

L. A. BODY ISSUES ACTION LETTERS

The Los Angeles Committee of Correspondence' Executive Committee has issued the first of a series of Action Letters as a medium for activating the democratic spirit and articulating public opinion. This organization has been formed as a nucleus to foster the growth of Committees of Correspondence on a nation-wide scale. The function of these committees is to keep alive public sentiment on certain vital issues and to bring pressure upon those in authority to see that certain measures are passed according to the will of the majority of the people.

The committee urges, first: That you write the President, your Senator, and your Congressman urging the immediate opening of a second front in Europe, which is an issue so vital to the swift and successful termination of the war that it cannot be excessively stressed. Secondly: That you write your Congressman to vote "No" on the Kilday bill. This bill to defer fathers runs counter to the war program and is opposed by the army. Third: Write your Congressman to act now to have the Poll Tax Repeal Bill (HR 7) brought out for vote by signing discharge petition (DP 3). This bill would remove the undemocratic tax which disenfranchises the poor of the South. Fourth: That you write your Senator and Congressman to vote "No" on the Austin-Wadsworth Bill on the grounds that this bill to draft labor is a futile expedient leading to confusion and waste without an over-all production plan.

"HELLO FRISCO HELLO" HELD OVER 2ND BIG WEEK

Due to public demand United Artists Theatre, 933 So. Broadway, downtown Los Angeles, takes pleasure in announcing "HELLO FRISCO HELLO" is now in its second big week.

Alice Faye tunefully returns to the screen in this lavish musical in Technicolor depicting San Francisco show business of the early 1900's. An eye-appealing spectacle with songs and costumes of a colorful period, the film has an added cast including John Payne, Jack Oakie, Lynn Bari, Laird Cregar and June Havoc.

Hawkins' Bill Loses in Committee

Assembly bill No. 50, introduced by Augustus F. Hawkins, which reads: "Any person, who, directly or indirectly excludes a citizen because of race, color, or creed from any public employment, or employment in any capacity in industries engaged on defense contracts, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and punishable by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars ($100)," failed to pass the committee in spite of the strong fight put up by its supporters.

Among those speaking for the bill were Carl R. Johnson of the Young Republicans, G. L. Lamar of the Eastside Chamber of Commerce, James H. Anderson of the Dining Car Cooks and Waiters Unions, Locals 456 and 582, Attorney Louer of the California State Federation of Labor, A. F. of L., and Mr. Greenbaum of the American Federation of Musicians, A. F. of L.

Although there was a lengthy debate of about two hours, and the committee was able to defeat a motion to table, they failed by two votes to pass it out of the committee onto the floor of the Assembly. Although there has been much discussion in this community centered around the anti-discrimination legislation that has been introduced, the backing that was expected in Sacramento when this legislation came up failed to materialize. Among those in the audience were several prominent citizens of Sacramento.

This bill, and others which would make discrimination unlawful, is scheduled to come up Thursday, March 25. It is expected that stronger support will be shown.

Crimes Against Women Defense Workers Increases As Street Rape Attempt Made

That criminals are no respectors of persons is shown in the mounting increase of crimes against women, who returning from, or enroute to their nightly share in the war effort, are waylaid by this lowest type of sex or robbery felon.

While bending special efforts to wipe out this breed of human wolf that prowls at night along deserted streets, officers of Newton Station this week issued a warning to all women swing-shift workers, or others who have to return home at late hours to, if possible, get transportation directly to their doors.

DRAGS WOMAN WELDER INTO ALLEY

In one of the most despicable of these recent instances, Miss Hattie Jobe, 29, a welder at an aircraft plant had a terrifying experience at 3:00 a.m. last Sunday morning. She was returning from work to her home, at 1018 E. 24th street, having to pass an unusually dark alley mouth at Griffith and 24th. Just as she reached there, an unknown man she described as a Negro, leaped out of the darkness and siezed her. Before she could fight him off, he dragged her into the alley, and attempted to rape her, meanwhile threatening her with death.

But continuing her struggles, she managed to break away from him before he accomplished his purpose, and running home notified police. They scoured the neighborhood, but the would-be rapist had made good his escape. However, from her description, police expect to get the guilty man out of serveral suspects.

Postal Aide Represents Postmaster Meeting of Anti-Prejudice Society

Postmaster Mary D. Briggs, who was scheduled to speak for a meeting at the Faithful Central Baptist Church, 40th and Paloma Streets, March 25, for the presentation of members of the Negro Women's Division of the Army Auxiliary Corps, was unable to attend because of an unforeseen business conference, delegated Joe L. Oliver to appear in her stead and make proper representation for her. Mr. Oliver has been a special clerk at the Terminal Annex for 30 years. He is also a national officer of the Mystic Shrine, being a thirty-third degree Mason, and an active member of the Victory Committee of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Briggs in sending her regrets wrote, "I regret the necessary change in my program. I have heard of the splendid work done by the Negro Women's Division of the Army Auxiliary Corps and extend my greetings to your new members."

The Anti-Prejudice Society was highly pleased with Mrs. Briggs' selection of a representative in the person of Mr. Oliver who is a fine, upstanding American citizen, being held with great respect and confidence in the post office, where he has given long and fithful service to his government.

Postmaster Briggs is anticipating a meeting in the near future with leading Negro citizens, when full honor may be given to our young women who are serving their country so nobly.

It was a sound ideal success. He gathered six fello wartists, invited a roomful of folk to the Federated Calif. Women's Club house atop Blueberry Hill, and touched it off with a reception. Personally, I enjoyed it immensely. Above all, we got our first chance to meet and chat with lovely, lovely Gladys Childress, the brilliant young pianist who has so completely upset everybody with her genius plus beauty! She plays again at Barker Bros. on the 29th, and if we won't distract her by outwardly staring as she plays, we'll quietly steal in a chair on that date and absorb more of her. . . This is our second time to fall in love this season! Si-Lan Chen preceded La Childress . . . but, ah me, we're fickle. . . Of the recital, you may turn elsewhere and read of it in detail.

WHAT'S DOING IN THE YOUNGER SET

By JESSIE MAE BROWN

The Doll League Benefit Tea, is scheduled to be quite an elaborate affair next Sunday afternoon, at the swank home of Louise Beavers. Members of the college crowd will be on program, long with the movie and stage celebs. Popular Earnie Mae Maxey will do her part, as will Betty Yarbrough, Pauline Evans, Sarah and Cornelia Lumpkin. Marlene Jones, and others. If town talk is right, the Younger set will definitely make its appearance, dressed fit to kill. . . Glamorous Lena Horn is going to M. C. The hours of the affair are from four till seven. . .

Did a little light skipping with Vye Aldrich and her Jr. hostesses last Sat., when they journied to a soldiers camp on the Mojave desert. More than 75 girls made the trip, and really had a grand time, regardless of the terrific heat. On reaching camp, dinner was served. The army sees no rationing, so food was in abundance, and the debs really dined sufficiently. Immediately following dinner, the dance was held, fine orchestra, smooth floor, and above all plenty, yes, plenty men. The Bullock sisters had the finest catch of the camp, Marion Clarke, Wesleen Foster and Doris Garrison were perfect hostesses, as were Fritz Adams, Eloise James, the Garrot sisters and many more. Very few Clarke Gables were on hand, but the Jr. Hostesses are proud to say that all the men were perfect gentlemen, and did all in their power to show the girls a perfect time.

Basket Ball Series Ends

Its rumored that last Sat. night marked the grand finale for the popular Greek letter basketball series. Again the Kappa's were defeated by the Alphas in a game witnessed by the largest crowd this season. Bill Taylor was back in town, on furlough, looking fine with girl friend Annette Marshall, Anna LaCale Price was there with a group of leading debs, and oh yes, Bill Smallwood was seen looking the college crowd over, as only Smallwood can do. The after party was on time, Clyde Townes, Louise Cooke, Nat. Shaw, Edwin Sneed and Emmett Ashford were on hand.

Flo Cornelius Nukes is due in town with Lt. hubby next week end. . . Could Arthur Trent be the secret contributor of the beautiful ring worn on Vivian Staytons engagement finger? . . Old pal Naomi Davis is still studying hard at Tuskegee Inst. Latest letter states that Tommy Mills and Herbie Boswell are newest additions to the Tuskegee Flying school. . . Leo Johnson gets round town quite often from Ft. McArthur, his uniform is only on. . . Emma Carrington, and not Madelyn, took wedding vows. . . Speaking of vows, Clorinda Hodge, and Virgil Benson up and eloped to the surprise of many a chick and gent. . . What will Billy Faulkner do since both objects of his affection are no longer in circulation? My my . . . By the way, Brother Albert Weems is back in town, says those Creole babies of New Orleans beat the locals when it comes to beauty. Hear that Billy Benfield can be found any time, at the New Black Flamingo. . . One minute please. . . The ring worn on the main finger of Betty House was only a joke, she's in circulation, and plans to remain so throughout the duration. That's your cue boys. . . Pvt. Booker Stevens sends his love to all his girl friends. . . Jean Watkins is quite the young lady of the UCLA campus. John Kinloch stopped in Washington last week, saw old pal Rene Newlet, in Officers training school, pitched a slight ball, and was on his gay way to the big city. . . Ivy Leaf Victory Invites are out. . . rather cute. . . In closing, how's this for a solid sender. . . Paulette Lejoie only has to say the word, and Lenord Grimes comes running. . . That's the way I heard it last Sunday. . . Will be seeing you at the Doll League Tea.

Crown City Capers by Philippa E. Jones

Well, hello again! Here I am again trying to bring you what's new in our old town and then some.

Last Saturday a week ago the semi of the season was given by Ralph McAfee, Paul Taliferro and Johnny Burton. It was a fine affair and really came on a bunch of time. Doris Downs in the company of Ernest Griffin was looking very lovely, Gloria (the lady in red) Bunch with Ralph McAfee, Delores (mighty clever) Carroll and Johnny Burton, Lora (I like to walk) Jacques and Clarence Rucker, and Jackie (dressed to kill) Bunch with Harold Williams were some of those included in the coupling off group. Others there and having as much fun were: Willie ("Wild Bill") Slayton, Eddie (man-about-town) Floyd, Julius Anderson, Thad Dawson, Faye (west side) Hopkins and T. D. Floyd. The boys made perfect hosts, decked out in their tails and Carolyn Collier (at whose house the affair was given) was quite charming as a hostess.

Last Sunday the Fine Melloneers went on their "outing" to L. A. They attended church and then dined at Clifton's. Following that they went to the Orpheum to hear Benny Carter, Dooley Wilson and the Mills Brothers. They really had a fine time and have dcieded to do it more often. Some of the members of this popular club include Jessie Arnold, Lucille Harrison, Thelma Jackson and Betty Benson.

Others at the Orpheum that Sunday were: Clarence Rucker, Irene Huff, Grace Gilchrest, Pat Fox, Rae Thompson and Ernest Griffin. They all thought it really came on.

Have been asked to tell all about the cabaret dance sponsored by Herring and Allen. Music will be supplied by Dootsie Williams and his band. Featured will be Ellery Walker (formerly with Count Basie), Peewee Wiley (blues singer) and Howard Sand (the sandman). Another attraction will be the "Jitterbug and Talent Contest." The affair will be held Sunday, April 11, 1943, at Polish Hall, 4202 Avalon Blvd. It starts at 7 p. m., so hurry and buy your tickets early.

FROM THE CAMPS

Eddie Johnson (down Fort Huchuca way) admits he has it bad and that ain't good. It seems that certain girl on Vernon is still tops in his world. How goes the army side of things, Eddie? . . . Say, Bernard Harris, have you been down Mexico way lately? . . . David Scott says things are really jumping out at Fort Clark. And how! . . . J. T. Morgan is now in the medical department of the Air Corps stationed at Kerns, Utah. He's 15 miles from Salt Lake City, so how about those Salt Lake City Blues? . . . Rufus Blake writes and says 'Sippie is improving. Also he's seeing more of Baton Rouge. He says Elbie Hickambottom and Harry Lester were just shipped in and have been giving him all of the latest news (first hand). . . . Tom McLurdin and Frank (Cupid) Batiste were looking for two Pasadena debs (Symathia H. and Delores C) to come up their way last Sunday but I'm told they didn't make it. Tom and "the cupid" were disappointed, so next time don't count your chickens before they are hatched, boys. . . . I hear Walter Knott (Fort Riley, Kan.) has a desire to hear "As Time Goes By." Keep waiting Knott. After all, all good things come to him who wait. . . . Bill Scott, stationed at Fort Frances E. Warren, Wyoming, is really doing fine. He just qualified for a sharpshooter medal. That's swell Bill. His cousin, Paul Lowery, just returned back to Ft. Riley from a furlough at home. He writes he had a swell time. While he was there brother Abby joined him and he writes that Tulsa, Okla., really comes on. So I guess everyone's enjoying himself. . . . Bill Duncan is still waiting for the kids to write. . . . I wonder how Fred Valentine, Harrison Bailey, Arthur Collier, Bruce Gibson and Drew Lowe are? . . . John Moreland writes and asks me to take the place of the "Crusader" during its absence. . . . Keep writing us boys, you're building up our morale, too.

ON THE HOME FRONT

Ask Lucille Harrison, Thelma Jackson, Jackie Bunch, Paullyn Garner, Imogene Irving, Lorraine Couton, Alma Oliver or yours truly anything you want to know about spinach and we'll tell you all about it. We work a "spinch assembly line" and iis it a blipty. Just ask a person who works there. . . . Jessie Arnold is doing all right at Lockheed. She's doing her part for defense. . . . Eddie Floyd does a fine "boogie." We didn't know he could do it. . . . Ask Jackie Bunch who doubled dated on her time last Sunday! . . . I hear Ralph McAfee and Paul Taliferro are leaving with Uncle Sammy soon. . . . Well I must close now. Dig you next week.

Willard P. Hatch Baha'i Faith Speaker

Mr. Willard P. Hatch will speak Sunday, April 4, at 3 p.m., at 1709 West 8th Street on "THE BAHA'I FAITH — ITS PRINCIPLE." Says Mr. Hatch: "Baha-'u'llah, the author of the revelation which is the source of the Baha'i Faith and teachings, has stressed as its primal object the establishment, in this day, of unity amongst all the nations and people of the earth. His revealed plan contains the pattern through which the divine civilization foretold in all the heavenly books of the past may be brought into existence in this age." Quoting from the Baha'i writings, in support of this, he continues: "The purpose underlying the revelation of every heavenly book is to indue all men with righteousness and understanding so that peace and tranquility may be established amongst them. God's purpose in sending his prophets unto men is two fold. The first is to liberate the children of men from the darkness of ignorance; the second is to insure the peace and tranquility of mankind." There are no charges or collections—all are welcome.

WOODARD, AN ALLY OF MUSIC LOVERS

By BILL SMALLWOOD

Los Angeles music-lovers, and they are legion, have a staunch, dependable friend and ally in Allen C. Woodard 3d. He deserves a static, vigorous round of applause for his created ideal of presenting talented Angelenos in salon fashion, as he did last Sunday afternoon at the California Federated Women's Club House, atop fashionable Blueberry Hill.

Wonder of wonders—and for this Mr. Woodard gets a very special salvo from this critic—there was no "movement" or "benefit" or such fol-de-rol to come in for a silver offering, etc. Simply, an afternoon to enjoy. And we did.

Highlight of the program was the rather suddenly heralded Gladys Childress, concert pianist extraordinaire. Unbelievably young and attractive, Miss Childress (like a fresh, faith-restoring French print in just the right gown for her of black and sequins) played a lucid, well-chosen program ranging from Bach to the modern Toch (So. Cal's discussed music professor). Her faults, if any, are so minute as not to merit mention. She shows vast knowledge of technique, intense study and much vision. She easily merits concert managing in time to come. Possessor of a pleasing conversational voice, Miss Childress really has everything to work with. Unless I miss my guess local groups will vie for the privilege of presenting her in the future. AKA's should be rightly proud of her, also Colo. College which awarded her a Phi Beta Kappa structor, should be downright hysterical over her. She's unbelievable!

Clothilde Woodard, assisted by Coral Johnson, gave a commendable presentation of Grieg's imaginative, romantic Sonata in C Minor for Piano and Violin.

Carl Yeager, who has matured since last we heard his promising baritone, sang five numbers. Yeager scored decisively with Schumann's tender Ich grolle nicht. His German is listenable. He was no less than sensational with a rather electrifying version of I Was There When They Crucified My Lord! He sang it in dulcet tone, reminding me, once, of Roland Hayes with his artful manner of caressing phrases. Personally, I wish baritones wouldn't attempt Come to the Fair. Leave it to the tenors, gentlemen! I'm sorry Yeager did not include a Russion work song as encorse. They're Elysian fields for young baritones. Yaeger has a future. I wish it possible he could do naught but study for a year or so. Someday our gov't may see fit to establish annual funds for artists to study in such fashion. Russia has been doing it for years. And France, as well.

Veenie Harvey gave him sympathetic accompaniment.

Rubeline Glover Long read Rhapsody of Flesh, written by the host, Mr. Woodard. Her voice fetched recollection of Edna St. Vincent Millay's encompassing voice, filling a tiny studio in Greenwich Village one summer eveg, as we sat around on bamboo chairs. Her voice always does things to me. I'm never quite sure what.

A reception for the artists followed.

Add Miss Childress: Wouldn't Carl Van Vechten love to do a photographic study of her! Also Hall Johnson!

Whom Do You Love?

IF you cast about you, you will know instantly those whom you love. If anyone dear to you should be taken from you, sadness would shadow your life, for that is the way of life. . . .

IS it not better to think of such things while those we love are yet with us, so that we may bring more happiness to them, and to ourselves through little acts of thoughtfulness, kindness and consideration? For not one of us may foretell the coming of the Grim Reaper, nor where he will next strike.

FOR that reason it is also wise to give thought to the mortician to whom you must, some day, entrust the sacred duty of preparing a loved one for eternal sleep. The choice is important, for you will want to deal with a firm which is widely known for its integrity, its understanding of your problems, the perfection of its service, and, one which does not entrust ANY IMPORTANT DETAILS to employees!

THE People's Funeral Home is such a firm. Its owners are morticians, and they PERSONALLY perform every important part of the final service to your loved one. We know that this point is important because many people have selected us for that reason.

Wesley Methodist Church Raises $10,257.65

Amid a scene of joy and enthusiasm unparallaled in the history of the church, Wesley Methodist Church, Eighth and San Julian streets, Rev. E. W. Raksstraw, pastor, raised $10,257.65 in an Out-of-Debt Crusade which began January 3, 1943, and culminated last Sunday evening. The congregation itself raised $9,257.65 and with a special gift of $1,000 liquidated its entire mortgage indebtedness. Attorney Marshall Denton was chairman of the Crusade and Mrs. Jennie Webster co-chairman. The commanders of the 13 divisions which raised the money were: T. A. Greene, Lorenzo Bowdoin, R. S. Holmes, Charles Williams, Reuben Carthrone, Marshall Denton, Maude Batson, Lula Willis, Dedie Williams, Lucille Johns, Emma Roberts, Bernice Barnum, Frances Bowdoin. All the commanders made fine reports. The commanders raising over a thousand dollars were: Mr. Lorenzo Bowdoin, secretary-treasurer of Angelus Funeral Home, and Mrs. Bernice Barnum, city school teacher.

When Rev. Rakesraw cams to Wesley six years ago, the total mortgage indebtednness was $21,900 with five quarters of accrued interest under his leadership the total indebtedness has been cancelled, the membership greatly increased and the church spiritually revived and related to a comprehensive, progressive program. With freedom from debt Wesley Church will go forward to do its greatest work.

joice at the evidence of American disunity.

"Every organization, under our democratic form of government, has the right to accept or reject any individual, or group of individuals applying for membership, whose infusion might destroy good teamwork.

HUGE MEMBERSHIP BUILT UP

THE National Federation, to which the State Federation is a membership vestibule, has built up huge memberships during the last twenty years.

The history of the crisis is set up in the documents produced yesterday by the Midtown Club.

Last May some seventeen business and professional women working in the midtown section of Manhattan began to discuss the possibility of founding a club to affiliate with the National Federation of Business and Professional Clubs.

According to the Midtown Club's account yesterday, the race question came up even before application was made for membership in the federation. The account was supplied by Miss Annette Smith Lawrence, editor of American Unity, published by the Council Against Intolerance in America. She later became president of Midtown and has instituted the present suit.

EDUCATOR LED DISCUSSION

"AT a meeting on June 25, 1942," Mrs. Lawrence said, "Dr. Edward Lindeman (professor of social philosophy at Columbia University) led the discussion, which explored the possibility of immediate application of the principles enunciated by our federation.

"After his talk and after he had left the meeting, a motion was made from the floor that in order to strengthen the cross section membership, the Midtown Club include Negroes among its members. This was seconded and after a few remarks from other members that it must not be a mere token membership, but that we must consider Negro women in exactly the same way that we would other members, it was unanimously agreed to include them in the membership.

"The first member was invited as a guest in July, the second in August and, as is our custom with all prospective members, they attended several meetings. Along with other women accepted as members at the same time, their dues were sent to the State Treasurer and their membership cards received in the usual time."

Mrs. Lawrence said the two Negro members thus chosen were Mrs. Anna Arnold Hudgeman, regional director of race relations of the Office of Civilian Defense, and Miss Marguerite Roache, a stenographer in a war plant.

Thereafter, Mrs. Lawrense says in her affidavit, she received a visit on Dec. 4 from Louise F. Bache, executive secretary of the national federation, and Miss Marlett, president of the State federation, who raised the question of the admission of the Negro women to membership.

On being told the Negro members had been duly elected by Midtown, the affidavit declares, the state and national office under the date of September was a "clerical error"—that the Midtown had not yet been accepted by the State federation.

"They said," Mrs. Lawrence records in her affidavit, "that they feared the result if we retained our Negro members. They called again at my office on Jan. 8 and proposed asociate member status for the Negro members or for the entire club, thereby depriving the entire membership of all voting and certain social privileges. When asked what the alternative was, Miss Marlatt said, 'there is no alternative.'"

Mrs. Lawrence said the Midtown Club was bringing this suit not only to have the Supreme Court declare the right of the club and its Negro members to remain affiliated with the State and National Federations of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, which have no membership bar against Negroes, but also to let the 76,000 members of the federation throughout the country know about the "autocratic policy-making" of their executive secretary, Miss Bache, asisted by the New York state president, Miss Marlett.

Meanwhile, Miss Grace Fitzgerald, membership chairman of the national federation, has resigned after Miss Bache had blocked her proposal to write all the constituent clubs in the United States, submitting the Negro membership question to them.

NEVER before was there greater need for the establishment of a world order based upon human decency and fair-play. It is just as serious to appropriate or subjugate one's civil liberties or citizenship rights as to appropriate his land. It is time that we stopped theorizing and singing about liberty and freedom and got down to the business of putting into practice the Four Freedoms as expressed in the Atlantic Charter.

SALE DEPOSIT BOXES NOW ON SCARCE LIST

J. G. MAULHARDT

Add one more item to the growing scarcity list—safe deposit boxes, particularly the smaller boxes.

With surrenders of boxes declining and new rentals at an all-time high, the supply of safe deposit boxes may soon be depleted to the point that there will be a waiting list for the lowrent boxes in many banks according to a report yesterday by J. G. Maulhardt, vice president of the Market & Produce office of California Bank.

For several years prior to Pearl Harbor, Maulhardt revealed, California Bank rentals and surrenders were running about equal, resulting in little or no net gain in number of boxes in use. Since December 1941, however, new rentals by California Bank have exceeded surrenders by more than 5,000 boxes and it has been necessary on several occasions to replenish the supply in some branch vault at the expense of the surplus supply in other better stocked offices.

The banker attributed the soaring increase in safe deposit box rentals in part to the widespread and steadily increasing ownership of War Savings Bonds, the growing importance of safekeeping of records for income tax purposes and the fact that many men entering the service are placing their valuable papers in a safe deposit box for the duration.

Boilermakers

that is, virtual slaves of a cruel slave master. Therefore, no group in our country stands more to lose in the loss of this war than the trade union movement. Labor, the backbone of our nation, must in this period step forward as the real citidel of democracy. This, and this alone, will determine what type of leadership labor will give to the nation.

The Negro people have answered the call of our Commander-in-Chief in his plea for national unity. As Negroes, we realize what a disunited America will mean. We know that disunity brings aid and comfort to Hitler, Mussolini and the Mikado. We Negroes on the West Coast are eager and anxious to speed the production of ships and other instruments of warfare. We are in the armed forces. We have given our holidays for the gathering of scrap salvage; we are giving our blood to the Red Cross; we are purchasing stamps and bonds; we are taking our place side by side with the rest of the American people to strengthen every aspect of our nation's war effort.

In this moment of world crisis, we ask no special privilege for ourselves for we realize that this is not a race war, nor is it a class war, but a war that effects our country. What we urge is equal treatment and consideration along with all the rest of the American people. Without such treatment, there can be no national unity; without such national unity, our entire war effort is jeopardized. Every act of discrimination and Jim Crow against the Negroes in the United States is spread far and wide by Japanese militarists and their Axis partners. Every abuse heaped upon the Negroes in the United States is held up to the people of China and India as something that they must expect in case of an Allied victory.

We in the shipyards, who are under the jurisdiction of the A. F. of L. are daily being demoralized by being forced to join a Jim Crow union known as the auxiliary with headquarters in Kansas City. This is not the desire of the Negro people. This is certainly not the wish of the membership of the Boilermakers Union. This is not in the interests of the trade union movement itself. That is why we urge that the International take such steps as will speedily eliminate this very harmful practice.

We feel that if we can work with the white workers without friction, it is only logical that we could meet with them in the same organization without friction. Furthermore, we call attention to the fact that hundreds of Negroes who are skilled are being kept in menial positions in the shipyards, thereby denying our government the use of skilled manpower necessary for the production of ships. We say again that these conditions aid, not America, but the Axis for it demoralizes a great section of the American people and tends to dampen its enthusiasm for the war effort.

We wish to make one point crystal clear and that is we are motivated by: first, the needs and interests of our country in the building of national unity; second, we are interested in strengthening the A. F. of L. as a trade union organization.

We feel that the separation of workers on the basis of race into separate trade union organizations is one of the best ways of weakening the trade union movement itself. The separation of workers into separate trade union organizations is an instrument in the hands of the most reactionary section of the employing class, for it permits the employer to use one race against another.

We feel that if the shipyards workers are to be organized into a 'strong union organization, it can only be done by organizing it on the basis of a non-Jim Crow policy. Our interests are not separate from that of the trade union movement; and we are not, as some of our enemies say, out to fight the A. F. of L. We are willing to join any and all unions that happen to be in any industry where we are employed. We are insisting on a policy that will help us build the A. F. of L., and the fight against separate trade union organizations which we are engaged in can only be viewed in this light.

We urge that this matter be given speedy consideration by your office.

We urge that: first, Jim Crowism in the Boilermakers be abolished; second, the abolition of a differential in insurance benefits; third, that the Boilermakers Union should wage a fight for up-grading of Negroes in all shipyards under its jurisdiction.

In order that the public may understand our position, we are sending copies of this letter to the press.

Sincerely yours,

COMMITTEE FOR EQUAL PARTICIPATION IN THE SHIPYARDS.

The resolution was signed by Garner V. Grayson, Chairman; Reginald Morris, secretary; Albert Baker, Eugene Nesbit, Walter Williams, Herman Mozer, Claude Durham, U. S. Griggs, H. J. Lee.

RITES HELD FOR PROMINENT SAN DIEGAN

SAN DIEGO, Mar. 31—Final military rites were held here Friday afternoon at Calvary Baptist church, San Julian and Crosby streets, for Dudley Mark Spencer, prominent 55-year old civic, political and World War I figure.

Spencer passed Tuesday at the County hospital.

Conducted by Calvary's pastor, Rev. Noah E. Taylor, with Dennis T. Williams Post No. 310 of the American Legion and a color guard from the 10th Cavalry playing a prominent part, the funeral ceremony saw many well well known figures of the city in attendance.

A veteran of the First World War, Spencer was one of the organizers of the local Dennis T. Williams Post of the American Legion, being twice past commander. He was a charter member of the Clementine McDuff Lodge, No. 598, IBPOEW, and organized the Community Betterment Breakfast Club and the Young Negro New Deal Democratic Club, both of San Diego County.

One of his crowning achievements was as one of those who figured in the organization of Company "E" of the 7th Regiment of the California State Guard. Until overwork forced him to resign to become a reserve he had held the rank of corporal in the guard.

Interment was at Masonic Cemetery with the Tate Funeral Home in charge.

Surviving the deceased are his wife, Mrs. Julia Spencer, 2189 Harrison avenue; three sisters, Mesdames Ola Jefferson, Minnie Fareira of Los Angeles, and Bessie Bostick; two brothers, Eugene Spencer and Mason Jefferson, and many other relatives, including Mrs. Lillian J. Fentress, niece, also of Los Angeles.

REVIVAL MEET HERE CREATES INTEREST

The Revival Meeting which is being conducted by Rev. Mabel Bell of Chicago, Illinois, at the Holy Church of America, 1432 E. 25th street, is creating much interest among all denominations and nations. Surely God is in the midst of His people. Never have we experienced such blessings from above. People of all walks of life are coming to the altar seeking God and giving up to Him. Burdens are being lifted, bodies are being healed through the prayer of Faith to Almighty God, in Jesus' Name.

Rev. Mabel Bell is preciously given up to God, and gives herself up to God in prayer for His guidance and for the help of His people. God has made her a flame of fire for Him, and she has drawn capacity crowds. As she travels, people go from neighboring towns to hear her proclaim God's truth, through His power. She has the Last Day's message, God is Seeking His Remnant, before Jesus comes on the clouds to take away the Church. Prepare for the coming of the Lord. He that doeth the Will of the Father is accepted with Him.

All Christian workers are invited to help in the seeking of souls. Everybody welcome. Rev. Green, pastor.

EDWARDS' VISIT TO BERLIN

By CHARLES EDWARDS

(An exclusive California Eagle Serial—Hitler Speaks)

The California Eagle takes sincere pride in presenting the first public presentation of the mission fulfilled by Americas number one youth leader Charles Edwards, on his "Assignment To Berlin." What has gone on before Mr. Edwards recalled your memory to December 1941. When WAR was declared. He now attempts to expose the facts as to why. He recalled his dramatic journey through Berlin, Germany, between May 1937 and September 1939, during which time he was granted a personal interview with Adolf Hitler. The purpose of his interview was to try and understand and explain to the World Christian Youth Conference, the beliefs and aspirations of the German Government.

Mr. Edwards told of "Mein Kampf," not revealing nearly all of Hitler's plans. He has entered the Reich Capitol and has gained entrance into the private office of the Chancellour. Many questions have passed between Mr. Hitler and Mr. Edwards, among them being the future of Europe and the rest of the World and Germany's part in creating a new order. We continue. . .

Hitler continued talking, tossing his head from side to side . . . I listened, not guessing how close We were to the realization of these ideas.

"I shall never start a War without the certainty that a demoralized enemy will succumb to the first stroke of a single gigantic attack." Hitler's eyes took on a fixed stare, and he began to shout. "When the enemy is demoralized from within. When He stands on the brink of revolution, when social unrest threatens—that is the right moment. A single blow must destroy him. Aerial attacks, stupendous in their mass effect, surprise, terror, sabotage, assassination . . . from within, the murder of leading men, overwhelming attacks on all weak points in the enemy's defense, sudden attacks, all in the same second, without regard for reserve or losses: that is the war of the future, that you so much ask about Mr. Edwards. A gigantic, all-destroying blow. I do not consider consequences; I think only of this one thing." He paused as if to give me time to take in the terrific program and some at least of it's fearful implications. His next words were spoken with impressive calmness.

"I do not play at war. I shall not allow myself to be ordered about by Commanders-in-Chief. I shall make war. I shall determine the correct moment for attack. There is only one most favorable moment. I shall wait it—with iron determination. I shall not miss it. I shall bend all my energies toward bringing it about. That is my mission. If I succeed it that than I have the right to send Youth to their death. I shall have saved as many lives as—could be saved. I am not going to play at being heroes, but destroy the enemy. Generals in spite of the lessons of the war, want to behave like chivalrous knights. They think war should be waged like tourneys of the middle ages. I have no use for knights. I need revolutions. I have made the doctrines of revolution the basis of my policy." Hitler paused again. His next words came like a perforation—"I shall shrink from nothing. No so-called international law, no agreements, no unconditional surrender, will prevent me from making use of any advantages that are offered. The next war will be unbelievably bloody and grim. But the most inhuman war, one which will make no distinction between military and civilian combatants, will at the same time be the kindest, because it will be the shortest. And together with the fullest use of our arms, we shall grind down our enemy with a war of nerves.

I stood up and walked over to the huge window, as Hitler paused again as if to take a brief rest without turning around to face him I asked Hitler "just who do you place on your map, as Germany's enemies today? As I finished, I turned to face him . . . I could see that he registered an expression of surprise. He walked over to the far wall and pulled a rope which threw back a huge red curtain, revealing a huge map of the world. . . He turned and prepared to answer my question. . .

SOLDIER CLEARED ON ASSAULT, ROBBERY CHARGES

Finis Parker, well known local man-about-town and now a soldier in Uncle Sam's Army stationed at Pittsburg, Calif., was acquitted of charges of robbery and assault with a deadly weapon after a sensational trial without a jury before Judge Clement D. Nye last Friday morning in Dept. 40 of the Superior Court. Parker had been accused by Mrs. Isidean Henderson of 40301 Trinity Street of having entered her room unannounced on January 27th and robbing her of $30.00 after beating her up brutally with the leg of a heavy chair.

Parker was represented by Attorney Curtis C. Taylor who argued a brilliant motion for a dismissal at the end of the trial. Mrs. Henderson testified that Parker whom she had known for several years, came into her room and demanded money of her and upon her refusal he attempted to rape her and being unsuccessful in his attempt set upon and beat her brutally and took money out of her pocket book. She testified that she ran to the window and screamed and after having attracted the attention of neighbors Parker became frightened and fled. The bloody leg of a chair was introduced in evidence by the prosecution and investigation officer Ratcliff of the Newton Street Detective Detail testified that he found blood all about the room shortly after he arrived on the scene.

Parker took the stand in his own defense and told Judge Nye that the woman was well aware of his coming to her house; that he made the visit after a prearranged telephone conversation and that the struggle which he had with her ensued after she had removed a sum of money from his pocket and he demanded its return. Rather than surrender the money to him he testified that the woman started fighting and in the scuffle she was badly injured. The records show that she spent nine days in the General Hospital. A surprise witness was Mrs. Corrine Scott of 4107 Avalon Blvd. who took the stand in defense of Parker and gave such sensational testimony that at the end of the trial Judge Nye remarked that the complaining witness had been thoroughly discredited and expressed belief in Parker's story and after the conclusion of argument by defense Attorney Taylor he ruled that Parker was not guilty and absolved him of all charges. Parker was sent back to his command at Pittsburg immediately upon his acquittal by military authorities who were awaiting him.

The Spring-Easter War Stamp Corsage Designed By Dache

The Couteourier Corsage—second in a series of War Stamp Corsages—styled by topflight fashion designers.

Thanks to Lilly Dache, that sparkling creator of exciting hats, the new Spring and Easter Corsage is a beauty. Miss Dache believes that with clothes so simple and restricted, hats will be gayer, more coquettish than ever. One of the favorite new colors in her new spring collection is Tiger Lilly Pink. She chose this color above all the others for the spring War Stamp Corsage, because she thinks it fresh, feminine and sentimental. And when you buy War Stamps, it's because you want to preserve all you hold dear.

So make the first sign of spring this year this charming cluster of petals etched in Tiger Lily Pink felt with nine tencent War Stamps for centers.

Miss Dache suggests wearing them on your new spring suit, coat or pinned to your bag. Wear two of them instead of jewelry on your basic dresses. VICTORY is in fashion. And if you are set on being fashionable, last season's Corsage is "dated" (or should be, literally speaking, on a nice fat War Bond). Uncle Sam wants you to be up-to-the-very-moment in style, but his ulterior motive is that big beautiful War Bond. Keep changing that Corsage! To see that you do, the most talented fashion designers in the world are cooperating with the Treasury Department: Lilly Dache, Irene, Hattie Carnegie, Mainbocher, John-Frederics, Nettie Rosenstein, and Adrian. They intend to create a permanent fashion vogue for women with these attractive Corsages.

Corsages for women and the Boutonnieres for men all contain nine ten-cent War Stamps, are made at cost, and sold without profit. They retail at $1.00.

St. Paul Baptist Church Marches On Under the Banner of The Holy Ghost

Last Sunday, March 28th was a great day in St. Paul. The wheels began moving forward more swiftly at 9:00 a. m. when the Brotherhood Bible Class, in keeping with previous arrangement, were rushing through the Sunday School lesson, in order to enter into the mammoth program arranged by the teacher, Rev. George Garner, to be given in connection with the installation of the officers of the Brotherhood. The program, consisting of songs and music, was unique in its entirety.

Mrs. Karl Downs of Pasadena, California, was one of the guest soloists, and she in her very charming voice rendered a very lovely number, also there was a quartette of service men who sang a group of spirituals as only inspired men can sing them. Mrs. Pallyn Garner was at the piano and in her own inimitable manner, accompanied the participants. A host of invited friends were present to witness the affair and Rev. Garner is showing in a very definite way that he has a host of admiring friends who will come early and stay late, to witness the renditions of one of his programs. May I also say that the Brotherhood of St. Paul is very happy to have as its teacher, the aggressive, yet amiable, George Garner.

The program over, Pastor S. A. Williams, in a very fitting manner installed the officers of the class, stressing the fact that the main objective of the Brotherhood was to create and obtain more man-power in the church. He urged each man to strive to bring in some man from the street and make him welcome in the Brotherhood.

At the 11:00 a. m. preaching service, Elder B. C. Cooke, pastor of the Bethany Chapel Church auxiliary St. Paul Baptist Church delivered a powerful sermon from the subject: "When the lights come on again all over the world." His expostulation showed that he was master of his subject, and his exhortations were reasonable, logical, and touching to the extent that sinners were converted and wayward souls reclaimed; total accessions 12, including one for baptism. By special request, he was the speaker at the evening service, bringing another Holy Ghost message.

At 3:00 p. m., St. Paul was guest of Tabernacle Baptist Church, 950 Hemlock Street, Rev. John D. Gordon, Pastor, in an Organ Dedicatory Service. Pastor S. A. Williams, Asst. Pastor E. A. Anderson, a number of associate ministers; both choirs and many deacons and deaconesses, officers and members joined the other invited churches in the special service. Past Williams delivered the dedicatory message, a very logical sermon, based on the fact that dedication did not nor does not embrace a material change, but rather a spiritual or intention change. He used a number of allegories to emphasize his exegesis. He is preaching with more power than of yester-year his prayer for more Holy Ghost preaching power is being answered in a noticeable manner and he will be preaching next Sunday, April 4th, at the 11:00 a. m. service. A special surprise awaits you, and he is urging every member and friend to come to this service. Do not fail to hear him, for to hear him is a source of Christian inspiration.

At 3:00 p. m. next Sunday, April 4th, the Olive Temple Church, E. A. Anderson, pastor Auxiliary, St. Paul Baptist Church, is presenting a Victory Program consisting of religious and patriotic songs, music, and addresses by prominent public citizens. B. C. Cooke, pastor of Bethany Chapel, will be the inspirational speaker for the occasion, and a glorious time is anticipated.

S. A. WILLIAMS, Pastor
S. E. BUXTON, Reporter.

Poll Tax Fight Race Now!

That the fight against the poll-tax occupies center-stage at Washington was emphasized this week in exclusive dispatches to the EAGLE from its roving Eastern correspondent, John Kinloch.

Revelation that California's big House delegation has achieved notoriety as one of the most hesitant anti-poll tax groups flings a challenge at California labor and Negro organizations. With the poll-taxers waging a merciless campaign against the rights of labor and the Negro people, with John Rankin daily denouncing the "Jew Communists" in the Dept. of Justice who caused the indictment of Mississippi lynchers, with the Hobbs labor-hate bill staring workers in the face, with the Fair Employment Practice Committee confronted with a Dixie Congressional investigating body, with appropriations for all Administration agencies tied up by the poll-taxers until segregation agreements are secured,—with all this, there is heartening evidence that progressives and fair minded men in the Congress are ready to wage an offensive against the poll-tax gang in the amazing strength already shown in the anti-poll tax battle during this session.

While it required more than a year to secure forty signatures on the discharge petition of the Geyer anti-poll tax bill in the last Congress, 15 days have been all that is necessary to secure 113 Congressional signers of the discharge petition to blast the Marcantonio bill to the floor this time.

Never before has there been such unity of the anti-poll tax forces in Congress and in the nation. Joe Bender, Republican, Will Rogers, Democrat, and a score of others have joined to smack down all opposition to the bill. Although five anti-poll tax bills were introduced, all of their sponsors have joined in support of the Marcantoni measure. The National Committee to Abolish the Poll Tax and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People have voiced solid backing of the Marcantonio bill.

Decisively important, however, is the vigorous action of rank-and-file citizens on the home front. Investigations tend to indicate that letters from individual voers far outweigh petitions and printed communications to members of Congress. This places responsibility for the reform of California's wayward delegation squarely in the hands of California's John Q. Citizen.

The poll-tax, disfranchising ten million Americans, has become the first line of Hitler's defense in America. Under the protective cover of that tax, Hitler agents operate on the floor of Congress with a brazen disregard for the will of the majority of Americans and for their own home districts. John Rankin, elected by a paltry 6,000, from a district of 280,000, stands in Congress a monument to corruption and fascism in high places. During a one-minute speech in the House this week Rankin (1) Negro-baited, (2) Jew-baited, (3) Red-baited, (4) Soviet-baited. And this in the midst of a drive for national unity behind the war effort and international Unity among the members of the United Nations!

It was the deciding might of the poll-taxers which put the latest crack in the President's war-vital seven point economic program,—abolition of the chief executive's $25,000 salary limitation.

The war for national survival demands the removal of the poll-tax sabotage crew from America's highest legislative halls. You, reader, have the job to do. Take pen in hand and write your Congressman, demanding that he sign House Petition No. 3 right now!

Demand A Real F. E. P. C.

Final reorganization of the Fair Employment Practice Committee was said to be under way in the nation's capital.

With the poll-taxers and their friends of the Republican defeatist gang busily hacking the whole war program of the President, Los Angeles war workers must again voice the full demand for a hard-hitting, effective organization to probe defense industry discrimination and segregation.

The creation of a militant Fair Employment Practice Committee is essential to America's victory over its fascist enemies abroad and at home. So long as workers can be kept pushing brooms while they are qualified for skilled posts on the assembly lines of freedom, soldiers at the front are without supplies, our merchant marine is not fully protected, and our nation has failed to achieve all-out production.

Negroes, one tenth of the national population, cannot be excluded from full quality in defense industry jobs unless the war effort is placed second to the maintenance of ancient, evil and un-American prejudices.

Hard political realities, however, indicate that a pointed struggle lies ahead before a powerful Fair Employment Practice Committee can be put in the field to combat that racehate which may snach the guns out of the hands of American armies through our failure to achieve 100% production.

Without a powerful Fair Employment Practice Committee, every Negro employed in aircraft, shipbuilding and other defense industries is totally unprotected and may be fired for reasons of racial prejudice without any recourse to federal, state, or city agencies. We are not dumb enough to think that this immunity from prosecution will not reflect itself immediately in mass discharges of Negro workers by reactionary firms if the Fair Employment Practice Committee is not "strengthened and extended "as the President promised several weeks ago.

The poll taxers, the American fascists, the race-haters are on the job in Washington.

It is up to the workers of California to secure a real Fair Employment Practice Committee, and to the workers of the nation. It is time for us to put up the effort to fight it out or shut up about injustice.

A. F. OF L. SUPPORT SHIPYARD WORKERS AGAINST DISCRIMINATION

The pledge of William Green, president of the A. F. of L., to throw the full support of the national A. F. of L. behind the campaign to eradicate discriminatory practices by union affiliates, made recently in response to a letter from the Bay Area Shipyard Workers Committee Against Discrimination, in which that body protested the refusal of unions to issue work clearances to Negro welders, will be greeted by the Negro people and all patriotic citizens of this state.

Especially will it be welcome by Negro boilermakers and their white comrades-in-arms who have waged a long and bitter uphill fight against the Hitler-like jim-crow policies of the A. F. of L. Boilermaker officials. The conspiracy of these officials, in collusion wit hemployers at California Shipyards, Western Pipe and Steel, and Consolidated, to prevent the integration and upgrading of Negro workers, thereby depriving the nation of the skills, energies and enthusiastic support of a loyal, and patriotic section of its citizenry, must be branded as nothing short of treasonable.

The National A. F. of L., in the person of its president, William Green, has spoken condemning these practices. What then of the Negro Uncle Tom stooges who have jumped on the jim-crow gravy train; those sell-out artists who would assay the role of lead sheep herding Negro workers into the slaughter pens of jim-crow unionism.

What then of Mr. George Streater, Negro A. F. of L. representative of the War Production Board. Mr. Streater, abusing his authority and in flagrant violation of the letter and spirit of the President's Executive Order 8802, intervened last week in behalf of the jim-crow set-up. At a meeting which he called of local Negro shipyard workers, he is reported to have counseled these workers to accept the jim-crow auxiliary, that the fight against iet was futile. This craven counsel, however, was indignantly rejected by the workers and had only the effect of increasing their determination to fight for full integration into the industry and equal union rights. Mr. Streater sought to cover his sell-out attempt by indulging in a wild spree of red-baiting, the equal of which has not been recently heard in our community. According to our informants, he launched in a tirade against local "Win the War" forces, branding the Victory Committee and the Eagle's editor—those who have whole-heartedly supported the shipyard workers in their fight—as surversive elements and trouble-makers.

Mr. Streator and the local Uncle Tom fraternity is evidently out of step with the national policy of the A. F. of L., as voiced by William Green. Obviously, the declaration of the president of the A. F. of L leaves them out on a limb.

The fight to smash jim-crowism for full integration of Negro workers and for their acceptance on the basis of equality in the unions is beginning to bear fruit. These must, however, be no relaxation in the struggle. On the contrary, the fight must be even more vigorously prosecuted. The declaration of William Green should be utilized as an instrument for the rallying of all the shipyard workers for complete abolition of the jim-crow union set-up to wipe out, forever, this shameful blot from the escutheons of the organized labor movement. The spotlight of public exposure must be focused upon the perfidy of the Negro Uncle Toms who have deserted the fight for Negro freedom, and who are now solely concerned in carving out for themselves cozq niches in the jim-crow set-up as water-boys in the camp of the Fascist obstructionists of the national war effort.

The Negro, in his fight for equal rights in the nation's war effort, should be reminded of the wise counsel of Peter Poyas, loyal lieutenant of the Negro Slave Insurrectionist Denmark Vesey, who admonished his followers to "Beware of those who come among you wearing the cast-off clothing of the master, for they will betray you."

Dark Laughter . . . . BY OL HARRINGTON

Allen Woodard III Offers Beauty to Friends As Gift

By MALCOM THURBURN

Allen C. Woodard III is to be congratulated on an event that places the accent on the arts of beauty. In a world where the things of mere pleasure are accorded first place, where a bridge party is important mainly because it gives an opporunity for the display of the latest fashions, where the refinements of culture are relegated to the paid auditorium at so many dollars th seat, in this tragic and mercenary world a forward-looking young man seeks only the occasion to offer beauty to his friends as a gift. The orginality of the idea is valuable because it may well set a precedent. Mr. Woodard believes that beauty is the meeting place for all the races, and through beauty alone can the highest understanding between diverse peoples reach its fullest expression. Furthermore, Mr. Woodard argues, too seldom are chances offered to young musicians: and in this way, all receive the benefits of art, audience as well as artist. Certain it is, he affirms, that in music and in art there can be no controversy (except that between friends): and in these high regions of the soul we can meet each other, exchange our gifts with each other, in the manner that God intended.

The setting for this unusual gathering was the beautiful Club House of the California Federated Women, at 2103 South Hobart Boulevard: the date, last Sunday afternoon, March 28. The auditorium accomodating 150 was completely filled with smartly gowned and groomed guests: an upstairs balcony took care of the overflow. The stage, elevated some two feet above the floor of the auditorium presented an attractive picture with the youth and beauty of the contributing artists.

Gladys Elizabeth Childress has an approach to her art that would be noteworthy in a seasoned concert-pianist; the more remarkable when one reflects that this charming girl is but 21. At an age when most girls are preoccupied with the ideas of society, she takes herself and her art with a deep sincerity and seriousness. Her program, presented chronologically, was one that might tax the powers of most menpianists. But there was nothing of the sentimental or the indecisiveness of the average girl musician; for Miss Childress from the opening phrase of the Bach Prelude showed a mature firmness which communicated itself instantly to her audience. Here, one felt, is an artist who knows definitely what she is doing; whose every phrase and passage are the result of logic of perception and clarity of expression. To these qualities of the mind are added those other more romantic attributes, without which music might be merely an experiment in metrics.

As her program unfolded, by way of the Beethoven Variations, through the Debussy and the Toch, to the final Liszt, Miss Childress displayed a versatility of mood, haunted and dreamful in Debussy's "Reflections" and Beethoven's "Moonlight", spirited and wayward in the quaint fmagination of Toch's little Caprices, and vigorous in the Chopin Etude, opus 10, No. 4, which she graciously gave as encore.

Within the hands of this lovely young woman waits a success hidden only beyond the future which holds it secret from us. She possesses all the qualities necessary for the unfolding of this future; artistic integrity, a concern with the higher meaning of beauty, a logic and clarity, versatility of touch and dynamics, an abundant technique and a resilient sense of rhythm (firm and exact in Bach, elastic in Debussy and Chopin).

To these virtues of musicianship are added those more personal ones of modesty and the ability to see herself objectively. She looks upon herself as the custodian of a precious gift. One is assured that the success which is bound to crown her achievements will not delude her with the shallowness of public acclaim.

Clothilde Woodard with Coral Johnson presented the Grieg Sonaa for Violjtn and Piano. Mrs. Woodard handled with great skill a score heavily beset with technical difficulties. She displayed breadth of style and dignity of intonation, and gave a performance that was deeply imbued with the magic of the northern composer. Her ease and poise as she stood there were all the more to be admired in viw of the fact that she has not had as yet concert career. There is certain evidence of fine and sensitive violin-playing, a lyric rather than a dramatic character, which were in entire accord with the Grieg music. Mrs. Woodard proves her enthusiastic musicianship, each part of her playing of the composition revealing an eager reverence and sincere feeling for tonal beauty.

Mrs. Johnson's cooperation was more than that of accompanist. The pianist adds as much to the completeness of the score as the violinist. Grieg speaks entertainingly in a mood of muical repartee, where violin and piano engage in complementary dialogue. Mrs. Johnson played with real understanding, surmounting the problems of syncopation and offering the solution with spirited touch.

Carl Yaeger has a ruet gift in his voice. Baritone as yet, but capable probably of further expansion. He sings with a depth of feeling and poignancy which one seldom meets with in a youth of his age. Time will, of a certainty, correct a tendency to engulf his articulation. Probably one of the most difficult feats of the singer is tb project his voice, in the merest whisper and yet full-bodied, so that it is carried to the fullest reaches of the auditorium. But sensitiveness is so previous an attribute, in this raw agressive life of today, that one i loth to curb it. It is too easy to bellow, but to convince with the stillness of a small voice is an achievement of value.

Mrs. Veenie Harvey supplied a graceful and adequate background of accompaniment to Mr. Yaeger's singing.

Mr. Woodard's own contribution tb the success of the program was a poem "Rhapsody of Flesh". Too short for the magnitude of the idea, one felt that panded to five or six time its length. In this tragic questioning, no answer is vouchsafed, and the echoes rebounding as within the walls of a canyon reiterate the question again and again.

This poem by Mr. Woodard was finely rendered by Mrs. Rubeline Glover Long, in a voice which gave meaning to the stirring lines.

Mr. Woodard, we thank you; we to whom beauty is paramount in an ugly world, to whom music is a solace against the screaming of cruelty, we thank you for having given us so generously and nobly of your gifts of beauty.

• LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor
California Ea
Dear Madam:

Kindly let us voice through the columns of the Eagle the inarticulate desire of the discriminated people to await enactment of Bill H. R. 2011, introduced by Hon. Vito Marcantonio of New York, which now is before the House Committee on Immigration and Naturalization for appropriate action.

The bill proposes to amend the existing Nationality Act in these words: "Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, that section 303 of the Nationality Act of 1940, approved October 14, 1940 (54 Stat. 1142, 8 U. S. C. 703), be, and hereby is, amended by striking out the said section and enacting a new section replacing it to read as follows: 'The right of a person to become a naturalized citizen of the United States shall not be denied or abridged because of race, color, creed, or national origin.'"

We believe that the passage of this bill will be another distinctive act of the democratic United States and will emphasize the utter inferiority of Hitler Germany where the population of other than Aryan race, such as the Jews, are annoyed, persecuted and even murdered singly or massacred en masse. We assume that you share with us this belief and so we ask you to help us in urging its enactment.

Thankfully yours,
C. L. JULARBAL
1465 O'Farrell Street
San Francisco, California

Editor's Note: Let us definitely assure the writer of the above letter that the California Eagle is solidly behind any and all legislation which aims to put an end to discrimination in all phases of our national government.

Spreading Joy.

By John Fowler

I often wonder if those of us who drive automobiles along Central Avenue do not realize that the same traffic rules that govern driving on Broadway are no different from those that are applied to Central Avenue?

When we are driving on Broadway, we slow down at the crosswalks in the middle of the block, and at street intersections to let pedestrians pass in safety. The law says that the pedestrian has the right of way the moment he leaves the curb, until he reaches the far side of the street.

We all observe these regulations on Broadway, I wonder why we do not abide by them on Central Avenue?

A hundred times a day I see drivers who disregard passengers standing in the middle of the street, waiting for a chance to make a safe crossing.

I wonder why we all should not observe the same courtesy in driving, as we use in the drawing room or on the ballroom floor.

Now I realize that there is something that causes us to want to speed up when we turn on Central Avenue, there is an urge to kind of "show off," when we drive down the avenue with utter disregard for the other fellow's rights and safety.

I dislike to think that we colored drivers are willing to make of our leading business street a lawless, jim-crow pike, where anything goes.

With this thought in mind, I want to appeal to the men and women of my race to start from today in trying to obey the traffic rules. Think of "The Golden Rule" when driving, especially along Central Avenue.

The mid-summer Musical Festival Committee of Watts are making preparations for their annual song festival, and they are determined to make this year's performance more elaborate and more attractive in every way.

This annual affair given by the people of Watts, is for the purpose of raising funds to assist financially the rest home of the Out-door Life and Health Association.

We feel that now is the time for all humanitarians to come to the rescue of Dr. Leonard Stovall, and help him to throw out the "life line" to those unfortunate people affected with the dreaded disease of tuberculosis.

Some of the prominent members of the Mid-summer Musical Festival Committee are the following: Mesdames Bennie Meadows, Rev. Anna McMillon, Josie Ladd, Laura E. Fowler, Eva Galloway, Lella M. Taylor, Tims, Barr, Harrington, Eggleston, Noels, Walker, Rev. F. D. Ferrell, W. C. Ladd, W. M. Moseby and many others.

Saw Charlie Watkins the other day. He had just returned from several months' stay up around the Bay Area, where he was engaged in naval construction.

Charlie told me of the recent marriage of his brother, Dr. Will F. C. (Bud) Watkins, who picked a pretty school marm from the East. My hearty congratulations to Dr. Will and his bride.

The old pioneers are still talking about the eloquent address of the popular Rev. S. M. Beane, when he installed their newly elected officers at the residence of Mrs. Laura Young on March 16, at their monthly meeting.

Others who rose to eloquent heights were: The old reliable, Percy Buck, James Alexander, Mrs. Susie Green, S. P. Johnson, Will Gray, Mrs. Laura Young and the retiring president, Mrs. Cora Buck.

The discordant note was the absence of Mrs. S. J. Brueington and Mrs. Georgia Robinson. Their absence was occasioned by the illness of the club's favorite junior, Mrs. Ester Bruce.

The newly elected president (your columnist) paid tribute to the retiring president, and all of the past presidents, and pointed to the new goals we hope to achieve, and asked for a closer walk together for all pioneers.

An invitation is now extended to all pioneers to come out and join the club. Twenty-five years' residence in California makes you eligible.

This week we pay honor to Mr. and Mrs. James Neal, who recently celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. They are leading our Old Sweethearts parade.

The World This Week

By ROBERT PATTERSON

WHEN DO WE EAT?

"I talked with farm groups," said Governor Warren last week to a special session of the Legislature, "and they believe it is imperative we get this program of ours started at the earliest possible moment. . . . Unless something is done to convince the farmers that labor is to be made available, crops will be restricted, and we shall fall far short of our necessary production." Governor Warren received a telegram from Secretary Wickard announcing that Federal authorities soon would present a program to Congress to provide for immediate importation of farm labor from Mexico and other foreign countries. The contemplated Federal program would be one of cooperation with the states. California's program will be begun without waiting for Congressional action, but the State will cooperate fully with the Federal government. That's living up to our reputation for service and decision. California can put this over.

STORY OF A YEAR

General Douglas MacArthur held an unprecedented press conference at Allied Headquarters in the Southwest Pacific last week, in which he gave a summary of a year of war. Japan, he declared, has been repeatedly checked in that area. Today, he added, the close of one phase of the war opens up another. The situation points to a struggle in the year ahead that should determine which side will finally prevail in this part of the world. It is now clear that the Japanese first decided to cut Australia's communications with the United States, thus isolating the country before making a direct attack. The Japanese move into the Solomons reflected their major aim. Japan has concentrated in recent months on building up against the strong Allied base in Australia, preparing for a new phase of war. General MacArthur spoke chiefly "off the record," but Allied accomplishments over the past year are formidable and encouraging—to the Allies!

NO END IN VIEW!

In spite of losses of manpower, the commercial banks of the country face growing and complex lists of new demands for services. Under wartime exigencies, they must invest heavily in government securities and sell Bonds as in World War I. In World War II, however, they must concern themselves with the banking of an ever-growing list of ration coupons, and the handling of huge warplant payrolls. They must make farm loans in the teeth of heavy governmental competition from the Regional Credit and Production Credit Associations. They must make housing loans to war workers, aid the Treasury in keeping frozen the foreign funds in this country, and provide banking facilities at military posts and camps. Services for the military range from a once a week banking counter in an Army tent to an equipped branch bank on a military reservation. A recent survey by California's largest state-wide branch banking organization shows its depositors' dollars were active in the war effort, at the end of 1942, to the extent of $136 million. Another $116 million had been promised for war loans on more than a thousand new commitments. Each week brings some new special wartime service to the doors of the nation's commercial banks. The burden has been cheerfully assumed, although many bankers say that the end is by no means in sight. What is true for the bankers, on that score, is true for all of us.

NORTH PACIFIC

Intensified Allied bombing on Kiska last week, during which no casualties were suffered by our forces, is further indication of new offensive action all along the Pacific battle fronts. Counting the six raids on Kiska last week, the island has been attacked 23 times in the last six weeks. Enemy forces occupied the island last June, but bad weather has intervened. Now there are lengthening hours of daylight in which to work.

THE WINNAH!

Hundreds of clerks in the Internal Revenue Department are processing an average of 30,000 income tax returns daily. Fifty bags of mail were carried into the office in one day. The largest check was for $12 million as a quarterly payment only—but whose return this was, remains a government secret. We'll bet the secretary who wrote that check must have looked to see how many naughts there are in millions! Think if she had written billions by mistake!

Native Son

An Exclusive California Eagle Serial

(From the Book by Richard Wright)

"This guilt-fear is the basic tone of the prosecution and of the people in this case. In their hearts they feel that a wrong has been done and when a Negro commits a crime against them, they fancy they see the ghastly evidence of that wrong. So the men of wealth and property, the victims of attack who are eager to protect their profits, say to their guilty hirelings, "Stamp out this ghost!" Or, like Mr. Dalton, they say, 'Let's do something for this man so he won't feel that way.' But then it is too late.

"If only ten or twenty Negroes had been put into slavery, we could call it injustice, but there were hundreds of thousands of them throughout the country. If this state of affairs had lasted for two or three years, we could say that it was unjust; but it lasted for more than two hundred years. Injustice which lasts for three long centuries and which exists among millions of people over thousands of square miles of territory, is injustice no longer; it is an accomplished fact of life. Men adjust themselves to their land; they create their own laws of being; their notions of right and wrong. A common way of earning a living gives them a common attitude toward life. Even their speech is colored and shaped by what they must undergo. Your Honor, injustice blots out one form of life, but another grows up in its place with its own rights, needs and aspirations. What is happening here today is not injustice, but oppression, an attempt to throttle or stamp out a new form of life. And it is this new form of life that has grown up here in our midst that puzzles us, that expresses itself, like a weed growing from under a stone, in terms we call crime. Unless we grasp this problem in the light of this new reality, we cannot do more than salve our feelings of guilt and rage with more murder when a man, living under such conditions, commits an act which we call a crime.

"This boy represents but a tiny aspect of a problem whose reality sprawls over a third of this nation. Kill him! Burn the life out of him! And still when the delicate and unconscious machinery of race relations slips, there will be murder again. How can law contradict the lives of millions of people and hope to be administered successfully? Do you believe in magic? Do you believe that by burning a cross you can frighten a multitude, paralyze their will and impulses? Do you think that the white daughters in the homes of America will be any safer if you kill this boy? No! I tell you in all solemnity that they won't! The surest way to make certain that there will be more such murders is to kill this boy. In your rage and guilt, make thousands of other black men and women feel that the barriers are tighter and higher! Kill him and swell the tide of pent-up lava that will some day break loose, not in a single, blundering, accidental, individual crime, but in a wild cataract of emotion that will brook no control. The all-important thing for this Court to remember in deciding this boy's fate is that, though his crime was accidental, the emotions that broke loose were already there; the thing to remember is that this boy's way of life was a way of guilt; that his crime existed long before the murder of Mary Dalton; that the accidental nature of his crime took the guise of a sudden and violent rent in the veil behind which he lived, a rent which allowed his feelings of resentment and estrangement to leap forth and find objective and concrete form.

"Obsessed with guilt, we have sought to thrust a corpse from before our eyes. We have marked off a little plot of ground and buried it. We tell our souls in the deep of the black night that it is dead and that we have no reason for fear or uneasiness.

"But the corpse returns and raids our homes! We find our daughters murdered and burnt! And we say, 'Kill! Kill!'

"But, Your Honor, I say: 'Stop! Let us look at what we are doing!' For the corpse is not dead! It still lives! It has made itself a home in the wild forest of our great cities, amid the rank and choking vegetation of slums! It has forgotten our language! In order to live it has sharpened its claws! It has grown hard and calloused! It has developed a capacity for hate and fury which we cannot understand! Its movements are unpredictable! By night it creeps from its lair and steals toward the settlements of civilization! And at the sight of a kind face it does not lie down upon its back and kick up its heels playfully to be tickled and stroked. No; it leaps to kill!

"Yes, Mary Dalton, a well-intentioned white girl with a smile upon her face, came to Bigger Thomas to help him. Mr. Dalton, feeling vaguely that a social wrong existed, wanted to give him a job so that his family could eat and his sister and brother could go to school. Mrs. Dalton, trying to grope her way toward a sense of decency, wanted him to go to school and learn a trade. But when they stretched forth their helping hands, death struck! Today they mourn and wait for revenge. The wheel of blood continues to turn!

"I have only sympathy for those kind-hearted, white-haired parents. But to Mr. Dalton, who is a real estate operator, I say now: 'You rent houses to Negroes in the Black Belt and you refuse to rent to them elsewhere. You kept Bigger Thomas in that forest. You kept the man who murdered your daughter a stranger to her and you kept your daughter a stranger to him.'

"The relationship between the Thomas family and the Dalton family was that of renter to landlord, customer to merchant, employee to employer. The Thomas family got poor and the Dalton family got rich. And Mr. Dalton, a decent man, tried to salve his feelings by giving money. But, my friend, gold was not enough! Corpses cannot be bribed! Say to yourself, Mr. Dalton, 'I offered my daughter as a burnt sacrifice and it was not enough to push back into its grave this thing that haunts me!

"And to Mrs. Dalton, I say: 'Your philanthropy was as tragically blind as your sightless eyes!'"

"And to Mary Dalton, if she can hear me, I say: 'I stand here today trying to make your death mean something.'"

"Let me, Your Honor, explain further the meaning of Bigger Thomas' life. In him and men like him is what was in our forefathers when they first came to these strange shores hundreds of years ago. We were lucky. They are not. We found a land whose tasks called forth the deepest and best we had; and we built a nation, mighty and feared. We poured and are still pouring our soul into it. But we have told them: 'This is a white man's country!' They are yet looking for a land whose tasks can call forth their deepest and best.

"Your Honor, consider the mere physical aspect of our civilization. How alluring, how dazzling it is! How it excites the senses! How it seems to dangle within easy reach of everyone the fulfilment of happiness! How constantly and overwhelmingly the advertisements, radios, newspapers and movies play upon us! But in thinking of them remember that to many they are tokens of mockery. These bright colors may fill our hearts with elation, but to many they are daily taunts. Imagine a man walking amid such a scene, a part of it, and yet knowing that it is not for him!

"We planned the murder of Mary Dalton, and today we come to court and say: 'We had nothing to do with it!' But every school teacher knows that this is not so, for every school teacher knows the restrictions which have been placed upon Negro education. The authorities know that it is not so, for they have made it plain in their every act that they mean to keep Bigger Thomas and his kind within rigid limits. All real estate operators know that it is not so, for they have agreed among themselves to keep Negroes within the ghetto-areas of cities. Your Honor, we who sit here today in this courtroom are witnesses. We know this evidence, for we helped to create it.

"But the question may be asked, 'If this boy thought that he was somehow wronged, why did he not go into a court of law and seek a redress of his grievances? Why should he take the law into his own hands?' Your Honor, this boy had no notion before he murdered, and he has none now, of having been wronged by any specific individuals. And, to be honest with you, the very life he has led has created in him a frame of mind which makes him expect much less of this Court than you will ever know.

"This boy's crime was not an act of retaliation by an injured man against a person who he thought had injured him. If it were, then this case would be simple indeed. This is the case of a man's mistaking a whole race of men as a part of the natural structure of the universe and of his acting toward them accordingly.

U. S. Officers Spread Anti-Negro Feeling In England

By LLEWELLYN RANSOM

This war of global dimensions that has spread like wildfire to every corner of the earth, fanned by class and race hatred and fed by the dry rot of decadent social and political structures has become a peoples' war for a better world. China understands this as her millions lie on battle fields and buried under bombed wreckage. The vengeance of Russian fury sweeps the Nazi hordes from its scorched lands in the name of a peoples' world, and the enslaved Europeans now think beyond nations and races toward the brotherhood of man. Everyone but the United States seems to have caught the spirit of the times.

Little Negro children from American ghettos diligently bring their pennies to school to buy stamps to support our armed forces sent abroad to stop Hitler and his theories of race inferiority while these very soldiers carry on American brand of Hitlerism abroad where it has never existed before. The white press has kept quiet about this. The great broadcasting compaies that report daily from abroad are as careful to keep the Negro press out of its stories as they do at home. This means there is no expose, no protest and hence no correction of abuses.

That is why Patricia Strauss, wife of George Russell Strauss, Member of the British Parliament, told an audience at the annual meeting of the National Urban League that she was glad for an opportunity to expose this spread of a social evil from America to another country. She said "The moment America extends discrimination against colored people into any country, then that policy becomes our problem as well as yours. Therefore, I am not apoligizing to you today for talking on what most of you regard as a domestic issue."

At the 32nd annual meeting of the National Urban League February 18th, Patricia Strauss, European and American journalist and candidate for Parliament gave a new slant on the attitude of the people of England and made distinction between them and the British-colonial policy when she said: "I would like to tell you a word or two about a situation which has arisen in my country as a result of the American troops arriving over there.

You know, it may sound very odd to you when you know very well that Britain has a large empire in which racial discrimination is undoubtedly practiced, to hear that until the American soldiers arrived in Great Britain not more than 5% of my fellow-countrymen had ever seen a colored man or woman. The people of my country—the vast majority of them — know nothing about the British-colonial policy, and know very little about the Indian situation . . . Most of them who do know anything about British-empire policy deplore and regret it as much as America does.

BRITISH SURPRISE AT TWO ARMIES

When the American troops arrived in Great Britain they were habited in country villages, and as I said before, most of the British people had never seen a colored man or woman. Imagine their surprise when they discovered that apparently there are two Americans which have apparently two armies which are not allowed to mix. The effect on those people has not been very good for Anglo-American relationships I assure you.

DISTRESSED AT COLOR BAR

The British people welcome the American army, gratefully, hospitably and sincerely, and they were very distressed to find that if they extended the same cordial welcome to the Negro American soldier they annoyed and displeased the white American soldier. They did not know that before. There had never been a color bar. There were no Negroes in most parts of England, but whatever the reason, I maintain there was a part of the world where there was no feeling of discrimination.

ENGLISH PEOPLE RESENT HATE REQUEST

The American troops were billeted in the nearby villages and towns. The villagers had their dances to entertain them. The village girls quite naturally danced with the Negro soldiers. Everything goes very well until some white American soldier feels it incumbent upon himself to interfere because the white girl is dancing with the Negro soldier. There have been lots of instances like that and many have their fights. The villagers take the part of the Negro soldier, and want to know why he was attacked since he was behaving himself.

U. S. MILITARY ASKS ENGLISH TO BE LESS FRIENDLY

What has happened? The American military authorities have asked them to respect the American feelings on this matter. In many towns and villages the American military have sent out a request to the towns people that they should be less friendly to the Negro troops and that white and colored troops should not be present in the same civilian canteen, or dance, or whatever. In most instances the town people refused to obey the request and have continued to treat all American soldiers with equality—as soldiers fighting for democracy.

BRITISH MILITARY ORDERS CURTNESS

The British Military authorities under the suggestion of the American military authorities have sent word to the British camps through the officers of the British soldiers, that they must be a little more careful about this matter. While they may be polite to Negro soldiers, they must not be too friendly—polite, but curt—olite, nothing more. It has been very difficult for them to explain to the British soldier that somehow in fighting for democracy they have even lost the right to choose their own friends. They are very indignant about it."

Mrs. Strauss and her husband are members of the Labor Party and have been active in the labor movement for the past twelve years. She has also traveled in the West Indies and is familiar with the colonial and the Negroes' problems. She returned ot England a few days ago.

NEW YORK TIMES SUPPRESSES STORY

A New York Times reporter was present at the meeting, interviewed Mrs. Strauss and turned in a story that never appeared. Later William H. Baldwin, President of National Urban League and Public Relations Counsel for several large, national agencies, wrote a letter to the Times protesting the suppression of the story. His letter was later returned with explanations about lack of space and need for selection from its many letters. This same thing happened to Lester Granger's letter to the Times when he wrote in support of Canada Lee's fight with New York moralists who objected to Native Son.

It is important to know that Patricia Strauss was not here lecturing to offset British colonialism. She was invited to speak for the League's annual meeting after she rose from an audience in Radburn, N. J., to endorse Lester Granger's about British imperialism and American weaknesses from internal conflict. It is also interesting to note that Mrs. Strauss' husband is the English "Tin King."

JEFFERSON EARNS MINUTEMAN FLAG

Jefferson high school's student body reached the goal of ninety per cent ownership of fifty cents or more of War Stamps on Friday, March 19, at the close of a two week campaign held by Mr. Theodore Neima's aeronautics class of boys, Mrs. Zetta Walmsley's advertising class, and Miss Anna Erny's basic course class. This achievement qualifies the school to fly the Minuteman flag.

The Parent Teachers Association is giving the blue flag with the white silouhette of the Minuteman, but it will not be flown until Monday, April 12, the first day of Public Schools Week.

Reincarnation

Tonight we meet in this modern age,
To confess our love, you and I,
But it seems that the time of this tryst
Was a thousand years gone by.

In another life we met my dear,
And loved with the strength we possessed,
We shared each joy, each sorrow, each tear,
And thrilled at the other's caress.

Tonight our lips come close and we find
That this world is but a counterpart
Of another place and another time
Where our love first found its start.

Fate gave us strength to live again,
And to profill a prophesy,
That no matter the world or plane,
You would always belong to me.

WINGS

I can see flecks of sun,
The wall is breaking.
Our war is being won,
Jim crow is shaking.

My lover wears silver wings,
Flies the planes we made.
Each night his plane sings
Over Berlin in a raid.

I can see flecks of sun,
And dark America sings.
We work at Lockheed for the one
Who wears bright silver wings.

LOVE

Love is a song
Haunting, but gay,
Begging a heart
To throw away.

Love's a refrain
Possessing, possessed.
Not without pain
For those obsessed.

Love is a song,
Stealing a heart,
Making a life
Tearing it apart.

Fox Contradicts Story on Re-make of "Stormy"

THAT TWENTIETH CENTURY-FOX would re-make fully one-third of "Stormy Weather" in order to take Bill Robinson, its star, out of the role of a lover to Lena Horne, caused quite a sensation last Friday when it appeared in an "exclusive" story on the front page of the Pittsburg Courier. Bunt "Yours Truly," sitting across the desk of Harry Brand, publicity director of the studio, was relieved to hear him positively and emphatically contradict the statement. His office did not release the information, and a thorough check-up failed to reveal any other department that had done so. (See complete story in another page.)

Give to the Red Cross, Then Read On

NAMES LEFT OUT LAST ISSUE. The names of the six boys who formed the "Spasm band" of paper-wrapped combs and jugs getting $79 apiece for playing in Warner's "Saratoga Trunk," a week ago were Thos. O'Brien, Jesse McCoy, Lester Myart, Chas. Redd, Robt. Gillespie, and Virgil Sanchez. The O'Brien boy is the talented little son of Florence O'Brien of "Run Little Chillun" fame, now in an important role in "Stormy Weather." Chas. Redd, who is almost as good a drummer as his widely known dad, Alton the band leader. The boys showed a real sense of rhythm, and the directors were well pleased with their work. Young Redd plays in Alma Hightower's Melodic Dots, boy and girl band. Musicians left out of the story last week about Bill Robinson and his twenty drums in Fox's "Stormy Weather" were Edward Short, Prince Modupe, Henry Gree, Leo Watson, Alton Redd, Roy Walton, Freddie Davis, Cornelius Jordan, Harold "Fess" White, Rudolph Hunter, and Lee Gibson, the leader. They with ten other singers, who had recorded the song "Jungle Drums," beat them while Bill danced from one to the other.

"Let he who is without sin cast the first stone."

INEZ HATCHETT, PRETTY MOVIE PLAYER, who was on trial last week for the fatal shooting of Ernest Dempsey nearly a year ago and whose brilliant attorney, Crispus Wright, reopened the case on an appeal, was a dramatic figure on the witness stand. Much smaller, and still good-looking, she bravely withstood the severest grilling of Deputy District Attorney Mathews. He failed to break her story in cross-examination, that she had tried to get her former lover to break off their attachment after he had married, and that the gun went off while she was struggling to prevent him from using it. Chas. Butler, who has assigned Inez to movie work for the past seven or eight years, made an excellent character witness. But not so a certain young lady, who before Inez' trouble frequently enjoyed her hospitality, and was considered one of her best friends. She was subpoened, but failed to report, allegedly remarking that she got into it herself. Under stress of great emotion, any one is likely to get into trouble, so as the Bible says, "Let he who is without sin, cast the first stone."

One of the most important happenings since I met you last is that movie extras, as atmosphere players are called, may get $16 per day instead of the $10.50 now paid them under strict Screen Actors Guild laws. A special meeting was called by Guild president, Jimmy Cagney, the past Sunday at Hollywood Legion Stadium to consider the complaint made by a committee of extras. No definite action on the matter could be taken then, but the matter was taken under advisement, with a report to be made shortly. That will be a nice jump from the $2.00 per day the studios were paying back in the twenties. Not until after the big movie strike several years ago did they get over $7.50 per day.

Mothers who are required to accompany small children to the studios may also receive pay, following a suggestion from the floor in open forum by Jesse Graves. At present they are not even supplied with lunch money or lunches.

Harry Brand, Fox Publicity Director Denies Story "Stormy Weather" Nixing Bill Robinson to Be Re-Made

By HARRY LEVETTE

"There is absolutely no truth in the statement that appeared in the Pittsburg Courier last week, that we are going to re-film 'Stormy Weath' in order to take Bill Robinson out of the romantic lead apposite Lena Horne," emphatically stated Harry Brand, Fox publicity director, to the Eagle theatrical editor last Friday.

Since the Eagle and the Associated Negro Press received first hand news from all the studios, the theatrical editor also A.N.P representative read with surprise a boxed story on the front page of the Pittsburg Courier, March 27, to the effect that Twentieth Century-Fox's all-colored cast musical feature was to be re-made. The story had been sent to the Courier from here as an exclusive one, stating in gist that the studio realized it had made a mistake in casting Bill Robinson as the romantic lead opposite Lena Horne, hence it would have to shoot all those scenes, totaling about one-third, over again.

All Officials Contradict Story

So a hurried trip was made to the office of Harry Brand at the studio, in order to verify the statement if true. Mr. Brand was quite indignant over the matter and was at a loss to know who could have sent the article to the paper. Continuing he said, "To the contrary, it is a fine picture and we feel sure it is going to be big-office. It is ridiculous to think that we would miscast a picture costing more than a million dollars. The only scenes that we have filmed, since work on the big sets, with crowds and complete cast were officially finished, were close-ups that were in the original script, and due to be made separately." (These were Bill's dance on 20 drums and tap-dance recording by 14 dancers, as was reported in the California Eagle two weeks ago after authentically following the progress of the picture, issue after issue.) "Evidently someone of his own race does not like him, because disparaging statements have come to our attention, but we like him, and are 100 per cent behind him," continued the official. Producer Le Baron and Musical Director Newman made equally emphatic controdictions.

Lena Happy to Work with Bill

Fact of the matter is, that Lena Horne herself was not only happy to work with Bill, but realized that although she is rapidly rising on the elevator of fame, the world famous Bojangles is already up there, so co-starring, or playing opposite him as his leading lady would aid her greatly with the movie public. She often expressed her pleasure in playing with him, and cheerfully rehearsed all new steps or routines of their dances together. Bill in turn treated Lena with the highest of respect, and patiently waited long hours at times, until the directors finished with her separate scenes, before they could shoot his individual action. Then, too, the picture is actually a story of Robinson's life, not Lena's life, so it is only natural that she would be woven into it in the manner shaped by the plot.

Bill and Babe Wallace Rivals In Story

Of course it is not ethical to disclose much of a movie plot before the picture is released, but in order to further prove that Bill and Lena, in a romance is perfectly rational, they are first drawn together, by the fact that Bill and "Clem Rogers," Lena's brother killed in action, were buddies. Bill brings back the dead hero's medals awarded for bravery from overseas, and presents them to her. Incidentally, Bill's aptness in becoming a great dancer, apparently coupled with his affection and chivalry does more to win her than the handsome features, and rich voice o "Chick" Babe Wallace, singing M.C. at the cabaret where she entertains. "Chick" is the youngest, but Bill wins, and in fact does not look any too old for a sweetheart of the affectionate Lena. Do not similar incidents hppen every day in real life?

MISS MAYNOR INTERPRETS SPIRITUALS

Reviewed by Gilbert Allen

Miss Dorothy Maynor sang to a capacity filled Pdilharmonic Auditorium on last Wednesday evening. This young artist, with her arresting personality and fine musicanishp captured her listeners with her first number; an aria by Grossec; "Ah, faut-il me venger? from 'The-s-ee" and held them enraptured throughout the concert to her final number by the American composer, John Alden Carpenter's "Light, My Light."

Miss Maynor's program was varied, consisting of songs by Handel, Wolf, Strauss, Debussy, Verdi, Barber, Korngold, Berger, Nathaniel Dett, Lawrence Brown and Hall Johnson. Ernst Victor Wolff was her accompanist.

The recital was unusual in that stress was placed on the classic and romantic songs. The recital proved convincingly the place art plays in a war torn world. Miss Maynor's singing made you forget the outside world. Like a young enchantress, she carried you away, as it were, "on wings of song" to her world of youth, love, hope and beauty.

When singing of "love," Miss Maynor seemed to be "at home." The beauty of her voice, especially the low register, was striking and thrilling in the beautiful "Zur Ruh, Zur Ruh" by Wolff and the "Love Letter" by Korngold. Miss Maynor has a fine sense of humor which she transmits in the songs of gayety; "Chevaux de Bois" by Debussy and "Mansfallen Spruchlein" by Wolf.

Miss Maynor's interpretations of the Negro Spirituals were dramatic, joyful and triumphant. Hall Johnson's "Ride On King Jesus" and Nathaniel Dett's "My Lord Done Been Here" were outstanding as to music composition and from the standpoint of dynamic feeling of the singer.

Miss Dorothy Maynor is a happy artist. She sings about life that men are trying to destroy. In a world of turmoil and hate, she sings of "peace" and "love". Her greatness lies in the message she winhes to express.

Plans Made For Biltmore Conference

Representatives of the commercial department at Thomas Jefferson high school will attend the conference of the National Youth Council on April 30, at the Biltmore hotel. Grace Boykin and Helen Parra are the two members of the committee which is making arrangements for the meeting.

Studios Using Colored Musicians With Whites

Rising quietly but steadily, is a wave of recognition of colored musicians at the motion picture studios that is opening hitherto closed doors of opportunity for the group, another sign of the changing times.

Two of Hollywood's largest cinema plants, M-G-M and R-K-O, added colored music makers to white bands assigned to make recordings of important music to be used in forthcoming pictures. In the latest modern method of picture making, the music whether for a soloist, a group, or for dancers, is first played before the microphones of a recording machine, then permanently registered on the sound-strip of the photographic negative.

At the time of photographic filming, the singer follows the play-back of the melody, moves lips and body in accordance and the "take" is completed. Similar procedure is followed by dancers.

Following persistent efforts on the part of President Edward Bailey, of Musicians' Local 757, the two above mentioned studios have been among the first to use mixed bands for this work. At M-G-M last week, the musical directors on two new features were highly pleased with the results. The pictures were "Faculty Row" and "Best Foot Forward." The men used here Barana Bigard, Kirk Bradford, "Snookie" Young, Phil Moore, Bennie Carter, Irving Ashby, Lee Young, Jack Trainor and Eddie Davis. In Fred Astaire's new feature at R-K-O Harold Brown, pianist; Barney Bigard, clarinet, and Lee Young, drums, were added to the big white band, making it a mixed one.

Christine Chatman Organizes Swing Quartette

Indianapolis, Ind., March 27—Following in the footsteps of Ella Fitzgerald and Mary Lou Williams, CHRISTINE CHATHAM the newest Ferguson Bros.' find, has been signed by the well known agency to appear with her own Combo. Christine, the former Snookum Russel featured artist is known for her "boogie woogie" style of piano playing and blues singing.

The quartette consist of Christine at the piano, playing and singing, Sol Jenkins, former Clarence Love drummer, Doris Holland trumpet, and Claude Victory tenor sax.

Cab Calloway Sang By Request To City Council on First Coast Trip

While Cab Calloway was here recently, filling with his band important engagements, local Calloway fans recalled with pleasure the sensation his first trip to the coast caused seven years ago. Signed for a week at the Paramount he was honored by a reception committee, a special breakfast at the Dunbar, and as proof that even staid lawmakers fall under the spell of swing music, was the center of one of the most unusual incidents that have ever happened in civic affairs.

Cab was met at the Santa Fe station by a parade of admirers, several blocks long in decorated cars, and escorted to the office of Frank L. Shaw, then mayor and very popular at the time with race citizens. The city council had just convened for the day and the group being shown through the City Hall were tiptoed into the audience chamber of the august council room. But rather than being treated with indifference, the moment the word was whispered among the councilmen "that's Cab Calloway" a recess was motioned, and Calloway called to the rostrum as honor guest. Council members began calling "sing, sing," and not accepting his excuse that the band boys did not have their instruments to accompany him, they persisted. Standing before one of the many microphones he swung into the old favorite, "Minnie the Moocher," and believe it or not, as many of the councilmen as could sing attempted to join him, while the rest kept time with their feet. No doubt the spirits of the long dead city fathers whose painted portraits looked down from the walls declared in hocked spirit language, Gadsooks, by Heck, what goeth on down there?"

With Dan Cullen Fentress

What with the Negro in baseball being the dominant question on the sports pages of the nation these days, the following by Joe Bostic, sports editor of The People's Voice, New York City weekly, is a perfect analysis of the picture as it stands today.

Fellow columnist Bill Smallwood tells this department that PV'S sports editor is a forthright, straight-shooting gentleman who pulls no punches, and knows whereof he speaks.

Under the caption, "The Scoreboard," Bostic writes:

"Where Do the Fans Stand on the Baseball Issue?

"AN OPEN LETTER—

"Dear Fan:

"As you know, we're on the threshold of another baseball season—a season in which you, as usual, will be asked to foot the bill for the payment of the players' salaries and the generous profits of the executives and stockholders. I was just thinking that the people who pay the bills usually have something to say about the things which they pay for and was wondering did the owners have an okay from you, on their policy of excluding Negro Americans from participation in this public business, purely on the basis of ancestry. It isn't even on the basis of color of the skin, as some folks might think, since there have been some very dark skinned boys plying their trade as hit and field artists in the major leagues.

"The reason I'm addressing this open letter to you is that we are about to enter into the second season of really intensive protest and pointing up of the effort on the part of fair-minded citizens to have the damnable policy of undemocratic exclusion wiped out and I feel that it's time for you to take an active hand by letting your importance be felt and your voice be heard.

"You see up 'til now the articulate leadership in this campaign has been on the part of the newspapers, which is as it should be. The responsibility of leadership is most certainly their function if their existence is justified.

"But what about you?

"One of the walls, behind which the reactionary and prejudiced ownership of the major league teams has hidden, has been that the fans didn't actually approve of the campaign and that they were satisfied with the way things are being run presently. They have contended that all of the activity for fair play is strictly something cooked up by the progressive newspapers and Johnny Fan did not have a great amount of interest.

"I, for one, think that this is a damn lie.

"I think that the American sports follower is the fairest guy in the world. Hell, he's proven it by the way he's taken Jesse Owens, Joe Louis, Jim Thorpe and a half dozen other guys of different racial strains to his heart, regardless of their racial antecedents. All he's asked was that the guy be able to deliver. That has been the barometer of his appraisal, whether he had a bat in his hand, a tennis racket or a fist encased in leather mittens.

"Well, the time has come for you to speak your piece so that the owners and stockholders will known that you are sick and tired of the whole stinking setup whereby you can see Negroes perform in football, basketball, track and what have you, but can't see them perform in the upper brackets of the game which is SUPPOSED to be YOURS.

"The time has come for you to pin the ears of the wishy washy magnates back—but good.

"They'll have to listen to what you have to say and pay attention to what you do because YOU are the guy who pays the freight.

"Suppose, for instance, that you decided to institute a really effective boycott against the teams that refused to use Negro players? Don't you think that would get action? You're darn tootin' it would!

"We think that the time is ripe and here is an opportunity for a show of hands on the part of you fans. Are you actively concerned in this effort?"

BEAU JACK MADE TO ORDER—ARMSTRONG

Just before old Hank Armstrong had his tonsils yanked he told this department he felt that if and when they met he would take Beau Jack, the latter's style being what it is. . . . Two champs to be seen here in the next few days: Manuel Ortiz, Friday night at Hollywood Legion stadium, and Jimmy Bivins, Tuesday night at Olympic auditorium. . . . It's John Thomas vs. Slugger White April 20.

Jones Fights Bivins Here Tuesday Nite

Olympic Auditorium takes the national fistic spotlight next Tuesday night, April 6, when Jimmy Bivins, best active heavyweight in the nation, clashes with Watson Jones, pride of Central avenue, in the 10-round feature.

Boom Boom Jones, winner of 15 fights via the kayoe route in his last 20 starts, gets the greatest chance of his sensational career when he stacks up against Bivins, Mr. Big of Boxin, with champion Joe Louis in the service.

Bivins is fresh from a slashing victory over Tami Mauriello at Madison Square Garden, New York.

Pust two weeks ago the Cleveland Clipper punched out a sensational, clean cut win over Mauriello before the hottest gate of the current season—the take was $74,651.

It was the second time Bivins whipped the highly rated New York contender.

The heat has been turned on strong for Bivins, who has waded through all opposition in the heavyweight ranks, with the exception of Joe Louis.

Some of his victims include Bob Pastor, Lee Savold, Nate Bolden, Gus Lesnevich, etc. . .

Al McCoy, former world middleweight king, has Jones rounding into shape at Baron Stumme's outdoor camp near Newhall. Watson will remain at that spot until the morning of the fight. Bill Brown is training the two fisted Los Angeles boy, who can flatten an opponent with a single blow.

Hudson to Box

Matchmaker Babe McCoy has some big name fights coming up at the Olympic during April.

Cecil Hudson, just coming off winning fights over Rodolfo Ramirez and Jimmy McDaniels at Hollywood Stadium, fires away at the capable Mexican star, Carlos Malacara, April 13 at Olympic Auditorium.

The rivals are fighting for a chance to meet Henry Armstrong, when the former triple crown king pin returns from his Eastern tour.

On April 20 Slugger White, Maryland's claimant for the world lightweight crown, meets the brilliant boxing speed burner, John Thomas, at the Olympic.

White Meets Bybee

White, who stopped Jorge Morelia and Jackie Byrd in recent weeks at the Olympic, meets Vern Bybee Monday night, April 5, at San Francisco.

Thomas has resumed drills at the Central A. C.

Bivins starts boxing drills this afternoon at the Main street gymnasium. He is slated to box every day, through Sunday, according to plans of Trainer Sparky Rudolph.

Ailce LeBell, general manager of the Olympic, urges fans to make their reservations early for the Bivins-Watson Jones gigantic. The sale has been heavy the past week, and it looks like a near capacity crowd.

Matchmaker McCoy plans to line up a corking supporting card under the heavyweight scrap.

C.B.S. Prepares "Blueberry Hill" All-Negro Program

HOLLYWOOD, Calif.—With acceptance by the New York headquarters practically assured, a nation-wide all-Negro program, first of its importance since "Wings Over Jordan," is expected to start over the air-waves from here in the near future. The first record was made Tuesday of last week by a large group of local colored artists, and flown immediately to the Columbia Broadcasting Station in New York for confirmation and suggestions, if any.

The artists who made the recording, which in course of time will be charted as a milestone in racial history, were Hattie McDaniels, Ben Carter, Mantan Moreland, Ernest Whitman, Savannah Churchill, Benny Carter's orchestra, the Lionel Morgan Trio, the Charioteers and the Blueberry Hill Choir of 25 voices. The show is to bear the name of the "Blueberry Hill Airshow," named after the exclusive west side section of Los Angeles, where the majority of the colored movie stars and a number of prominent business and professional figures live in fine two and three-story mansions.

Auguring well for the popularity that will follow it, over two hundred persons waited for more than two hours in the audience room of the radio station until 1:30 a.m. last Tuesday until the program went on. They showed that the program was well worth their long wait by their enthusiastic applause and compliments to the artists following its rendition.

Snookum Russell Opens New Scott Theatre Restaurant

Kansas City, Mo., March 24—Arriving in the city fresh from a triumphal engagement in Milwaukee's Jam Room, Snookum Russell and his Band with vocalist Annie Laura Page opened the new Scott's Theatre Restaurant, most beautiful and most complete theatre restaurant for Negroes in America.

The opening was one that reminded you of a Motion Picture Premier, musicians, performers and a crowd estimated at 1200 crowded the spacious restaurant and congratulated the manager for his selection of this great band to open such a magnificent spot. The Russell's Band engagement is for two weeks with an option.

Race Public Too Disrespectful of Race Movie Celebrities

Unlike the opposite race that honors and appreciates its stars and celebrities, disrespect is another bad trait a lot of our people most certainly will have to break themselves, if they wish to help the race advance faster. Bill Robinson has had to even face insults on at least three different occasions, since he returned here, to star in "Stormy Weather." White Hollywood, and the white group in general have just about forgotten the unfortunate incident four years ago, when Bill defended himself from two husky USC football players who had downed him and were beating him for "talking back" after a traffic accident. A niece of former Deputy District Attorney Cline; a white Legion convention delegate from Virginia; several other white spectators, and two colored ladies, were all willing witnesses for Bill, that he only used his gun to club his assailant off him while he was flat on his back in his own car.

Even the football players' family have dropped any ill-feeling over the matter, but in ordinary conversational arguments, persons on the occasions mentioned above have reminded Bill of the incident. Others who have not said anything to him personally have renewed discussion of it, blaming him without knowing the real facts in the case. Facts that prompted the judge to dismiss all charges sworn against Bill as soon as he heard the testimony. The more we respect our own movie stars, the more the whites will respect us, and the quicker we will have another ACADEMY AWARD WINNER.

ON THE TURF

By GEO. A. RAMSEY

NOTABLES LAUD PACIFIC PARACHUTE CO. WORKERS

San Diego, Calif., for the first time in many years the sport of kings will be missing for the week as far as the United States is concern. Oaklawn Park in Hot Springs, Ark., the Fairgrounds at New Orleans, La., and Bay Meadows at San Mateo, Calif., finished their meetings Saturday. All tracks had a grand season considering the war time regulations. The two tracks that are now operating are Havana, Cuba, and the New Hipodromo de las Americas in Mexico City. The horsemen are now at a stand still with no place to ship for the present altho next month will see the major tracks opening, which will give the patrons of the turf racing thru the summer and fall season, nearly every state in the union will have the famous sport, except California. And some time we think that some one is in the coal bin, that keeps racing from the southern part of the state. Why can't Hollywood have a meeting? Street car and busses run by the track. Chairman Jerry Giesler at this writing is in Washington, D. C., to consult with federal officials concerning future racing in California. Also making the trip were Wm. (Bill) Kyne, manager of Bay Meadows and Assemblyman Harrison of San Mateo, Calif. We hope that these men will accomplish something for the public that love the sport of kings, and also to save the great breeding industry of California. New York state expects to have the greatest racing season in history when the familar the're off voice will sound April 8th at Jamaica. Some of the greatest horses in the U. S. will face the starter. Count Fleet still remains the winter book favorite for the Kentucky derby, Ocean Wave who's stock took a drop after he was beaten in the Arkansas Derby Saturday by the longshot Seven Hearts, altho the later carried 120 while Ocean Wave carried topweight of 123. Seven eHarts will also start in the blue grass classic. Devil's Thumbs is still the horse to beat in the derby is the opinion of many horsemen. Burnt Cork Eddie Anderson's hope, for the derby will run April 27th in the derby trial at Louisville, Ky., if the horse shows a good race he will start in the derby. Well folks there you have it, the news of the turf for the week, so since you can't bet on them for two weeks, buy more U. S. Stamp and War Bonds. So-long George.

SAN DIEGO, Mar. 31—Having shown the way for the past year that democracy can and does work, at least in some instances, employees of the Pacific Parachute company, 627 Eighth avenue, held their first anniversary celebration here Saturday night in the plant auditorium.

Made up of several racial groups, including white, Negro and Mexican, the employees heard themselves commended and lauded by such personages as J. A. Jackson, U. S. Treasury Department representative, who presented the "Minute Man T Flag"; Harley Knox of the city council; Mrs. Jessie Terry of the Los Angeles Housing Authority; and Rev. Charles H. Hampton of this city.

Staged on the third floor of the building, the employees dedicated the program to Eddie "Rochester" Anderson, the radio star, and Howard "Skippy" Smith, president, the founders, and to the memory of the late Mack "Skip" Gravelly, who was a member of the parachute jumping team, "Skip" and "Skippy."

Mrs. John Craft was program chairman.

Authoritatively said to have probably the best production record of any parachute company in the nation, the Pacific company is unique in that its heads are members of a number of racial groups.

Foremost among these and their race are "Skippy" Smith (Negro), president; Herman Warren (Negro), his half brother, superintendent; Nadine Redmond (Negro), personnel director and secretary; Adelaide Gladden (Negro), purchasing agent; Gloria Gonzales, (white), receptionist; Rajetta Johnson (white), plant guard; Christina Palmer (white), Army inspector; Lucille Stansberry (Negro), company inspector; Mrs. Viola Sample (Negro), day shift supervisor; Mrs. Cora Damm (white), night shift supervisor; Rachel Dalessi (white), final assembly supervisor; Budweiser Hawkins (Negro), stock clerk; Charles A. Whitney (white), day shift mechanic; C. Salley (white), night shift mechanic; Carmen Romero, (Mexican), chief packer; Floyd C. Covington (Negro), acting director of industrial relations; and H. C. Bramble (white), bookkeeper.

I understand that farm workers are going to be ignored by their draft boards for a while. We need fellows to raise potatoes as well as some to peel them. With food production slowing up like a fat man watching his street car getting away from him, the hoe is becoming almost as important as the gun. Scarecrows are expected to be awarded the Army and Navy "E" for keeping the crows out of the broccoli. Farming is one job where you only get out of it what you put into it—if you're lucky. You've got to plant vegetables to get any to grow. You can't eat out of seed catalogs. To reap, you've got to sow. And don't say, "Sow what?"

The govt. is still allowing full production on bassinets, bathinettes, baby's clothes and accessories. You can talk about the Air Corps—but infantry is still important.

Don't keep your morale in a blackout—give a party. Serve your friends with first quality liquors, wines or beer from the House of Morgan, 2729 Central Ave. We have the finest selection available—with mixings of every type to satisfy the most exacting. Our cash and carry policy gives you higher quality at less cost.

Race Track GOSSIP

By Jay Gould

Bay Meadows race track will be closed when you read this column (maybe).

"Duke" Browning from Seattle, Bob Hereford, Al Love, Freddie Reed, Vernon Brown, and Jerry from the Southern Pacific station were seen betting hundreds and hundreds to a race at Bay Meadows.

Ethel Carter, Loretta Whitbey, Miss Billie Starr, Mrs. Lillian Robinson, Mrs. Emma Littleton, Miss Corrine Phillips, Mrs. Opal Phillips and Mrs. Marie Thompson are 'Frisco's biggest operators, playing all games, including the races.

Spotted, switching from one nite club to another, having some fun were Mabel Hamilton, Mrs. Be Kind, Mrs. Linda Berkeley, Artelia Burns, Myrtle Harris, Mary Thompson, Miss Eva Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. "Tite" Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Armstrong who is recently out of the armed forces, Mr. Calvin ("Gil") Gilbert, Miss Thelma Hill, Sadie Roby, Miss Adele Ward, Ethel Brown, Genevieve Friend, "Little Mama" and Minerva also ringsides all fights.

"Cal" Williams, day bartender at the Town Club, the big wig lady with whom you were sipping drinks at "Jacks" t'other night, too bad when she got 'juiced" and began using strong words which were way out of line.

Miss June Jones—I'm sorry you had one drink too many the other night. Leaning over the bar talking loud, to this writer, which didn't become a beautiful girl of your calibre dressed in $500 worth of fur and wearing a John Fdereick spring hat.

I quote a letter from "Tim" Cane down Hot Water way, Arkansas, saying all the sports from around the country are on hand with nothing but money, beating the games in the city and winning on the races. Some sports.

Mrs. Rosa Foster of Rose Dolph hotel, 1864 Post street, is now one of the smartest beauties in the Fillmore district to be on the loose.

Two of the knobbiest, niftiest and cutest girls in the Fillmore district are Novel Hayden and Arline Charles.

John M. and his wife who operate a hotel in a nearby valley town, can be seen in and out of the City by the Golden Gate, spending plenty dough and ringsiding all big events.

The next dance at the San Francisco auditorium with Ben Watkin's all star band—You'll have to get the details from Louis Verette, co-owner of Club Alabam.

Phay Terrell, who played to standing room at the Oakland Auditorium, has another date for the 29th of this month. John A. Burton and this writer books all big name bands for the Oakland Auditorium.

Since Al Love let "Sweetwine" the bartender, walk out of Jack's Tavern, the spot is losing $50 a night as "Sweetwine" could take care of all of the waitresses and half of the bar.

Calvin Vinson, Frisco's sport and playboy has skipped town and left the charming and petit Vera Marshall crying real tears, but she is still at Jack's. You can't lose anything boys if you are lucky enough to latch on to her.

Didja hear about "Mustard" Arnold, bartender at Jacks, and one of his best girls, battling over Charlie Mitchell, the headwaiter, in a style which was remindful of Earl Turner and Henry Armstrong. What have you Mustard?

Many of the newly trained sepia seamen, who were "boot trained" at Great Lake's Naval Training Station near Chicago are frequently seen in and out of the various hot spots and later are heard asking this question—Mister which train will take us to Treasure Island? They are stationed there. Quartermaster (3rd class) Paul B. Jackson of Springfield, Ohio, is one of the smiling young gobs.

Berry Clinton and wife are going to church concerts and downtown shows instead of playing the night clubs.

Cornelius Clipper, Margaret, his wife, Miss Billy Starr and party played the clubs and after-hours spots after winning on the races.

Mrs. Bessie Jones is not interested in playing the races but is smart on all games in the City and anything she plays for money, comes out right.

Percy Williams, Buck Canan, Buddy Montgomery and Mr. Hollywood still look for poor people to help them out.

Cleo Foster, L. D. Benton, Marie Canady, Vera Winburn, Naomi Gibson, Bud and Baby Londy can be seen playing the afterhour joints until the wee hours.

Julius Delifus, with the longest cocktail bar in the country is packing 'em in from the rear of the building to the sidewalk, keeping four bartenders on their tip-toes fourteen hours daily; also four or five bar-maids smiling and pleasing the guests with Ray Boughnight boss of the kitchen. Some spot.

"Slats" Regan and Fats Wilkens can get more money in the cash register from ten in the morning until twelve closing time than anyone I know, as they are top bartenders.

Phil Gomez, back in the city playing the nite spots and girls, and giving the games a good lacing, also Senorita Gloria Escamille playing alongside and keeping up with his fast pace.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis Strain are seen walking in different directions—too bad they couldn't get along on account of some lady roomers. Mr. Strain can be seen up and down the highway to and from Los Angeles in his new Buick.

Jess Wilson and his wife, Valda, are still tossing away big money over the cocktail bars. The same goes for Gladys Pitman and Buddy, her boy-friend. Mr. and Mrs. Jim Grant, Mrs. Bea Roberts, Mrs. Gert Maxwell and Mr. Bill Owens and his wife Olivet.

Wonder where Hortense Gable is? Dorothy Hammond, one of the cute waitresses at the Town Club seems to like her "tomboyish" outfit.

See Dorothy Pitty, Thelma Thompson, Millard Ivy, Myrtle Jones, Vera Marshall and Mrs. Al Love had front pews at the opera house to hear Dorothy Maynor.

A few prettys at Dorothy Maynor's recital were Velma Franklin, Isabel Kellam, Vivian Gabie, Eloise Roan, Dolores Beal, Shirley Williams, Ophelia Batiste, Rosalie Brown, Maggie Jo Green, Ada Gilmore, Geraldine Jefferies, Hattie Cherry, Henrietta Viltz, Miss June Hunt, Hilda Davie, Mr. Oliver and his wife Jane, Mrs. Victoria Francis, Mrs. Florence Allen, Eleanor Calhoun and her pal Jerry and also Hazel Davis, her sister and Ella Robbins of jute-box fame. This bunch plays all "swell affairs".

Clyde Powell, 1617 Julia street, Berkeley, visiting the Havana Club Wednesday night with friends of San Francisco.

W. L. Harris, Naval Air Station doing the town and enjoying himself.

Si Oliver, arranger for a Big-Name band is in town looking very smart.

Eddie Moore, Jr., is in from Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. Cadillac Cotton are still playing as usual, also seen at the fights.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Woods, formerly of Los Angeles now residing in Oakland ,visiting the high spots and enjoying the best of health, spending ready cash.

Mrs. Rollie Cruz and brother were out for the evening in Jack's. Phil Ward, the brother, is now staying in our Frisco town and one the loose.

Why don't you drop into the Republican Club and see Frank Logan and several prettys waiting on the customers who came back for more. Frank's got a bankroll as big as a cash register.

Did you know that "Red" Duvana has a firstrate hotel—the Geary Hotel at 1764 Geary—with all the latest improvements and every room an outside one?

This writer spotted at the "spots" the following pleasure seekers — Harry Jacobson, Mrs. Edna Mae Goynes of Los Angeles, Miss Kay Francis, Miss Edna Mae Hodge, Bertha Parker and Miss Sarah Wright having a fine time.

The lady having dinner at the Havana Cafe t'other night with Ah-what's his name, wisecracked saying "Jay Gould won't buy no drinks, ain't going to buy nothing"—why you had enough chicken to feed the British Army and drinks lined up three in one, so I don't think you had room for anything more. Tee! Hee!

The two pretty and swell-dressed chicks you see going to the Fillmore district theaters every Sunday are Genevieve Lee and Myrtle Washington, both married and not on the loose, boys.

This writer has different colored Victory pins to sell and rings. You can have your name on any color of pins that you like. They are 50c apiece, and real cute and pretty.

See Barney McNeal and his wife Lucile still playing the night spots. There are both Big-timers.

Watch this space for the next dance presented by John A. Burton and this writer in the Oakland Auditorium.

Little Joe Walker — you are still going in and out of different cocktail bars with half a dozen lovelies and pretties following you around. Soon as your wife, Bunny, catches you, you'll say somebody gave her the tip.

Bill Hart the headwaiter at Club Alabam and Poor Boy, the second waiter, can be seen before and after they go to work spending money all over town. How can they keep it up?

I saw Miss Gert Simson t'other evening looking the picture of health.

Jimmy Nichols is seeking the whereabouts of a sister, namely, Lessie Chandler or Lessie Johnson of Portland, Oregon. Jimmie Nichols, 1889 Sutter St., San Francisco, California.

Frances Nealy, show cutie, can be seen in and out of the exclusive places.

When Cleo Cruiskshank stepped on the streamliner bound east for Chicago and Detroit, she surely looked good.

Wonder who the choice chicks were seen sipping choice drinks with Frank Logan and so and so at Club Alabam?

Little Sights and Jerry, his wife, knocking themselves out at a popular Post Street nitery, also Miss Ollie Mae Scott. How do they do it and live up to it?

From Los Angeles, Mrs. Viola Jones, now living in San Francisco and also Cordelia Hopkins cocktailing at the fashionable Havana Club.

For further information write or wire Jay Gould, 1716 Webster street, San Francisco, California.

LAST RITES FOR KATIE B. HURD OBSERVED HERE

Funeral services for Mrs. Katie B. Hurd, 3117 Folsom street, one of the community's best known women, were held in the Ivory Chapel of The People's Funeral Home March 25, at 11 a. m.

Mrs. Hurd's death occurred on March 8th, at her home. She had been ill for some time. Mrs. Hurd was 58 at the time of her demise. She was the widow of the late William Hurd, and was a native of North Carolina. She had lived in this city for 33 years, and was a member of Wesley chapel.

● POST OFFICE FACTS & FIGURES

By PAUL L. HACKETT
PAUL L. HACKETT, SR.

"They also that render evil for good are mine adversaries; because I follow the thing that good is." Psalms 38:20.

The ceaseless battle between labor and management goes on and on. When facts are looked at squarely in the face how foolish and useless it all seems. There never can be any hope of complete victory for either side. In fact there should be no side, rather there should be a oneness like a globe denoting strength and unity. The strength of any government or organization lies in unity from within.

The greatest enemy of unity is FEAR. FEAR creates liars, cheats, cowards, and traitors. Cowards are like fleas they will bite any one who has blood in their veins. You may kill one flea but there will always be another one to bite you unless you remove the source of incubation. As long as fear exists in any organization there will be cowards. A coward cares not whom he betrays as long as he is protected. He is equally dangerous to employee and supervision for he is loyal to neither.

Often ambitious office seekers use fear as an element to further their ambition. This is a grave mistake when the loyalty and adolation of employees would carry them to greater heights. The greatest tribute that can be given to an individual is the good will of his fellow man. It is hard for a stranger to break up a home that is united from within.

The misunderstandings, suspicions, and illwill will be minimized when labor and management can meet on common ground. This is the dreams of the C.I.O. and the hopes of the United Federal Workers of America. It can be done and must be done if we are to have a complete victory. It will come some day so why not now and lets get this war over.

As soon as the amendments have been clarified on H. R. 1366 we will release it. H. R. 1366 has passed both the House and Senate. It is understood there will be a 40 hour week and flat $300 bonus.

Murder Suspect

la[illegible] attorney for Folkes, in affidavits filed by him in support of a motion for an indefinite continuance of the trial slated for April 7. The motion was denied.

In his affidavits, the lawyer charged that the Southern Pacific was preventing its employes from conferring with him, that he had been refused a promised inspection of the various "confessions" made by the accused man and that the corner had refused to let him inspect the records of the autopsy perfomed on the murdered woman.

A galaxy of movie stars, headed by Bill Robinson, Louise Beavers, Clarence Muse, Herb Jeffries, Ben Carter, Hall Johnson and other Hollywood luminaries have promised personal appearances at the April 1 dance to guarantee Folkes a fair trial, based according to William Pollard, committee head, on the belief that the accused man is entitled to every benefit of constitutional and legal safeguards.

"The charges made by the attorney who is familiar with the facts bear out our contention that only the best possible legal counsel can assure Folkes a fair trial. It was to be expected that a case which has attracted so much attention would make an impartial trial difficult," the Committee pointed out, "it is for that reason that it behooves every person who believes in fair play to play his part in seeing to it that Folkes gets a fair trial."

Despite confessions and later retractions by Folkes those familiar with the facts of the case said grave doubts exist as to his guilt or to any complicity in the case. They pointed out that many angles of the case have gone unexplained and that Los Angeles police officials were openly doubtful of the truth of the confessions made by Folkes who has always insisted to close friends and relative that he is innocent.

up with him, attacked him from behind, slugging him with their fists, and knocking him down. They then searched him, taking an envelope containing insurance, and registration papers from his inside pocket. They fled north just as motorcycle officer Barr reached that point on his rounds. He shouted for them to halt, but when they did not he fired striking Allen. As Mason continued his flight he was spied by traffic officer Breschel, and also dropped when he disobeyed the command to halt. Two colored women witnesses and the victim positively identified the men.

building companies showing similar rate increases. At Douglas Aircraft Co. Negro employes were increased during the nine months from 200 to 2,000. North American from 364 to 1,696 and Lockheed-Vega from 534 to 1,189.

But the total is still higher since the tabulation for according to Clarence Johnson, able WMC director of Negro employment, further increases have taken place. The present status of Negro employment is greatly due to Johnson's presence here, and his unfaltering efforts in behalf of Negro applicants. In the majority the workers have been giving good satisfaction but Negro leaders are watching instances of absenteeism and misconduct that should above all not be committed by race workers, say they.

Voorhis

though he concedes weakly that he "probably will."

Rep. Will Rogers, Jr., fighting son of the great humorist, smacks down the appeaser approach to the poll-tax menace, in a flat statement phoned to this reporter in Washington from Detroit, Mich., to-wit: "I came to Washington to fight for racial progress. I certainly favor enactment of anti-poll tax legislation . . . and now!"

Equally vigorous in their support are California Reps. Welch and Englebright, R.; Hollifield, who recently appointed a Los Angeles Negro boy a West Point alternate, struck home when he said, "There's no way to appease the poll-taxers."

Rep. Voorhis, however, has heard the thunder and roar of the boys from Dixieland, has taken flight and fears that support for anti-poll tax legislation will cause an "unfortunate, bitter contest." Like all timid Democrats, he fears the poll-taxers in 1944. But the Negro vote in California, and eleven other decisive states, is gone if Democrats fail to solve the "irrepressible conflict" within their ranks, the poll tax. The President's vigorous win-the-war program cannot survive the attack of the polltaxers; there is no way to appease them.

California Republicans, with the exception of Welch and Englebright, have also winked at the Rankins and Coxes, failing to take advantage of the rare political opportunity offered them in this case.

Wendell Willkie, militant national GOP figure, who is gaining real weight in the drive for the Republican presidential nomination in 1944, has voiced unrelenting determination to smash the poll-tax. California Republicans had better take heed.

Labor, Negroes Must Act Now!

Letters and telegrams to California Congressmen must pour into Washington from labor and Negro organizations demanding that HOUSE PETITION No. 3 is signed.

The California State Legislature should be urged to memorialize Congress for passage of the Marcantonio anti-poll tax bill, just as the City Council and the Board of Supervisors did last year.

The anti-poll tax measure CAN BE PASSED in the House within the next three weeks if vigorous pressure is brought to bear to secure the remainder of 218 Congressional signatures needed to drive the bill out of the House judiciary committee. In 13 days of campaigning, 113 Representatives have signed, with scores of others ready to affix their John Hancocks.

A coalition of ranking Republican and Democratic Senators is scheduled to present anti-poll tax legislation in the Senate. Observers state that no progressive legislation in recent years has secured the broad support which the drive against the poll-tax boasts and that passage of the measure in the Senate, though after a bitter fight, can be expected.

The man whom all the King's horses and all the King's men can't scare, fighting Rep. Vito Marcantonio, whose anti-poll tax bill has received endorsement by a coalition of Republicans and Democrats in the House including all those members who themselves had introduced anti-poll tax measures and is also backed by the National Committee to Abolish the Poll Tax, AFL, CIO, and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, told me today that anti-poll tax legislation can be passed in both the House and the Senate. The key thing, he said, "are letters from home,—not petitions or printed cards,—but letters written by individual voters."

"In peace times," he said, "passage of the anti-poll tax bill is important because it extends democracy to 10,000,000 Americans. In war time, it is crucial. It brings about unity, which is essential to winning the war. The unity is forged by eliminating the division between enfranchised and disenfrachised citizes. It has been argued that anti-poll tax legislation at this time may cause disunity. This sounds like appeasement, for what causes disunity is not the granting of rights, but the continued deprivation of rights. The granting of the right of franchise will aid in bringing about unity of the country. Further, the enactment of anti-poll tax legislation will convince the people of China and the colonial countries, India, Africa, Porto Rico, of our sincerity in formulating the Four Freedoms and the Atlantic Charter. It will thereby be a contribution to winning the war because these people are so important to the U. S. in a war which has a world-wide front. We can never be successful in fully convincing our Chinese and Indian allies, and those in Africa, the West Indies and Porto Rico of our democratic objective in this war as long as we continue to discriminate against white and Negro, particularly by depriving 10,000,00 of our citizens of the right to vote. The enactment of anti-poll tax legislation makes for unity and victory against the fascist enemies abroad and the fascist enemies at home.

"What I have said with regard to anti-poll tax legislation is equally applicable to my Fair Employment Practice bill, H. R. 1732. While the anti-poll tax fights against discrimination in the elective franchise, this one hits discrimination in the field of work."

Bows to Eagle

"Incidentally," Rep. Marcantonio continued, "I want to congratulate the California EAGLE and the Negro Victory Committee of Los Angeles. We have felt the effect of their struggle here in Washington. The barriers in defense plants are slowly but surely breaking down. This is only because of militant action of people, black and white. This is a people's fight on the military front; it is a people's fight on the domestic front."

Marcantonio explained that early passage of the anti-poll tax bill in the House will send it immediately to the Senate. "This will leave a year or a year-and-half before the end of this session. Filibusters can be successful a month or so before the end of a Congress, but not when they have a prospect of continuing through 18 months! If, however, cloture is necessary in the Senate; it is the people's business to see that we get it. We have the votes in the Senate. It can be done. It must be!"

Poll Tax Bill

other organizations, this session's anti-poll tax fight has thundered into the very forefront of Congressional activity.

Although, at the last Congress, it required more than a year to secure 40 signatures of Congressmen on a petition to force the Geyer anti-poll tax bill on the House floor, during the 13 days of this session that the Marcantonio discharge petition has rested on a table at the front of the House, 113 Representatives have affixed their signatures, with others flocking to support of the bill.

Daily papers throughout the nation and the news services, UP, AP and INS, mention no word of the anti-poll tax battle. However, this reporter discovered it to be the center of unprecedented congressional furore.

With the powerful National Committee to Abolish the Poll Tax, founded by the late California Representative, Lee Geyer, throwing its full support behind the Marcantonio bill, that New York American Labor Party Congressman has launched a blitz against the poll-taxers in the House that has the boys gasping for breath.

Defeatists who held that anti-poll tax legislation would get no support in this Congress are bowled over by the stupendous 113 signatures obtained to date on the discharge petition, which would force the bill from the House judiciary committee, whose chairman, poll-taxer Hatton Summers, D., Tex., has said "hell will freeze oxer" before he voluntarily reports the bill out of committee.

Rep. Vito Marcantonio told me that, providing pressure from home districts continues, the bill will be on the House floor for a vote within three weeks.

Three thousand miles away from home districts, undisturbed by delegations of their constituents and unflooded by mail, the California delegation to the House has been the toughest to crack by anti-poll tax forces. Urgently needed are letters and telegrams from individuals to Congressmen from California districts. Churches, civic, social, political and labor bodies are urged to send demands to their Congressmen specifically asking that they sign "HOUSE PETITION NO. 3."

Although House regulations forbid disclosure of those who have signed the discharge petition, it can be revealed that the following Californians have shown vigorous support of the bill: Will Rogers, Jr., D.; Cecil King, D.; H. L. Englebright, R.; R. J. Welch, R., and Chet Hollifield, D. All other California Congressmen have either expressed no poll tax views or refused point-blank to support the legislation.

Congressman Tom Ford, of the 14th Congressional district, including the whole Central Avenue area, told me yesterday that he "would go along with the anti-poll tax fight but that he felt he was doing "irreparable damage to the nation" by supporting the right of ten million Americans to participate in American elections. Ford proclaimed that the bill "would no more pass the Senate than a man could fly to the moon on ten gallons of gas." Ford said raising the poll-tax question now is "very foolish of you people," and would split the Democratic party.

When I told him that the poll-taxers had opposed every major Administration measure brought before Congress during this session and that action against the poll-taxers to block their sabotage of the war effort was vital to victory, Ford said he had heard that one before.

The Congressman who represented Central Avenue's teeming black thousands said that "most of the boys from the South are charming fellows, but they seem to go hay-wire at the threat of anti-poll tax legislation. I just wouldn't bring it up right now."

This, however, he said, I need not mention in the paper.

ALL THIS AND VOORHIS, TOO

Rep. Jerry Voorhis, frequent labor and liberal spokesman in the House from California, duplicated the Ford song-and-dance when interviewed by this reporter. Of decisive importance in determining the performance of the whole California delegation, Voorhis also advanced the argument that the poll-taxers ought to be appeased "right now"—despite their sabotage of every war-vital measure before the Congress. Voorhis, however, stated he "probably would" sign the discharge petition. Letters and telegrams from labor will help him decide he'd probably better sign the discharge petition.

CONGRESS MUST FIGHT

The sensational progress of the anti-poll tax effort in the House is the first indication that our Congress is prepared to do something about the poll-taxers conspiracy against progressive and win-the-war legislation. The nation must organize as it has never before to demand passage of the anti-poll tax bill when it reaches the Senate. Already a coalition of powerful Democrats and Republicans is taking place to blast the bill through the upper House. It is recalled that the bill could have passed—would certainly have passed—during last session had the Dixie filibuster been broken by the invocation of cloture (limitation of debate).

WORKERS BEWARE!

Los Angeles' war-working population must bellow its support of the struggle against the poll-taxers because that battle involves their right to work without being fired for "race, creed or color," their right to join a union, their right to secure decent price ceilings on meat and other commodities, and their right to send for parents or relatives who remain today on southern farms.

Poll Taxer Hobbs of Alabama has cooked up a scheme in the House which is certain of passage that will outlaw your union.

Poll Taxer Bankhead's Farm Labor bill makes it unlawful for farm labor to leave the job in Southern states. Innocent sounding enough, but we know how that measure will be enforced in the hinterlands of Mississippi and Georgia. It will simply chin Negroes to sub-standard agricultural chores while white workers migrate to industrial jobs at decent wages.

Suppose you think you've a right to live side-by-side with whites in Federal Housing projects? The Poll Taxers have that one figured out, too. The Housing Authority needs funds. Administration leaders agree with you that there should be no discrimination in Federal Housing projects. But they need Congressional appropriations. Alabama's Joe Stearns demands that the Federal government quit "advocating racial equality" before he and his cronies permit Congress to jar loose from vitally needed housing funds. The Authority knuckles under and pledges that it will maintain housing segregation.

Meantime, friend worker, your Congressman sits in Washington and refuses to sign a petition to clip the wings of the Poll Tax sabotage brigade. And you sit home, reasonably close to pen, paper and stamps—but don't write him about it.

You've no right to grouse about "conditions" unles you first let your Congressman hear about it. Three or four letters from home are often enough to make a Congressman "do right."

Brothers and sisters, now is the time to climb aboard the typewriter and let Tom Ford, Jerry Voorhis and all the other California Representatives know that their constituents haven' forgotten they're alive!

Madam Chiang

throughout. Among her statements were "We are filled with gratitude to know that the citizens of the United States, and its government are in sympathy with us as we carry on in the sixth year of defense against the ruthless enemy, that invoded our homeland,"—"it is needful that a better understanding be worked out between all the races that have the winning the war as their goal."—"But just as this country threw off the effects of of the first World War in 25 years, China too will throw off the effects of this one, and rebuild her cities, within a quarter of a century."—"Mr. Mayor just said that Los Angeles is the seat of the vital interests of production used in the war against the Axis. I realize this and am glad to be in a city that is doing so much to help win this conflict."

PRAISES MOTION PICTURE INDUSTRY

Motion picture producers, and actors from the stars down to the least extra, were greatly gratified, at the special credit she gave the motion picture industry, for its part in the war. She said, "The motion picture industry brings the whole world together as nothing else can. It teaches the various nationalities more about each other, and tends to foster sympathy and tolerance. Right now it is one of the greatest factors towards building up and keeping up the morale of the fighting forces, and the citizens carrying on on the home front."

MAYOR PROCLAIMS ANNUAL "MADAM CHIANG DAY"

The gracious manner in which Mayor Bowron attended and presented the distinguished visitor, exemplified him as a true representative of the great metropolis of Los Angeles. Beginning with "Madam Chiang Kaishek, we the people of Los Angeles welcome you with all our hearts. We wish we could only had words to express how pleased we are to have you here, the last city of your visit to the United States. Now that you have reached the end of your journey, we want you to just try and remember, some of the kindly and sincere phrases that have been spoken and written about you during your visit to America."—But this feeling toward your people is not merely something new brought on by the war. For many years many of our citizens have felt and shown a great interest in China and its people. "In honor of you and all that you stand for I am going to declare this day a holiday. Ladies and gentlemen, I now proclaim that from this day forth, the 31st day of March will be known as Madam Chiang Kaishek day, The Chinese flag will be flown on that day, and special observances held in honor of the occasion."

PLANES THAT BOMBED TOKIO BUILT HERE

Continuing the Mayor said: "You have reached the lank of 'Shang-rila.' This is the name the President originated when press interviewers asked him where the planes that bombed Tokio were built. Well, the aircraft that made that astounding history were built right here in plants a few miles from this platform. We are proud to boast that this is the most war-minded city in America."

Following the ceremonies Madam Chiang was escorted to the Ambassador hotel, where she has her headquarters, until her final appearance at Hollywood Bowl Sunday. American Chinese in gay costumes, the dress uniforms of the soldiers who lined the sidewalk and rode army equipment or marched, heavily armed marines, made an impressive sight.

Besides a number of prominent race citizens many city and county officials were on the City Hall steps.

Among those in the Mayor's welcoming committee were Gen. Maxwell Murray, Admiral Ralston Holmes, Chinese Consul T. K. Chang and others. The official arrangements committee included Alphonso Bell, president of the Church Federation; Mrs. Robert Perry, president of the Southern California Wellesley Association; Robert L. Smith, chairman, and David O. Selznick, chairman for the motion picture industry.

Union Organizer

League, handled the case for the Union. A hearing in the case was set for March 30th to determine whether the case should be held for Special Sessions Court.

"The rights of all minorities will be fought for by the UAW in this district through the Workers Defense League, our official defense agency for discrimination cases," Mr. McGowan declared. "We intend to fight this case to a finish to get justice done. In addition, we have asked the League to start a civil suit for $500 damages, the maximum under the New York Civil Rights Code, so that other hotels may learn a lesson."

"We are continuing the fight against discrimination in employment in the aircraft and other war industries in the Buffalo area, where we have already secured war jobs for hundreds of unemployed Negro workers," Mr. McGowan said.

Mr. Bowman had attempted to register at the hotel late Tuesday (Mar. 23) after a group of other organizers had registered. The night manager, Martin Nichols, had refused Mr. Bowman a room which had been reserved for him, on the grounds that many other guests at his hotel would move out if he accepted a Negro. He said he "had never had a Negro guest and didn't intend to start now." The UAW organizers, assembled for a regional conference, then checked out in a body. The group which left the hotel, William Hilger, George Cranmore, Willard Rittenbery, Francis X. O'Melia, George Kane, Charles Halifax, and Irving Salert, all appeared at the Court to insist on the criminal summons, said to be the first in NY history. Mr. Salert informed the Court of what had transpired and the summons was issued. Other UAW organizers who appeared in Court were Paul Goggi, Harry Silverman and Lawrence McNally.

Mr. Bowman, who hails from Saginaw, Michigan, is covering the Buffalo area for the UAW. The other organizers come from that city and Syracuse, Philadelphia, and other parts of the New York-New Jersey metropolitan area.

If convicted, the hotel man can go to jail for 30 to 90 days, or pay a fine of not less than $100 or more than $500, or both. In the civil suit which Mr. Delson will file, the damages are a minimum of $100, a maximum of $500.

DON'T FAIL TO VOTE APRIL 6

GEORGE MOORE LIKED OVER HARTLEY FOR COUNCILMAN

WATTS — When Councilman Tilder W. Hartley of the 15th strict, sometime ago bluntly formed spokesmen for a local lored organization that "he did ot need the negro vote," he ommitted a political, if not a ocial error likely to prove his ndoing in the April 6 municipal lection.

That discriminatory remark is acting against the incumbent nd the answer to his challenge ill be made at the polls April 6, ccording to James E. Walton, eader in the anti-Hartley move- ent.

"We want a representative ho will not only represent the istrict as it should be repre- ented, but also a councilman ho will represent all the people f the district, not a certain lique of favored few.

"The colored citizens of the 5th district should be accorded he same privileges and respect s any other citizens, and when man who professes to be our epresentative snubs us, there is nothing for us to do but our dardnest to remove him from office and elect a man who will treat all citizens equal.

"We are supporting, and hope to elect George H. Moore, president of the harbor commission, the 15th district councilman."

Mr. Walton said that the anti-Hartley and pro-Moore group numbered approximately 500 and that the group has raised funds for campaign purposes to elect Moore.

Incidentaly, Moore is indorsed for the office by the San Pedro-Wilmington Central Labor Council, the Los Angeles CIO council, which includes the Longshoremen and Warehousemen, the Shipyard Workers, Local 9; the 67th Democratic County central committee; the Harbor District Democratic club; the Roosevelt Democratic club; Mrs. Jean Haley, regional director of the State Republican Assembly, past chairman of the 17th district Republican county committee, and numerous civic organizations throughout the district.

RASMUSSEN'S SUPPORT OVERWHELMING

A survey of the 7th Councilmanic area reveals a surprisingly overwhelming expression of confidence and support for the re-election of Councilman Carl C. Rasmussen. Citizens who voluntarily are giving of their time to insure the continuation of Mr. Rasmussen in office state that "people from all walks of life have expressed satisfaction with the honest and sincere efforts of Councilman Rasmussen to give the 7th District the kind of representation which makes for a better community. We are thoroughly confident of a clear-cut victory at the primaries."

Endorsements have been received by the Councilman from a great number of organizations legitimately representing both labor and management. The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen states: "The Council wishes you success in the coming campaign because it believes you have honestly and sincerely made every effort to advance the cause of good government." Similar endorsements and expressions have been received from the Central Labor Council, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, the Los Angeles Industrial Union Council, the Joint Council of Teamsters, the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, the Hollywood Motion Picture Democratic Committee, and many others.

Expressions of appreciation have been received from such organizations as the Los Angeles Leagle of Women Voters, the Women's City Club, Government Research, Inc., The Parent-Teachers' Association, and Catholic and Protestant Church leaders.

In a personal letter which Councilman Rasmussen addressed to a great many thousands of his constituents he outlined the progress of the district during his term of office such as the expenditure of nearly half a million dollars in improvements on Vernon Avenue, Exposition Boulevard, Rodeo Road, Santa Barbara Avenue, and other streets, traffic safety devices, numerous overhead lights, modern street lighting systems, pedestrian subways, etc., the development of the Southeast Polyclinic with its continued program of public health service, the Federal low-cost housing program which he successfully fought for, the granting of maximum wartime wage increases to employees most in need such as maintenance men and janitors.

Council Rasmussen's platform is:

To make Los Angeles a truly great and beautiful city which our returning heroes will be proud to call their home.

To plan for postwar public improvements of every nature to provide jobs for those who are now in the armed services and defense industries.

To lend every possible effort, through personal sacrifice and unselfish public service, to win the war, weld a just and lasting peace, and preserve democracy in the American way of life.

COUNCILMAN BENNETT'S RECORD MERITS HIS RE-ELECTION

From the three campaign headquarters in the Tenth District come uniform reports that indicate Councilman Bennett's re-election by an even greater majority than he has ever received in previous campaigns. According to Les Vaughan, campaign manager for Bennett, this condition is due to the fact that the Bennett campaign has been much more intensive and complete than ever before coupled with the fact that the voters appreciate and are willing to support the record Bennett has made as Councilman of the District for the past seven and one-half years during which time he has either introduced or supported all legislation for the betterment of Los Angeles and the Tenth District. Bennett has consistently supported all tax reduction, economic, humanitarian and progressive measures that have come before the City Council during his incumbency as Councilman.

During the past year and a half Bennett has been the president of the City Council and acting mayor at such times as the mayor may have been absent from the city. This is the first time the Tenth District has been so represented and is ample proof of the esteem in which Bennett is held by the other Councilmen who elected him as their president.

A vote for Bennett on Tuesday, April 6, will be a vote to continue this same sort of a record as well as a vote to insure the future greatness of the Tenth District and bring up its importance in city-wide affairs.

WALTERS ASKS HE BE KEPT IN OFFICE

Standing upon his record of many years of public service, Municipal Judge Byron J. Walters has announced his candidacy to be retained in his present office of Judge of the Municipal Court of the City of Los Angeles. His office is designated as Office No. 8 on the primary election ballot, April 6.

Judge Walters has for several years been presiding judge of the Gelony Master Calendar Division of the Municipal Court, through which flows most of the felony cases arising in the County of Los Angeles. Over 4,000 felony defendants were arraigned in his court during last year.

Judge Walters was a Lieutenant in the United States Marine Corps during the last World War, served in the California Legislature for two terms and is prominent in American Legion affairs. He is married and has three children.

As a member of the Assembly, California Legislature, Judge Walters is credited with originating and fathering in this State, the present Permanent Voters Registration Law which has admittedly saved the taxpayers millions of dollars. In 1925 he was State Legislative Chairman, American Legion, Department of California.

He was admitted to the California Bar in 1918 and practiced law in California until his elevation to the Bench in 1937.

"NO POLICE BRUTALITY IN MY COURT"—SHAPIRO

Judges who sit on the bench should be keenly alert to the condition of prisoners at the bar, in the opinion of H. S. Shapiro, prominent attorney who is a candidate for Municipal Judge, Office No. 1.

Taking as his campaign slogan "No Police Brutality in My Court," Shapiro asserts that there is too little attention paid to the condition of prisoners as in the recent Beebe case which has aroused a storm of public indignation.

"A Judge who is almost 80 years of age and feeble does not delve into such matters as police brutality with the vim that would characterize a younger man," said Shapiro. "Too often such things are too lightly cast aside. The accused are rushed through the courts and in the light of events of the Beebe case, a great wrong was committed. It took a lone woman when it should have been the duty of the courts to start the investigation which has led to criminal complaints in the Beebe case."

Shapiro is 52 years of age, has practiced in Los Angeles for 25 years and is admitted to practice before the U. S. Supreme Court.

McDonough's 3rd Son in Navy

The third son of Supervisor Gordon L. McDonough reported this week for service in the armed forces of the United States.

He is the oldest son, Gordon Jr. who is enroute to Harvard university to take special courses as an ensign in communications division of the Navy.

McDonough's other sons in service are Vincent, who enlisted with U. S. C. students and is stationed at Camp Roberts; and Paul, who entered with Loyola students and is assigned to Camp Callan near San Diego.

FAY ALLEN PROVES SELF SERVANT OF COMMON PEOPLE

The significance of Tuesday, April 6, primary election day, is in my opinion so far reaching in scope that it is beyond the average voter's imagination. During this world struggle it becomes imperative upon the people in order to maintain a free and democratic government to go to the polls and carefully select those from whom we will choose our public representatives. These chosen persons should have an enviable record in the interest of common humanity in time of peace as well as war, to fit them for public service especially during these times.

There is at least one person whose record without a doubt proves her to be a servant of and for the common people. That person is Mrs. Fay E. Allen, present member of, and candidate for re-election for, the Board of Education.

I do not believe it is necessary to elaborate on Mrs. Allen's fine record. However, permit us to mention a few things as follows:

Mrs. Allen stands 100% for an appropriate child care nursery program; a better adult education program; better training facilities for war workers; better housing facilities for war workers; a better rationing program, assuring war workers and the people plenty to eat; and upgrading of low bracket employees, permitting the laboring class the necessities of life.

May we request your help in this great work. These are the things much needed to be done:

Urge your organization to support Mrs. Allen for re-election.

Announce to your organization the tea to be given for Mrs. Allen on Sunday, April 4, from 3 to 7 p. m. at 453 East Adams Blvd.

Make as many contacts and speeches for Mrs. Allen as time will permit.

Set up a telephone chain by phoning at least ten people urging them to do likewise.

Urge your organization to make a financial contribution to Mrs. Allen's campaign which is so much needed. Please send all funds to Mrs. Theresa Lindsay, secretary-treasurer, 750 East 51st Street.

The following is a partial list of organizations and leaders having endorsed or is supporting the candidacy of Mrs. Fay E. Allen for re-election to the Board of Education:

Negro Boys, Wearing Drapes, Forbidden to Enter Santa Ana

Two Negro lads, Leslie Jones and Herman Head, complained to the California Eagle this week that while enroute to Santa Ana, last Monday, they were stopped on Highway 101 by two police officers.

The officers told the Negro boys that they were not allowing any zoot-suited youths to enter Santa Ana. The boys said they were cursed and roughly handled by these officers and sent back to Los Angeles, in spite of the fact that they only wore draped trousers.

FREE: Your question will be answered in this column only when a clipping of this feature is enclosed with your question, your full name, birthdate and correct address. For private reply, send 25 cents in coin and stamped envelope for my Astrology Reading and receive by return mail my free opinions on any three questions. Address all communications to Prof. Herman, the Astrologer, care of The California EAGLE.

As we learn to sacrifice and do without, our hearts are recovering a few of the real gifts of life. Simple things like friendship, true love, and being a better neighbor to our fellowman, have been taken more seriously. The satisfaction of making the most of what we have, the opportunity to share with our family and friends, go about to make a nobleness of sacrifice.

We are learning the invincible strength of a people united to fight for freedom of employment, of civil rights, and, together as a nation what the term "Good Neighbor" really means.

It is that glorious inward self-satisfaction that helps to make us happy, sork and sacrifice—courage and determination—production on the line and fighting at the front for the things that are worthwhile, will help to make each of us a better citizen and neighbor . . . and a better country.

B. G.—Dear Prof. Herman: I read your column every week in the California Eagle, and would like for you to help me in solving my problem. What is wrong with my marriage?

Ans.—Concentrating upon your question I find that your marriage lacks trust and faith. If you are always suspicious of one anomer, and accusing each other of various things, your marriage becomes a headache and you soon drift apart. Now while there is still time, take care to mend these ways and try talking over your problems together. For only thru faith and trust in each other can you hope to find a happy married life.

T. L. P.—Why did he stop writing?

Ans.—Probing into the matter I find that he has been in a position where it was impossible to write you. You will hear some news of him in the near future.

C. H.—Does the girl I go with really love me? Does she care for anyone else? What does the other girl think of me?

Ans.—Only one question is answered in the column. I suggest that you write in for a private reply.

G. D.—Will I ever find happiness?

Ans.—A careful analysis of your question indicates the fact that you are uncertain about your future happiness because you give up too easily. You must learn to speak up for what you want and fight for it if necessary. I suggest you write in for a private reply, as I may be able to help you.

F. A.—Dear Sir: I am writing you to say that my faith in your system and your Astrology and personal assistance is growing stronger every day. I shall continue consulting you from time to time for help in everyday problems and consultation.

XXX.—Will I be able to find work?

Ans.—Your lucky Stars and Guiding Planet indicate your finding employment that you will like in the next 60 days. The job you now have isn't the type of work you are best suited for, that is why you are dissatisfied.

A. S.—What should I do?

Ans.—It appears to me that you are now living in the South, but your children are in the Northern section, and you are wondering if you should go to them or remain where you are. Don't let the fact that your mother, sister, and brother who are living there with you, keep you from your children. They need you and I recommend your going to them.

V. G. W.—I suggest you consult a good occulist regarding your eye trouble and follow his instructions carefully.

L. P.—Will I get married to the man that is planning on sending for me?

Ans.—Your Zodiacal sign indicates marriage to this young man that you speak of. You will be quite happy together and you will not regret having made this decision.

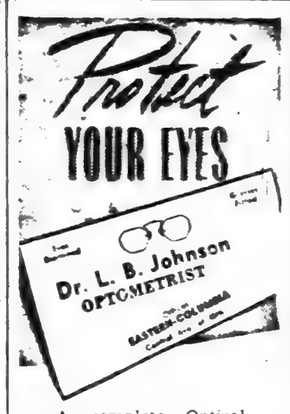
Chute Co. Celebrates Anniversary

In the city of San Diego, California, there is a very progressive defense plant, going full blast, with some hundred or more employees composed of all nationalities, white, Negro, Mexican, who work together side by side in an amiable manner.



This company, which is known as the Pacific Parachute Company, many of you know was financially backed by Eddie "Rochester" Anderson and is very efficiently run by Howard "Skippy" Smith.

On Saturday evening, March 27th, 1943, the company celebrated its first anniversary at the company location, 627 Eighth Avenue. Eddie Anderson, who was unable to attend the function because of a radio engagement in Los Angeles, wired his felicitations and good wishes to the many employees and friends who were in attendance. The California Eagle, also, extends best wishes to this company upon its successful year's work.

USO NEWS

Local newspapers, including the Daily Times of March 22, gave recognition to the quick and efficient service given by the Eastside U.S.O., through its capable Volunteer workers, in arranging a complete day of amusement, concluded with a turkey dinner and dancing at the Masonic Hall on East 50th Street, for over 200 men and officers and officers' guests from a nearby camp. This same efficiency was evidenced when a call came through that a convoy of men from a locale near San Francisco, had arrived in a heavy downpour of rain and had no place to stay. U.S.O. workers went where the boys were, brought them to the Center, and permitted them to stay in the building until time to report to the point of leaving. Mr. Harold Prince, Secretary of the Y.M.C.A., and Mr. Thurman Johnson, Executive Director of the U.S.O., made a survey of housing conditions, with the one thought in mind of seeing that adequate housing be secured for our men in uniform. The Girl Friends' Club gave an elaborate "Coffee," Sunday, March 21, at the home of the Horace Clarks on South Hobart Blvd., for the benefit of the U.S.O.; the Business and Professional Girls Club gave a party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie King, and the U.S.O. secured over 60 men to join in the festivities; an invitation was also received from Del Rio Housing for fellows for their dance. In this same vein of furnishing amusement for the morale of the men in uniform, Junior Hostesses had requests for seven trips to camps; the furthest being Camp San Luis Obispo, where the girls with Senior Hostesses as chaperones, remained overnight to christen the new guest house. Mr. Arthur Cole is to be the Chairman of the Men's Host group of the U.S.O.

One of the interesting visitors to the Club this week was Rev. Granville Reed, who broadcasted over Radio Station KFOX, Sunday morning, 8 to 8:30; camps were contacted to tune in on this program, and because of the beautiful service, requests for copies of the sermon were written for. Other noted visitors were Messrs. Stratten and Hardy of the National U. S. O. Although the many U. S. O. Clubs in Los Angeles do not operate under the National set-up, the relationship is an interesting one.

The Eastside U.S.O. Board convened in the office of the director, Mr. Kelly Williams, Chr., presided. Other members present were: Mesdames Vertner L. Gordon, Gwendolyn Gordon, Edith A. Jones, Della McDonald, Jessie Grayson, Misses Dorothy C. Guinn and Carmelita White and Messrs. H. A. Howard, Harold Prince and John Hargroves and Mrs. Earnestine Davidson.

Donations for the week were from Sister Rose Elizabeth and Father George Salbeck, through Mrs. Josephine Brown, the Allied Art League, Del Rio Housing, Mr. E. Storge. Substantial donations were also given by Miss Sadie Fanslow and Dr. and Mrs. Wm. W. Hutchinson, through the courtesy of Mrs. Bessie Shaw.

WAR ON NEGRO

TRUTH: For 323 years a war of prejudice, discrimination, lynching and abuses has been waged against us. I began to fight this battle wren I discovered that I was a 'made fool.' Mark you, not a fool but a 'made one', like many intellectuls.

Thinking people are asking: What are we—Negroes, colored People or what? What is a NEGRO? No educator has ever given a satisfactory answer. They haven't the courage. The truth has never been told. Why is NEGRO the most disputed name? Because the truth is not known. Truth is The Basis of Education. I went to a university; spent 5 years in law school in Boston, became counsellor in public schools. Worked in educational sociology at New York University.

After 15 years' investigation, study and research, I found the facts, the history, the truth about the race.

With my discovery, I made money, and gained world respect.

It can do the same for you. I have compiled it in the great book: "HUMAN SIDE OF PEOPLE." 399 pages, 84 pictures by myself. Raphael P. Powell. The demand for this book by thousands proves that it shows the way to success and is helping to win the war against race prejudice. Price $3. Send orders to: PHILEMON CO., 224 West 135th St., New York City. GUARANTEED: The only book which gives the TRUTH about our race.

WORKERS ASK FOR RESTORATION OF 1931 COMPENSATION LEVELS

Unskilled City Laborers Petition Mayor Bowron

Honorable Fletcher Bowron,
Mayor
City of Los Angeles
City Hall
Los Angeles, California
Dear Sir:

We are writing to you on behalf of the City employees whom we represent, mainly the lower paid classifications in the Parks Department, the Harbor Department, the Water and Power Department and in the Department of Public Works—the Janitors, Maids, Small Truck Operators, Unskilled Laborers and Flusher Operators.

We agree with you when you said in your March 23rd message to the City Council, "First of all, the war must be won, and those who direct the City's policy must more fully realize their grave responsibility in working for the public good and thus give a better demonstration of the American Democracy we are fighting to preserve."

Our responsibility is also important. We must see that essential City services are maintained and kept at a high peak of efficiency in spite of curtailed staff. We are doing our job. We pledge to continue to do so.

While our brothers, sons, fathers and fellow workers are on leave from their work and are out there fighting to preserve our American Democracy, it is up to us, not only to do our share on the job, to pay taxes, buy bonds, make contributions, but it is also up to us to maintain the jobs at home and not to permit our American standards to be reduced.

We were glad to note in your message to the Council, that the City is in a sound financial condition and that it appears unnecessary to modify the January 12th raises voted for City employees. We hope the Council concurs. We were also glad to note your remarks on the necessity of cash pay for overtime by c. a. b.

WE stand on the eve of the greatest events in history, challenged as no generation has ever been in the annals of human struggle toward freedom.

Through the mighty coalition of liberty-loving peoples of this earth, we approach that moment when the black tides of Fascist barbarism, brutality, hatred and despair shall be hurled back to complete destruction, to "unconditional surrender."

This is the year of the land invasion of Europe. This is the time whose achievement shall assure our children, and their children, of a world free of domination by a band of cut-throats, slave-masters and degenerates.

We are poised before the moment when a whole continent shall be liberated, and, in its wake, a whole world.

There are battlefields of Europe awaiting the blood sacrifice of our beloved sons, black and white, English, American, African, Russian.

They shall give their lives, these boys we have known and loved, these boys from every home in the land, so that the organized barbarism of a Fascist state may never again claim the blood, sweat and tears of a whole generation, so that men may love God as they see fit, so that workers may organize for the advancement of their class, so that subjugated people may struggle toward the light, so that everywhere humanity may have a new birth of freedom.

In the accomplishment of these titanic ends, the city of Los Angeles bears a responsibility unsurpassed by that of any community in the world. We are one of the great production centers of the United Nations.

We have made huge strides already. In many ways, we stand at the forefront of the nation. We have built great factories, trained legions of workers to man them; we have demonstrated an impressive unity in shattering discriminatory practices.

It is the stout product of Douglass, North American, Lockheed, Calship, Consolidated, and all the others which has turned the tide of battle in numberless conflicts the world over.

We have pioneered in the employment of women.

Where two years ago there were no Negroes employed in production at defense plants, there are now 30,000 or more Negro workers in basic war industries of our city. It would be interesting to calculate the number of planes and ships which that army alone has produced.

But this is no time for self congratulation. We are now confronted with production goals outstripping those previously considered foolhardy and impossible. We knew the stakes for which this game is played. We know that victory

Jurist Makes Apology to Boy

LONG BEACH JUDGE PROVES HIS METTLE

The California Eagle is in receipt of a letter, this week, from Mrs. Caroline Brown, of Long Beach, calling attention to the fact that one Judge Martin DeVries of the city of Long Beach took an admirable stand on the side of justice in favor of a Negro man who was charged with a felony. The story, as related by Mrs. Brown, is as follows:

Earl Nelson, a Negro boy, was walking along the street, attending to his own business, when he passed a parked car on the corner of Ocean and Pine streets, in which sat two young white boys. One of the boys called out: "Hey, you big black Ethiopian s—of—." It seems that the Negro man struck the white boy in his anger at being so accosted on a public street, and was arrested and charged with a felony, assault to do bodily harm.

During the course of the trial, the judge, Mr. DeVries, asked the witness to repeat what he had said to the Negro man, and when he did so the eyes of the judge flashed with great anger and resentment, but allowed the case to continue. At its conclusion, the attorney merely asked that the bail be reduced, since he was confident that the case would be

JUDGE MARTIN DE VRIES

EARL NELSON

DISCHARGE PETITION NO. 3 MAKES PROGRESS

The people of this nation who are interested in the establishment of a democracy based on the Constitution which guarantees "The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses papers and effects, to the end that none of these shall be violated," are demanding the abolishment of the Poll Tax.

The campaign to wipe from the escutcheon of this government this vicious Poll Tax Law is proceeding satisfactorily with 134 signatures on Discharge Petition No. 3. 84 more signatures are needed to bring the bill to the floor of the House for a vote.

These are the Californians who have not yet signed the petition: Anderson, Carler, Costello, Elit, Ford, Gearhart, Hinshaw, Izac, J. L. Johnson, W. Johnson, Lea, Culland, Phillips, Poulson, Ralph, Shepard, Tolan and Voorhis.

Repeal of the Poll Tax laws would not only open the polls to four million Negroes in the South, but would also open them to six million poor whites.

The people of California should not only expect but demand of its representatives at Washington a definite stand on the Poll Tax issue. Send telegrams, letters and post cards to your representative, telling him to sign the petition. Californians realize that abolition of the Poll Tax is an imperative war necessity, and failure on the part of these gentlemen already mentioned means nothing more or less than an alignment with the Hitler element in our nation.

The California Eagle is asking every church in this community to take time out Sunday to have its members sign letters, post cards, telegrams or petitions to these California representatives demanding that they act and act NOW.

Mme. Chiang Kai-Shek Ends Tour

Closing a nation-wide tour, Madame Chiang Kai-shek was enthusiastically welcomed here, last Wednesday, by city officals headed by Mayor Bowron and a great throng of well-wishers.

On Friday morning, in the Room Moderne of the Ambassador Hotel, members of the Los Angeles press held an informal interview with Madame Chiang. The city press was represented in full, with a very fine group of the Negro press in attendance.

Since the chief topic of conversation in the world today is the present world conflict, most of the questions asked of China's First Lady centered around the war.

Despite the terrible suffering China has known during the past seven years, according to Madame Chiang, and as expressed in her conversation, China is still optimistic about the victorious outcome of the present conflict. Stated Madame Chiang, "If we have faith that humanity can progress, and history has shown us that we can progress, and if we are wise enough to learn lessons from the past, I am sure that war can vanish. It is my hope and belief that if we care enough, and work hard enough, we can see to it that war never returns."

Mrs. Georgia Hardiman, general tea chairman, and Ferrol Bobo Connor, president of the association, said this week that the film, "This Nation at War," will be shown on the screen.

Breaks Wife's Jaw With Fist in Early Morning Quarrel

Starting on some trivial matter at 5:30 a. m. last Tuesday, a family quarrel between Dennis Moore, 39, and his wife, Bertha, at their home, 1560 E. 50th street, developed into a serious matter.

The husband became so enraged as the argument grew in intensity that he struck his wife a terrific blow with his fist on the jaw. Police surgeons at Georgia Street Receiving Hospital where she was given emergency tratment, reported that her jaw had probably been fractured.

Robs Home of Savings, Bonds And Cash

Taking a chance while the dweller there, Andrew Tresvan, was busy in the kitchen, a bold buglar plied open the bedroom screen at 1519 E. 46th street about 11 p. m. last Tuesday night and ransacked the room for cash and bonds.

When Tresvan discovered what had been done, he found that besides money, a $100 War bond, five $20 War Savings Stamps, his ration books and a contract payment book had been taken by the intruder.

American Woodmen Give $100.00 To Chinese Relief

The local workers of the American Woodman through its Social Club gives to Chinese relief a check for $100.00. The program directly responsible for the funds from which the gift was made, grew out of a Special Fund Program, known as The American Woodmen Miss Victory contest, which was a huge success financially, and socially; more than $350.00 being raised, $100.00 of said amount went to Chinese Relief. The business manager of the Social club, Mrs. Nellie Lewis, of 10350 S. Grape street, also one of the contestants, was directly responsible for the idea of giving something to Chinese Relief, and together with the following persons to whom she is very grateful, made the gift possible by raising the funds. Shoe Shine Man Bound Over For Trial

Edward Lewis, 56 year old World War Veteran and operator of a shoe shine stand at 51st and Compton was bound over to Superior Court for trial after a sensational hearing before Judge Walter B. McCoy, Division 2 of the Municipal Court last Monday afternoon. Lewis who was represented by Attorney Curtis C. Taylor had been taken into custody by Officer Bradley of Newton Street Juvenile Detail upon complaint of Alice Smith, 12 year old juvenile and a student at the Holmes Avenue School. She told the officer that the aged man had made improper advances to her on numerous occasions at her house at 5714½ Duarte St. in the rear of Lewis' home. According to reports the child was placed under questioning by the officer after it was noticed by her teachers that she was displaying unusual large sums of money on the school grounds for a child of her age. Questioning of the child as to this money led to Lewis' arrest. Defense Attorney Taylor did not allow the accused man to take stand at the preliminary hearing, but subjected the young witness to a grilling cross-examination in an effort to shake her testimony. The child however, stuck to her story and the defendant was ordered to appear with his Attorney in Department 43 of the Superior Court on April 19th.

Dorothy Dandridge Just Missed Being War-Bound in Europe

But for the fact that she and her sisters managed to secure passage on a ship leaving Liverpool, England, in time, Dorothy Dandridge, now Mrs. Harold Nicholas, would have been marooned in the war zone.

Just after completing a tour of the Hawaiian Islands with her two sisters, as the "Three Dandridge Sisters," popular vaudeville act, they had sailed for Europe the summer preceding the outbreak of hostilities.

Thrilling public and royalty alike, she appeared to enthusiastic response in London, Manchester, Liverpool, Brighton, Coventry, Dublin, Paris and other continental cities. But her engagements had to be cut short when the war clouds that soon enveloped Europe suddenly descended.

DAYBREAK BANDITS WAYLAY, ROB MAN AT HIS GARAGE

The fact thhat it is still dark at five o'clock in the morning, made Max Sprints who lives in the 700 block on East 46th street an easy victim to bandits last Tuesday morning. His loss was a wallet containing $120.

Sprints told police that as usual he had gone to his garage in the yard to drive out his truck which he uses in his work. Suddenly two men leaped out of the darkness and attacked him from behind.

He grappled with them, but one held his hand over his mouth, to prevent him from yelling for help, while the other stuck a gun in his side, forcing him to surrender. They then took his purse from his trousers pocket.

The victim who was treated at Georgia Street Receiving Hospital for a bruised mouth and badly scratched face suffered in the encounter described the bandits as Negroes of dark complexion, both large, and about the ages of 28 and 30.

MACHINIST HOLD MASS MEET, DISCUSS MANPOWER SHORTAGE

At a time when manpower shortages constitute a major threat to vital war production; when war industries in cooperation with Federal agencies are intensifying their efforts to recruit every possible worker for the production front, large minority groups are still denied the right to work as Americans in defense of America. Anything short of total war effort becomes a positive force in favor of Fascist victory. Labor shortages constitute such a force. If manpower demands are to be fulfilled all racial discriminatory practices must be abolished, both by industry and by progressive labor organizations.

If I. A. of M. members are to fulfill their responsibility as producers for victory, they must guarantee all workers the right of equal opportunity of employment and participation in trade unions. Lodge 727 of the International Association of Machinists has initiated a referendum to remove discriminatory clauses from within its own ritual. That referendum may be lost unless I. A. of M. rank and file membership rallies to its support under the banner of ALL OUT

Under the auspices of the Committee for a Yea Vote on the Referendum a mass meeting has been called to demand action. Officials of the I. A. of M. have been invited to speak. Representative of the National Association for the Aadvancement of Colored People and the Victory Committee will be heard.

JUDGE ORDERS RELEASE OF INEZ HATCHETT ON APPEAL BOND

Throwing a bomb-shell of surprise into legal ranks as well as those of local citizens who have been interestedly following the case for a year, Attorney Crispus A. Wright revealed last Tuesday that Judge Clement Nye had granted his client, Mrs. Inez Hatchett, release on bond, pending a new trial. Charged with the shooting of Ernest Dempsey, she had in an appeal trial again been found guilty of manslaughter.

But according to Wright, within a few hours after the verdict on Friday of last week, six of the jurors reached him by telephone to declare that they had made a grievous mistake by agreeing to the "guilty" verdict. They explained that they thought the iron smoking-stand incident, upon which hung the question of self-defense, had been a new phase invented and introduced by her counsel. They did not know the same testimony had been heard by the other jurors in the first trial, they said.

One of the jurors who made this admission was the foreman, while a few admitted they had been swayed by others closeted with them during the ten-hour "hung" conference. So visiting each of them, Wright secured an affidavit from all and hurried to the proper authorities with them. Decision was made at once by Judge Nye, that for a specified bond, the young woman could at last taste freedom until time for her new trial. The attorney declared that despite its size he felt sure she would have little difficulty in posting it.

MAN STABBED AS THREE ATTACK IN STREET

Apparently bumping into him purposely to start an argument, a shipfitter, employed at Berkley, told Newton police that three unknown men assaulted and stabbed him last Tuesday night. He is William "Dude" Hayes, of 1660 E. 48th street who was in town from his defense job, for a short business visit.

Hayes reported to officers R. Dunn, and B. L. Hoskins, that he was between 48th and 49th streets on Central avenue at about 12:15, headed for home, when he met the three men, none of whom he knew. He declard that when they bumped into him, they started quarreling with him and one struck him. When he hit back in self defense, another of the trio stabbed him in the chest, wounding him severely. His attackers then fled, and the wounded man was taken to Georgia Street Receiving Hospital where he was treated.

Hayes could give investigators no clue as to the identity of his assailants, since it all happened so quickly. He was unable to give a good description of them, nor is there anyone who he judges could have set upon him in a spirit of revenge. Police are still on a hunt for the suspects.

Sues Wife for Non-Support, Alimony

AYS WIFE FORSOOK HIM WHEN HE WAS ILL

The usual order of divorce proceedings has been reversed by Chester A. Walton, 60 year old veteran of 9300 Pace Ave. Mr. Walton through Attorney Curtis C. Taylor, has sued his wife, Mrs. Clara Walton for nonsupport and alimony. In practically all cases it is the woman who brings the action for support. The law also provides that a man has the same privilege where his wife has the money and the means and he has none. Mr. Walton alleges that after twenty-three years of married life he became ill and that his wife forsook him and left him alone and refused to support him or to furnish him with any part of her income which he asserts is in excess of $100.00 per month. He is also asking the court to compel his wife to pay his Attorney's fees and court costs setting forth that she is much younger than he is being only forty-six years of age and that prior to his becoming ill he supported her to the best of his ability. The wife has been cited to appear in Dept. 8 of the Superior Court to show cause why she should not pay his Attorney's fees and costs and such alimony as the court may direct.

Meat and Fats Rationing

"Simplicity is the keynote of the new meats and fats rationing program just announced by the Office of Price Administration," said B. B. Bratton, chairman of the local Rationing Board.

"Housewives will have no difficulty at all in shopping with their red ration stamps in War Ration Book 2 when the new program gets under way."

Although the ration list includes a wide variety of foods, including all meats and many cheeses, as well as shortenings and salad oil, butter and margarine, canned fish and many other items, from the point of view of the housewife who does the shopping, it is really a simple matter.

"All these foods are rationed with a single set of stamps," Mr. Bratton pointed out, "and the busy housewife will have to consult only one table of point values to find out how many ration points any of these foods will cost."

"This latest program requires no registration of any kind," added Mr. Bratton. "War Ration Books 2 are already distributed, and housewives have already had a full month's experience in the use of their point-ration books in buying processed foods."

One of the few differences between the use of the blue and red stamps in War Ration Book 2, is the order in which stamps will be declared valid.

When rationing began on March 29, the first set of stamps, marked A—worth 16 points—were valid. Beginning on April 4, and then on each succeeding Sunday throughout April, an additional set of stamps will be validated. All these stamps, from "A" through "E" inclusive will remain in use all month, making a total of 80 points per person for April.

Another difference in the use of the red stmps is that it permits retailers to make "change" in ration stamps when a customer finds it impossible to give the exact amount of valid red stamps when making a purchase. Only one-point red stamps of any series currently valid may be used for this purpose.

During the week of April 4 to 10, for example, storekeepers may give their customers red one-point stamps marked "A" or "B" in change. Customers are reminded, in this connection, that they must use stamps they receive in change by the end of the month in which they are issued and before they expire—just as they must use the stamps in their own books.

As red stamps are declared valid, they may be used with complete freedom of choice by the housewife to buy any one, or any combination, of the foods for which they must be surrendered. There is no distinction made at all in the use of the red stamps as between meat and cheese, or any of the other foods for which these stamps are to be spent.

"For example," explained Mr. Bratton, "a housewife who comes into the store with 40 points to spend from the ration books of her family, may spend all of them for meat, or all of them for butter or cheese, or she may, if she wishes, divide up her points, and buy butter and cheese, or margarine and meat, or any other combination of food she chooses."

Point values for the entire list of foods rationed in April will be the same as in every retail store in the country—just as they are for canned goods. Point prices of different cuts of meat will be different, just as the point price of apricots and peas, for example, is different. However, there will be no difference in point price between different grades of the same cut of meat—nor between different grades of hard cheese, nor the same quantity of any kind of butter.

EAT OR SAVE FATS SAYS GROCER'S HEAD

Rationed meats and shortenings make it more than ever imperative that housewives intensify their efforts to salvage waste kitchen fats to supply glycerine for military needs, Paul S. Willis, president of the Grocery Manufacturers of America, said today.

Mr. Willis emphasized, however, that the government does not ask that people turn in for salvage, fats that can and should be used for food. He quoted a recent statement by Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard urging householders to "make sure that all food value is obtained from the fats that come into your kitchens."

"Most of us naturally are going to use some of these fats hitherto contributed to salvage, such as bacon grease, for frying and other cooking," Mr. Willis said. "But even so, it will be possible in most households to save at least a pound or more of used fats each month. If every household saves only a pound of fat every month for a year, we can nearly double the War Production Board's goal of 200,000,000 pounds for the year without difficulty.

"The 200,000,000 pound quota was based on each household contributing an average of one-half pound a month, and this figure is only one-fifth the amount of waste fats normally tossed into the garbage can or down the drain."

HENRY F. POSEY, L. A. pioneer and member of the First AME church for 34 years, has made a gift of two lots for the church's newly incorporated Wilson - Andrews Foundation, which is dedicated to helping the helpless.

EX-COAST GUARDSMAN WANTED

A jobless ex-Coast Guardsman looking for employment is sought by the Merchants and Manufacturers Association's free employment service at 1154 South Hill street, Los Angeles.

During recent weeks the service has found employment in many lines of work for scores of former soldiers, sailors and marines discharged because of war injuries or for medical reasons unfitting them for active service, according to Cruse Carriel, manager. Jobs were found also for soldiers discharged because too old for the Army's purposes.

"But there hasn't been a single ex-Coast Guardsman in the whole lot of applicants," Carriel said. "We should like to put just one of them to work so we may truly say we are a hundred percent job-getting agency for all of the armed services."

Campbell, Watson Win Bridge Play

March was an enjoyable month for all participants in the Golden West Bridge association's Friday series of play. It was a close contest with Beatrice Reeves the only player to have two wins on our most beautiful trophy, and J. D. Dunn leading most of the month.

Gene C. Campbell, the walking encyclopedia of Culbertson bridge, and A. Dumas Watson, who has improved his game more than any other GWBA member the last few months, closed the month with a grand rush, winning the series with 397 M.P.'s. Dr. A. L. Wallace and Henry Denton were second with 384 M.P.'s; Lewis Woods, third, 382 M.P.'s. Beatrice Reeves and J. D. Dunn tied with Jimmie Lawson and Ellis L. Veil for fourth with 372½ M.P.'s.

The attendance at all plays has been very good. Coming matches will be held Sunday at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday at 8 p.m. and Friday at 8:30 p.m. at 1054-56 E. 54th street. Messrs. Beck and Arnaud are new GWBA members.

The next regional match is to be the second annual individual game the latter part of this month. In May the association plans to hold its third annual open pair regional. The defending champions are Louis Beal, individual, and Beatrice Reeves and J. D. Dunn open pair.

The first sectional match is to be held in July with every member of the GWBA and ABA in the city at the time urged to take part in the event.

WORKERS ATTACK "SLEEPER" BILL

Bill Will KO State Fund

According to State, County and Municipal Workers No. 246, Senate Bill 56, passed unanimously by the Senate, and still to come before the Assembly, got by with very little notice although it represents an attack on the financial structure of an extremely important State department. This bill knocks out the provision of the Labor Code that requires municipalities, irrigation districts, and other public and quasi-public political subdivisions to carry their own compensation insurance or insure with the State Compensation Insurance Fund.

By the simple expedient of throwing out a phrase, insurance lobbies, long attempting to knife the state-owned, non-profit, Fund, were able to get a bill through the Senate, which, if passed by the Assembly and signed by Governor Warren, would have the effect of attacking the basic financial structure of the State Fund, and making a political football of workmen's compensation in every school district, municipality, water district, and political subdivision in California.

Graft Potentialities Tremendous

As the State Fund has saved public agencies it insures more than two and one-half million dollars in the past five years, it can readily be seen that compensation insurance could be manipulated and kicked around every time a new official is elected or appointed. Taxpayers could expect insurance costs to be increased at least in the amount now being saved them by the Fund.

In addition to agencies now insured by the Fund, self-insured units, such as the City of San Francisco, City of Los Angeles, and Department of Water and Power, could start dickering with private carriers. Tremendous amounts of the people's money could be paid out to brokers—even if there were no actual dishonesty involved. State Fund pays no commissions on insurance.

Arthur Caylor states in the San Francisco News March 30: "Dope is that if the bill becomes a law—a move will follow for San Francisco to stop being a self-insurer and take out some policies with private insurance companies. Such a change could open up a nice potful of commissions for the right brokers and agents."

Stockton Record April 1 editorially attacks this bill and Assembly Bill 189, a milder form of it, and urges farm and taxpayer groups to register opposition.

State Fund Benefits Employers and Workers

The State Fund was established by the people of the State of California to insure employers at cost, and guarantee workers' rights under the law. It was originally established because employers opposing workmen's compensation claimed insurance companies could not afford to handle this type of insurance. Since then compensation insurance has proved very lucrative and private carriers have profited on what is patently a social insurance.

As handled by the Fund, any premiums not used or laid aside for worker's benefits, (with the exception of the smallest administrative costs in the insurance industry), are returned to policy-holding employers in form of dividends. In the past this has been effective in forcing down general compensation insurance rates, thus representing a gain to all employers in California, even those not insured with the Fund, at no loss to the workers.

This forcing down of insurance rates, and general policing of the insurance field, is felt by State, County and Municipal Workers of America to be the real basis of the insurance companies' fight against the Fund. By throwing open the government and political subdivision field to private companies, they have an entering wedge, at the expense of the taxpayers, to undermine the financial structure of the Fund. If they can increase the Fund's operating cost, they can hope to get a great deal of the Fund's business with private employers who insure with the Fund principally for economical insurance and good service.

At a meeting on April 5, State, County and Municipal Workers of America, Local No. 246 went on record urging all CIO unions in Southern California and the State CIO to express stern opposition to both Senate Bill 56 and Assembly 189, which are shortly to come up for Assembly consideration, now being before Assembly Committee on Finance and Insurance. SCMWA notes that three members of this committee are listed as insurance men. Five attorneys, at least some of whom do legal work for major insurance companies, are also listed.

Saturday night will be devoted to an evening of cultural entertainment, at which Mr. Kenneth Spencer, who has just returned from Hollywood, will be the guest artist.

Sunday's session will include Special Church Services and adoption of an action program through which the work of the Conference will be continued.

Returning from a tour which took her from Boston to Virginia, Miss Thelma Dale, Administrative Secretary of the National Negro Congress, stated that she had met widespread enthusiasm for the Conference. "I am confident that the delegates who assemble on April 10 and 11 will make a major contribution toward solving the problems of the integration of Negroes in the armed forces, and in war industries which are today seriously impeding our nation's war effort."

Endorsements of the Conference continue to flood the National Office of the Congress at 307 Lenox Avenue. Included in the list are outstanding trade unions, both CIO and AF of L; The Industrial Union Councils of Greater New York; Hartford, Connecticut; Washington, D. C., and Tidewater, Virginia. Other groups who have endorsed the Conference are Hampton Institute; the Howard University Teachers' Union; the Holy Trinity Baptist Church of Brooklyn, and Salem Methodist Church of New York City, and the Congress of Fraternal and Benevolent Organizations, New York. Among prominent individuals sponsoring the Conference are Professor Sterling A. Brown; Rev. W. H. Jernagin; Mrs. Mary Church Terrell; Assemblyman Hulan E. Jack, and Acting President R. Madame Chiang gracious First Lady ended with a notable address on Sunday afternoon, April 4th, at the Hollywood Bowl, where she spoke to some 30,000 Los Angeles citizens.

Speaking of her people, the Chinese, Madame Chiang stated: "They had faith, too, that in the end, America and the other democratic powers would realize that it was not only for ourselves that we were fighting, and that by continuing to engage the enemy, we were giving time to the democracies to prepare their defenses. Here I should like to say that neither we nor posterity can deprive unerring tribute to the foresight and statesmanship of President Roosevelt when he envisaged to the full the implications and consequences of the struggle of right against might, and took decisive measures to enable America to become to the Arsenal of the Democracies. History and posterity will panagerize your President's unswerving convictions and his moral courage to implement them.

We take pride in the fact that, amid all the stern and never-ending demands of war, we are preparing for a just and permanent peace, and for the strenous world-building that lies before us. You, too, are taking similar steps and, like us, you are determined to contribute your share in the organization of a new and happier social order as you are in prosecuting the war.

We in China through these years of suffering have not turned to indiscriminate, gally hate of the enemy. We shall not abrade the sharp, stony path we must travel before our common victory is won. But we, like you and the other United Nations, shall see to it that the four freedoms will not assume the flaccid statutes of ethical postulates no matter how belated may be the final victory. We shall not be cozened of an equitable peace. We shall not permit aggression to raise its satanic head and threaten men's greatest heritage: life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness for all peoples."

SCHOOLS OFFER ADULT GUIDANCE CLASSES

Borrowing group guidance techniques from the Army, adult evening high schools of Los Angeles now are offering classes to assist individuals in determining their places in the all-out war effort and in solving many of their personal problems. New clases will begin the week of April 5.

During the meetings of the groups, members will be given the opportunity to take various tests and inventories, including interest and personality schedules, general, and special aptitude tests, and, manipulative dexterity tests. Test scores will be explained, occupational information will be presented, and training opportunities will be described.

Supplementary to the group meetings, a counselor will be available at each school to confer with individuals who wish special help in making plans. All service is given without charge by the Board of Education.

Guidance groups will meet at Polytechnic Evening High School, 400 West Washington boulevard, at 7 p.m. Mondays and Thursdays; at Belmont Evening High School, 1575 West Second street, 7 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays, and at Hollywood Evening High School, 1521 North Hollywood avenue, at 7 p.m., Mondays and Thursdays.

TRAINING FOR WARTIME ACTIVITIES

Cops Catch Market Burglar in Act

Constant surveillance of veteran Newton officers, L. B. Davis and T. J. Smith, netted them a burglar just as he was emerging from 2901 Griffith avenue last Tuesday night laden with stolen goods. He dropped them and attempted to escape, but the sleuths overtook him and placed him under arrest.

The intruder was recognized by them as L. A. Butts of Honduras street, not only with a long police record, but at present out on bail for a recent charge of robbery.

Butts was booked on the new charge of burglary and according to police, his conviction will bring a long sentence, because of previous crimes.

Clarence Johnson Speaker at War Manpower Meet

Clarence Johnson, field representative of the Minority Division of the War Manpower Commission will be the principal speaker at the regular meeting of the local branch, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, this Sunday at Hamilton M. E. church, 18th and Naomi streets, at 3:30 p.m.

Mr. Johnson, who has for several years been identified as one of the outstanding minorities representatives of the government, will speak on the subject "Present Day Trend for Women War Workers." The principal speaker has a wealth of information on this subject that will be vitally interesting to all persons interested in the part Negroes are now taking in helping in the war effort.

Because of the importance and wide interest in the subject, most of the program will be devoted to Mr. Johnson's address. In addition, music will be furnished.

The public is urged to be present.

U. S. Employment Service Opens New Office

In order that Eastside jobseekers and employers may be adequately served, the United States Employment Service of the War Manpower Commission opened an office at 817 Lorena Street on April 1st.

As the new office is a branch of the Los Angeles office of the United States Employment Service at 1100 South Flower street, Los Angeles manager, Walter Christian, will be in charge. The Casual Labor Office, another branch of the Los Angeles U. S. E. S. office, also is under Christian's direction.

"Because East Los Angeles industry has been geared to war production, expansion has been tremendous. The need for setting up a U. S. E. S. office in that district to handle war manpower has long been apparent."

The full use to which the new office may be put was not described by Christian. "Among other things, we expect to make selections for National War Production Training courses in session at the Andrew Jackson High School. We do, however, expect to gear our program to meet the needs of the community, whatever they may be."

You encased my love within a tree . . .
Giving its brown, strong bark to hold it firm within.
I stood guard, thru centuries, at your gate.

Pre-Easter Affair Is Something to Rave About

A grand cabaret party and dance given by the Women's Civic Luncheon Club will be held at the new Club Alabam, 4215 South Central avenue, Tuesday evening, April 20, 1943.

The Women's Civic Luncheon Club recently received its charter and papers of incorporation under the state laws of California. This organization was the first to place skilled Negro women in defense work.

WHAT'S DOING IN THE YOUNGER SET

Jessie Mae Brown

Famed Blue Berry Hill was alive last Sunday afternoon, when the Church, Civic, Social, and Theatrical world rubbed shoulders at the palatial Beavers home, to aid the Doll Leaguers with their benefit tea. Great and graciousness are not always together, but the two were truly found in Miss Louise Beavers, advisor of the club. The stars came enmasse, decked in their furs, jewels, and what have you, forming a line, along with other guest, waiting for admittance. Such made personalities as Joe Louis, Mantan Moreland, Dorothy Dandridge, Norman Houston, Mrs. Bill Robinson, Ivy Anderson, Ben Carter, Ernest Whitman and scores of others.

The program, usual tea type, was ideal. Betty Yarbrough tickled the Lumpkin sisters. Took note of the college crowd all over the place. Joe Oliver with three glamour girls, Norma Lee McDaniel, exquisitely garbed, Jacqulyn Wilson of S. C., Ruth Williams, Emma Manuel, Hoyt Brown with three service men, Billy Benfield with a visiting gent, Leonette Walker, Margo Collins, Jean Watkins, more and more, and then some, all contributing unstinchingly to the cause. The Doll Leagues Benefit was a great success and the leaguers themselves are truly a mark of the ever growing real society of Los Angeles.

DANCE OF THE SEASON

Saturday night, the Ivy Leaf Pledges club, will take over, when they hold their annual dance. The affair this year is being given in the form of a cruise. The guests will board the Good Ship Ivy Leaf, at 10 o'clock, attired in skirt and sweater, and dance to the rythm of a fine orchestra till two a.m.

Several before parties have been planned, to start the night off right. A selected few, have been invited to the Cook residence, where the two Cookies, Ella Louise and Aline will serve punch. Dean Williams and the AKA pledges, have planned a solid affair, and those who received a summon to board the Good Ship Ivy Leaf are in for a good time.

WELL, WELL, WELL

A note from Wallace DeCuir via air mail states that recent engagement rumors are true. Reason for non circulation in the Oakland partying crowd is due to working on the Grave Yard Shift, and not settling down to one deb. Send loads of love, to his Los Angeles following. But that ain't the way the return homers tell it . . . Albert Hicks will be leaving for the Fighting Marines soon. No plain army for him . . . Mouse Collins, believe it or not, has taken on a bride. Congratulations are in order . . . Guess who escorted Ruth Williams Sunday afternoon . . . By the way, Fort Dorn Mississippi, is stealing the popularity from the Tuskegee flying school. Most of the locals are stationed their now days. George Sturdivant, Norman Houston, Louise Tennett, Henry Alexander and Wally Baily are in the line up. Hear that Nancy Balch is among latest Ivy Leaf pledges . . . Ruth West makes a cute soda jerker behind the Owl Drug lunch counter . . . The Paulite Coleman Joe Oliver rumor was just side chatter, nothing really serious. Till next week, be good children.

Dr. MacArthur To Talk At Woodlawn 'Y' Sunday

Dr. Kathleen MacArthur, secretary of Religious Resources of the National Board Y.W.C.A. New York City will be the speaker at the Pre-Easter Vesper Service of the Woodlawn Branch Y.W.C.A. Sunday afternoon, 4 o'clock, April 11, under the auspices of the Loyalty Month committee of which Mrs. Mildred Hampton is chairman, the Hospitality committee headed by Mrs. Bert McDonald and the Religious Education committee whose chairman is Mrs. J. Cullen Fentress.

This joint effort of committees with a distinguished leader as guest will be the culmination of the Loyalty Month program directed by Mrs. Hampton and her co-workers whereby many new members have been brought into the Y.W.C.A. and renewed interest in our work has been manifest by a large number of women already members. Final reports from team captains will be announced Sunday. There will be a social hour after the program.

Dr. MacArthur has inspired a number of women who each Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock have been attending the discussions on "Adventures in Applied Christianity" at the Clark residence, Loma Drive. Those who have not been able to hear her previously or cannot attend the last meeting Wednesday, April 14, will have a rare treat in store at the Sunday Vesper April 11.

Dr. MacArthur has developed an idea in her writings which have interested several women of the Woodlawn branch, that the approach of religious faith for the new world order cannot be exclusively Christian. She has been asked at the vesper service to discuss this idea under the subject "Democracy in Religion" and to show why West must meet East in religion. A cordial invitation is extended to everyone, men as well as women, to hear Dr. MacArthur Sunday, April 11, at 4 o'clock.

Jefferson High Plans Public Schools Program

Thomas Jefferson High School welcomes all parents and friends of the school to visit during Public Schools Week, from April 12, through April 16. The visitors may see regular class work in progress at any time. However, special programs are planned for each day of the week of Public Schools Week.

Mrs. Fay Allen of the Los Angeles board of education will present the Minuteman flag, which is being purchased for the school by the P. T. A., to the winner of the Miss Victory contest which is being held at the school on Monday. To date, Jean Robinson is ahead in the contest, with Gloria Luck and Ruth Dong running close for second and third places. Mr. Avery J. Gray, supervisor of the school savings section of the public schools and liaison officer between the schools and the Treasury Department, will be present as the government representative. The Jefferson band will provide music and members of the student council will officiate as hosts. The program, which will take place at nine o'clock in the morning, on Fulton Field, is expected to be an impressive one.

Miss Hattie McDaniels will attend the Friday program for both morning and afternoon. She will speak to the girls at an assembly to be held at nine o'clock in the morning. Members of the A. W. V. S. will accompany Miss McDaniels.

Dr. Ruth Temple, chosen the outstanding Negro woman for 1942, will be the other noted guest at the assembly.

The boys of the school will also have an essembly on Friday; their program will be centered about Army training for physical fitness.

In the afternoon, will be held a field day. Girls will choose a winner of the posture contest, and all members of the regular classes in physical education about five hundred in all, will parade; there will be a military drill; and the last event of the day will be the finals of the volley ball tournament.

The boys will hold an interclass track meet on their athletic field. The senior A's and B's, who have been building up a friendly feul, expect to show which class excells in physical prowess.

Members of the Hi-Y and the Victory Corps presidents will be hosts.

The program for the assembly to be held on Tuesday, the Thomas Jefferson Bi-Centennial assembly, which will also be at nine o'clock, will be a speech program. The guest of honor is expected to be David Washington of David Starr Jordan High School, winner of the Herald-Express Thomas Jefferson oratorical contest, if he does not find it necessary to leave for Washington, D. C., before that time. If he is present, he will give his oration.

Jefferson's verse choir, directed by Mrs. Cecil Larsen, will give The Voice of America, and the A Cappella choir will furnish musical numbers. Odis Lindsey, commissioner of oral arts, will preside. The Jefferson Knights will be hosts on Tuesday.

Pan-American Day, Wednesday, will stress good-neighborliness, especially toward the southern neighbors of the United States. The Mexican club members will be hosts on that day and will sell Mexican and South American music in a series of programs for invited classes and there will be special programs in basic course classes and exhibits in classes and in the library. There will be no general assembly on that day.

Parent-Teacher day, Thursday, is the regular meeting day of the Jefferson P. T. A. The program for the meeting will stress the needed cooperation of the school, the church, and the home.

The Girls' Glee club will give a concert at two o'clock in the afternoon. Guests may attend the concert and go immediately to the P. T. A. meeting, at the close of which tea will be served. Mrs. Claudia Munford, P. T. A. president, and her executive board will welcome all friends of the school to the meeting.

Members of the Chinese club will act as guides for the day.

As this promises to be one of the most interesting events which has taken place at Jefferson high school in a number of years, many visitors are expected. Among those who are expected are: the Honorable and Mrs. Hugh E. Mcveth; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gibbs, Walter Gordon, H. A. Howard, Eugene Garcia, Charles Mathews, Lorenzo Bowdoin, George Garner, Clarence Muse, and Frederick Roberts; Dr. and Mrs. Bert Boswell, Warner Wright, A. J. Sommerville, and Charles Clark; Judge and Mrs. Edwin L. Jefferson; Mesdames Georgia M. McCullough, Myrtle Mae Williams, Henry J. Willingham, Vivian Paris, Lucille Bufford, Fannie M. L. Alexander, Hattie Woods, Etta Vena, Mollie King, Marie Jenkins and Alice Harvey; and the Reverend and Mrs. Clayton Russell.

Art Student Wins Honorable Mention

Geraldine Abrams, art student of Thomas Jefferson high school, won honorable mention in the Easter seal design contest of the Crippled Children's Society.

Ana Morales and Ana Wong also made posters which were judged worthy of being sent to the exhibit by Miss Janet Grant, the art teacher.

A Cappella Choir Sings

Jefferson high school's A Cappella choir will sing at Hamilton Methodist church on Sunday, April 11, for the evening service, which is held at 7:30 p. m.

The choir will also sing for the opening of the Elementary School Teachers' State Convention, on Sunday, April 18. It has appeared before the delegates to this convention for the last three years.

AS I SEE IT!

By Jeanette Cohen

While on a tour through the National Youth Administration Trade Schools, the supervisors very proudly exhibited the finished products made by students between the ages of 16 and 25. The girls and boys were learning the various trades to equip them with the skills so badly needed for the war plants.

The thing that interested me most of all were the various types of youngsters of every nationality and color, from many states of the Union, working together. It gave one the feeling that here was the best answer to the advocates of "white supremacy", a cross-section of the youth of America with equal opportunity, turning out the work to the best of his ability.

In the Clerical Pool, where the different office skills are taught, Mr. Edmonds, supervisor, introduced me to a young Irish girl, about 18 years old, who had recently arrived from New Orleans. This girl had come to him on her first day at school and told him she didn't think she could "take it". She didn't want to be in the same class with Negroes.

Mr. Edmonds, a Virginian, took the girl back to her desk and asked her to stay for one week, during which time neither one would bring up the subject. At the end of the week, they would discuss it.

During that week, the supervisor made sure that this girl, who prefers I do not use her name, worked with the Mexican and Negro girls and boys. At the end of the week, they had their discussion and he found his plan worked.

When I spoke to the girl, she said: "Mr. Edmonds is a wonderful man to make me see how foolish I was. He made me see the war in a different light than I saw it before—we can't win unless we all pull together."

Before I left, the girl said she wanted me to know that "not as you think."

I guess, in the process of this war, it won't matter much where anybody was born. If they are interested in fighting fascism, they are going to lay aside all their narrow prejudices and hatred and "pull together".

All this hullabaloo dished out by the employers that the white workers just won't work with Negroes, in most cases is just a cover-up for their own sabotage of the war effort. Since the President's Executive order No. 8802 has been enforced in the war plants, that excuse has been shot to pieces.

Those white workers who have not yet learned that the Negro people are part of America, have a good chance now to learn from men like Mr. Edmonds and the little girl from the South. I feel sure that I speak for many white workers, especially those in the trade unions, when I say that WE WANT TO WIN THIS WAR, and we want to win it WITH THE NEGRO PEOPLE.

Whom Do You Love?

IF you cast about you, you will know instantly those whom you love. If anyone dear to you should be taken from you, sadness would shadow your life, for that is the way of life. . . .

IS it not better to think of such things while those we love are yet with us, so that we may bring more happiness to them, and to ourselves through little acts of thoughtfulness, kindness and consideration? For not one of us may foretell the coming of the Grim Reaper, nor where he will next strike.

FOR that reason it is also wise to give thought to the mortician to whom you must, some day, entrust the sacred duty of preparing a loved one for eternal sleep. The choice is important, for you will want to deal with a firm which is widely known for its integrity, its understanding of your problems, the perfection of its service, and, one which does not entrust ANY IMPORTANT DETAILS to employees!

THE People's Funeral Home is such a firm. Its owners are morticians, and they PERSONALLY perform every important part of the final service to your loved one. We know that this point is important because many people have selected us for that reason.

Think it over!

Dr. E. J. Odom Guest Speaksr At First A.M.E. Church

The program of special services and activities in observance of the Lenten Season has been developing very satisfactorily at the First A.M.E. Church, according to a statement by the Minister, Rev. Frederick D. Jordan. The Evangelists and Missionary workers of the church have been engaged in a program of visitation centering particularly in the northern section of the Eastside where newly arrived families are settling. Evidences of overcrowding and other conditions tending to develop slums were reported in several instances. It is the hope of the church that through these contacts our newly arrived citizens may be made aware of the character-building resources of the community and beneficially integrated in their activities.

On this Sunday evening at 7:30 the Progressive Club of the Church, Mrs. Lillian Moore, president, will present a moving playlett entitled "The Challenge of the Cross." the cast of the play will consist of members from the Second A.M.E. Church where the play was recently presented to a large audience. Special music for the occasion will be furnished by the J. E. Edwards Choir. The sacrificial theme of the season has furnished the central thought of the sermon series which Rev. Jordan has been developing over the past few weeks. This Sunday morning the announced subject is "Your Verdict on Jesus." The Senior Choir, under the direction of Mr. Jester Hairston, will sing "Gloria" from the 12th Mass by Mozart. Mrs. Carrie Daniels will be the guest soloist at this service.

The climax of the seasonal observance will begin on Palm Sunday evening with the first sermon by Dr. E. J. Odom who will be the guest preacher for the week. Dr. Odom is the Executive Secretary of the Department of Evangelism of the A.M. E. Church. He is a preacher of thorough intellectual preparation, and great spiritual power. For many years he pastored successfully important congregation in the State of Georgia, but since the last General Conference has devoted himself exclusively to the field of Evangelism. The services will continue Monday night through Thursday at 7:30, and on Good Friday from 12:00 noon until 3:00 p.m. Dr. Odom's final message will be delivered Easter Sunday morning at 5:00 o'clock.

IN MEMORIAM

Rev. Maggie Tally died Sunday, March 28 in Little Rock, Ark.

MY DEAR MOTHER

Your spirit still lives
Like a heavenly star.
Still watching and guiding
Though now from afar.

Your kindness and deeds
Through me still unfold
For they are like seeds;
Planted deep in my soul.

Beloved son,
GEORGE EVANS.

Chinese Minister At Neighborhood Church

Rev. Kay-King Wong, a native Chinese of Singapore, will preach at the evening service (6:30 o'clock) Sunday at Neighborhood Church, San Pedro street at 47th Place. He is a graduate of Cambridge and a most fluent and eloquent speaker and one who interests his hearers. He is being presented by the "1940" Club and the public is invited to worship with us.

MOUNT CARMEL CHURCH TO HOLD CEREMONIES

One of the most impressive services of the year will be held at the Monut Carmel Missionary Baptist Church next Sunday, April 11, 1943.

Both morning and evening services will be especially dedicated to the boys in the armed forces. This special service is honoring the boys who are members of the Mount Carmel Baptist Church and the boys of the community.

At the 11 o'clock service, Rev. J. S. Peterson, the very able and dynamic Pastor of the Mount Carmel Baptist Church, will bring this Message "The Certainty of the Battle to Those Who Realize the Battle is the Lord's."

The evening service will present some of the outstanding talent in Los Angeles. Rev. Peterson will deliver a special address on the subject, "God Bless America."

The climax of the evening will be the presenting of the roll of honor, and service flag.

We are extending a cordial invitation to the public. A special invitation the all the Mothers, Wives, Sweethearts, and Friends of all the boys in the Service.

Gospel Wheels Still Turning At Mission

Our fifth week of service finds us still jubilant and active at 2011 Hooper Avenue. Each minister has well played his part and there are others to follow during this campaign.

Beautiful indeed is the spirit of God is it electrifies our souls each night, assuring us that God's approval is stamped on our effort.

This month finds us in a revival leading to our first anniversary, beginning April 18 through Easter Sunday. Various ministers and quartets will affiliate during this period. Will you bring an unsaved with you?

Sister Gilbert Allen is still handling the piano in her own queenly manner, and we are having a great time in the God of our Salvation. Elder M. C Jenkins is in charge throughout Friday of this week. Hear him; he is powerful.

We are not interested in the good people, but in the bad ones. They who are whole need not a physician, but they that are sick. "He that winneth souls is wise."

Hattie M. Crooms is minister.

St. Paul Baptist Church Marches On Under Banner Of Holy Ghost

Sunday, April 4th was another great day in St. Paul; the Church School was largely attended, and the Brotherhood Bible Class, after a rehearsal in the class room made its debut, before the congregation as a men's chorus; the brotherhood teacher, Rev. Geo. Garner, is coaching the group, and from their first performance, one visualizes one of the finest men's choruses in the west. The 11:00 a. m. preaching service was very good, the people were coming in so rapidly and in such great numbers till the S. R. O. sign was posted before Elder E. A. Anderson, began his sermon, he brought a very inspiring message based on the marvelous ways God employs to provide for the redeemed, in his elucidations, he showed how, when man seemingly has reached his wits end, that then it is God's opportunity to relieve him of the embarrassing situation, if he will only turn from self, and ask God for help.

His sermon was apropo leading up to the mammoth program scheduled for the afternoon, in which those who really trust God, are endeavoring to place a surprisingly large sum of money on the table boosting our $40,000 effort to relieve ourselves of the embarrassing situation we find ourselves in when we are forced to put up the S. R. O. sign. The 3:00 p. m. service featured the "Victory Program" presented by the Olive Temple Church, E. A. Anderson, Pastor, Auxiliary, St. Paul, Baptist Church; the program committee had put forth much effort in securing representative participants, and it was well paid for the task, by securing the following outstanding public characters, who appeared on program in the following order, The Los Angeles Community Concert Band, Mr. A. Hamer, Director, this pioneer aggregation of artists are in a class by themselves, and they, to my mind, by turning aside from their remunerative activities, to come to the aid of a programme without compensation, showed clearly that the name is all that it implies, in reality a community institution. I cannot say in words just what their numbers rendered meant to the program, but suffice it to say that they were par excellent, and Pastor Williams in his remarks said that "the band eclipsed itself. Next was Mrs. Fay E. Allen, member of L. A. Board of Education. She spoke from the subject "The world of today". The overflow audience was enraptured by her vivid portrayal of human interest pictures of THIS changing world. The committee was fortunate also, in having Mrs. W. H. Terry, member of the F. H. A., her subject was "Women's Activities in War Times." She prefaced her remarks by paying a glowing tribute to the St. Paul Baptist Church, its singing units and its Great Pastor, she said that "there is a something in the spiritual atmosphere of St. Paul, that lifts on from thoughts of things material, and unfits one for making a prepared speech, "however, her subject was handled in a masterly manner, and every woman who heard her, was fully convinced that there is much work to be done, by women in civil life if we will win the war.

St. Paul's Chorus, Quartettes, Trios, Duets and Soloists, were also participants on the most inspiring program given in St. Paul, for some time, it reached the finale in the evening service, where Elder B. C. Cooke preached the scheduled inspirational sermonette, he stressed the propriety and the necessity of attending Church Services. At the close of the sermon the baptismal rites were performed on four candidates, then the report of the financial drive for the day was made and showed $1112.70 for the day. Next Sunday promises to be another great day, in St. Paul. Elder E. A. Anderson, Pastor of Olive Temple Church, auxiliary St. Paul Baptist Church will be the speaker at the 11:00 a. m. service from the subject, "The Forces of Evil Challenges the Forces of Right," and in the evening his subject will be "Preaching Preachers". You are cordially invited to attend these services.

And at 3:00 p. m. a great mass meeting will be held in the main auditorium of this church, under the auspices of the National Baptist Convention Foreign Mission Board. Dr. C. C. Adams, of Philadelphia, Pa., will be in charge. Dr. Adams is Cor. Secretary of the Board, and has first hand information concerning the mission work of the Baptists on foreign fields, so don't fail to attend this meeting which is open to the public, and all Baptists are importuned to attend.

SECOND A.M.E. CHURCH

Cor. 43rd and San Pedro Place
Rev. Jno. B. Isaacs—Minister

The services at Second Church were well attended. The Minister Rev. J. B. Isaacs spoke very effectively on the subject "The Mystery of the Ages" after which the Holy Communion was administered to a large number of communicants.

At the evening service Mr. Charles Davis conducted a Song Service which was followed by the evening meditation by the pastor speaking on "Spiritual Insight."

Two flags were dedicated by the pastor at the 11 o'clock service. The United States Flag and the Christian Flag presented to the Church by Sister Mamie James of the Stewardess Board in a very impressive ceremony. The pledge of allegiance to both flags was given by the congregation.

Lenten service will be held on Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The minister Rev. J. B. Isaacs will speak on "The Lord's Prayer" to be followed by two other addresses on the Intercessary Prayer and the Prayer of Gethsemane on succeeding Wednesday evenings.

The choir is busy preparing special music for the Easter season. The services on Easter Sunday give promise of being of unusual interest and inspiration. You will do well to prepare to worship at Second Church on Easter Sunday.

The minister Rev. J. B. Isaacs will occupy the pulpit at both services on Sunday next. At the morning hour he will speak on "Happiness for All" and at the evening hour he will discuss "Things that are God's".

Youare invited to make Second Church your Church Home. A heartfelt welcome awaits you. The music under the leadership of Mr. Charles Davis is both inspiring and soul-stirring.

"BAHA'I FAITH" TO BE TOPIC HERE SUNDAY

Willard P. Hatch will speak Sunday, April 11, at 3 p.m., at 1709 West Eighth street, on "The Baha'i—The Practice."

Says Hatch: "Baha'u'llah, founder of the Baha'i world religion, suffered 40 years exile and imprisonment to lay the foundations of a new civilization around the nucleus of the oneness of mankind. His grandson, Shoghi Effendi, living today in Palestine, significantly asked: 'Did not Christ, Himself, addressing His disciples, utter these words: 'I have yet many things to say unto you, but ye cannot bear them now. Howbeit, when He, the Spirit of Truth is come, He will guide you unto all Truth.'"

Therefore, the world is now laboring like a mother in childbirth, for this new civilization is being born. The new babe, having the world for its mother, will naturally have a sense of world citizenship. This new infant will look upon the one God as the God of one mankind.

As it matures, this new humanity will have eliminated religious prejudice, for it finds the spiritual foundations of all religions identical, coming from one God. There will be no racial antagonism, for it will acknowledge as author the One Creator.

This new humanity will discard the struggle for existence, for it will have learned the law of cooperation. Using modern tools and inventions it will easily produce all that it needs with far less labor than ever before.

Members of the coming civilization will week-end on any part of the earth by means of rapid transportation, and will talk with their neighbors the world over in a new, universal auxiliary language. The schools and universities of the new mankind will surround edifices for the worship of one God, and will have as adjuncts hospices, orphanages, hospitals and homes for the crippled incurables. Therein the elimination of disease will be sought. The progressive, unending increases of human knowledge will be stimulated and trades, arts and professions will blossom with new achievements.

The folly of vice and crime will be clearly recognized, and gradually they will pass away. The new civilization will establish the equality of men and women. It will be built by the partnership of Science and Religion. This is the practice of the Baha'i faith.

Emmanuel Baptist Church
Rev. Authur A. Peters, Minister

The doors of Emmanuel Baptist Church, 941 East Forty-Second Street, were opened for the first time last Sunday, April 4, and the Lord blessed the new work with a successful day.

Emmanuel Baptist Church was recently organized by Rev. Authur A. Peters, a progressive young minister, who preached a very inspiring sermon last Sunday morning on the timely subject, "The Promises of God." The offering for the day was $54.26.

Rev. Peters, a well known gospel singer himself, is fortunate to have a well organized choir that promises to be one of the most inspiritional and soul stirring musical aggregations in the city. The full choir was in service all day. Rev. Kirkpatrick, a gospel singer of Long Beach, was guest soloist at both the morning and evening services.

Next Sunday, April 11, Associate Minister, Rev. Moore, will bring the message during the morning service. The public is invited to come out and hear this man of God.

Rev. Peters and the members of Emmanuel Baptist Church wish to thank the many friends who worshipped with us on last Sunday, and we are asking that you, the many friends who came to wish us well on our opening day, come again, and bring your friends. You are always welcome at the Emmanuel Baptist Church.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" This question is the subject of the Sunday Lesson-Sermon in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston. The Golden Text from the Psalms reads: "God be merciful unto us, and bless us; and cause his face to shine upon us; that thy way may be known upon earth, thy saving health among all nations."

When John the Baptist sent two of his disciples to Jesus with the inquiry, "Art thou he that should come? or look we for another?" a Lesson-Sermon passage from Luke's Gospel says that Jesus replied, "Go your way, and tell John what things ye have seen and heard; how that the blind see, the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed, the deaf hear, the dead are raised, to the poor the gospel is preached. And blessed is he, whosoever shall not be offended in me."

In "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" Mary Baker Eddy writes: "If sin, sickness, and death are as real as Life, Truth, and Love, then they must all be from the same source; God must be their author. . . . Is it possible, then, to believe that the evils which Jesus lived to destroy are real or the offspring of the divine will?"

Revival Fires Are Burning

The Revival Meeting conducted by Rev. Mable Bell of Chicago, Ill., at the United Holy Church of America, 1432 E. 25th street, is creating much interest among all denominations and nations. Surely, God is in the midst of His people. Never have we experienced such blessings from above. People of all walks of life are coming to the altar seeking God, and giving up to Him. Burdens are being lifted, and bodies healed through the prayers of Faith to Almighty God in Jesus Name.

Rev. Mable Bell has preciously given up to God, and gives herself up to God in prayer for His guidance, and for the help of His people. God has made her a flame of fire for Him. She has drawn capacity crowds as she travels. People go from neighboring towns to hear her proclaim Gods' Truth through His power. She has the last days' message. God is seeking His remnant before Jesus comes on the clouds to take away the church. Prepare for the coming of the Lord. He that doeth the will of the Father, is accepted with Him. All christian workers are invited to help in the seeking of Souls. Everybody welcome. Rev. Green, pastor.

PASTOR AND WIFE IN 15TH ANNIVERSARY

SUNDAY, April 11th, marks the 15th year of Pastoral Services of the beloved and highly esteemed Pastor and his charming wife, Rev. and Mrs. Grant Harris, of the Zion Hill Baptist Church, 1319 East 22nd Street, who made their advent to this church at the same time of the Universal depression in 1928. With an abiding faith, courage and unbroken spirit, the membership has increased 2000 persons, and a total of $100,000.00 has been raised during this period.

Rev. Harris is known and loved for his affableness to others and is respected in his community for his work and worth, for much he has done that cannot be measured in dollars and cents.

The Sunday services will be varied, in that, at eleven a.m., the Pastor will be expected to preach as usual; in the afternoon, Rev. B. Wade, Pastor of the Pilgrim Baptist Church, will deliver the Anniversary Sermon and his choir will render the music.

Deacon James A. Hale, chairman of the Trustee Board, one of the more recent members of Zion Hill, having joined the ranks in 1941, and, through whose exhaustive and untiring efforts and the inflexible determination to eliminate the entire indebtedness of the Church, will feature in the Burning of all Mortgages at the evening service.

The Church is proud of Deacon Hale and the accomplishments made during his regime. We invite public participation in this mammoth ONE-DAY CELEBRATION. Attend Zion all day.

WILL THE SOUTH SECEDE?

The timeliness of this question, asked by a southern gentleman, Carroll Kilpatrick, in the April issue of Negro Digest, is worthy of reprinting, we are passing it on to you, in chunks:

"For the first time since the advent of Roosevelt, Southern conservatives, the mainspring of Dmocratic Party strength, have within their grasp the means to victory.

Today for the first time they hold the balance of power, in the Party and in Congress. They are in a position to destroy the New Deal and to help elect a Harding.

They are in a position to cut off their noses to spite their faces—without doing injury to themselves. Republican landslides will not affect the political fortunes of men like Glass and Byrd of Virginia, O'Daniel of Texas, Bailey of North Carolina, or George of Georgia. They haven't had any patronage to speak of anyway.

A portentous factor in Southern politics is the resurgence of racial antagonisms. It has been said by responsible persons that race relations in the South are worse than they have been in fifty years. This time the Southerner is not being told that the Republican Party is the mortal enemy of "white supremacy." Instead, he is being told that the enemy is the New Deal in general and President and Mrs. Roosevelt in particular.

"White Supremacy" graces the Democratic Party standard at the top of every ballot printed in the South, and it always has been the rallying cry of Southern politics. But seldom since 1865, and certainly not since the Populist days at the close of the century, has it been so ominous a cry as it is today.

When crotchety old Senator Ellison D. (Cotton Ed) Smith of South Carolina walked out of the 1936 Democratic National Convention because a Negro offered a prayer, the majority of white Southerners paid little attention.

Race relations below the Potomac were improving. Lynchings had declined from several score a year to four or five. Respectable newspapers were advocating reforms to benefit the Negro. There was "better feeling" between the races, even if there was much else to be desired.

A section that once had just grievances against the national government saw many of them removed in the first and second terms of Franklin D. Roosevelt, one of the few Presidents who ever had a genuine interest in the South.

Today's outburst against the Administration is not based on old and just grievances, but on fake grievances manufactured by the demagogue.

It is an old pattern. It is as old as John C. Calhoun would be were he alive today. It manifested itself in the days immediately before the Civil War, at the end of the century when Populism was rampant, and again in th 1920's when the Ku Klux Klan was revived.

Political power and the preservation of the status quo are more important to the Southern ruling class and the politicians they control than the eradication of poverty and the liberation of former slaves. Their proximity to great poverty and ignorance has made them more fearful of change than men anywhere else in the country.

Newspapers that a few years ago fought for fair treatment of the Negro are on the defensive today. The Southern demagogue has cried "nigger" and men are on the march.

The basis of the new "Negro problem" is economic. Negroes have jobs. Cooks no longer can be hired for $4 to $5 a week. Their husbands make enough money in defense industries to support them.

White resentment against the "independence" which this new-found wealth has brought to the serving class has aroused the deepest and bitterest animosities. . . .

These Democrats are pulling the old stops on the organ of reaction. They are taking advantage of all the strains and jams brought about by the war and the nation's economic dislocations. They will beat the unions over the ears to the delight of the farmer. They will try to paralyze the extension of social security and electric power co-operatives. They will have Republican support. For example, Southern opponents of the anti-poll tax bill won their filibuster with the aid and consent of the Republican leadership in the Senate.

After all, why should Republicans want the poll tax abolished? It would not enfrancise the Negro, the only important Southern group that would vote Republican, but it would enfranchise a great number of poor whites who would add strength to the New Deal. . . .

The fight to overcome the lead of the modern political secessionists will not be an easy one. It cannot be won with a speech or two. But if the Administration is rejuvenated politically, if it can drive to victory abroad and to clarity of purpose at home, Franklin D. Roosevelt once more can impel his Southern enemies to seek cover. That is, unless the New Deal has run its course."

ELECTION RETURNS

Just before going to press, election returns show Fay Allen, Ronsevelle, and Becker, all present encumbents, leading with highest votes.

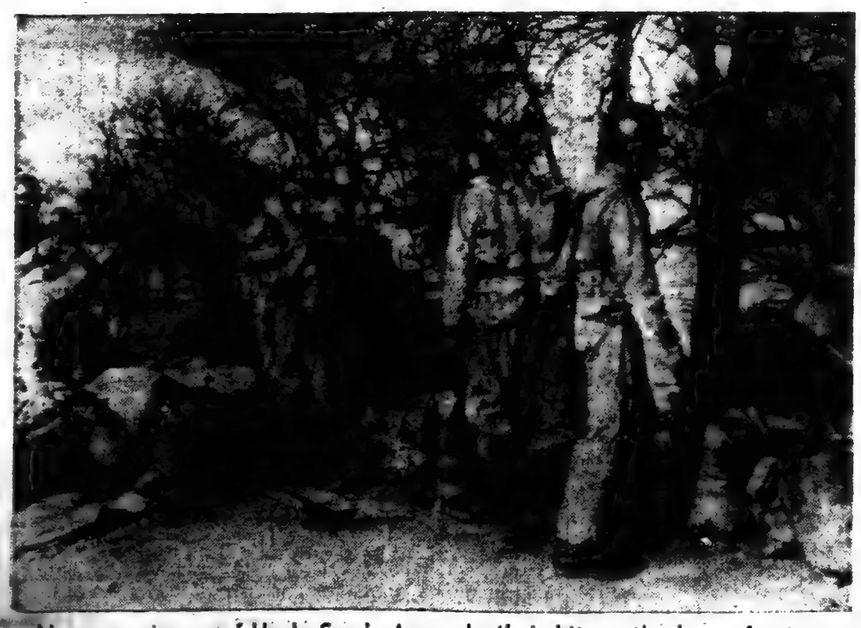
In the city council, Rasmussen in the 7th District and Bennett in the 10th district are leading with highest votes.

Joining with this, it was flashed across the wires this afternoon, that Guy Caston, brother of Rev. J. L. Caston, pastor of Trinity Baptist Church, made history today in St. Louis when he was elected four to one as Alderman of the Sixth District in the Missouri city.

OUR VITAL NEED

Since the first gun was fired announcing the opening of World War No. 2, the California Eagle has been on the firing line. THIS IS OUR WAR. To 13,000,000 Negro Americans, we have neither hesitated nor deviated in our fight to win. If in the factory, field, army, navy or Air Corps, or with pen or hoe, we must fight to win.

To you, Uncle Sam: We have but three men left. May we keep them . . . Fentress, Kinloch, Williams.



OPEN THAT SECOND FRONT

If ever there was a time in the history of the world when men and nations should "say what they mean, and mean what they say," it is now.

For many months a demand for opening of the Second Front has echoed across the nations. (The Economist, leading conservative journal of London, has now joined the great army and at present is asking why the delay in the opening of that Second Front.)

From the pulpit and from the press we hear a plea for peace, but we know that there will be no peace until we have re-established faith in ourselves that might is right, and faith in our allies to the end that we must all fight to make that peace for all peoples and not merely for the protection of our selfish needs and desires as Americans, Britons, or any other nation.

If we are allies—we are not enemies. If we are not enemies—we are allies.

Negro engineers of Uncle Sam's Army do their bit on the home front as well as the war. Here is a group sandbagging Old Man River.

SAM MOODY---MAKER OF PICTURE FRAMES

By BILL SMALLWOOD

Sam Moody, who looks like an All-American fullback, has the necessary, quaint habit of lunch promptly at noon to thank for his present career.

Rated by art dealers and lucratively working artists as the finest maker of picture frames in the West, Sam Moody definitely is worth hearing about. I met him quite accidentally one day recently while aimlessly awaiting a friend's frame—shopping in Michael's, at Sunset and Vine in Hollywood. When I learned this tan tone youth was the manager and chief framer in exclusive, expensive Michael's I became aware again of the vast store of local material readers never get to read! Shame!

Born and schooled in Dallas, Tex., Sam Moody first acquired his individual mastery of frame design and making while working as a porter in Lawrence's, the largest art dealers in Dallas. Returning from lunch one day, he stopped to admire some paintings in the Lawrence windows. A man, observing his interest, asked him a few questions, then topped it by offering him a job as porter, for the shop. The salary difference cinched Moody's quick decision. And that began his career.

As the months passed, he discovered fascination, then enthusiasm, for the work done by skilled frame artisans. They taught him the rudiments, then watched him surpass their technique. He spent thirteen years with Lawrence. Many famous European artists journeyed to Dallas to consult Moody's artistry. Louis Ekar was one. Neirman-Marcus, the Bullock's-Wilshire of Dallas, has many art works now on their walls which were framed by Moody's capable brown hands.

In the summer of '33, he visited Los Angeles for the second time. Browsing around Hollywood, he explored several art stores. Again, after animated conversation, he was offered a job. He accepted, worked for the House of Picture Framing for three years. The firm was absorbed by Michael's (a chain of a dozen shops, only two handle the framing angle) who were quick to realize Moody's value, placed him in sole charge of their Vine Street address, which he as quickly put on the map!

There is only one other Negro expert working in town at difficult picture framing. His name is Jno. Harris and it was Moody who got him his break. He works in downtown Los Angeles.

Generally, there are eight types of wood used in the art, and Moody's own work application makes splendid use of them all. He welcomes large, difficult and costly jobs. He will work from sun-up to after sundown to complete jobs which catch his fancy at the start. He allows no one to crate or ship paintings destined for distant addresses. He does it all himself. And its inspiring to watch him work in his studio. His career has developed a keen eye for all art, and local artists spend time asking his advice. And use it.

Among the many folk who patronize him are Dinah Shore, the London Shop, Cal Bailey, Sardi's, Douglass and Vega aircraft, Pacific Studios, House of Westmore, Max Factor, and practically all the head makeup men and art dept's at the film studios.

Advice to youngsters? Whatever happens, he says, please DON'T give up! It's a luxury our young people can never afford, he believes. Forget the color of your skin, develop your talent, and work out a strong program, then stick to it. If you're good you're "in." Hollywood doesn't differ from any other place. The trouble, he thinks, with a lot of us, as a group, is we yell about opportunity, then when it comes we're not ready. He plans to teach a select class in the art of picture framing, soon.

On Jan. 1st, he wed Betty Neal, of Okla., and is now mixing romance with business, for he's teaching her the work. She's an apt student, and the first and only Negro woman in the field, here. Her art taste is excellent, also her appraisal of textures, etc. She'll rate a story of her own one day soon. And I'll consider it a privilege to do it.

Sam Moody and his wife someday plan to have their own shop. Unless I miss my guess they not only will achieve that goal, but will do even bigger things.

They're worth a lot to us.

POETS POOL

(ED. NOTE: Verse-lovers are encouraged to submit their original poems to this column. Address your poems to Poets Pool Editor.)

Jimmy Kelly, who gave us several of his better poems a few weeks back, has written the following piece especially for Jeannette Collins. We think it excellent.

WHEN JENNIE DANCES

Her body springs to loosen its wings
Her feet seem ready to prance
You know that the earth soon will lose its worth
When Jennie starts to dance...

You feel her rise before your eyes
As gay as a spring romance
The actions are free as a frolicksome bee
When Jennie starts to dance...

But when the dance ends, she seems to descend
To the earth she left in a trance
And as you awaken, you hope you'll be taken
The next time Jennie will dance.

COMPLETE LOSS

I can't remember
And I swore I'd not forget
Somewhere between Innocence and Sophistication Lost—One Love.

"Morale of Colored Soldiers Very High"

By CONRAD CLARK

Camp Wallace, Texas.

Thousands of radio listeners on the NBC hook-up through its Houston affiliate, station KPRC, heard Lt. Colonel Rolland E. Hubert, commanding officer of a colored Battalion, at Camp Wallace, Texas, tell of the high morale of the colored soldiers under his command, on Sunday morning.

In part, the Colonel said, "the morale of the men of my Battalion is very high." After telling of the value of the USO center on the soldiers' morale, he concluded, "It is my opinion, that this excellent quality of morale is due in part to the splendid work of the USO the home away from home."

The address was part of the Dowling Street USO program in keeping with the 2nd annual open house day, held throughout the Nation, and sponsored by the United Service Organizations, Inc.

Camp Wallace, an Anti-Aircraft Replacement Training Center, is 25 months old, and the negro soldiers are well respected and thought of by the white battalions.

As the other components, Col. Hubert's battalion has its own Service Club, (staffed by colored hostesses), theatre, chapel and band, as well as an orchestra, which is rated as one of the best in the Lone Star state.

The battalion also has its baseball, softball and basketball teams, the latter having won all but 2 minor games at the City of Houston.

Last winter, the football squad played an all-star High School team in Houston in a bond drive rally, and assisted in the sale of more than $50,000 worth of bonds.

The commanding officer, Col. Hubert, came to Camp Wallace from Chicago, Ill., 18 months ago, and has been with the Battalion since October 1942.

Members of his staff include: Capts. Kenneth E. Pell, Executive Officer; Kenneth G. Cummings, P. & T. Officer and Robert A. Moffett. Also Lts. John R. Shilling Adjutant, and Leland M. Phillips, Personnel Officer.

Heading the non-commissioned officers list in the Headquarters detachment is Staff Sgt. Bennie J. Wilson of San Antonia, Texas. Other Hq members are T-Sgt. Arthur B. McClain of New Orleans, Louisiana; T-4th Robert Evans of Washington, D. C.; Cpls. Marfield Dillingham of Richmond, Ky; Robert Stewart, of Covington, Ga.; and Clifton E. Brown of Baltimore, Md.; Pfc. Jeremiah Tucker of Philadelphia, Pa.; Robert McBay of Mexia, Texas, James L. Hawkins of San Antonio, Texas, and Conrad Clark, Washington, D. C.

The Dowling Street USO is under the direction of L. H. Spivey, Jr., and assisted by Mrs. Theo Harris. Club Secretary is Mrs. Rosa Hines, and president of the GSO girls, (hostesses of the Center) is Mrs. Rosina Johnson.

The Center is visited by more than 10,000 service men monthly, and accommodations include sleeping space for more than 30 men.

The address of Col. Hubert in full is as follows:

The United Service Organizations have a campaign slogan, "You give to someone you know when you give to the USO." Nobody knows better how true that is, than the USO workers, and the men in the service themselves. I am not able to quote exact figures, but I would venture to say, that 9 out of 10 soldiers in uniform today have visited the USO centers in cities or towns near their training camps, and that the majority of that number make the USO a habit. The service set up by the USO, is designed to give service men away from home a friendly, hospitable, and helpful place to visit when they are on pass from military duty.

Training for war, such as we go through at Camp Wallace, is a grim, strenuous, 24-hour a day task. The men are pushed hard, to learn in the comparatively short training period we give them. But you can't push a man all the time without a let-up. Even the best of us, must have a breathing spell, a 7th inning stretch. These periods of relaxation are necessarily short, and are of particular advantage to the men, consequently of benefit to their training progress. Most of the men want some place to go, where they can read a bit, listen to music, play a game of ping-pong, have a good meal, and on Saturday nights have an attractive dancing partner. To the negro troops at Camp Wallace, and to the colored troops of Ellington Field as well, the Houston USO Club has a particular meaning.

The colored soldiers in and around Houston, are very fortunate to have the Dowling USO club, here in Houston, under the able direction of Mr. L. H. Spivey and Mrs. Harris, the hostess, who are always devising, new entertainment for the men. They have dances on Saturday nights at the club, and bring girls to the Service Club, at Camp Wallace, for dances which are held there. These girls are sponsored, and chaperoned by the USO hostesses. All this, and many other activities, are without cost to the soldier.

The morale of the men of my Battalion, at Camp Wallace, is very high. I would like to quote part of a letter, recently received from the Reverend G. Bell, of the Bells Chapel Baptist Church of La Marque, Texas. This letter was written after about 40 or 50 men from Camp Wallace had attended the Soldiers' Day Services given by the Negro churches of La Marque. It reads as follows:

"We were pleased to note, that the morale of the Negro soldiers was very high, and no complaint was even thoughtlessly pressed, either against the camp's military authorities, or the strictness of army life. On the contrary, all soldiers referred to the consideration given them, by their white officers."

Spreading Joy.

By John Fowler

I propose Orchids and the letter "D," for Captain Laura Slayton, Mrs. Maurine Browning, and their association, for the splendid work they are doing at the AWVS Canteen, Forty-fifth Street and South Central Avenue, for the men in the Armed Forces. The letter "D" stands for Doers.

Among those deserving the letter "D" are the following officers of the AWVS: Mesdames Lena Kirk, head of the canteen workshop; Edith Wilson, Carmolita Lomax, treasurer; Lucille Gowan, financnal secretary; Miss Lucille Alstick, correspondent secretary; Marian Black, publicity; Nadine Bell, sgt.-at-arms; Mrs. Ida Terry, chairman of ways and means, and Gwendolyn Valentine Franklin, chairman of junior hostesses.

I had a most delightful visit with Capt. Slayton and Mrs. Browning at the canteen the other day, and I was amazed at the wonderful transformation of that 'old spot.' In the main auditorium where the young people gather to entertain the soldier boys each night, was a long artistically decorated counter coverd with a variety of gifts of coffee, doughnuts, cigarettes, and candies for the servicemen. There was the lounge with its well filled cases of good books, and every writing convenience; paper and the use of a typewriter, for the boys who are a long ways from home, and wish to sit in the quiet and write a letter home, or read.

For those who like games they have a billiard table, pin balls, ping-pong, chinese checkers and cards.

There is the ever?ready "jute box," so dear to the hearts of the jitterbugs.

I was struck with the artistic setting and the modern equipment, and I was informed that it was a donation, and the canteen, with all of its activities, are financed by voluntary contributions.

I wonder how much of these expenses we as a race are contributing?

If you could just see these young women working as I have seen them, mopping the floor, washing dishes, eighteen hours and some times more per day, you would realize what they are doing for the comfort and morale of our fighting men. We should challenge the race pride of all Negroes in all walks of life do their part in this war.

You can do your part by sending or better still, bringing in a check or some change.

Every church should set aside one collection each month for the duration to help.

I think the outstanding event of the week's activities are the "Military Vesper Services," held every Sunday afternoon at the center. I am told that each service is sponsored by some church or organization.

Here the men in uniform are given a spiritual feast of good music and adoration.

Mrs. Browning, first assistant to captain Laura Slayton, told me that one of their greatest needs at the moment is help. Any one of the ladies who can give one hour, or even two or more per day, can find so service she would enjoy.

They need ladies to sew, making equipment for the service, and the Red Cross.

Owing to the numerous men coming into the city and overflowing the Canteen every night, and to the limited means in the hands of the committee, it has been suggested that an appeal be made through the churches to let the people help.

I think this is an excellent idea, and I shall be glad to assist in any way I can.

Leading the old sweethearts parade this week is Mr. and Mrs. Frederick M. Roberts. Mrs. Roberts was formerly Pearl Hinds, of Oakland, California.

P. S. Mrs. Meadows informed me that the Watts Committee postponed their annual Music Festival, on account of the Outdoor Life plans, headed by Mrs. Pauline Slayter.

THE NEGRO PRESS

By RUTH TAYLOR

Miss Taylor, of Charles Stelzle, Incorporated, New York City, who has been a regular contributor to the Negro Press for a long period of time, writes her unbiased views on Negro newspapers, as follows:

Frankly, says Miss Taylor, I feel there has been too much generalization in the articles that have appeared in magazines both for and against the Negro Press. It is as unfair to treat as one all Negro papers, as it is to lump all religious papers, or all women's publications, or all labor papers. You can't compare a daily paper with a small weekly, or a weekly of large circulation with a religious paper. The only justification for generalization about the Negro Press is that it is composed of papers edited by Negroes for Negroes with a predominance of Negro news.

My conclusions about the Negro Press comes from my own experience. I cannot help but remember that the finest tribute paid to Dr. Stelzle at his death was by a Negro editor who wrote that Dr. Stelzle was one man who was color-blind when it came to justice. As for myself, I cherish the remark Dr. Wilberforce made when he introduced me—that though he had read my articles each week, until he met me he had not known I was white.

The Negro Press does not look for sympathy or pats on the back. Their editors want to lead their readers along an upward path. They ask only for justice. Of course, there are a few sensational sheets—but show me a press that hasn't them! The majority should be the guage—not the minority.

The Negro Press can talk straight talk. I found that out when I wrote about Negro public relations. The Negro Press is strongly religious. It appreciates the things of the spirit. The Negro Press is idealistic—looking forward to a better world in which all men shall live in a spirit of brotherhood, without regard to class, creed or color.

Native Son

An Exclusive California Eagle Serial

(From the Book by Richard Wright)

"He murdered Mary Dalton accidentally, without thinking, without plan, without conscious motive. But, after he murdered, he accepted the crime. And that's the important thing. It was the first full act of his life; it was the most meaningful, exciting and stirring thing that had ever happened to him. He accepted it because it made him free, gave him the possibility of choice, of action, the opportunity to act and to feel that his actions carried weight.

"We are dealing here with an impulse stemming from deep down. We are dealing here not with how man acts toward man, but with how a man acts when he feels that he must defend himself against, or adapt himself to, the total natural world in which he lives. The central fact to be understood here is not who wronged this boy, but what kind of a vision of the world did he have before his eyes, and where did he get such a vision as to make him, without premeditation, snatch the life of another person so quickly and instinctively that even though there was an element of accident in it, he was willing after the crime to say: 'Yes, I did it. I had to.'

"I know that it is the fashion these days for a defendant to say: 'Everything went blank to me.' But this boy does not say that. He says the opposite. He says he knew what he was doing but felt he had to do it. And he says he feels no sorrow for having done it.

"Do men regret when they kill in war? Does the personality of a soldier coming at you over the top of a trench matter?

"No! You kill to keep from being killed! And after a victorious war you return to a free country, just as this boy, with his hands stained with the blood of Mary Dalton, felt that he was free for the first time in his life.

"Multiply Bigger Thomas twelve million times, allowing for environmental and temperamental variations, and for those Negroes who are completely under the influence of the church, and you have the psychology of the Negro people. But once you see them as a whole, once your eyes leave the individual and incompass the mass, a new quality comes into the picture. Taken collectively, they are not simply twelve million people; in reality they constitute a separate nation, stunted, stripped, and held captive within this nation, devoid of political, social, economic, and property rights.

"Do you think that you can kill one of them—even if you killed one every day in the year—and make the others so full of fear that they would not kill? No! Such a foolish policy has never worked and never will. The more you kill, the more you deny and separate, the more will they seek another form and way of life, however blindly and unconsciously. And out of what can they weave a different life, out of what can they mold a new existence, living organically in the same towns and cities, the same neighborhoods with us? I ask, out of what—but what we are and own?

"Your Honor, there are four times as many Negroes in America today as there were people in the original Thirteen Colonies when they struck for their freedom. These twelve million Negroes, conditioned broadly by our own nations as we were by European ones when we first came here, are struggling within unbelievably narrow limits to achieve that feeling of at-homeness for which we once strove so ardently. And, compared with our own struggle, they are striving under conditions far more difficult. If anybody can, surely we ought to be able to understand what these people are after. This vast stream of life, dammed and muddied, is trying to sweep toward that fullfilment which all of us seek so fondly, but find so impossible to put into words. When we said that men are 'endowed with certain inalienable rights, among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness,' we did not pause to define 'happiness.' That is the unexpressed quality in our quest, and we have never tried to put it into words. That is why we say, 'Let each man serve God in his own fashion.'

"But there are some broad features of the kind of happiness we are seeking which are known. We know that happiness comes to men when they are caught up, absorbed in a meaningful task or duty to be done, a task or duty which in turn sheds justification and sanction back down upon their humble labors. We know that this may take many forms: in religion it is the story of the creation of man, of his fall, and of his redemption; compelling men to order their lives in certain ways, all cast in terms of cosmic images and symbols which swallow the soul in fulness and wholeness. In art, science, industry, politics, and soical action it may take other forms. But these twelve million Negroes have access to none of these highly crystallized modes of expression, save that of religion. And many of them know religion only in its most primitive form. The environment of tense urban centers has all but paralyzed the impulse for religion as a way of life for them today, just as it has for us.

"Feeling the capacity to be, to live, to act, to pour out the spirit of their souls into concrete and objective form with a high fervor born of their racial characteristics, they glide through our complex civilization like wailing ghosts; they spin like fiery planets lost from their orbits; they wither and die like trees ripped from native soil.

"Your Honor, remember that men can starve from a lack of self-realization as much as they can from a lack of bread! And they can murder for it, too! Did we not build a nation, did we not wage war and conquer in the name of a dream to realize our personalities and to make those realized personalities secure!

"But did Bigger Thomas really murder? At the risk of offending the sensibilities of this Court, I ask the question in the light of the ideals by which we live! Looked at from the outside, maybe it was murder, then what was the motive? The prosecution has shouted, stormed and threatened, but he has not said why Bigger Thomas killed! He has not said why because he does not know. The truth is, Your Honor, there was not motive as you and I understand motives within the scope of our laws today. The truth is, this boy did not kill! Oh, yes; Mary Dalton is dead. Bigger Thomas smothered her to death. Bessie Mears is dead. Bigger Thomas battered her with a brick in an abandoned building. But did he murder? Did he kill? Listen: what Bigger Thomas did early that Sunday morning in the Dalton home and what he did Sunday night in that empty building was but a tiny aspect of what he had been doing all his life long! He was living, only as he knew how, and as we have forced him to live. The actions that resulted in the death of those two young women were as instinctive and inevitable as breathing or blinking one's eyes. It was an act of creation!

"Let me tell you more. Before this trial the newspapers and the prosecution said that this boy had committed other crimes. It is true. He is guilty of numerous crimes. But search until the day of judgment, and you will find not one shred of evidence of them. He has murdered many times, but there are no corpses. Let me explain. This Negro boy's entire attitude toward life is a crime! The hate and fear which we have inspired in him, woven by our civilization into the very structure of his consciousness, into his blood and bones, into the hourly functioning of his personality, have become the justification of his existence.

"Every time he comes in contact with us, he kills! It is a physiological and psychological reaction, embedded in his being. Every thought he thinks is potential murder. Excluded from, and unassimilated in our society yet longing to gratify impulses akin to our own but denied the objects and channels evolved through long centuries for their socialized expression, every sunrise and sunset make him guilty of subversive actions. Every movement of his body is an unconscious protest. Every desire, every dream, no matter how intimate or personal, is a plot or a conspiracy. Every hope is a plan for insurrection. Every glance of the eye is a threat. His very existence is a crime against the state!

"KEEPER OF THE FLAME" AT U. A.

Spencer Tracy and Katherine Hepburn, who scored one of the hits of the current season in "Woman of the Year", have been happily brought together again as the stars of a timely and deeply significant story of contemporary American life, "Keeper of the Flame", now playing at the United Artists Theatre, 933 So. Broadway.

It is first of all an absorbing newspaper story, with Tracy as Steven O'Malley, a foreign correspondent who has returned to his own country after being kicked out of Germany.

On the same program United Artists presents "Fall In," a laugh packed film with William Tracy and Joe Sawyer.

SATURDAY POST IN UNUSUAL PRESENTATION OF NEGRO LIFE

The Saturday Evening Post made a forward step toward the desired goal of true democracy in publishing in its March 27 issue, "They Call Him Cooperation," written by Archibald Rutledge.

The writer in a very interesting manner presented highlights in the history of the North Carolina Mutual Insurance Company, an outstanding Negro business, and one of its founders, C. C. Spaulding. The examples of faith, industry and honesty afforded by this great business, and brought to attention in this journalistic gem, should be inspiring and encouraging to all people regardless of race, color or creed. It is very timely to present to the American public the philosophy expressed in the article which recognizes the fact that there is no superior race and no such thing as social equality even among white people.

During this period when the world is looking to America for a demonstration of democracy in action, the Saturday Evening Post renders a distinct service by presenting to its readers such information concerning Negro business and the sound philosophy of C. C. Spaulding. It is seldom that white America gets a glimpse of this phase of Negro life. Pictures and stories of successful Negro Americans and news items showing how white and black Americans have worked together harmoniously released in leading periodicals do much to improve race relations and make democracy work here at home.

Officers, directors and employees of Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company were gratified to observe the well earned recognition given to one of our member companies in such an outstanding publication as the Saturday Evening Post. We commend the management of this magazine for their progressive and timely contribution to the work of better race relations. We hope we will have more such constructive releases.

WHAT'S DOING IN CAMP ASHBY

By Cpl. Peyton Gray

BERKELEY, Calif.—The apex in the line of entertainment at Camp Ashby, the home of the 779th Military Police Battalion, was reached Monday, when the officers and men were hosts to the famed Deep River Boys. Presented by Cpl. Peyton Gray, former Baltimore, Md., newspaper man and official master of ceremonies for the camp, the singers opened their two 30-minute programs with the familiar theme song, "Deep River," and swung into a series of numbers which included popular songs, spirituals and novelty ditties.

Two shows were necessary to accommodate the men of the battalion who crammed into every available bit of space in the Recreation Hall and crowded into the windows to hear the troupe, popular through radio broadcasting, stage and screen performances.

Members of the troupe, formed six years ago while they were students at Hampton Institute, Virginia, include Vernon Gardner, first tenor; George Lawson, second tenor, who is personnel manager; Harry Douglas, baritone; Edward Ware, bass; Ray Durant, pianist, and their mascot, "Huachucha" a German police puppy.

Arrangements were handled by Lt. Wilfred P. Als, special service officer, and his assistant, Cpl. Gray.

A list of 28 promotions including three Staff Sergeants and four Sergeants were announced by Lt. Wilfred P. Als, special service officer of the 779th Military Police Battalion, here, this week.

The three S Sgt. ratings went to Richard Hairston, former Gloucester, Va., school teacher; Matthew Loker of Baltimore, Md., and Lawrence Brazils of Crowley, La. The sergeants' ratings went to Braxton C. Drummond, Philadelphia, Pa.; Roosevelt Lewis of Baltimore, Md.; Earl J Bands, Lake Charles, La., and William Martin, Clairton, Pa.

The T 4th rating went to James B. Lee of Washington, D. C.

Men representing many walks of life from college graduates with masters degrees to the plain ordinary everyday citizen, form the personnel of the Military Police Singers choral group of former easterners that has been cutting a wide swath through music circles in the San Francisco Bay area for the past six months.

The group, directed by Sgt. Edward M. McFadden, recent graduate of Cheyney State Teachers' College, Cheyney, Pa., and native of Philadelphia, ranges in number from 12 to 16 voices depending on the military duties of the men at the time of the various engagements.

The group was organized last September by Pvt. First Class Rubi L. Blakey of Pittsburgh, Pa. It has made 117 appearances before local groups in the immediate area and in many of the communities in the Bay Area, and to date the chorus has broadcast 36 times over stations in Berkeley, Oakland and San Francisco.

Engagements are booked by Cpl. Peyton Gray, former assistant city editor of the Baltimore Afro-American newspapers. Cpl. Gray is also assistant to the Special Services Officer at Camp Ashby.

Featured soloists of the group include S Sgt. Wesley R. Brazier of New Orleans, La.; Cpl. Louis Lindsey, King and Queen County, Va.; Cpl. Thomas Fludd, assistant director, of Philadelphia, and Pvt. First Class Booker T. Washington of Pittsburgh, Pa. Other members of the group are Private First Class Samuel Blackburn, Philadelphia, Pa.; Pvt. First Class Edward Diggs, former Virginia State College student and more recently connected with a Major Bowes unit; Cpl. Approximately 300 rip-roaring enthusiastic basketball fans crowded into the Buchanan Street USO Center Friday night to watch the 779th Military Police "Five" composed of Eastern former collegiate players, lace the 717th MSC "Five" by a 39-16 score to cop the San Francisco Servicemen's League.

Ten, 8-inch high gold trophies, donated by the USO were presented to the members of the winning team by Dorie Miller, Naval hero of last year, now stationed in San Francisco. The trophies were accepted by S-Sgt. Wesley (Rock) Brazier, coach of the 779th and former Dillard and Atlanta University athlete.

The 779th was paced by Al (Sleepy) Waters of Baltimore, former Morgan State College star who scored 19 points and who durjng the 30 games played this season has run up a total of 254 points. The team has scored 1123 points as against 764 for their opponents and have lost only 6 games. Second highest scorer for the aggregation is Roosevelt Lewis, former A&T star, who has a total of 207 points, followed by Walter (Cranky) Wright of Hampton, who has 180 points.

Through the management of Joseph H. Thomas, Hampton grad and former Havre de Grace USO director, the team has been playing in three leagues in the San Francisco area, having included two of the University of California teams on their schedule.

CAN THE NEGRO PEOPLE FORGET GOD AND STILL WIN COMPLETE FREEDOM?

When I read the attack on the production of "RUN LITTLE CHILDREN" the spiritual masterpiece by Hall Johnson, I began to question the sincerity of the so-called militant Miss Almena Davis of the Los Angeles Tribune. When I heard a few Sundays ago the sermon of Rev. Adam Powell at the Second Baptist Church, I was again inspired that the spiritual uplift is as important as the militant force. In other words, I get from her article that we should forget our spiritual uplift and all things that pertain to it and fight all injustices blindly without any of the doctrine of God. "Run Little Children" offers nothing else but the great power of God in the efforts of men. It is sincere, true, simple and has universal appeal, clothed in the great cultural background of the Negro people.

I remember that when Joe Louis said, "THIS IS GOD'S WAR" the term rang around the world. Even the Militant lady printed it as a great inspiration. Rev. Clayton Russell, in his great crusade against the injustices heaped upon the Negro, always turns to a great text in the Bible and begins spiritually to attack his enemies. I gather from him that this is not entirely a material fight. I also feel that the great faith of our fore-parents had much to do with their escape from physical slavery. They fought day and night with their temper, their knowledge of sabotage, their great gift of telling their story of Revolt through song. But they charged their batteries with GOD, at night.

Now please understand I am not one to preach the Gospel, but I must ask, is it the real thing to do. Give up this great power and go all the way on material philosophy. Just the logic of attaining true Citizenship, and forgetting the great sermons of Moses. If that is the method, it is all right with me. But I don't think that the Negro people or the white people of this country are ready to live the life of true Christianity, without the support of the church. That day may come, but it does not indicate itself at this decade.

So when I remember that 656,000 people went to the Mayan Theatre in Los Angeles to see Hall Johnson's play and get its inspirational message, over a period of 59 weeks, I wonder if the militant young lady is not a little confused. How ridiculous for her to say, I am one with the hangover of slavery. I have won more battles without the aid of newspapers or organizations than she will ever win, if she feels that the Negro people can assassinate the ministers of the world and burn the spiritual songs created by her mother and father, in fact millions of fathers and mothers who suffered.

Paul Robeson, the great leader of men, sings spirituals on all of his programs. He has learned in his travels that folk-music is akin all over the world. The people of the world touch life through the same chords, the same words, the same spirit. Marian Anderson lifts men to higher things with spirituals on her concerts. Dorothy Maynor finds the mystic touch through her spirituals. Hall Johnson has dramatized the spiritual in this great play, and the group movement of these magnificent singers has done more to move men's hearts together than any other modern play.

"Green Pastures," a white man's conception of the spiritual power of the Negro people, was accepted for years, even with its many false notes of truth. But the singing of the great choir, made even hard-boiled critics kneel in prayer. What is this new challenge of the modern Negro? May I answer.

Every man, women or child that is contending for full right and opportunity is indeed alive and right. We must fight on all fronts, but whatever we do, DON'T CONFUSE THE ISSUE. Please remember that actors are the servants of the people and the puppets of the playwright. Also it was only a few years ago that Negro actors were recognized as thespians the equal of any other group. Now in order to progress, we should not try to destroy these artists of training and experience, BUT PROVIDE them with new materials and new ideas. To examine the problem closer the actor is in an economic spot as well as the great NEGRO DOCTOR who is refused at a white hospital. The same spot that a Negro is in who is refused admission to a white flying field regardless of his qualifications.

But the Negro actor has one great advantage over all of these and that is he can always appear in public places and deliver under the cloak of art a message that registers. If great writers like Mr. George Schuyler of the Pittsburgh Courier, would take time out and write a great play that has universal appeal for the actors of his race, he would be busy for some months and would not have time to crab about the work of actors. Where is an actor who does not want a great part. I have never met one yet. Don't be confused to the extent that you fight among your own forces. Keep awake and be loyal to your brother in the same boat.

Again, ladies and gentlemen, the $100,000 production of "Run Little Children" on Broadway, is another milestone of spiritual uplift. It paves the way for the Schuyler masterpiece. The great step of telling a NEGRO artist's life like Bill Robinson on the screen, is but the forerunner of one on the life of FRED DOUGLASS. The great ministers like Dr. Adam Powell, Rev. Clayton Russell, Dr. J. Raymond Henderson, seem to point the way. Miss Davis seems to be confused when she says the world does not need the great SPIRITUAL uplift of "Run Little Children." The world says it need GOD. She says no. Maybe she is right. I don't agree with her. Do you?

BEHIND THE SCENES WITH HARRY

by HARRY LEVETTE — Theatrical Editor

LET YOU THOUGHT I WAS going to start off with an editorial about the second attack in last week's Pittsburg Courier, the first of which has allegedly brought on a $100,000 damage suit by Bill Robinson. But Bill could not be reached in time for this issue and the Ol' Kolyum never guesses at things. So news only this issue.

SARATOGA TRUNK AT WARNERS, engaged and fitted with costumes of the 1800's a number of colored movie players as waiters, bell-boys etc. to go on location for seven days at Busch's Garden near Pasadena. Inez Hatchett, pretty movie player, again found guilty on a manslaughter trial, a week ago, was ordered released on bond by Judge Nye last Monday, the release to take place yesterday. six jurors admittd they had made a mistake. Carolyn Snowden, former long-time producer at Sebastians Cotton Club, came back to town a week ago after several years in the east . . . will probably accept one of several night club offers as an entertainer. Sam McDaniel, long famous "Deacon" of radio, stage and screen, is pleasing crowds nightly at the "Lucky Spot" Santa Monica and Western, sharing the spotlight with Harold Brown, piano wizard.

THERE'S A DEEP DARK SECRET behind all this agitation about "Stormy weather, first with the false claim that it would have to be remade, then last week's blast about the Cab Calloway "Zoot suit" menace. Seems to me those twenty-five girls and twelve boys who worked so hard to help make it the all-colored cast picture of the age, would be getting pretty sore at whoever is guilty of trying to spoil the feature's box-office. It showed however a ridiculous lack of information on the part of the first author who did not use his by-line. If he or she had kept up with the progress of the film on the pages of the Eagle, the information might have soaked in that the only scenes shot after the official close were scheduled to be done then. The second article about the zoot suit, was signed by Billy Rowe. Besides the story of Bill's dance on the 20 drums, the following appeared with a headline "SEVEN BOYS, SEVEN GIRLS STILL IN STORMY WEATHER." The story in full follows:—

"Like "Ol' Man River" Twentieth Century Fox's all-colored cast musical seems to go on and on, for although it has actually finished certain scenes are still being shot.

In one of the most important of these, which called for the clear, rythmic, sound of taping feet, to be recorded on the soundstrip, seven of the cleverest girl dancers in Hollywood and sven boys, of equal ability were started last Monday at the Fox Hill lot of the studio. They were Patsy Hunter, who did such an excellent job as assistant to dance director Clarence Robinson, Cleo Herndon, Artie Brandon, Avanelle Harris, Lucy Battle, Lannie Bufford and Louise "Bo" Franklin.

The boys were Barnard Bradley, Henry "Baby-face" Roberts Andrew Jackson, Johnny Thomas, Bobby Johnson, Sam Montgomery, and Sammy Warren. It was quite a compliment to both groups to be selected for this important production work, for the girls were selected from the twenty-six who worked all through the picture, and the boys from the twelve who had danced with them." (Watch next issue for "The Deep Dark Secret").

And now for a few little odds and ends about what goes on at the studios.

Mrs. William Grant Still Lists 98 Performances of Still's Works During 1942

Revealing that she is one of those "women behind the artist," who play such an important part and inspiration in their careers, Mrs. William Grant Still queen of their lovely westside home, brightened by two pretty children, deeply concerns herself with all his affairs.

Mrs. Still keeps records of all her noted husband's activities, besides being a good housekeeper, and an author in her own right. She has a list of the large number of 98 performances of Still's compositions during the past year of 1942. With them being played in all parts of the world, including South America, their demand has steadily increased since in 1929, when but two were presented. She also related that the Office of War Information had made an offer to Still to compose an afro-American symphony, to be flown to Russia, in appreciation for the one recently flown here, coming from the pen of a great Russian composer.

JACY BOYLE SIGNED AS "MELODY PARADE" DANCE DIRECTOR

Jack Boyle has been engaged as dance director on the forthcoming Monogram filmusical, "Melody Parade," with rehearsals scheduled to begin Tuesday (6). The picture starts April 12, with Arthur Dreifuss directing for Producer Lindsley Parsons.

Boyle is the son of the nationally known dance director, Johnny Boyle, and has assisted his father on such productions as the stage plays, "Panama Hattie" and "Sing Another Chorus," and the Ziegfeld Follies at the San Francisco Exposition, as well as handling on his own hook Earl Carroll's "Vanities of '43", "Sarong Girl" and various film shorts. He has also danced in many stage units with Tommy Dorsey, Fred Waring and other leading dance directors.

BILL ROBINSON SAID TO SUE FOR FALSE REPORT ON "STORMY WEATHER"

Upon the return of his attorney, Jerry Geisler, last week, Bill Robinson, internationally famous "king of dancers," allegedly declared that he was ready to sue over a story that appeared in several publications a week ago. The story was to the effect that his all-colored starring vehicle, Fox's "Stormy Weath," would be remade, to exclude him from a romantic role opposite Lena Torne.

Highly indignant over the article, and which the studio hurried to contradict to the Associated Negro Press, Bill had stated that he would enter suit for damages up to $100,000 as soon as Geisler, who was in Washington, D. C., returned. Incidentlly this attorney is the man that forced Hollywood Legion Stadium to break their 15-year color bar and who more recently successfully defended Movie Star Errol Flynn against trumped-up rape charges.

It is not known definitely which publication Robinson plans to sue first, but the story made its initial appearance in New York's P.M. Coast readers did not see it until it appeared on the front page of the Pittsburg Courier April 27. However it also appeared in the New York Amsterdam News and the New York People's Voice. To date it has been seemingly impossible to trace down the actual author of the fallacy, but the majority of the newsfolk here declare that it was written in New York, as have several other recent false stories.

STAGE SHOWS BACK AT LINCOLN

Stage shows coming back to the "Lincoln Theatre" and I mean the good shows with a stage full of pretty girls; an outstanding swing band, headed by Bardu Ali, formerly conductor with the late and great Chick Webb, and his band, with Ella Fitzgerald. Bardu's band will feature our own Avery (After Hours) Parrish, at the piano, also Etta Mason a new find, will thrill you with her sweet singing. The comedy will be handled by those master comedians, Pigmeat' Markham, direct from the Appollo Theatre, in New York City, and Mantan Moreland, the favorite screen comedian, who will also be seen on the screen in his latest all-colored motion picture "One Dark Night." Don't forget all this great show on one prigram, beginning Saturday, April 17th. On the stage "Harlem Scandals," with a cast of 40 great artists, and on the screen the all-colored motion picture "One Dark Night" with Mantan Moreland, Betty Treadwell, Josephine Pearson, Bob Simmons, Lahrence Criner, Ruby Logan, Monte Hawley and the four Tones.

FILM IMPRESSES MONOGRAM HEADS

Monogram officials yesterday looked at "Wild Horse Stampede," first of Producer Robert Hansey's new "Trail Blazers" series bringing together for the first time Hoot Gibson and Ken Maynard as co-stars. Studio heads were so favorably impressed that they announced the immediate start of production on the second story, titled "Ride, Cowboy, Ride." Picture goes before the cameras on April 12, at the Monogram ranch at Newhall.

Philharmonic Symphony Orch. Plays Negro's Swing Composition

On April 1st and 2nd, the Southern California Symphony Association closed a successful season with two "All George Gershwin" concerts. Mr. Paul Whiteman, recently appointed music director for the Blue Network, conducted, and Mr. Edward G. Robinson was narrator.

The George Gershwin favorites were played to a capacity full Philharmonic Auditorium; Concerto in F Major; A medley of Gershwin tunes: "An American in Paris;" "Rhapsody in Blue;" a special dance arrangement of "Lady Be Good," by James Mundy, negro chief arranger for Paul Whiteman orchestra.

Jesus Maria Sansoma was the piona soloist. His brilliant playing and interpretations "stole the show."

The music presented showed George Gershwin as a composer of varied styles and musical form. His compositions range from love ballads, dance tunes, to opera and symphony.

George Gershwin, without a doubt, will be rated by historians as America's greatest composer and another great melodist. He wrote about America. He wrote music that expressed the American life and tempo.

The second half of the concert opened with a "dance" arrangement of "Lady Be Good," by James Mundy. It was unbelievable to see the classic musicians of the famous Philharmonic Orchestra "get hot" and play like "hep cats." Conservatism was thrown to the winds and everybody got in the groove.

The Southern California Symphony Association realized that to exist, it must present more music that the American masses can understand. Mr. Rosecrans, executive chairman, during an intermisison speech, stated that more such concerts styled "fun concerts" of American composers would be presented. A George Gershwin Concert was always a "sell out." George Gershwin realized the value of America's native music, which is the muisc of the Negro. This music, with its moving rhythm, caught his imagination and inspired him to great compositions based on the Negro idiom.

The opera "Porgy and Bess," "Rhapsody in Blue" are fine examples.

Mr. Paul Whiteman realized the value of Gershwin and his music. He popularized his works by giving "All George Gershwin Concerts" all over the country, which were a factor in George Gershwin's great success. Gershwin died a rich man. Mr. Whiteman also realized the value of the Negro's contribution to American music. He has always had in his employ a negro arranger. The now famous composer, William Grant Still was a former arranger of the Paul Whiteman Orchestra.

Mr. James Mundy, in time, will probably develop into another great composer. His music has already changed the musical thinking and policy of the Southern California Symphony Association, which is symbolic of the thinking of musical America. Mr. James Mundy's dance arrangement of the Gershwin tune "Lady Be Good" made the world famous Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra jump. They played it like they liked it. In the language of the street "Brother, it was on the solid side."

AFL BACKS FIGHT TO END BOILERMAKER BIAS

San Francisco, March 29, 1943.—The declaration of William Green last week-end, pledging to throw full strength of the National A. F. of L. behind the fight to abolish discriminatory practices in West Coast Boilermakers Affiliates, marked another milestone in the fight of Negro workers for full integration into the Shipbuilding Industry and for equal union rights.

Ray Thompson, chairman of the Shipyard Workers' Committee Against Racial Discrimination, has issued Green's telegram, made in response to a letter protesting refusal of unions to issue work clearances to Negro welders in the Bay Area.

The statement reads: "American Federation of Labor has repeatedly declared its opposition to discrimination toward workers because of race, creed, color or nationality. For that reason, it is difficult to understand why A. F. of L. unions in your locality will discriminate against Negroes who secure work as welders or in any other capacity in shipbuilding plants. Please tell me what unions are discriminating against Negro workers.

Upon receipt of such information I will take matter up directly with officers of said international union and insist upon non-discrimination policies of A. F. of L. being carried out."—William Green, President, A. F. of L.

The A. F. of L. chieftain's request for names of unions was immediately complied with by wire:

"RE: telegram asking for unions discriminating in this area: Local 513, Boilermakers, 590 Steamfitters, Local 9, Shipfitters." It asserted the War Manpower Commission in San Francisco has additional data.

Sufficient proof of discrimination in other unions not here named is their Jim Crow auxiliaries, of which your office has record.

"We have faith that concrete evidence of your democratic policy will follow. Your example will everywhere strengthen democracy in its fight against tyranny. Our interest continues. Advise if we may be of service."

Members of the committee which sent the original wire to Green for a statement on policy include Al Lewis of the Starr-King School for the Ministry; Brownlee Shirek, president of Laundry Drivers Local 209; J. H. Stevenson, a flanger foreman; Murel Kelsey, Ray Thompson, J. H. Eshelman and R. K. Winters.

IT'S COMING, MEN—BUT FAST!

This column refuses to become bitter over the way the best of the Negro baseballers are being booted around by the major and minor league big-shots. And we'll tell you why.

Whether the baseball biggies realize it or not, there happens to be a war going on and its consequences are going to be far-reaching, so far-reaching in fact that even baseball is going to feel its effects.

This country is geared for war, rationing of everything from edibles to travel is going to bring us all closer together and coming closer together we are going to learn more about our next door neighbor, learn to appreciate his worth, his ambitions, his hopes, his problems.

Wars have a way of doing that, only this time issues, realities have to be faced. Negro soldiers, along with all other fighting men of the United Nations, can't savvy the justice of a situation which on the one hand tells them to fight for the Four Freedoms and on the other denies them the same Freedoms here at home.

Even though the bull is madder than all get out because a few of us have been waving the red flag in front of his eyes so long, all of us had better get in the arena and grab him by the horns if all this is to make sense.

ARMY FOR FRANCIS GARLAND

Long, lean 24-year old Francis Garland, star basketballer, answers the call to arms Thursray (today). He joins a growing list of great athletes in the armed services.

A product of Jefferson High where in 1937 and 1938 he was president of the student body, Garland made the Helms Foundation All-City basketball team at guard in the latter year. In 1939, as a City college student, he was All-Metropolitan league center, and in 1940 when his team won the State crown, he was chosen All-State center, All-So. Calif., All-Metropolitan and was again picked by the Helms Foundation.

Early in 1941, Garland entered UCLA, was forced to give up his educational pursuits and went to Calship where he has been employed and playing basketball in the Bay League (his team finished second this year) up to now.

Best of luck, fellow!

Talking with Turkey Thompson and his manager, Cal Working, before the Bivins-Jones fight Tuesday night and the Turk assured us he'd like nothing better than mixing it up with Bivins, the country's best light heavyweight and No. 1 civilian heavy . . . The Olympic ring overran with fistic greats just before the main mix. Dan Tobey introduced Champion Joe Louis, the Army sarge; Jack Johnson, ex-titleholder who has just been granted a referee's license in this estate, and Charley Burley, among others . . . Bill Robinson attempted to get Louis to dance, but Joe would have no part of the idea . . . Turkey shows April 16 at H'wood against J. J. Johnston's Fiducia . . .

BIVINS WHIPS JONES

Cool and classy Jimmy Bivins, the Clevelander who holds the lightheavyweight championship, and who is regarded as the nation's No. 1 civilian heavy now that champion Joe Louis is in the Army, showed his wares for 9,000 local fight fans Tuesday night at Olympic auditorium, earning a bruising 10-round decision over underdog and confident Watson Jones.

Bivins, however, wasn't overly impressive. It was Jones, a very much despised underdog in the betting, whose showing was surprisingly good.

The Cleveland fighter had things pretty much his way for the first three rounds, using his longer reach and superior boxing ability to good advantage.

Breaks Hand

Midway of the bout, however, it was Jones who came to the front. Mixing freely with his opponent in the clinches, Jones more than held his own, shaking Bivins several times with hard lefts to the body and head.

After the bout it was learned that Jones had broken his left hand. The youngster himself told newspapermen he had suffered the fracture in the fourth and by the sixth he began to favor it.

It was apparent to ringsiders in the seventh that Jones' maulie was usless and in the 9th and 10th heats he was able to do little more than attempt to protect himself.

It was just before the bell ending the bout that Bivins landed a terrific right uppercut which dumped Jones to the canvas for a count of five. The visitor was set to make the kill when the bell rang.

Bivins weighed 179, Jones 172½.

Turns Down Bout

Efforts of a local group to sponsor a Bivins - Turkey Thompson bout for the benefit of Negro servicemen fell through when Claude Shane, Bivins' manager, said that his fighter is tentatively matched to box Lloyd Marshall in Cleveland next month, followed with a New York appearance.

Red Hiebert, 183, decisioned Bob Ford, 184, in the six-round semi-windup. Other results: Acey Haynesworth, 170, nodded Tommy Cornwall, 177; Rufus Brown, 159, a stablemate of Bivins, turned pro and defeated Al Burkhart, 139; and Johnny Armando, 136, technically knocked out Harry Armstrong, 136, at the end of the third stanza of the curtain raiser.

ON THE TURF

By Geo. A. Ramsey

SAN DIEGO, CALIF.—Well it's on again off again, and now they say on again. That's the fate of beautiful Caliente race tract. Eddie Nealis, popular sportsman of Los Angeles, bought the track last week and formed a company and the new track will be named the Caliente Turf Club. Also back of the movement are some of the big Mexican officials. An announcement will be made this week as to the opening day. Some say April 25, or at the latest, May 2.

Caliente was closed in October of last year when Walter Marty said that labor trouble forced him to cancel the meeting after running 50 weeks.

We understand that no books will be on hand for the opening. Mutuels will be the only betting.

Horsemen at Bay Meadows are waiting for the news that will come out of the meeting of the California Racing Commission to be held today at San Francisco. The future of the track will be decided.

The renewal of the sport of kings will get underway on three fronts starting Thursday. Jamaica will open Thursday, while Keeneland and Narragansett will follow Saturday.

Count Fleet's price was cut from two and one-half to one and is now six to five to win the Kentucky Derby which is still about four weeks away. This is the shortest price of any derby candidate ever entered in the blue grass classic.

With Devil's Thumbs out of the race, the winter books layers are taking no chances of a scoop being made on the Count, as it was Devil's Thumbs that they figured would give the Count a battle for the honors.

We are very proud to learn that Eddie (Rochester) Anderson's Burnt Cork, a starter in the derby trial and also in the Kentucky derby, is training fine. The other day the son of Mr. Bones worked six furlongs in 1.15 which was considered good the way he did it. After the work the horse was hardly breathing, and that showed the fine condition he is in.

We are all pulling for Burnt Cork as Eddie has spent quite a sum to get a nice stable together, and this will mark the first time in many years that a race man has an entry in the Kentucky Derby. So let our slogan be, "Come on Burnt Cork."

Well, that's it for the week. Folks the news of the turf. Remember Uncle still needs your extra dollars for U. S. War Stamps and Bonds. So put your hands in your pockets and face to the wall, dig down deep and give nearly all . . . So-long . . . George.

ACE WELTERS TO BOX AT OLYMPIC

Cecil Hudson, who is roaring along like a forest fire, and Carlos Malcara of Mexico, who recently drew with Earl Turner at Oakland, tangle next Tuesday night, April 13, in the attractive 10-round main event at the Olympic.

The welters are fighting for a chance to meet Hurricane Henry Armstrong.

Hudson has been after a match against Armstrong since Henry started his comeback. He has been fighting at top speed in recent months. He is fresh from smashing victories over Jimmy McDaniels and Rodolfo Ramirez at Hollywood Legion Stadium.

Malacara is making his debut at the Olympic. At Oakland the mustached Mexican had fans trading punches in the ring and in the arena after the referee ruled his match with Turner a draw.

Manager Gus Wilson has clippings to show where Malacara had the best of the fighting. Every scribe in the Bay Region gave Carlos the fight.

The senor from Mexico was a riot in Madison Square Garden last year where he beat Billy Marquart, Norman Rubio and kayoed Jimmy Tye. Malacara gained a decision over Juan Zurita in Mexico.

New York writers say Malacara is a larger edition of Bat Battalino, former featherweight king pin, and a good body puncher like the old Farho Express, Billy Petrolle.

The rival welterweights are in training at Willie Orner's Main street gymnasium.

Matchmaker Babe McCoy has a corking set of fights following the Hudson-Malacara battle.

Luther (Slugger) White, rated lightweight ruler by the Maryland Boxing Commission, comes back to box John Thomas April 20 at the Grand Avenue Club.

Thomas is training daily at the Central avenue A. C.

White stopped Vern Bybee, tough Coast Guardsman, in five rounds last Monday night at San Francisco.

Charley Burley of Pittsburgh, Pa., who defeated state middleweight champion Jack Chase, encountres Holman Williams, pupil of Joe Louis, April 27 at the Olympic in a stand out middleweight scrap.

USO Club at Bakersfield Keeps Busy

The past few days have been busy ones for the 19th Street USO Club, Bakersfield, California. Three convoys of 150 men each, from the 45th and 47th Trucking Regiments, Quartermaster from Fort Ord, and Camp Stoneman, Pittsburgh, California, going and coming back through Bakersfield. The weekly dance, adult school for the men of the armed forces, and recreation nights have kept the building full of men, and worked both Junior and Senior Hostesses overtime.

Sunday, March 21, Mrs. Gertrude White, USO-YMCA Buchanan Street, San Francisco, California spoke to 90 Junior Hostesses on Techniques for Junior Hostesses. Most of the Senior Hostesses sat in on the meeting, which was followed by refreshments and games. An enjoyable evening was had by all.

Sunday, March 28, Open House was held, and it marked the 2nd Anniversary of the USO's throughout the United States. It also marked a month and a half of full operation of the 19th Street USO, Bakersfield, California. The building was beautifully decorated with spring flowers, and presented a lovely picture.

The 23rd Aviation Squadron Glee Club, Minter Field, and Sargeant Thomas J. Kincaid of the 974 Quartermaster Platoon, took part in the USO radio program over Station KERN at 3:30 p. m. At 6 p. m. a splendid musical program was rendered at the club to a full and appreciative audience. After which delicious refreshments were served by a committee of Senior Hostesses.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN TO BE SCENE OF FREEDOM RALLY

A demand for a "two-fisted war at home and abroad," affirming the right of every American to full participation in United Nations victory, condemning discrimination against 15,000,000 Negro Americans, will be heard at a tremendous rally in Madison Square Garden, June 7.

Sponsored by civic leaders, trade unionists, legislators, clergymen and a wide group of social organizations, the meeting is initiated by the People's Committee and the Negro Labor Victory Committee and its statement urges the national administration to "put the Four Freedoms into practice" in the United States.

William Green, President of the American Federation of Labor, and Philip Murray, President of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, have been invited to address the meetings. A pageant depicting the struggles of the Negro in America will be presented.

A portion of the statement of the sponsors follows:

We, the undersigned, condemn the shameful practices of discrimination against 15,000,000 Negro Americans as a violation of their just, democratic rights, as an aid to Hitler, as a deadly obstacle to the invincible unity which alone can lead to victory.

We recognize in the anti-Negro forces the same vicious elements which would destroy labor's gains and thereby make impotent one of the most vital forces for victory. Trade Unions and the Negro people join hands in their determined fight to take their rightful place in the victory program of our country.

The necessity of integrating every section of our citizenry in the titanic struggle ahead is imperative and a prerequisite for speedy victory. The denial to 15 million American Negro citizens of their rightful place in the war effort is an undemocratic luxury which our country can no longer afford. We affirm the right of every American to full and equal participation in his government's war against the Axis. If our country is to be the example to millions of colonial peoples now yoked with oppression, and also denied equal participation in this peoples war, it must put these four freedoms in practice in the United States as a guarantee of freedom for these millions.

The NEWS REEL

Many a stomach is in for a period of serious re-adjustment, now that meat and butter have been put on the "Easy, Brother!" list. The only person who will have more meat than he can eat, is the confirmed vegetarian. About the only thing that is not rationed in the butcher shops is the butcher's thumb. Meat has been so scarce in Hollywood for so long that Oliver Hardy says a lot of the "glammer folks" have been eating dog meat and it's affected them so much they even chase cats up trees. You can't make a silk purse out of a sow's ears—but the govt. suggests you make a meal out of pig's ears. Number one song on the hit parade will probably be "Till We Meat Again."

A headline reads, "Ray Film Quota Set for Movies". Phewinsakes, I thought they were not allowed to make that kind.

Well, I'll let Hollywood take care of the movies and stick to my own line. For the best liquors, wines and beer on all-around selection of fine Central Avenue — you can't beat the supply at the House If you're in the market for of Morgan, 2729 Central Ave. really good liquors at reasonable cost—chances are we have exactly what you want. Discrimination In Coast League Baseball

Racial discrimination in Coast League baseball was protested this week by the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors in action strongly advocated by Supervisor Gordon L. McDonbugh, chairman of the board.

Unanimous approval of the Board was given to the order expressing the opposition of the Supervisors to any and all discrimination in organized baseball.

Declared Supervisor McDonbugh regarding the action:

"I hope that this official action of the County Board will not only deter but also eliminate all attempts of discrimination in in baseball. The Board of Supervisors believes that all men and women should be permitted to engage in lawful pursuits and open competition, and any effort to keep American people from such competition should have the strong opposition of all people.

"It is desirable that baseball be continued as the major sport of America and certainly no effort should be made to keep Negro players out of spring training camps. Many Negro athletes; for example, Joe Lewis, Jesse Owens and others made commendable names and records for themselves and this country. They are accepted today but their record would never have been made had they been discriminatd against at the start of their careers."

Halley Harding, together with Herman Hill of the Pittsburgh Courier, Chet Brewer, ace ball player, and others, appeared before the Board of Supervisors to speak against discrimination practices.

Wills, who was known in the old days as "The Black Panther," gained fame because of his many challenges to Jack Dempsey which went unanswered. The two never met in the squared circle

Fine Cooperation At Inter-Racial U.S.O.

The Eagle Editor is in receipt of a very refreshing letter from Mr. Ben Ellison, Director of the Inter-racial U.S.O. at Sacramento, which is setting a record for doing the thing that many people thought "impossible."

Mr. Ellison reports that the center has been in operation for some ten months, now, without incident. This center serving enlisted personnel of all races, creeds and colors has 170 people representing inter-agency, interfaith and inter-racial groups serving as volunteer personnel. They have worked together in perfect cooperation and harmony providing an all-out welcome atmosphere of democracy in action for the soldiers attending this Center. There are some 35 canteen groups including religious, fraternal and club organizations who have served the soldiers. These people represent many nationalities, including Persians, Greeks, Scottish, Jewish, Negro and white Americans and has been well attended by soldiers of all groups. According to Mr. Ellison, the attendance has averaged 54% white; 34% Negro; 12% Indians and others, and has proven conclusively that no matter what part of the country men may come from, if they can find a community where there is a determined effort to make all men feel welcome as good American citizens, the harmonious environment is bound to get good results. With the constant migration of masses of people in military and labor units moving from one part of our country to the other, this is not time for any particular group to be isolated and frozen out because of prejudice or any other reason. "If we are to win this war," states Mr. Ellison, "the Negro, along with other loyal American citizens, must be granted his full citizenship responsibility as an equal unit of the thousand million peoples of our United Nations fighting for peace."

The Center, which is located just two blocks from the State Capitol Building, has had the complete support of the civic, lay and church groups, and it has truly been a wonderful experience to see so many good Americans gathered together in one place in a determined effort to serve the soldiers of our nation without regard to race, creed or color.

Gems of Thought

CHEERFULNESS

What sunshine is to flowers, smiles are to humanity. They are but trifles, to be sure; but, scattered along life's pathway, the good they do is inconceivable.—Addison.

The highest wisdom is continued cheerfulness: such a state, like the region above the moon, is always clear and serene.—Montaigne.

The mind that is cheerful at present will have no solicitude for the future, and will meet the bitter occurrences of life with a smile.—Horace.

Happy are the people whose God is All-in-all, who ask only to be judged according to their works, who live to love.—Mary Baker Eddy.

Cheerfulness is a friend to grace; it puts the heart in tune to praise God, and so honors religion by proclaiming to the world that we serve a good master.—Be serious, yet cheerful.—Thomas Watson.

Always look out for the sunlight the Lord sends into your days.—Hope Campbell.

NEW BOOK TO BE PUBLISHED APRIL 21

On April 21, Little, Brown & Co. will publish Carey McWilliams' new book, "Brothers Under the Skin" ($3.00). Mr. McWilliams writes with the same carefully documented hard-hitting prose which he used in "Factories in the Field" and "Ill Fares the Land." He traces the past history of our discrimination against the Negro, Indian, Mexican, Japanese, Chinese, Hawaiian, Puerto Rican and Filipino, and relates this situation to the war effort and the peacetime world.

Mr. McWilliams has never championed the underdog more brilliantly than he does in this book. As long as we withhold from 13,000,000 Americans the full rights and privileges and social equalities of American citizenship, we cannot carry our full weight in the councils of democratic peoples of all countries after the war. Carey McWilliams indicates concretely a possible government procedure which could help eradicate the problem.

ork. However, on both of these bjects we feel you have not ne far enough.

First, on the subject of wage creases. When the Council was scussing the increase which it nally voted, effective January this year, we reminded that norable Body that aside from e necessary wage increases, the ty has a moral obligation to store the wages of some 1700 ty employees to the 1931 rates. he Council agreed, indicating at the restoration would be ckled after the raise was voted. nd, as a matter of fact, in the dinance (87,226) providing for e raise, Section 4 states, "The rovisions of this ordinance shall pply to the rates of salary or ages as they are now fixed by dinance, and also to such rates salary or wages as may here- fter be fixed by any ordinance nacted for the declared purpose restoring base pay to a par- cular level of salaries or wages ffective during any period of me subsequent to January 1, 931."

Restoration—As we have said, he City has a moral obligation o these workers, the majority f whom are among the lowest aid on the City payroll. The ity Council has given lip-service o this moral obligation by un- nimously assenting to the res- oration, but has in fact buried he matter in that graveyard of he hopes of low paid City work- rs—the Bureau of Budget and Efficiency. We are particularly concerned with these low paid workers and more especially with those we represent. We are asking restoration for the fol- lowing classifications in the amounts indicated.

Code	Title	Monthly Rate Dec.1942	Monthly Amt. Rate of 1931	Increase
8471(n)	Janitor ...	$120.00	$125.00	$5.00
8471(t)	Window Cleaner	130.00	135.00	5.00
8471¼(m)	Crew Foreman	137.00	140.00	3.00
8471¼(n)	Crew Foreman	130.00	140.00	10.00
8582(s)	Motor Truck Driver (Small)	135.00	143.00	8.00
8582(s)-N	Motor Truck Driver (Small) (Night)	140.00	143.50	3.50
8582½	Motor Sweeper Operator	161.15	162.50	1.35
L-1	Unskilled Laborer	120.00	123.50	3.50
L-2	Unskilled Laborer	125.00	130.00	5.00
L-2-N	Unskilled Laborer (Night).	130.00	136.50	6.50
L-3	Unskilled Laborer	130.00	136.50	6.50

Our contention is that the City should raise the pay of the above classifications by the amounts indicated in the right hand column in addition to the raise voted in January, 1943. This restoration raise finds justification under Federal Wage Stabilization procedures "to correct maladjustments, inequalities and gross inequities."

The record shows that 1670 positions (all but 80, full time), had not been restored to 1931 rates as of December, 1942, out of total number of City employees (12-31-42) of 16,633. Of this 1670, restoration to 1931 levels would bring 1573 to less than $200 per month at a total cost to the City of $7339.76 per month or $88,077.12 for the year.

Of the 1670 positions mentioned above, 1401 are Janitors, Window Washers, Motor Truck Drivers and Unskilled Laborers—among the lowest paid of all City workers.

In other words, the raise voted by the City Council effective January 12, 1943 for 14,963 City employees was based on salaries which had been completely restored to the 1931 rates, but 1670 positions had not, at that time, been restored and were thus unfairly treated in relation to the others.

The $20 increases for lower paid workers—Our position is that $20 is not enough. First of all, it is hardly correct to speak of it as a raise, because even with the $20 the real wages of the City worker, translated into what he can turn into food, clothing and lodging, is far below 1939.

Since January, 1941, according to the U. S. Department of Labor, food costs in Los Angeles have gone up over 40% and over-all living costs are up almost 24%. The worker must now pay much more income tax; he must pay a victory tax; he must work harder to take up the slack of a reduced staff. All of these things he is glad to do. We are not asking the City to bear this burden for him. All we are asking is that wages rise approximately as much as, and follow as closely as possible, the increase in the cost of living. This, we believe, is the intent of Federal Wage Stabilization procedures.

The so-called Little Steel Formula followed by the War Labor Board, allows American workers 15% cost of living increase over the January, 1941 rates. The $20 raise voted by the City Council approximates 15% for those workers earning less than $200 per month. But since the Little Steel Formula was ennunciated, living costs in Los Angeles, according to the U. S. Department of Labor, have gone up another 7%. We would prefer that living costs be held down, but since they are not, we must ask that wages be kept up to living costs. Therefore, we ask, not only that the $20 raise be retained in the budget, but that another $10 be added to the salaries of those workers receiving less than $300 per month.

On cash pay for overtime—We do not want to work overtime. When it is necessary, however, we are willing to do it. When we do work overtime, we should be compensated just as are workers in private industry.

The City Charter provides that the City shall pay "at least the prevailing rate." The prevailing rate for overtime work is time and one-half cash. This is recognized in Federal Law and by the War Labor Board. We are not second class citizens. We are entitled to the same consideration.

The reasons for premium pay for overtime work are sound aside from the above consideration. The necessity to pay premium rates makes management try harder to eliminate overtime. If a worker is called upon to disrupt his normal habits, stay on the job later, perhaps buy a meal away from home, possibly come to work the sixth day—he should receive extra compensation.

Overtime work at straight time is a threat to the five-day work week which we have fought so hard to achieve. Once we let down the bars, it may be very difficult to get it back again. A case in point is the wage cuts voluntarily taken by City workers in 1931 with the pledge that the cuts would be restored—on that we are still fighting.

In summary, then, we are asking you to include in your budget for 1943-44 provision for:

1—Complete restoration to the 1931 rates for those not restored by December, 1942.

2—Retention of the January, 1943 raise, plus an additional $10 for those now receiving less than $300 per month.

3—Time and one-half cash pay for overtime work.

Yours very truly,

POST OFFICE FACTS

UFWA Local 191, CIO
By Paul L. Hackett, Sr.

Two thousand years ago they crucified Jesus Christ for telling the truth. Today thousands of men, black and white, are dying to give to the world the "Four Freedoms," one of the most important being the right to speak the truth at all times. Without "Freedom of Fear," how can men freely express their beliefs. Is this the "American way of life," which President Roosevelt speaks of that men will commit perjury for the sake of their job? Can men continue to sell their brothers out and ask the blessings of God in doing so? If this is to be the "American Way of Life," then God help America.

All Negroes appreciate the fact that from a standpoint of numbers the Los Angeles Post Office is the bright spot in the United States. Negroes also are justly proud over the fact that this fact is due to the high percentages made in examinations. Our Postmaster is to be commended for her unbiased selection of post office employees.

Too often there is a feeling that Negroes are and should be content by being hired as maids, cooks, and janitors. It is very gratifying to have an employer express his appreciation for your efforts. The greatest exemplification of your esteem of an employee is shown by the opportunities given to advance.

When one looks around the Terminal and finds there are around four hundred Negroes employed there, some with nearly thirty years service, and not a foreman among them it makes you wonder. We know there are doctors, lawyers, letter men, and what have you. Among all of these men is there not one of them capable of being a supervisor? Could it be that no Negro has ever asked for a foreman job. We can truthfully say that no one in the department stops you for asking for anything so it is no harm to ask.

When you hear from us again we hope it will be from Washington, D. C. While we are there we hope to learn more about the "Four Freedoms."

Men have been trying to suppress the truth for years but somehow it has a way of getting out.

Long Beach Judge

turned over to the Superior Court.

Judge DeVries, however, made the following statement, in a calm and thoughtful manner: "I can't help but feel, gentlemen, that the behavior of these young white men, as shown by the testimony in my court, is the behavior and conduct of men who lack good breeding and culture. It is so contrary to American ideals and so foreign to the American way of life that they invited the assault with which this defendant is charged. If these young white men had attended to their business as the defendant, who is a colored man attended to his, the defendant would not be in court today." Then turning to the defendant, he stated: "Mr. Nelson, I want to apologize to you for my race when some of its members accost and curse you as recited in my court today. I apologize because I am mindful that such persons as Booker T. Washington, Marian Anderson and Dr. George W. Carver, of your race, did so much for mine. This case is dismissed."

Such actions, unsolicited, on behalf of our white friends in places of authority, should not go unrecognized. We should do everything in our power to see that such men as Judge Martin DeVries, who are not afraid to speak the truth and make fair decision, regardless to the color of a man's skin, are promoted to higher positions in our public life and in our government.

Auto Club Favors Bills Postponing License Renewals

Geared to coincide with the wartime order for all-out conservation of tires and gasoline and at the same time tend to eliminate absenteeism in defense plants, two State Assembly bills which would postpone renewal of drivers' licenses have gained the approval of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

A.B. 1010 proposes that current operator licenses shall not expire until six months after the war period, while A.B. 1125 would extend the life-span of licenses from four to six years, except in cases where the appliant may have any physical or mental infirmity.

"Both of these bills are aimed towards the same goal—elimination of virtually needless automobile trips to renewal centers," J. Allen Davis, chief counsel for the Automobile Club, declared, adding further that "for war workers, the present renewal plan no doubt would require taking time off from the production line."

Favorable recommendation to both proposals has been voted by the Assembly Committee on Motor Vehicles.

Through the legislative sessions to date, the Automobile Club has filed protests against three bills, all proposing an increase in the state gasoline tax. These bills, now before the Assembly Committee on Revenue and Taxation, call for a 1-cent boost, from the present 3-cent assessment per gallon to the proposed 4-cent fee.

From all indications, the state legislature does not look with approval on the creation of a state highway speed limit of 35 miles an hour in lieu of the 55 m.p.h. limit, Davis stated this week upon his return from Sacramento.

ASSOCIATED NEGRO PRESS GETS IN ONE QUESTION TO MADAM CHIANG

"How important do you consider the part the darker races are playing in the winning of the war?" was question No. 1, prepared by Harry Levette, Eagle drama editor and representative of the Associated Negro Press, to be asked Madam Chiang Kai-shek, at the eagerly awaited press conference granted accredited newsmen and women of all races at the Ambassador hotel Friday, April 2. But the calm little wife of the generalissimo of China, revealed by her answer that she had been well coached by her American counselors, as to the avoidance of controversial subjects, for her answer was "I think I have made myself clear, in many interviews throughout the country as to the part the darker races are playing in this world." The question had been read by C. Townsend Tucker, serving as assistant to the A. N. P. representative.

Exciting Incident Prevents Second Question

"What do you think of the opinion expressed in some quarters here, that the American press has too much freedom, and have you had an opportunity to notice the all-out effort the Negro papers are making in the war effort?" was to be question No. 2. But it was never asked. The pointed poll-tx query by Editor Bass, so important to the race, created a flurry of excitement and caused the director of the conference to call upon China's Vice Minister of Information, Tong, to bring the discussion to a close.

for the invading forces of the United Nations depends upon our supply of planes and ships and guns. We, free men and women of a free, though imperfect society, are set against the slave labor and the all-out Fascist control of Europe's great industrial works.

This mass action is the climax of a conference called to view especially one aspect of the immense production required by our city, the employment in defense industry of the Negro minority group.

It has been determined by this conference that practices of racial discrimination are still seriously hampering the manufacture of airplanes and the construction of ships in Los Angeles. To hamper this production is to toy with defeat, to endanger the lives of our men at the front.

At many aircraft plants, several cases of Negro women discharged for little or no reason have been investigated and the facts of racial bias proved.

Particularly offensive — and suicidal, in view of the nation's pressing manpower needs—has been the performance of North American company, which has fostered racial friction, attempting to establish whole segregated departments of production.

Throughout all Southern California war industry upgrading of qualified Negro workers, as well as members of other minorities, has been prevented and thus valuable skills and contributions to the war effort denied.

In the AFL Boilermakers' Union covering California shipyards, Consolidated Shipyards and the Western Pipe and Steel Company, Negroes are railroaded into a Jim-Crow branch, are refused transfers to skilled positions. The result of this policy of "Aryan blood only" is doubly destructive to production and morale, aside from being an obvious violation of the principles for which this war is fought.

The AFL Machinists' Union bars membership to Negroes at Lockheed Aircraft plant and its Marine division absolutely prevents the employment of Negro Marine Machinists, despite shipyard company's urgent demand for these workers.

With rail lines crowded to overflowing because of an acute manpower shortage, the Los Angeles Railway Company has refused to employ Negro conductors and motormen even after having trained them.

We say that these situations are unjust. They are undemocratic. They react disastrously upon our colored allies the world over. But the decisive issue here involved, that which raises an iron demand for the immediate solution of these problems, is the tremendous production required of our city.

Practices of racial prejudice cannot be permitted to threaten the fate of this nation or the lives of its soldiers. Screws and nuts and bolts are blissfully unaware of the racial background of those who fashion them into weapons of warfare. That the production of these weapons is continued and expanded ranks as the only decisive question.

To the church, to labor, to rank-and-file citizenry, we must look for concrete, effective action.

A war to destroy the anti-Christ Hitler is one demanding the utmost support of every Christian. Through its vast organization, the churches of our city are duty-bound to bring the message of national unity for full production into the hearts of our war working congregations.

A war to destroy the existence of all trade unionism—that is the battle-standard of our Fascist enemies. Labor, upon whose leadership is fastened the hope of our nation, must strike boldly at those remnants of race-hatred still found in such documents as the lily-white constitution of the International Association of Machinists.

May I emphasize that no state of mind will solve these problems. They are concrete, and they demand concrete action. Persons who console themselves that they, personally, have no racial prejudices are in the position of a soldier who, personally, dislikes the enemy, yet refuses to attack him. Every white and Negro worker at Lockheed Aircraft Company must join in a full-throated demand for the end of the lily-white clause in the Machinists' constitution. Every Negro and white churchgoer must ask of his congregation definite action in protest against the manpower policy of the Los Angeles Railway Company. Every white and Negro shipyard worker must join to end the stupidly destructive Jim-Crow policy of the Boilermakers' Union.

We must distribute handbills; we must write petitions; we must send letters and telegrams; we must understand that the workers in Los Angeles fresh from the South have brought with them a prejudice enforced by the state and the schools of their places of former residence. We must educate these workers in the all-out demands of this people's war and enlist them on the side of the patriotic, progressive and Christian elements of this community.

Speaking directly for the Negro people, may I state that we oppose that black power of evil embodied in the Fascist Axis with all our hearts, that we will join with every other American to wipe that foul system off the face of the earth, that our whole souls are dedicated to the destruction of that contemptible theory, enunciated by Hitler, that we as Negroes are a half-ape, subhuman breed.

We solemnly declare that we will strike from our hands every shackle binding us from the fullest participation in the struggle to destroy the nation's enemies. Submission to industrial discrimination is sabotage of the war effort—and sabotage we will not commit!

Here is our city: A hundred factories for freedom, endless assembly lines; shipyards where bleak and empty marshlands existed less than two years ago; homes and industrial plants bound together by overcrowded rails of a vast transportation system; hundreds of thousands of workers, men and women who short years ago graced the breadlines of a destitute nation—Texans, Oklahomans, New Yorkers, women, Negroes, Mexicans, the aged—an avenging host challenged to the achievement of such boundless production as has never been seen in all the history of the world. Here in our city the raw material of victory is transformed into armadas that shall infest the sea and the skies wherever the war against Fascism is waged.

Utmost unity, sweeping every figment of prejudice-as-usual and division-as-usual from the paths of triumphant production, is the clear demand of this heroic hour!

Mrs. Florence A. L. Gordon, wife of Los Angeles' oldest Negro preacher, in point of service, departed this life, Monday evening, April 5th at her late home. Funeral will be from the Second Baptist Church, Monday, at 1:30 p. m. She was prominent socially and religiously, being an active member of the Ministers Wives' Alliance.

LOCAL RATION BOARD URGES CAR SHARING

The local War Price and Rationing Board will place increased emphasis on car sharing in considering applications for "B" and "C" gasoline rations beginning March 22, B. B. Bratton, Chairman of the Board, announced today.

His statement followed receipt of a letter from OPA mileage rationing officials pointing out that if passenger car mileage is to be reduced to the 5,000-mile-a-year average recommended by the Baruch Committee, "ride sharing must be made a universal practice." Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown last week appealed for full cooperation in the renewed car sharing program.

"Car sharing has been a requirement for obtaining supplemental rations to drive to and from work since the inception of mileage rationing," said Mr. Bratton. "The newly launched program, to be conducted jointly by the Office of Price Administration and the Office of Civilian Defense, was designed, merely, to give impetus to the ride-sharing movement. OCD, through its Local Defense Councils, will help people form car clubs in each community. OPT through its rationing boards and mileage rationing plan, will provide the gasoline rations to keep car clubs running.

"In fulfilling its part of the program, the local rationing board has been asked to insist, beginning March 22, that applicants for "B" and "C" ration books for travel to and from work belong to a full ride-sharing club. This means an arrangement for carrying 3, or more, other persons regularly to and from work.

"If such arrangements have not been made, the applicant will be expected to produce evidence that alternative means of transportation are not available, and that he is sharing his car with as many people as is possible.

The letter from OPA urged rationing board officials to work closely with local Defense Councils in developing car sharing plans. Wherever possible persons who have not formed a full car club will be referred to the OCD Council for assistance.

"Many people who have believed it impossible to join a car club will find it easier than they think," said Mr. Bratton. "Some who have been driving to work alone, could save many miles of tire wear on their car by sacrificing just a little convenience.

"Unless severe hardship would result, a slight difference in starting or quitting time should not be regarded as a valid excuse for not joining a car club," Mr. Bratton declared. "Persons who cannot find full-time ride-sharers may still be able to give some other rider a lift three or four days each week, or riders who can share the car at least part way may be found, the letter states.

"Those who find forming a club difficult because of unusual, or irregular working hours, may find facilities of the OCD Defense Council especially helpful.

Mrs. Lewis was the successful candidate in our Special Fund effort and is known as Miss Victory. The following neighbors also served as contestants and made excellent reports. Neighbors, Annette Green, Mabel Horst, Marie Johnson, Thelma James, Ella Browning, Queen Esta Stringer, Myrtle Terrell. The Deputy, Officers and members are very grateful to all who helped to make the affair the success it was.

The contest closed with a fine social function at the meeting place of the association, 1209½ S. Central avenue, a large group of neighbors and friends filled the hall to witness the program, and to enjoy the repast. The program was brief but interesting. We are grateful to all of the participants, and we do want to make special mention of our guest artist, Mrs. Geraldine Markman who gave a very interesting number. The social hour which began at 10 p. m., was under the auspices of the Social Club, Mr. Norris J. Stokes, president. Good music was much in evidence, and the hour was filled with action. The menu consisted of turkey salad, potato chips, olives, cheese sandwiches, cookies and hot coffee. The names of the members of the committee that handled this end of the affair are as follows: Mrs. Annette Green, Myrtle Terrell, and Mrs. Pennie Gwouch. Mr. Johnnie Weaver, clerk of Los Angeles Camp No. 1, was purchasing agent and carried his work on in keeping with the general idea of the program.

The deputy wishes to express appreciation to all of the neighbors and friends for what assistantance was give by each and every one.

The officers and members turned immediately to the Every Camp and Every Tent Membership Increase program. We expect to be busy for the next three months. Neighbors King Sapp, the veteran worker and leader in this kind of effort, is meeting stiff opposition from Mrs. Aza Lea Thompson, Commanders E. L. Sneed and Rev. C. Allen Hemphill.

CAPTAIN JAMES R. C. PINN

Chaplain James R. C. Pinn of Washington, D. C., went to Liberia in May, 1942, with a regiment of Negro Engineers, the first American troops to go to Africa. Now back in this country on a new assignment, he reports that the troops made the trip safely, but not without incident. For the first week of the three weeks voyage, destination was unknown, but eight "alerts" were signalled, during which times the men, who constantly wore life belts, went immediately to their life boat stations. One "alert" was signalled at 12:30 a. m., at which time the lookout reported that a torpedo had just missed the stern of the ship.

The general activities of the chaplain on board ship included talks with groups of the men and daily visits to the hospital, there being ten to twenty men in it at all times. Hospital care was provided by a Medical Detachment having in its complement, a staff of twelve Negro and three white doctors, who, Chaplain Pinn said, did excellent work. Besides his visits and talks, the chaplain also helped work up recreation programs for each evening's entertainment. These took place in the mess hall, which held 700 or 800 men. The men originated their own "Talent Night" programs with jam sessions, using the swing band, skits, jokes and other variety numbers.

A feature arranged by the chaplain was orientation lectures on the people and customs of the country to which the men were enruote. These were conducted by Major William D. Nabors of Orange, N. J., who was a trooper with the 10th Cavalry when it served in Mexico. He later was attached to the 366th Infantry and served as regimental patrol officer in France in the Dorld War. After that war, he was made a member of the American Military Mission to Liberia under Colonel Charles Young of the United States Army. He served on this mission from 1919 to 1924 and during the last two years of this period was major and commandant of the Liberian Military Forces which Colonel Young had organized. When America entered the present conflict, he was recalled by the War Department, was recommissioned as a captain, and now has risen to the grade of major.

The chaplain's regular Sunday servicesdrew 100 percent attendservices drew 100 percent attended, it was his custom to stand on the bridge of the troopship and talk to the men seated on deck below. The first service was held in Bermuda, the second in Mid-Atlantic and the third in Freetown, West Africa, birthplace of S. Coleridge Taylor, well-known Negro musician and composer. At the services, the regimental band accompanied the men in their hymn singing. Singing at all times was a favorite diversion with this regiment, known in the Army as the "Singing Engineers." The chaplain said they sang their best on this trip.

The regiment is a construction unit and their job was to build installations connected with the already partly completed air base, the land for which had been given to the United States by the Liberian government. When the regiment landed, the rainy season had already started and it continued to rain through the entire construction period, twenty-four hours a day every day in the three months that the heaviest building was going on.

"However," the chaplain said, "in spite of this, the men pitched into their task and finished in five months, a job which the experts said would take six."

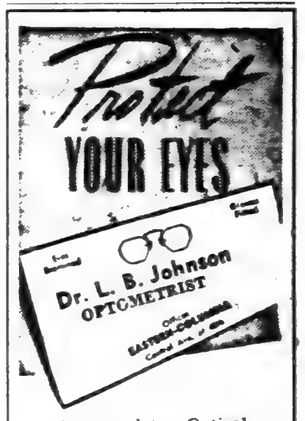
Besides administration buildings, barracks, etc., the men built their own recreation hall, theater and hospital. Until then, they were hospitalized in tents and prefabricated huts and the chaplain travelled about from one group to another, conducting brief services which the men stopped work long enough to attend. On Sundays, he would conduct ten or fifteen services during the day.

The first three months of construction were the hardest and the men had little time or energy left for evening recreation, but as construction advanced and the threater, holding 1000 men, was completed, night recreation once more came into being. A favorite source of entertainment was the singing and dancing of the natives. Their songs, sung in monotonous five-tone scale, bore little relation to American spirituals so popular here, but students of swing and jive professed to see the origins of present day "rug cutting" in their dance rythms. Besides the native entertainment, there were movies, brought over on the boat, and concerts at which the program ranged from the classics to swing.

The native food consists principally of rice, fish, palm oil and casaba, which is a type of potato. The soldiers, however, stuck pretty steadily to their own rations, brought with them from home. At Thanksgiving and Christmas, planes few in enough turkeys to provide each man in the outfit with a turkey dinner.

After November, the construction work was completed and the men were idle, which the chaplain said, made them homesick. The rainy season over, an athletic field was completed and games such as volleyball, baseball, handball, etc. were arranged.

"Before my return," said Chaplain Pinn, "the gngineers gave several concerts, one at the College of West Africa in Monrovia, capitol of Liberia, at which I assisted, as I used to be a concert pianist before I entered the chaplaincy. At these concerts we played classical pieces as well as spirituals, especially arranged for band accompaniment by Sergeant Simon from Washington, D. C." The chaplain said that Liberian audiences are no strangers to the singing of spirituals. All Liberians who have attended Mission Schools, sing them and have created many of their own. The songs are loved also by the backwoods natives who have not been able to get to the schools.



Some of the Missions did a great deal for the entertainment of the soldiers, one especially, a Lutheran Mission, directed by the Reverend George Parker and a Mrs. Miller, once from New Jersey and Ohio respectively, but who have spent the last twenty years in Liberia. This Mission frequently entertained the men, providing them with a change of food and very welcome it was, according to the chaplain, after their battle with the rain and mud.

TOWN AND GOWN FETED

Marie Stewart was hostess to the Town and Gown Club on Sunday, March 28. The affair was one of the smartest of the spring season. A Saint Patrick decor was used throughout. Mah-Jong and bridge were enjoyed by Mesdames Verechia Lockhart, Lila Bly, Marion Banks, Bessie Harris, Teretha Wallace, Katherine Snow, Lovey Johnson, and Hazel Clemons, who gave the group their first glimpse of Herman J. Clemons, II. He proved to be lion of the hour at his very first public appearance.

Mrs. Stewart again upheld her reputation as a culinary artist with everyone on departure declaring that the afternoon had been more than just pleasantly spent.

"METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER'S" The LION'S ROAR

Published in this space every week — The greatest star of the screen!

Playing at the Astor Theatre, the motion picture showcase of Broadway, is a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film that has a big title—"The Human Comedy."

★ ★ ★ ★

It's about people—real people—human people—American people—all people.

★ ★ ★ ★

Involved are adventure, romance, feeling, beauty, decency, understanding and all the words like that in the dictionary.

★ ★ ★ ★

Walter Winchell calls it "A Show Stopper" and Time Magazine states: "Immensely moving. Electric with the joy of life. It may well be the most talked-about movie of 1943."

★ ★ ★ ★

Clarence Brown produced and directed the film with loving care. Mickey Rooney gives an artist's performance as Homer Macauley, the messenger boy. Frank Morgan as Willie Grogan, the telegraph operator, is perfection itself.

★ ★ ★ ★

One could tell about the entire cast; tell about every single episode in the film. It's that interesting and true.

★ ★ ★ ★

May we suggest that you write this column a letter after you've seen the picture.

★ ★ ★ ★

Someone once criticized the films for not giving the true picture of the best side of American life. We'd like to hear from that chap after he sees "The Human Comedy."

We laughed—we cried—we cheered.

Even a lion is human.

—Leo

PUBLIC TRANSPORTATION NEEDS YOUR CO-OPERATION

The first and foremost job of the Los Angeles Railway is to get the war workers to and from the factories. We realized this some months ago and since that time have bent every effort to meet the condition.

However, so that the available equipment may be put to the best use to help win the war, we must have the cooperation of riders in the matter of when they ride and how often they use the cars and coaches during the hours in which the workers are required to use the service.

We would be well able to care for all traffic were we not faced with a labor shortage because so many of our former employes have entered the armed services or have shifted to other essential industries.

The equipment is available, but the manpower is lacking. You can help by calling this advertisement to the attention of any man or woman who wishes to take part in helping in the war effort.

Applications are being taken from 8:30 to 4:00 Monday through Friday at 1056 South Broadway

. Townsend Tucker, Founder and President, Delivers Third Annual Address.

ubject: America's Great Women and Civilization. The text of the speech is as follows:

There are times when the dig-ity of the occasion and the sa-redness of the purpose empha-ize our insignificance to do jus-ice to our innermost feelings. When I pull back the curtain of ime and review the history of ur great women of America, hich we are tonight commemo-ating, I am thankful of the ods "that be" for having in our idst this night one of the great omen that is now making his-ory and is an example of the merican woman, whose para-nount "Virtues" are Loyalty and atriotism. This woman—Lau-a Slayton, the mistress of cere-monies.

We come tonight to pay tribute o the Cultural History of our Nation. War means Progress if we persevere or fight for Truth and Righteousness.

Civilization was born in an "Ox Stall," just 1943 years ago in Bethlehem of Judea, but that civilization slept or nodded for 1800 years until American wom-anhood revitalized and started into practice the kind of teach-ings that makes for Democracy.

This revolution started with the sweet singing and Divinely inspired poetess, Philys Whitley, who sang praises to our first President of these United States, the Honorable George Washing-ton.

Then came the immortal Lu-cretia Mott, the champion of all women, who led the greatest bat-tle ever waged in the world. Not a shot was fired, but that the battle was won is evident, for to-day you have the right of suf-frage. History could not record the activities of Eleanor Roose-velt were it not for Lucretia Mott.

The evolution of civilization is a growth and not a creation.

The immortal Howe, one of the world's greatest women, set the world on fire with her songs and have kept them singing and fired with patriotism through her in-spiring "Battle Hymn of the Re-public." Though her skin was dark, she had the soul of an Angel, the courage of Joan de Arc and the patience of a Por-tia.

There was Harriet Beecher Stowe, whose heart bled for the atrocities heaped upon her black brothers in slavery, and when she could no longer stand these atrocities she dipped her pen in the life blood that flowed from these broken and bleeding hearts and wrote on the pages of in-famy the blackest blot upon American history. She gave to the world "Uncle Tom's Cabin," slavery in all of its heinousness, that paved the way for Lloyd Garrison and Frederick Douglas to put over their "Anti-Slavery Society" program.

And now, the climax, the greatest of all women—the American Angel—born in the Deep South—her spirit pleads with the South today saying: Take down your signs from your hearts and buildings and accept all men as brothers. Her spirit and the spirit of thousands of others is pleading to the Allied Nations to "Treat the Black Sol-dier, not as black men, not as white men, but as real men—fighting for a just cause, lead-ing to one common end—VIC-TORY."

We speak of a Southern Angel that was white all the way through, and individual whose spirit guides and beckons me on. She gave up all for truth and justice. She pleads and begs to-day for the support of the wo-men of this generation to lend a helping hand for the purpose of stamping out the world's Public Enemy No. 1—racial prejudice and discrimination. On land, on sea and in the air, prejudice is sin.

This Angel would say to the governors of every state: "Write a proclamation and end forever the great sin of the ages. The South as well as the North can thrive without prejudice. The daughter of a great Southern judge; a handmaiden of the Lord, Angelica Grimke. Amen.

Defense Council Urges Fire Protection

San Francisco, April, 1943:—Incorporation of private fire bri-gades into the protective services of local defense councils was urged today by the State Coun-cil of Defense.

Many industrial and business houses throughout the state have their own fire-fighting squads, the state defense body stated, and in order to strengthen the over-all civilian defense structure, local defense councils should endeavor to have all members of private fire brigades qualify as auxiliary fireman.

As auxiliary firemen, the bri-gades could be used, not only in the plant where they work while at their jobs, but their services could also be utilized by their communities while "off shift" in time of emergency.

Correlation of all public and private fire protection activities should be undertaken by the local defense council's chief fire officer, the Council recommend-ed, requesting at the same time that an immediate registration of all private firemen be made by the volunteer offices of county and city defense councils.

"Edwards and His Visit To Berlin Germany"

By Charles Edwards
(An Exclusive California Eagle Serial)
HITLER SPEAKS!

The California Eagle takes sin-cere pride in presenting the first public presentation of the mis-sion fulfilled by America's num-ber one youth leader, Charles Edwards, on his "Assignment to Berlin." What has gone on be-fore Mr. Edwards recalled your memory to December, 1941, when war was declared. He now at-tempts to expose the facts of why. He recalled his dramatic journey through Berlin, Ger-many, between May, 1937, and September, 1939, during which time he was granted a personal interview with Adolf Hitler. The purpose of his interview was to try to understand and explain to the World Christian Youth Conference the aspirations of the German government.

Mr. Edwards told of "Mein Kampf"—not revealing nearly all of Hitler's plans. He has en-tered the reich capital and has gained entrance into the private office of the Chancellor. Many questions have passed between Mr. Hitler and Mr. Edwards, among them being the future of Europe and the rest of the world and Germany's part in creating a new order. We continue:

Hitler has just displayed a map of the world on the south wall in preparation to answer-ing my question as to who were Germany's enemies today. The map was carefully marked off, with about three-inch length pins with large red heads run-ning from pin to pin was rib-bons of different colors. Taking up a pointer from his desk Hit-ler spoke: "Now you will see the territories within this section are all now small countries, which originally belong to the mother land Germany . . . they shall re-turn, they must return, volun-tary and if not we must force them to . . . cheap politicians have caused the separation of these territories from Germany. Since the mess that those blun-dering fools of 1914 created, Ger-many has been the under-dog of nations. Well it's at an end. Germany will not be a plow-jockey for the world. We have prepared and we are prepared it will be a fight to the finish, the finish of those nations that op-press Germany.

The Jews have all but swindled Germany out of its very heart. That, too, is at an end. We are a nation if not superior, equal to any nation on the face of the earth. To prove this we must wage war. We shall provoke a revolution in France as certain-ly as we shall not have one in Germany. Take my word for it. The French will hail me as their deliverer. The little man of the middle class will acclaim us as the bearers of a just social order and eternal peace. None of these people any longer want war and greatness. But I want war. To me all means will be right. My motto is not "Don't, whatever you do, amonnoy the enemy!" My motto is: "Destroy him by all and any means." I am the one who will wage the war. For example . . . he con-tinued, take Brazil. "We shall create a new Germany there," he cried. "We shall find everything that we need there." Hitler then outlined broadly all that a hard working and energetic govern-ment could do to create order. All the pre-conditions for a revo-lution were there, a revolution which in a few decades, or even years, would transform a corrupt mestizo state into a German do-minion. "Besides, we have a right to this continent, for the Fuggers and Welsers had pos-sessions there. We have got to repair what our German disunity has destroyed; we must see to it that it is no longer true that we have lost all that we once occupied. The time has passed for us to give place to Spain and Portugal, and be everywhere at a disadvantage." The Brazilian people will need us if they are going to make everything of their country, Hitler remarked. They had less use, he said, for investment and capital than for the spirit of enterprise and for organizing ability. And they are fed up with the United States. They knew that they were being exploited by them, and had noth-ing to expect from them for the development of their country.

WORKERS' SCHOOL OPENS SPRING TERM

"With our country engaged in a peoples war, for a peoples vic-tory, a durable peace and a post-war world of freedom, democ-racy and liberty, the need for a true peoples education becomes daily more apparent," declares a statement issued by the Los An-geles Workers School at the oc-casion of launching its Spring semester starting April 26.

"It is time," the statement con-tinues, "that we in Los Angeles, growing into the nation's first war-production center, pay par-ticular attention to developing a wide system of adult peoples education to equip our popula-tion with the kind of knowledge and skill so urgently required in these most critical days of world crisis."

With additional courses added to its curriculum and with new prominent instructors added to its teaching staff, the L. A. Workers School is looking for-ward to a most fruitful Spring term. "A successful Spring term of our school," the statement adds, "should also spur the de-velopment of this broad adult educational activity in our city, so necessary at the present mo-ment."

John Howard Lawson, Albert Maltz, nationally known authori-ties in the literary world as well as in the field of American his-tory, will instruct a lecture course in "The American Demo-cratic Tradition." Other lectur-ers of similar prominence will also participate.

Expecting a record attendance the school has secured the Uni-tarin church, with ample seating capacity to accommodate the many who will attend this course, starting Friday, April 30. The course will continue for eight consecutive Fridays at 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Tuition for the en-tire course is $3, with single ses-sion admissions at 50 cents.

Kenneth Eckert, regional co-ordinator of the Mine, Mill and Smelters Union, CI.O.; Leo Turn-er, Estolv Ward, experienced la-bor leaders, as well as the famed labor attorney, Leo Gallagher, will teach the course Wartime Practice and Procedure of Trade Unions.

Dealing with special problems of women in industry, in trade unions, as well as the problems of housewives, will be the course entitled "Women in the War." This course will be taught by Judith Schmidt and Virginia Warner of the Peoples World staff, with invited lecturers ac-tive in the labor movement and in women's organizations.

The Economics of Barbarism will be of special interest to all now engaged in the war to de-stroy the Axis. Here the student will gain a comprehensive knowledge of the enemy we are fighting, which will aid them immeasurably in our common battle for victory. Ed Robbin of the Peoples World and Charles Young will teach this course.

"The Life and Culture of the Negro People" will this semester be studied in connection with the courses in American History. Pet-tis Perry will be among the teachers in these courses.

Registration of students is now going on in the school's offices, 212 West Third street. With classes limited, the Workers School is urging all prospective students to register early.

Registration fee is $1 and tui-tion $2 per course lasting eight weeks, while the 10 and 12 weeks courses have a $3 tuition.

Margerite G. Davis, Lloyd O. Knox Wed

One of the loveliest home wed-dings of the season was solemn-ized last Friday afternoon in the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Julia Lee, 1654 E. 23rd street, when Miss Margerite Geraldine Davis and Mr. Lloyd Owens Knox were united in holy wedlock by the Reverend S. M. Beane in a surrounding beauteous with flow-ers and candelabra.

The bridesmaid was Mrs. Ausia Tibbs, and the matron of honor, Mrs. Imogene Winston.

Mrs. Maugerite Chapman sang "Because" with Mr. Samuel Browne playing the accompani-ment immediately preceding the ceremony.

The groom was attended by Mr. Richard Thomas as best man while the brother of the groom, William Knox, was the other at-tendant. The groom is a stu-dent of U. S. C., working towards his masters degree in chemistry, but at present is employed in the V. E. G. A. Aircraft corporation. He is an ardent church worker in the Hamilton Methodist church and a former resident of Baton Rouge, La., and graduated from Leland college, Baker, La.

These young people were sweethearts before either came to Los Angeles. The many useful presents received attested the place they have both found in the hearts of their Los Angeles friends.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Eliza-beth Davis, came from New Or-leans particularly for the wed-ding. Among the gifts she brought with her was a magnifi-cent hand-made cloth crochetted by a sister of the bride to be used on the table that held the tempting and beautiful wedding cake.

The bride is a former student of UCLA and USC.

Next Stop—Victory Avenue

So that the employees of the Los Angeles Railway shall not be caught sans vegetables this summer, the management has donated both ground and seed for their Victory Gardens.

Twelve packages of popular seeds have been presented to each employee to be planted on company property or in their backyards, front yards, and win-dow boxes which have been till-ed and prepared. Vacant prop-erty at the various divisions, sub-stations and at Vernon Yards has been plowed, harrowed and di-vided into numbered plots for the men and women who want them. Water has been piped to each plot. Tools are loaned by the track department, and gar-den counsellors are on hand to offer any information which might be desired.

As one employee so aptly put it, swiping the sweat from his brow, "If the Japs could grow vegetables in California, so can we."

Victory . . . IS OUR BUSINES S

There is still a great deal of the so-called "Snubbing" going on in the world today. Whether it is being done by individuals or groups of people, it destroys morale.

The individual that is guilty of this act, may not mean any harm by so doing, perhaps merely striving to overcome an inferiority complex. Adjustments whereby oneself or lowering others are very common, and, should be discouraged.

Much social discord is due to the practice of discrimination or rebuffing others as a means of gaining a superior air of supremacy.

It is not however, just practiced by individuals and countries, but within races as well. With a common cause in view and the whole civilized world at stake, it is time to put down such petty thoughts and think of something constructive towards the "Four Freedoms".

B.M.W. Dear Prof. Herman: I have been reading your column in this paper for quite sometime. I have found it very interesting and believe you can help me in this matter. Which one of the boys I know, cares for me?

Ans. Your lucky Stars and Guiding Planet indicate your having many friends, and the three you have in mind are all fond of you. There being in the Service has changed their ideas about many things, however, and it seems that the oldest of the three is sincere in his love for you, and would like to marry you.

E.E. What does the word 'Horoscope' really mean?

Ans. It is a chart made by astrologers purporting to forecast the main events of a person's life. Its usual form is a map divided into twelve portions by circles, the space between the circles being called a "house", each "house" being ruled by a planet. The important feature is to ascertain the star and sign which was in the ascendant at the time of a person's birth, and to read from that which "houses" or signs which strongly influence the person's career.

E.A. Will the company pay the claim?

Ans. If the insurance company cannot locate the insured party in a certain length of time and you have all of the necessary credentials, you will be able to collect this claim. It may take a little time and trouble, just be patient.

A.I. What made my husband change?

Ans. Probing into the matter I find that your husband had a good job and left it for the one he now has that only pays half the salary. It seems that the first job was a little too hard and he realized he could not keep up, so thought it wise to find something he could do without endangering his health.

F.B.H. What should I do concerning my problem?

Ans. My Psycho-Mentalist Crystal reveals some of your difficulties and I find that if you just forget about your past and look forward to what the future holds for you, your life will be much happier.

M.L.W. Should I continue asking people these questions?

Ans. There is no harm in asking questions, but don't do it to the extent that your company will become obnoxious to others. There is always a time and place to find out information but you are using it in the wrong manner. If you read more books on psychology you won't have to embarrass people by asking so many questions.

E.T.P. Dear Sir: I am planning on sending for your Hindu Charm Bag next week, as I have heard so much about it and what it has done for others. But, will you please advise me concerning this matter. Is there anything between this woman and my husband?

Ans. Concentrating upon your question I find that your doubts and suspicions are unfair. He loves you dearly and is true to you. I suggest you write in for a private reply, as there are other things I would like to help you with.

Women Active As Fire-Fighters

Any day the fire siren sounds in Citrus Heights, a community located 14 miles outside the city limits of Sacramento, every member of the all-woman fire department drops whatever she is doing—whether it's the weekly wash, baking a pie or sweeping the floor—to fight the fire.

According to the State Council of Defense, the Citrus Heights Volunteer Fire Department is the only one in the nation entirely staffed by women. Now a valuable adjunct of the Sacramento County Defense Council's auxiliary firemen's service, the women organized their fire department several years before civilian defense became a necessity. Take it from Mrs. Estaline Mulch the chief, the women have seen plenty of action and have had many a narrow escape. Mrs. Mulch, besides directing her 12-member fire department, has also driven one of the local school busses for three years. She is the mother of three children.

The department was organized by the women because most of the men of Citrus Heights work in Sacramento during the day. At night, the men's volunteer department takes over. Although the women's uniforms, which they purchased themselves, are natty gray ones of military cut with overseas caps to match, they are seldom worn. When an urgent call comes, a member of the fire department may appear for duty in anything from a house dress to her best bib and tucker, donned for an afternoon of bridge. Paradoxically, it is not the danger or the hard labor the women dislike about their work. What they do mind is to answer a call just after a visit to a beauty parlor. Firefighting is not easy on a new wave or a fresh manicure.

Non-Deferrable Occupations Listed By Commission

With the War Manpower Commission's order designating certain activities and occupations as "non-deferrable" regardless of dependents coming into effect on April 1, the Bureau of Selective Service of the WMC will begin promptly to reclassify registrants in these categories, WMC Chairman Paul V. McNutt, announced Wednesday. However, he emphasized the order affects registrants of military age only and will have no effect on other workmen. "If any registrant is in doubt as to whether or not he is included in its provisions, he should consult his Selective Service Local Board at once," McNutt said.

The War Manpower Commission's order affects registrants in 35 specified occupations, workers in 19 manufacturing, 8 wholesale and retail trades, and 9 service activities.

Registrants in non-deferrable activities are to be classified "without consideration of their dependency status," but those who have registered with the Uses for War Service will be given 30 days to make such transfer if they present evidence of such Uses Registration to their Local Boards. The 30 day period for transfer begins with the date when such evidence is presented to the Local Board.

Give Full Support To Red Cross

The CIO has been confronted with protests from thousands of its members because Eddie Rickenbacker, whom the CIO considers the spokesman for American fascism, has been cast in the role of spokesman for one part of the Red Cross appeal.

It has been made clear to the CIO that officials of the Red Cross in California in no wise support the views of Mr. Rickenbacker with respect to labor, but rather recognizes the tremendously important part that labor must play in the contribution of funds if the Red Cross is to reach its goal. Under these circumstances, the CIO has agreed to make no further protest against the showing of the film, but on the contrary once again urge the fullest participation of its members in achieving the goal established for California chapters.

WAR ON NEGRO
TRUTH: For 323 years a war of prejudice, discrimination, lynching and abuses has been waged against us. I began to fight this battle when I discovered that I was a 'made fool.' Mark you, not a fool but a 'made one', like many intellectuls.
Thinking people are asking: What are we—Negroes, colored People or what? What is a NEGRO? No educator has ever given a satisfactory answer. They haven't the courage. The truth has never been told. Why is NEGRO the most disputed name? Because the truth is not known. Truth is The Basis of Education. I went to a university: spent 5 years in law school in Boston, became counsellor in public schools. Worked in educational sociology at New York University.
After 15 years' investigation, study and research, I found the facts, the history, the truth about the race.
With my discovery, I made money, and gained world respect.
It can do the same for you. I have compiled it in the great book: "HUMAN SIDE OF PEOPLE." 399 pages, 84 pictures by myself. Raphael P. Powell. The demand for this book by thousands proves that it shows the way to success and is helping to win the war against race prejudice. Price $3. Send orders to: PHILEMON CO., 224 West 135th St., New York City. GUARANTEED: The only book which gives the TRUTH about our race.

VOL. 64—NO. 1 — LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, APRIL 15, 1943 — PRICE 5c

by c. a. b.

We are mighty happy to report on three of our Eagle boys—you know them as Martin Hewlett, John Kinloch and Rena Hewlett.

You, no doubt, have missed seeing these boys around—or have you? Neither of them are society gents, hence could not make Bill Smallwood's column, which tells you who they are, where they come from and, incidentally, where they are going.

Martin Hewlett, who did a fine job as business manager on the California Eagle staff until about six months ago when Uncle Sam called him to the service in the United States Army, is now stationed at Hdqrs. Det. 518th, In. Regt., Camp Van Doran, Mississippi. News reached the Eagle this week stating that due to a competitive test given by the army, young Hewlett will receive officer's training in one of the accredited universities of the nation.

John Kinloch, who at the age of five years had the largest vocabulary of any young one in New York City, is back in the world's greatest metropolis seeing and hearing things. John, who is also on Uncle Sam's list and is managing editor of the California Eagle, was called to New York because of his mother, Mrs. Victorine Kinloch's, illness.

I am not boasting, but at the age of 21, John is easily one of the best young writers in the U.S.A. and I predict for him a brilliant future with even a half chance.

And about Corporal Rena Hewlett, student, Co. D, 1st T.S.D., Ft. Belvoir, Va. He, too, has just successfully passed an examination that entitles him to officer's training. Rena, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hewlett of this city, before being called to army duty was California Eagle shop foreman.

Irreparable has been our loss in giving up these splendid young men, but we realize that no sacrifice is too great for us to make in order to win this war.

What the army, the navy and the aircraft are doing with battleship and bayonet to defeat Hitler and the Axis forces, we hope to do with pen and pencil.

In order to keep the California Eagle up to its high standard of journalist effort, we have asked Uncle Sam to let us retain the service of our managing editor and J. Cullen Fentress, our sports editor, and while speaking of young writers in the forefront of journalistic ability, J. Cullen is out in front.

I feel that it is both my duty and responsibility to say something about the Madam Chiang Kai-shek press conference of which I was a part.

Unknown Girl Found Murdered

In one of the most baffling mysteries that have shocked the east side in years, the nude body of a girl was found in a delivery truck, parked in the lot of a factory at 1377 East 41st street at 6 p.m. yesterday. She had been stabbed in the throat, and according to examining physicians from the coroner's office, must have died almost instantly. A large bruise on her forehead, revealed that she had probably been slugged also during the preceding struggle.

According to Officers Brown and Kimbrough who arrived on the scene shortly after discovery of the body had been reported, the victim who appeared to be Caucasian, had been found in the truck by a young Mexican man, an employe of the factory. The truck had been there several hours since it had last been out on a delivery.

Detectives McGruder and Braody who took over the case for investigation, learned from the Mexican that the car of a white employe had been seen by him earlier in the afternoon. He and the man in question were held for further investigation, and material witnesses. The two detectives also hunted up a number of other employees, both white and colored, questioning them, as well as the proprietors of the factory.

The fact that the plant was in operation all day, and no one had seen any person or persons bringing a woman into the lot, threw a great element of mystery around the tragedy that had not been cleared up at press time.

Eagle reporters who were on the spot immediately after the discovery learned from Harvey Derrick, the factory's colored night watchman, who lives at 1420 East 41st street, that he

Citizens Demand Action To Quell Crime Wave

Recognizing the fact that the South's frustration, suppression jim-crow, deliberate lowering of their standard of education, and other wrongs tended to make criminals of them, local civic leaders nevertheless are determined that a growing recent crime wave by southern Negro migrants must be suppressed. Following the wake of thousands of workers who came here when local citizens had succeeded in opening the doors of defense work there has been an influx, say police of a lawless breed that avoids work, planning to live like birds of prey on the industry of others.

Robbery, Sluggings, Street Raping Babbles Police

With an unusually large list of strong-arm robberies, sluggings for no known reason, and rape attempts on women graveyard shift, defense workers arousing the indignation of both the police and decent citizens, just about the most horrible experience was the fate of Mrs. Ollie Lee, 26. Returning from an amusement place at 1 a.m. on crowded Central avenue last Monday, she started the car of her escort named Harold, to be driven to her home, 1277 East 47th street.

Just as the couple approached the car parked at 42nd Place and Central avenue, four men attacked her companion, knocking him down and beating him. Unarmed and partly unconscious,

'We Might As Well Face the Facts'

OSCAR WILSON, PROMINENT UNION OFFICIAL TELLS NEGROES SUPPORT OF ORGANIZED LABOR BEST WAY TO RELIEVE RACE TENSION AND TO GAIN POLITICAL AND ECONOMIC RIGHTS.

Charging that the war had brought race relations in the United States to a crisis, Oscar Wilson, high PWOC-CIO official, advised Negroes to fight for political and economic equality through the labor movement.

OSCAR WILSON

Wilson speaking at a joint meeting of the Packinghouse Workers Organizing Committee and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in Fort Worth,, Texas, Sunday, told a gigantic mass meeting of both races that "recent experiences have clearly demonstrated that democratic trade unions offer us our best chances for political and economic progress. This is the only practical way to ease the strong race tension developing all over the country."

"We might as well face the fact," Wilson continued, "that we will get rid of Jim Crow, poll taxes, lynchings and job discrimination in our country only when we find an effective method of demonstrating to the masses of white people a fact which now is being deliberately hidden from them . . . this one simple fact is that political and economic progress for white workers must be based upon political and economic equality for all . . . this is especially true of the South."

Considering ways to overcome the difficulties which prevent white people and Negroes from realizing their need to join hands to work together for mutual progress in the South, Wilson, whose union claims 25,000 Negroes among its 90,000 members, declared, "There are so many laws and customs based upon prejudice, misunderstanding and desire to perpetuate the weakness of workingmen by keeping them divided and segregated from each other, that

Latest Bulletin On Folkes Murder Case

Disappointment came to the prosecution in the "Berth 13" murder case on trial at Albany, Ore., all week when the state's principal witness utterly called to identify Folkes as the man he saw fleeing from the Pullman car where Mrs. Richard James was found with her throat slashed.

This was Marine Private Harold L. Williams, 22, who had occupied the upper of the slain woman's berth, and was the first to reach her side. But on the stand during long questioning last Monday he was faced with the accused cook, and asked if he was the dark complexioned person with hair slicked back, that he had seen. "I don't know," he answered repeatedly and never changed his story of uncertainty.

The conductor who was also on the witness stand last Tuesday, told how he had had heard Williams cry out, "this woman has been murdered" and found him standing over her body with blood on his left hand.

Yesterday, April 14, the state paraded its fifteenth witness in what is generally considered to be a far-fetched effort to convict Folkes. Two witnesses, Chief Petty Officer Kelso and Lieut. Reider, testified that they were "simply on the train," and knew nothing about the case. The brakeman on duty testified that he found all trap-doors closed through the train but that one was partly open.

National Labor Leader Addresses U. A. W.

Says We Must Sacrifice to Win War

Mr. R. J. Thomas, president of the largest labor organization in the world, The Auto, Aircraft and Agricultural Workers, sounded a note of policy for labor that thundered from Los Angeles to Washington, D. C., Sunday afternoon, at a meeting which was sponsored by the local United Automobile Workers at C. I. O. Hall, 5850 Avalon Boulevard.

The meeting, which was called for the purpose of sounding out the status of organized labor on a national scale, in regard to the war situation, centered around the vital subject of "Production to Win the War."

Realizing the necessity for speed-up production which, of course, will be materially aided by proper nutrition, fair employment practices as regarding nondiscrimination, and strict adherence to all national policy for the hastening of an allied victory, Mr. Thomas left nothing to be desired in his sincere, frank analysis of the whole situation.

Stated Mr. Thomas, "The President, while trying to promote legislation regarding food rationing and wages for the protection of labor, had met with stiff opposition from Congress all along the line. In December 1941, organized labor promised

"Message to Washington" Meet, April 28

Problems of the people of a great city during war time will be dramatized in a "Message to Washington" meetings to be held at the Philharmonic Auditorium, Wednesday night, April 28, under the sponsorship of the Hollywood Democratic Committee.

Realizing that it is impossible for everyone to carry his war effort problems to the government, the meeting is planned as a means of presenting a cross-section of opinion from all strata of society in a concrete form.

Will Rogers, Jr., making his first trip home since his recent election to Congress, will be the principal speaker and also will summarize the ideas expressed at the meeting in order to present them to the government on his return to the capital.

A well known playwright is dramatizing several phases of the local war effort and will have an all-star cast of Hollywood players to enact them. Jerome Kern, Ira Gershwin and E. Y. Harburg, three of the world's greatest composers and lyricists, have written a special song which will have its world premiere at the meeting. A well known Negro singer will sing the song. The poll tax issue will be discussed.

While the Hollywood Democratic Committee is sponsoring the event, it is planned as a non-partisan affair. Marc Connelly, playwright and film producer, is chairman of the committee.

SUNDAY MASS MEETING AGAINST DISCRIMINATION

All Negro defense workers and citizens are urged to attend a mass meeting to be held at Phillips Temple C.M.E. Church, 43rd and Wadsworth, April 18, 1943 at 3:30 p.m. This meeting is called by Negro and White aircraft workers, ship builders and trade unionists to demand that the Jim Crow policies of the International Association of Machinists affiliated with the American Federation of Labor barring Negro workers in industry from full-fledged participation in the union, and to demand the upgrading of competent Negroes. This policy of discrimination blocks increased production of planes which our Country now needs and keeps our Government from utilizing the skills and abilities of thousands of willing, loyal, patriotic, and dependable Americans.

This policy also means that Negro workers will be eliminated in the post-war days because of no established seniority. It is imperative that Negro workers in industry take an important part and position on the side that free labor will win the victory that we are so nobly fighting for. This discrimination against minority groups must be wiped out so that they can take their places in the ranks of organized labor in order to guarantee the unity of all labor in this time of crisis.

Negro and white boys are fighting and dying all over the world that our Country might be free. Therefore we Negro Americans demand the right to participate as full-fledged members to build ships and planes to defeat Hitler. We feel that Democracy can and must be made to work for the benefit of all Americans.

This meeting is being called by the Lockheed-Vega Yea Vote Committee and is sponsored by National Association for Advancement of Colored People and the Negro Victory Committee. All Douglas Aircraft workers are especially urged to attend this meeting.

ALABAMA GOVERNOR DELIVERS FOUNDERS DAY ADDRESS

Tuskegee Institute, Ala., April, 1943—Speaking in the Institute Chapel of Tuskeegee, on Apr. 4th, on the occasion of the annual observance of Founder's Day, Governor Chauncey Sparks of Alabama said: "Booker T. Washington will ever stand out as one of the greatest servants of mankind, for while he represented a certain race, he was a contributor to the progress of all races and was an example to all people who strive for better conditions everywhere."

"It is an inspiring, yet tragic story to read of his early days and struggles. He came among a people just out of slavery, with no historic or racial background of education, of culture, or of achievement. He began a labor of devotion among this primitive people and in order that they might be an asset of their country and an aid to the civilization of a nation which offered them so great opportunities. 14TH DISTRICT'S THOS. FORD SAID DOUBLE DEALING ON POLL-TAX

Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Congressman Thomas Ford, D., who represents the 14th district, home of Central avenue, is a chief stumbling block in the mobilization of the California delegation in support of the Marcantonio anti-poll tax bill, despite his frequent statements of endorsement for the measure.

Grape-vine reports, however, continue to indicate that Ford's allegiance to the anti-poll tax cause is very shaky, indeed, and that he has NOT signed the discharge petition which would drive the measure out of committee to the floor of the House for a vote.

In an exclusive interview with a California EAGLE reporter here, Ford stated that he thought pushing the anti-poll tax fight now did the nation "irreparable damage."

Advocating appeasement of the Dies-Cox-Rankin gang, Rep. Ford said that the Democratic majority in the House was too slim to permit alienation of the Dixie boys.

Fortunately, however, the anti-poll tax fight has boomed in Washington despite Ford and his ilk. Piling up a sensational 144 signatures in the first three weeks that it has laid on the table at the front of the House of Representatives, discharge petition No. 3 has become the center of a furious Congressional battle. Pressure from labor and Negro organizations has already driven the bill two-thirds of the way out of the House Judiciary committee, where it is pigeonholed. Whereas it required over a year to secure 40 signatures on last session's anti-poll tax petition little over twenty-one days of the current campaign have left only 74 signers out of a required 218 yet to be secured on the petition.

"Berth 13" Cook Suspect On Trial

According to local railroad men who were there last week the only unusual incident marking the opening of the murder trial of Robert Folkes, was when he became irked at one of the photographers shoving in to get many close-ups of him in the court-room hallway. Folkes Elbow aimed a blow at him but a policeman accompanying him caught his arm, before it hit the man or the camera.

The 21 year Los Angeles second cook, charged with "berth 13" boning-knife slaying of Mrs. Richard James in a Pullman berth on January 23, was being taken to the courtroom where veniremen were being questioned and selected. After exchanging a considerable list a jury was found and trial began on April 9.

Prosecutors asked each prospective juror whether he opposed capital punishment, the prosecution being headed by Harlow L. Weinrock, District Attorney. Counsel for the defense was secured by funds raised at a big ball staged at Elks Hall by members of railroad unions, and a number of race movie stars headed by Clarence Muse.

One of the pullman porters, Jas. Davis, whose route includes Albany, reported that there was no open display of ill-feeling by white citizens there, as the trial opened. However all witnesses were cleared from the room, as Weinrick opened the case. Both the diner, with Folkes' own berth on display and the pullman car containing berth 13 where the victim died with a slashed throat were brought to Albany. The presiding judge led the jury through the cars, pointing out each light switch, the wash-room, Folkes' berth, and the berth the slain woman had occupied because these will figure greatly in the trial.

All witnesses were dismissed from the courtroom at the opening of the trial, and none were allowed to accompany the inspection party on its tour of the cars. Evicted also were Ensign James, husband of Mrs. James, who occupied a berth the sleeper ahead of hers on the fatal night, and her father Wilbur G. Brinson there from his home, Norfolk, Va., was also dismissed from the courtroom. The defendant remained composed as if disinterested all through the preparations, but was not taken on the trip through the sleeper and the diner.

District Attorney Weinriek in charging the jury declared that the state would attempt to prove that Folkes had talked with Mrs. James several times earlier in the evening, and that disguised with an overcoat had entered her sleeper at least three times during the night. Folkes' family and friends declare Los Angeles police, forced the confession Folkes later denied, and his counsel charges a frame-up, with the real murderer probably among Folkes' accusers. The trial is expected to last all the current week.

Slayer of Husband Held To Answer

At the inquest held over Fredrick Taylor, stabbed to death by his wife, Elzena, last Sunday morning at their home on Long Beach Avenue, the jury returned the following verdict:

OBSERVANCE OF PUBLIC SCHOOL WEEK ANNOUNCED

A "Schools at War" theme will motivate observance of Public Schools Week Monday through Friday, April 12-16, when adults are urged to visit the schools for special programs, classroom demonstrations, children's work exhibits, and to view at first hand the entire modern curriculum of the schools as it is presented throughout the school year. This will be the twenty-fourth anniversary of the occasion which was instituted in this state in 1920 by Charles Albert Adams, as Grand Master of Masons in California.

Issuing an invitation to all parents and interested adults to participate by visiting at least one school during the observance, Superintendent of Schools Vierling Kersey said: "Public Schools Week is an occasion which has come to be a tradition in this community. It is an important occasion both for the schools and for the public, an occasion for building and renewing friendship and understanding between school and community.

"Now as never before we look to the youth of our country to carry forward the ideals of democracy and freedom. Thus, concern for our school must be greater than ever. The schools need the close cooperation, support and understanding of the community. In turn, the community is strengthened by the services which the public school renders each neighborhood."

Special emphasis will be upon pupil participation in the war effort. There will be demonstrations by R.O.T.C. drill teams, honor occasions for service men, displays of victory gardens and Junior Red Cross work, casualty station inspections.

Public Works Offers Civil Service Jobs

Steady jobs, as laborers, with the additional advantages provided by civil service regulations, are now open in the city's department of public works and those who pass the physical examination may start to work the same day applications are filed, it was announced yesterday at the Los Angeles City Hall.

No special tests, other than physical, are required for the job seekers. Salaries for the positions now open range from 71½ cents per hour to $140 monthly. All candidates must be male and at least 17 years of age, according to civil service regulations.

More than 200 jobs as laborers in city service are to be filled by May 3. Applications must be filed in person in the offices of the Civil Service Commission, room 11, Los Angeles City Hall.

Officials point out that many of the jobs now open will develop into permanent positions with the city for those who qualify. Other openings for positions as laborers in city service are anticipated within the near future, the announcement stated.

Final Check-Up On Primary Election Reveals Negro Balance of Power

That the Negro vote proved to be the "balance of power" was decided by local political leaders following the municipal primary election here on April 6th. The decision was made after all precincts had been totalled and checked in three days later. While the only Negro incumbent on the ballot was Mrs. Fay Allen, up for her third re-election to the Board of Education, the councilmen in the Negro districts and municipal judges considered as fair to Negroes were all re-elected. All expressed their gratitude for the confidence in them shown by the balloting of the race citizens.

Boy Puts Out Hotel Fire

Although he had to run up four flights of stairs carrying a five-gallon air-raid pump-tank, 16-year-old Berkley Burkhardt succeeded in preventing a disastrous fire in a hotel on East Sixth street Sunday of last week. Not only would the flames have spread so rapidly that the fire department could not have reached there in time to prevent serious damage or total destruction, but with the place filled to capacity with guests, a fatal panic might have ensued.

The fire started in a bedroom of one of the guests, who had carelessly let a cigarette set the bed-colthes afire. Fortunately the place had recently been equipped with seven of the five-gallon pump tanks supplied by the Office of Civilian Defense, to be used in case of an air raid. However, they had not been scattered through the building, but young Burkhardt, whose father is manager of the hotel, used rare presence of mind by running up to the fourth floor with one. In a little while he had sprayed out the growing flames.

Observing that neither homes nor business places of the eastside are properly supplied with protection against fire, H. W. Mozena, air-raid coordinator, stationed at Newton Police Station, urges through this paper that all apply and secure these tanks, that are furnished free of charge. There are plenty of them, he says, and citizens or business people need only to contact the air-raid warden in their district, or call him at Newton Station. Even if there is never a raid, the presence of one of these free tanks may save loss of property or life by ordinary fires.

Mrs. S. Hawkins Acquitted

Mrs. Sally Hawkins, 9715 Defiance Ave., was acquitted of charges of petty theft and malicious destruction of property after a trial without a jury by Judge Stanley Moffat in the Justice Court of Huntington Park last Friday Mrs. Hawkins who recently came to the city from Oklahoma and who is employed in defense work, was arrested on complaint of Mrs. Virginia Burt of 9204 Male Ave., who charged that on March 25 after an altercation at the Mae Ave. address Mrs. Hawkins broke into the residence of the complaining witness, destroyed her telephone and took some $30.00 from a closet as well as damaged the property in other respects. Although Mrs. Burt had sworn to the complaint, defense Attorney Curtis C. Taylor representing Mrs. Hawkins cross-examined her at length and she admitted that she had no knowledge at all of who broke the phone and took her money if anybody, and that her statements were based upon what she suspected because of the fact that she and the Hawkins woman had engaged in a quarrel. Judge Moffat ruled that the evidence was insufficient and acquitted Mrs. Hawkins.

Mrs. Myrtle Harrell Wins Divorce Suit

Mrs. Myrtle Harrell, beautiful artists model of 603 N. Beachwood Ave., was awarded her interlocutory Decree of Divorce last Friday morning in Dept. 31 of the Superior Court from her handsome husband Henry Harrell, steam press operator. Under the questioning of her Attorney Curtis C. Taylor, pretty Mrs. Harrell testified that her husband became cold and indifferent and finally walked out and left her taking the family automobile and whatever cash was on hand. Her Attorney announced that a property settlement had been effected out of court. Harrell did not appear in court to contest the action, but in the setlement of their property rights he was represented by Attorney Walter L. Gordon, Jr.

ARMY INVADES WILEY CAMPUS, ONLY IN FUN

Fifty army trucks bearing a contingent of 100 men from Barksdale Field rolled into Wiley's camps Saturday, April 3, around 10:30 a.m., having been preceded by a complete kitchen set-up and food ample to serve 300 people. This day was devoted to entertainment of the entire Wiley student body and faculty by the soldiers and comprised the serving of two meals —noon lunch and the evening meal, or supper, consisting of fried chicken galore. Amusements consisted of a basketball game between the soldiers and the college regulars, a softball game and tennis.

The dining hall was beautifully decorated in patriotic colors put up by the soldiers and afforded a cultural background for the formal dance Saturday night which lasted from 7:30 to 10:00. According to comments of persons in charge, this was one of the outstanding occasions of the season and was conducted in an atmosphere of refinement that was a credit both to the soldiers and the college students. President and Mrs. McLeod sat through a goodly part of the evening's entertainment and seemed highly pleased with the over-all conduct.

The Barksdale men have ingratiated themselves indelibly in the good graces of Wiley students and faculty as a result of this occasion. The lovely evening gowns of the young women students added to the splendor of the affair. The music furnished by the Army orchestra under the direction of Mr. John Hardee lent inspiration to the evening's entertainment. Senior girls acted as hostesses for the day's activities.

The Army contingent was under the command of Lieut. George M. Allen, who spared no pains in seeing that everything was in readiness on an ample scale for this unprecedented event

This was a precedent in the history of the institution and perhaps a new departure as regards friendly relationships between Army posts and colleges any where. Officers and men were so impressed that they expressed the desire and hope that another such occasion was in the offing before too long a time.

Correction On Stabbing Location

Through a typographical error a story appeared in the California Eagle April 1 issue to the effect that Mrs. Ona Porter was slashed by a companion while leaving a beer parlor at 52nd street and Long Beach avenue.

The fact is that the incident occurred two doors farther down the street. Also the couple had not just left the place, it having closed at its usual time, the cutting having occurred two hours later.

Councilman Rasmussen's Statement of Appreciation

Councilman Rasmussen, following his re-election to the City Council from the 7th District, issued the following statement to the California Eagle:

"The tremendous expression of confidence and support which was given to me in this election is certainly a strong encouragement to further efforts on behalf of the city at large and the 7th Council District in particular. With such a backing, one feels that the battle for decency and honesty in city government has been tremendously worthwhile.

I shall endeavor to the very best of my ability to be worthy of such overwhelming endorsement from my people. I want everyone to feel that I am at all times eager and anxious to meet with any individual, or group, who have problems which I can in any way help them to solve. I ask only for the right and the opportunity to serve in the best interests of all."

TEXAS FARMERS WAR PRODUCTION COMITTEE

By R. W. HILLIARD

Under the sponsorship of the Texas USDA War Board, the six members of the Texas Negro Farmers' War Production Committee met in an orientation meeting at Prairie View State College, March 23-25, 1943. The purpose of the conference was to acquaint the committee members with the programs, provisions and services of all agricultural agencies serving Texas Negro farmers.

This group of outstanding dirt farmers was selected because of their contributions to agricultural production, as well as for their being example of the most progressive and successful farmers in their respective counties.

The orientation discussions were introduced by representatives from the Texas USDA War Board, Agricultural Adjustment Agency, Extension Service, Farm Security Administration, Soil Conservation Service, Farm Credit Administration, Vocational Education and Rural War Production Agencies. Each representative brought out for the committee the means by which Texas Negro farmers can help in the war effort to realize the food and feed goals. One of the chief purposes of the committee is to disseminate general information to Negro farmers concerning the availability of the services offered by governmental agricultural agencies and emphasize the importance of such information in the war production program.

In this way the committee intends to assist in keeping Negro farmers informed and encouraged in their contribution to food and feed goals. Their services are available to all agricultural agencies and farmer groups working with Negroes in Texas.

The committee is composed of the following members: E. L. Carter, Midway, Texas; Wm. McShann, Dallas, Texas; J. E. Pettaway, Texarkana, Texas; Willie Melton, Kendleton, Texas; C. J. Lee, Sulphur Springs, Texas, and David Rivers, La Grange, Texas.

ONLY NEGRO WOMAN AT SEATTLE PORT OF EMBARKATION

Friday, April 2nd, a group of 250 women will receive certificates for the completion of a three months training course in Automotive Mechanics at the Frank Wiggins Trade School. They will be the first group of women in the United States to receive this training under the Army Ordnance Department. On April 3rd they will leave for Fort Lewis, Washington; Ogden, Utah; and various other ordnance units in the 9th Area Command, comprised of Washington, Oregon, California, Montana, Arizona, Utah, and Idaho. The WOW's are signed for the duration and six months; pledged to go anywhere in the Continental United States. Foreign Service is optional. Unlike their sisters of the WAACS, WAVES, etc., they are not sworn in, but are Civil Service employees of the army. It is the aim of the Ordnance Department to have 60 percent of its personnel women, to release the men for fighting service.

Mrs. Jane Chandler Dover, only Negro member of the group, will be employed at the Ordnance Port of Embarkation, Seattle, Washington, specializing in the electrical phase of the work.

Mrs. Dover is the daughter of Mrs. Lola Chandler, and the late Ben Chandler, for years a well-known business man of Portland, Oregon. She is a member of Alpha Kappa Delta, national sociology honorary, and of Delta Sigma Theta. Mrs. Dover did social service work and was a member of the Seattle Repertory Theatre Group of Federal Theatre. She is the wife of Sterling Hawkins Dover, University of Iowa graduate, who is the only colored shipfitter at Bremerton Navy Yard. The Dovers also have a 2 year old daughter, Lola Rebecca.

Camp Lee, Virginia

CAMP LEE, Va.—The Fighting Quartermasters of Camp Lee are now using a bowl at the Harding Street USO from which drank men of the famous 80th Division and its commander, Major General Adelbert Cronkhite.

The present camp commanding general, Major General James E. Edmonds, like his predecessor of World War I, has been served from this bowl, and has made the USO a present of a twin of the World War I, semi-global glass vessel.

Given by the Committee of Management of the 1917 YWCA, it was kept at the hostess house in camp. The chairman of this committee was the late Mrs. James E. Shields, whose daughter, Mrs. Ophelia Johnson, now directs the YWCA-USO.

The USO had sprung up in Petersburg at the time and was the place to go. Mrs. Johnson recalls serving General Cronkhite on many occasions when she was a beautiful high school girl. She is the only USO director of the Camp Lee area who served here during the first great conflict.

Between wars the glass conclave vessel was in the custody of Mrs. Arthur Jones of Petersburg, reappearing on festive occasions. When the USO was opened in Petersburg during the summer of 1941, Mrs. Johnson, who had led a distinguished career as social worker and YWCA secretary, was back in her native city and was appointed director of the YWCA-USO. The bowl was given to her and is in constant use at that unit.

Serving on the 1917 committee was Miss Carrie Sharp, who is one of the loyal supporters of Mrs. Johnson in her endeavor to make life pleasant for Lee men of World War II.

Women In Defense

By DEE FENZ

"Mary had a little lamb." But the fact that it was a pet, created no inhibitions that prevented it from becoming lamb chops a little later on.

Many a calf has romped whole-heartedly with the family youngsters, only to wind up eventually as veal chops.

"Bossy" often is a family pet for a time, only to end it all in roundsteaks and hamburger.

Now comes horse meat.

In Oakland and other communities "horse meat butcher shops" are making their appearance, a State Council of Defense survey reveals. This horse meat is being sold for human consumption under state inspection, and is pronounced quite tasty.

But "old Dobbin," the family pride, seems in no jeopardy.

Wild mustangs are being rounded up in Nevada, driven into corrals and fattened for a couple of months. Then—bang! One shot in the head and they are on their way to metropolitan tables.

For years these wild horses have been a bane to the cattle and sheep men of Nevada. Roaming the range in thousands, they destroy the feeding grounds, creating a serious grazing problem.

The state of Nevada pays a bounty of $1 a head just to have them shot and left laying for the buzzards. Now under the meat shortages of war, the wild horse is coming to the front as one of the answers to the nation's meat problem.

"And," say the champions of horse meat, "what's wrong with it? They feed on the cleanest of food, and are cleanly in their habits. Tests show the meat carries as many or more vitamins as any other variety. It tastes as good."

After all, wild horse meat should be as joyously received as Mary's lamb, Bobby's calf or the family "Bossy." And, sales records indicate that women are increasingly defending the "family food front" by serving horse meat.

LARGE NEGRO AIR FORCE IN MICHIGAN

Two of the most famous Negro units in the United States Army Air Forces now are stationed at Selfridge Field, Mich., 24 miles northeast of Detroit. They are the 332nd Fighter Group and the 96th Service Group and component organizations. The 332nd is the first all-Negro fighter group in aviation history.

These units joined the 44th Aviation Squadron to make Selfridge Field one of the largest Army Air Forces training for Negro soldiers. The 44th has been stationed here for nearly a year.

Both the 332nd Fighter Group and the 96th Service Group came to Selfridge Field from several stations in Alabama and now are together at the same post for the first time.

The Office of Censorship, Washington, D. C., in its Code of Wartime Practices for the American press, requests that no publication of unit strength be made. Consequently, the exact number of persons in the 332nd and 96th is not announced.

Of the total Negro personnel, however, more than 100 are commissioned officers, many of them pilots of airplanes which they flew from Alabama.

Listed among them are three California boys, all second lieutenants, namely: Herman Albert Lawson of 11 East Ninth street, Marysville, Calif.; Theodore George Lumpkin, Jr., 1646 East 52nd street, Los Angeles, and Omar Drufus Blair, 4151 Compton avenue, Los Angeles.

Assemblyman Hawkins Active At Sacramento

No assemblyman in this session of the state legislature is working more arduously than Gus Hawkins, representative of the 62nd district. This is the observation of his colleagues from Los Angeles County.

This week Hawkins came within two votes of securing passage of legislation which would have imposed a fine of not less than $100 on any person excluding from employment because of race, color or religion. The measure required 41 votes to pass, and Hawkins mustered 39.

With Assemblyman McMillan, Gus Hawkins is particualrly active in passage of the bill creating funds for Child Care Centers, a program specifically to provide nurseries and care for children and women workers. The program was authorized in the January session and by the federal government. Hawkins now seeks the necessary $3,000,000 to $5,000,000 to cover costs, which will be matched by the federal government.

Old age pensions, that seemingly most popular of California legislation, is another of Hawkins' pets. He is deeply interested in low rent housing, the reduction of sales tax, protection of civil rights and in opposing the pol tax.

Regarding the Child Care Center program Hawkins said this week:

"The sub-committee which Assemblyman McMillan and I have induced the Ways and Means Committee to appoint is expected to make a report and recommendation by April 15. The sub-committee will act in collaboration with a similar subcommittee of the Seate which has already held several hearings in the matter."

Under terms of the Lanham Act, passed by the U. S. Congress, the federal government will match, with F. W. A. funds, any moneys appropriated by state governments for Child Care Centers, making for a really constructive program, Hawkins pointed out.

Ruby read an original poem on Markham. Sorry, too, we couldn't have made it. And our thanks to Ruby for thinking of us!

Zell Ingraham, the NY artist, weekended from March Field. His wife came in via plane Sunday from NY . . . Laura Bowman, who is the busiest victory gordener I've seen yet, won't accept a part in Hall Johnson's show, but is set to go into "Shuffle Along" . . . Flournoy Miller arrives next week from NY. His family bought a car the other day, and that's sure sign they must be thinking about remaining here! I know Olivette loves it . . . I've been intending to make this comparison for some time: Fern and George Dowdy's place reminds me much of Jay Clifford's penthouse days in Harlem when scads of bright folk would wander in on Sunday nites. If Jay couldve had the spaciousness the Dowdy's have, I daresay he'd truly have gone merrily beserk. Comparing the three as hosts, all have the fine knack of filling their place with delightfully individual folk, and the evening goes gaily on its way, and you with it.

Frankly, its hard to name a half dozen people who get a bigger kick outve bustin' madly around their kitchen turning out delicious food than Fannie Hayes. She had a gang of us in last Friday, and twas a session of fine merit, do believe me . . . Cute couple: The Byron Ellises . . . To Rose Bairpaugh: Call me, if you will . . . I like Ann Hunters' warm friendliness . . . We'd been wondering what had befallen Joe Greene! He's shifted from the entertainment profession over into gov't work, and loves it. He birthdays on the 19th . . . Memo pod: Max Williams has faithfully promised us some fine squab from his roost, and we're gonna tag him til it comes to past, so help me! Max is quite a lad, bless his heart . . . Gladys Peoples, living in Ga. while her hubby is in weeks fling . . . Marva Louis, OTS, may trek to Chi for a few her daughter, and nurse, are due here after a visit to Detroit (his mother is ailing) and NY. That will give localites ample time for proper cooing and gooing over Miss Jacqueline Louis Barrows . . . Alberta Mayo James and her hubby have been in town from Frisco. First time in four or five years. Chatting with him, I learned conditions in Frisco are definitely in a grand state of mess . . . You knew, of course, Fannie Robinson is in town. I never felt she was altogether happy out here, altho she may claim happy days and lovely pleasant acquaintances. She's in the right setting in smart, busy NY, whence the bulk of her friends and her interests are. Nevertheless, we always love and welcome her to our Pacific shores!

Hall Johnson will be host at another of those highly entertaining Satd. nite parties this weekend at Music Town . . . Frances O'Neal McKelvey and her daughter are houseguesting at Arvella Young's. She's entered her daughter in the local schools . . . Henriette Flanner writes from NY: "Was at a party and a terrific idea for a swing ballet was born unto the creative hostess, while watching others go into their dance. Hail the swing ballet!" . . . Beulah Woodward has our undisguised envy. She owns a Diego Rivera of Maudelle, the native dancer model! . . . AWVS making plans for Easter Sunday around tea time . . . We met Albert Walker, the 7th Regiment's poet laureate, the other noon. He's a good one, too! The Aubrey Dawkinses are divorcing. He's in Frisco . . .

Charley Ray is in Raliegh, N. C. . . . and swingin' I can well imagine . . . To P. Middleton: And with Spring in the air, too—tsk-tsk!! Howz the birdbath? . . . Achievement: The Dunham dancers are booked solidly into next April . . . Mildred Blount, according to grapevine, is slated to go East . . . Interesting conversationalist plus a go-getter: David Ravin, who never pulls his punches . . .

Well . . . now that the flag-waving and hoorays have abated . . . we STILL give our vote absolute ruling the charm output to Mrs. FDR . . . Mme. Chiang really fits the last two words of Father Divine's famous phrase . . . but . . . we'll vote for Mrs. FDR just the same . . . yes, yes.

DAFFODIL GIRLS CLUB HOLDS INSTALLATION CEREMONY SUNDAY

On Sunday afternoon, April 11, in the home of Mrs. Willie Smith, the Daffodil Girls Club held their installation of officers. Beautiful spring flowers in gorgeous array added more beauty to the already lovely home of the hostess. About 55 guests witnessed the ceremony.

Mrs. Esther T. Greenley, very prominent in social, political and fraternal affairs, acted as the chairman and installed the officers in her own inimitable manner. Many compliments were paid to her for the excellent and very beneficial advice she gave those being placed in office, and to the remaining club members, also. Mrs. Greenley presented to each officer flowers of varied types and colors, denoting the significance and the power of investment of her particular duty.

The newly installed president, Mrs. Laura Washington, she presented a lovely bouquet, symbolizing it with the group of girls with whom she will work, and of whom she was chosen leader.

Mrs. Ora Townsend, outgoing president of five years' standing, was presented a beautiful gold loving cup by the club as a token of appreciation for her faithful and unlimited service, and for the esteem in which she was held by every member. Mrs. Greenley presented her a lovely gift, saying it was in recognition of the qualities of leadership and the ability of exercising them harmoniously and successfully, she had found and seen in her. Mrs. Greenley also presented Mrs. Townsend the lovely Bulova wrist watch, a gift from her husband, Mr. Charles Townsend.

The president presented Mrs. Greenley a gift from the club, given in appreciation of her untiring efforts to assist in whatever way possible the Daffodil Girls, and in honor of the opening of her second year as an honorary member.

Following the services, members and guests sipped cocktails and munched on tasty tidbits until 8:30 p.m., when the girls took their guests to the Club Alabam, where at a large table, decorated with a centerpiece of daffodils and iris, they were served a delicious fried chicken dinner. The party remained after dinner, dancing and basking in the sweet, lilting musical atmosphere of the club until the wee hours of the morning when all left sleepily, but assuring the girls that a wonderful time had been enjoyed by all.

U. S. O.

Headlining Eastside U. S. O. activities for the past week were several interesting trips to camps. Saturday, March 27, seventy-five girls and senior hostesses journeyed across the picturesque desert in two Greyhound busses to Muroc Army Air Base. On their arrival, delicious steak dinners were served and a pint of delicious ice cream given to each girl. After dinner, the soldiers enjoyed dancing with the lovely hostesses to the strains of the army base band. These young women had the pleasure of being the first to dance in the new hall.

The Eastside U. S. O. director was accompanied by the following senior hostesses who assisted as chaperones: Mesdames Clara McLemore, Elsie Foster, Marian Clark Sr., Cornelia A. Roberson, Doreen Davis, Eva Christof, Alice Wilson, Josephine Brown. On the same evening junior hostesses were sent to Riverside. Mrs. Alice Wilson, canteen supervisor, who headed the group of volunteer workers, who so successfully entertained the 200 soldiers from March Field recently, and works so ardently for the men in service, reported donations this week from the following persons: Mesdames Ethel McElroy, Ollie McKenzie, Lena Webb, Roscoe Jenkins, Geneva Wallace, Eva Christof, Ethel Atkinson, Doreen Davis, Mrs. Ida Aldridge and Miss Vye Aldridge. The Daffodil Girls' Club donated a year's subscription to Life magazine, and do the fellows like to read "Life."

Clubs that have generously served as hostesses for each Sunday in March are: Narcissus Art and Literary Club, Volunteer Christian Club, Women's Council of Service and Classic Literary and Social Club. Other donors were: Mrs. Grace Bruce, Mrs. Guy Jackson, Classic Literary and Social Club and War Perkins who again provided free tickets to the Club Alabam and the Savoy theater.

An interesting meeting for U. S. O. hostesses was recently held at the Wilshire Ebell Club, where definite instructions were given junior and senior hostesses from all U.S.O. centers. Those attending reported an inspiring evening and came back to their volunteer activities ready to put in use the instructions received. Home hospitality is stressed at the Eastside U. S. O. Center, and clubs and private individuals are seeing to it that the men in uniform receive home-cooked dinners and entertainment in some of the most beautiful homes in the city.

GREAT FILM BY CHAS. EDWARDS SUN. AT INDEP. CHURCH FREE

A triumph of restrained dramatic power will be presented in the greatest of all motion pictures "The King of Kings," when it is presented by Charles Edwards, magnificent film director, at the Peoples Independent Church of Christ, 18th and Paloma streets, Sunday, April 18, 1943, at 7 p.m. There will be no admission charge to see the most spectacular of motion pictures ever to be produced. The "King of Kings," produced and directed by Cecil B. DeMille, cost over two and a half million dollars to film. Nothing like it could ever have been given on the stage. Nothing like it could ever have been managed so tremendously, so lavishly, so beautiful and so sacredly for the screen without the knowing hand of Mr. DeMille. The "King of Kings" is far away the most stupendous picture of its class ever offered here and is a picture well worth seeing over and over again. Due to the tremendous following that Charles Elwards has in his presentation of great programs in local churches over one thousand persons are expected to fill the auditorium of the Independent church to see and hear this great motion picture.

Next Sunday, April 18, 1943 in the morning service, Rev. Peters is preaching on "The Triumph King". At 3:30 p.m. there will be a grand musical featuring Mme. Collier, Miss Dent, Rev. Franklin, The Southern oGspel Singers, The Minister, Rev. A. A. Peters, and other singers of the city. For the evening service at 7:30 p.m. Rev. Peters will preach on the subject, "He is able to Deliver". You are invited to be with us in one or all of these services.

NNC Closes Eastern Seaboard Conference

Last Sunday afternoon climaxed the Eastern Seaboard Conference of the National Negro Congress with the holding of a huge mass meeting at the famed Abyssinia Baptist Church in New York City. It is estimated that more than five hundred delegates were in attendance at the Sunday sessions, where vital, history-making issues were taken up and thrashed out to a satisfactory conclusion.

The militant Vito Marcantonio, House representative from New York, revealed that one hundred and sixty-six congressmen have signed the petition for discharge of the Marcantonio Anti-Poll Tax Bill from the House Judiciary Committee. Only fifty-seven more congressional signatures are requierd to drive the measure to the House floor for a vote. Marcantonio promised a House vote early in May. According to the fighting legislator, this would give the poll taxes a year and a half in which to filibuster in the Senate, if necessary, and he pointed out that not even all the wind in Texas could maintain that pace.

The California representatives who have signed the petition, to date, are; Will Rogers, Democrat; Cecil R. King, Democrat; Hollifield, Democrat; Richard J. Welch, Republican, and Harry L. Englebright, Republican. Those indicating they "may" sign are Republicans George E. Outland and Albert E. Carter, along with Democrat Thomas Ford, who, incidentally, should have no hesitation in signing, due to the fact that he is the elective representative from the 14tth Congressional District, largely comprised of the Negro vote.

The major decisions reached during the two-day confab of the NNC were, first, renewed demand for opening of a western front in Europe; second, demand for full reinstatement of the Fair Employment Practice Committee; three, passage of the Anti-Poll Tax Bill.

The body went on record as pledging itself to the task of relentlessly prosecuting these measures to a successful conclusion, and it is to be expected that every free-thinking American citizen, most especially the Negro, will add his weight to the support of these demands.

"Pre-Easter Concert At Eighth And Towne"

A Pre-Easter Concert featuring primarily Choral and Solo selections from Handel will be presented by the Senior Choir of the First A. M. E. Church Sunday afternoon at 3:45. Because of the increased employment schedules of most of the members, it was deemed advisable to forego the usual Oratorio presentation this year. Instead a program featuring favorite choral selections enlivened with solos by some of the city's favorite musicians was decided upon. The soloists will be Mrs. Margaret Hairston singing "If God Be for Us"; Mr. Buel Thomas "Comfort Ye My People"; Miss Ann Hunter, "He Shall Feed His Flock Like A Shepherd", and Mr. Elijah Hodges, "The Trumpet Shall Sound."

All of these selections are the work of the great composer Handel. Mr. Lawrence Lassiter, accomplished violinist, will render a group of selections. The choir will sing "Worthy Is the Lamb," and the Hallelujah chorus, both from the Messiah; and a Russian Allelujah, by Gaul. The quartet composed of choir members, LaVida Ervin, Lillian Moore, Charles Boston, and O'Reese Corporal, will sing Bracketts, "Crown Him with Many Crowns." This concert draws added significance from the fact that it marks the introduction of Mr. Jester Hairston to the community as Minister of Music at the First A. M. E. Church. Several years ago Mr. Hairston began his services at this church as director of the choir but found it necessary to relinquish the work when other responsibilities took him out of the city. About a year ago, Rev. Jordan secured Mr. Hairston to assist in organizing the J. E. Edwards choir to furnish music for the evening service.

Dr. Odom to Preach

Dr. E. J. Odom of Thomasville, Georgia, Connectional Evangelist, and guest Holy Week Preacher will deliver his first sermon Sunday evening at 7:30. The J. E. Edwards choir will furnish music for the service and for each night during the week.

Twin Sister Evangelists Accept Charge

What the names "Reatha and Leaths," have meant in religious circles, throughout the east, and particularly in Chicago for the twenty-five years since as children they started preaching, is expected to be stamped as indelibly on the future scrolls of the local field of Christendom.

For beginning last Sunday when both inaugurated the pastorate of "Sister Leatha" at the Watts Church of God in Christ, 14th and Wilmington, they will have both accepted calls to churches here for an indefinite period. Sister Reatha so exactly like her sister that only close friends can tell them apart, has accepted the charge of Azusa Temple, 27th and Paloma, one of the best located commodious places of worship in the city. The property was recently purchased by "Mother Cotton" widely known religious leader, and charity worker.

Following complete reorganization, the forming of choirs, church clubs and other clerical bodies, Sister Reatha, who is acclaimed both for her eloquence and as a vocalist, will start a series of the stirring meetings that have won great success for the Lord's battle in other sectors. She wishes all who are interested in joining the choirs to contact her at her home, or at the church.

CONVENTION GUEST SPEAKER

Rev. Charles M. Toney, field secretary of the Los Angeles District Association of the Western Baptist Convention, will be guest speaker at the Friendship Baptist Church, Pasadena, Sunday night, April 18, 1943. Rev. W. D. Carter, pastor.

WILLIAM HATCH BAHA'I SPEAKER

Sponsored by the Baha'i Faith, Mr. Willard P. Hatch will speak Sunday, April 18, at 3 p.m. at 1709 West 8th street, on "The Baha'i Faith—the Perseverance." Mr. Hatch says, in part:

"The perseverance of the Baha'i Faith is the peseverance of Truth throughout the development of mankind. It is the eternal verity underlying the teachings of Moses, Christ and Baha'u'llah. It is man, in the tangle of difficulties brought upon himself in his extremity turning to God for help. It is the continuity underlying the progress of religion, which appears in new garments to meet new conditions. Baha'u'llah, founder of the Baha'i Faith, has said: 'All human achievement moveth upon a lame ass, whilst Truth, riding on the wind, darteth across space * * * Ye dwell in one world, and have been created through the operation of one Will. Be ye as the fingers of one hand, the members of one body. * * * That one is indeed a man who today dedicates himself to the service of the entire human race.'"

There are no charges or collections. All are cordially invited.

PROMINENT LOS ANGELES MATRON PASSES AWAY

Mrs. Thomas E. Green, wife of Lieut. Thomas E. Green, U.S.A., retired, passed away Saturday, April 10, at the family residence. The Greeps came to Los Angeles about twenty years ago from Topeka, Kan., having met there at a vocational school where Mrs. Green was dean of women and Lieutenant Green was teacher of music.

Her early life was spent as an educator—teaching in schools and colleges in various parts of the South and East. She was known to her host of friends in the East as Etta Cottin Payne.

Since she made her home in Los Angeles, she endeared herself to all who knew her and will be particularly remembered for her lovable disposition. She was a member of the Congregational church and belonged to many civic and social organizations. She leave sto mourn her a devoted husband, Lieut. Thomas E. Green; one daughter, Mrs. James O. Brown; a son-in-law, James O. Brown; one granddaughter, Patricia Ann Brown, and a host of friends.

REV. JARDINE ORDAINED BISHOP

An unusual service will take place Sunday at the six-thirty evening service of The Neighborhood Church at which time the Rev. R. Anderson Jardine of England will be ordained Bishop for the Ecumenical Christian Church.

The Rev. Jardine for many years served as Rector of the famous St. Paul Cathedral of Darlington, Eng. which had a parish of thirteen thousand communicants. At the time of the intended marriage of King Edwards to the American woman he dared to face the criticism of the government leaders and "as an act of christian service to my king" perform the ceremony for King Edward who gave up his throne "for the woman I love."

The ordination service will be conducted by Bishop Frank Dyer, who with Bishop Burris Jenkins of Kansas City and Bishop Duralde of L. A. has charge of the western work in America. The itular head of the church is The Most Rev'd. Churchhill Sibley, of London, England.

The service is open to the public. Special music will be furnished by the church choirs.

Rev. S. A. Williams Gives Eagle Full Support

During the recent celebration of theanniversary of the California Eagle, through its special Lincoln-Douglas edition, the Rev. S. A. Williams, pastor of St. Paul Baptist Church, and one of the outstanding leaders of our city, put into action what he expresses through the medium of words. Rev. Williams, who has often and continuously expressed his willingness to support every movement for the uplift and advancement of the Negro people, proved how sincere he was in his statement by sending to the California Eagle a very generous gift of over $50.00.

Accompanying the check from Pastor Williams was the following letter: "After happy greetings to you, the St. Paul Baptist Church and her Pastor wishes to thank you and commend you, profusely, for your untiring, defying efforts to break down all barriers and improve the economics and social conditions of our people.

Enclosed you will find a little gift. We trust you will receive it, not for its intrinsic value, but as a token of our high regard for you, and becalse of your altruism and your fight for fair play for all people."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

The Sunday Lesson-Sermon subject in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, will be "Doctrine of Atonement." The Golden Text is from Galatians: "Grace be to you and peace from God the Father, and from our Lord Jesus Christ, who gave himself for our sins, that he might deliver us from this present evil world, according to the will of God and our Father."

"I am the door of the sheep," said Jesus in a passage from John's Gospel. "I am the door:" he repeated, "by me if any man enter in, he shall be saved, and shall go in and out, and find pasture. The thief cometh not, but for to steal, and to kill, and to destroy: I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly. I am the good shepherd: the good shepherd giveth his life for the sheep."

On this subject Mary Baker Eddy writes in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures:" "Jesus aided in reconciling man to God by giving man a truer sense of Love, the divine Principle of Jesus' teachings, and this truer sense of Love redeems man from the law of matter, sin, and death by the law of Spirit,—the law of divine Love."

Down to Seventy-four!

You are doing a good job.

You, shipyard worker, aircraft employee, church-goer, doctor, lawyer—you the American people.

Only 74 out of a required 218 signatures are yet to be secured on the committee discharge petition which will drive the Marcantonio Anti-Poll Tax bill to the floor of the House of Representatives for a vote.

Scarcely a month has gone by since the discharge petition was laid on the table at the front of the lower House. Since that time 144 Congressmen have marched forward to affix their signatures to it. It required more than a year, during the last session of Congress, to secure less than forty signatures to the dicharge petition.

The reason for Congress' increased anti-poll tax sentiment is the determination of millions of citizens to destroy the tax which denies franchise rights to ten million Americans. They, that is, you, have let the members of our highest legislative body understand your clear concern with the menace of continued existence of the poll tax. You have written letters. You have urged organizations to pass resolutions condemning the poll tax. You have badgered your Congressmen with telegrams.

These are the actions which get results. A handful of letters, even three or four, from constituents in the home district are frequently enough to jar a wayward solon into a correct position on such an issue. The importance of individual letters to Represetatives cannot be too highly stressed.

The feeling that small groups of citizens, in meetings thousands of miles from the nation's capital, can exert no influence upon legislation is a profound effor. No political action by citizens is too small for notice,—if the Washington gang is made to know that it has happened.

Californians face a special challenge in the coming weeks of the anti-poll tax struggle. Of all state delegations, that from the Golden State has been least cooperative in the effort to extend democracy to the disinherited masses of the South, white and black. According to the National Committee to Abolish the Poll Tax, only the following Californians have signed the petition: Reps. Will Rogers, D., Cecil R. King, D., Hollifield, D., Richard J. Welch, R., and Harry L. Englebright, R. Those who indicate they may sign are Republicans George E. Outland and Albert E. Carter, along with Democrat Tom Ford.

In an exclusive interview with a California EAGLE reporter recently, Ford said that he would "go along" with the anti-poll tax effort, but felt that it should not be brought up just now, that in so doing he would be rendering the nation "irreparable damage." He further advanced the defeatist argument that passage of the bill in the House is unimportant, since he believes it will never survive the Senate.

Ford shares the position of the befuddled liberal, Rep. Jerry Voorhis, who quakes at the threats of the poll-taxers when they declare intentions to "split the Democratic party" rather than submit to the will of the American people to remove tax barriers from the fundamental right of the vote.

The Ford-Voorhis argument must be met squarely. It contends that the poll-taxers must be tolerated, with ten million Americans remaining under the yoke of disfranchisement, to maintain unity of the Democratic party. They also fear that provocation of the poll-taxers will inspire these worthies to oppose other progressive legislation "of more importance to the nation."

In the first place, the single issue which confronts American legislators today is winning this people's war. All other considerations are necessarily dwarfish, puny and insignificant. California's Democrats cannot pose the question of their party unity in opposition of the people's war. It is like comparing an ounce with a pound.

And we may further inquire as to WHAT unity Reps. Ford-and-Voorhis are interested in maintaing within the Democratic party. If it is unity behind the President's win-the-war policies, the voting records of the poll-tax South demonstrates eloquently that the lords of the plantation have no sympathy with these measures. As a matter of fact, the center of fiercest opposition to the President is the poll-taxes section of Congress. Here are the disrupters of national unity; here are the disrupters of war production; here are the disrupters of the seven-point program for the nation's war economy; here are the violators of friendship and cooperation between the United Nations. On what basis, then, is the cry for unity with such men raised?

If the theory is that appeasement of the poll-taxers will discourage their announced war-path against Roosevelt win-the-war policies, it is as false as the appeasement of Franco or Finland; as false as was the appeasement of Japan and Germany. The poll-taxers' opposition to the war effort stems from the deepest requirements of their survival as masters of the South. The people's war, relentlessly undermining the whole international structure of imperialism, is opposed to the interest of the poll-taxers and will be opposed by them with increasing ferocity as the war continues, mounting to its decisive stages.

Rep. Ford's notion that we must not press for action against the poll-tax in the House because it will not pass in the Senate is sheer defatism. Suppose our generals in the field refused to attack Africa because they might thereafter be defeated in Europe?

The will of the people pushed 144 Congressmen to the front of the House of Representatives, pen in hand, during the last four weeks. Letters and telegrams, especially to Reps. Ford and Voorhis, can jolt even the Doubting Thomases of our California delegation to the fore.

Press Smear Smacks War Effort

With juvenile crime spiralling upward in most sections of the nation, selection of racial minorities for unfair publicity by metropolitan papers throughout America are spiking the war effort with additional wedges.

In Los Angeles, so-called Mexican "zoot suit" criminals are the center of attention, attracting noisy condemnation from the city's big papers. In New York City, and other ranking metropolitan centers, Negro youth are the recipients of the press boys' special attention.

Sensational treatment of crime stories involving racial minorities, usually while "playing down" identical stories in which whites figure, is a familiar trick to stir up differing sections of the population with race hatred. In peace time, the practice is thoroughly undemocratic and reprehensible. But in the war setting, it is a dangerous dagger directed at the very heart of our nation's war against the fascist Axis.

Eight thousand citizens of New York City's Harlem voiced a full-throated answer to the daily press smear campaign last week, threatening boycott of the race-hate papers and picketing of the news-stands which sell them. Rev. Adam Clayton Powell, Jr., in his first move since his return from Los Angeles, launched this latest drive of New York's fighting Negro populace with the declaration, "We must picket every newsstand in Harlem, Negro and white, placing on the black list each paper that continues to defame the Negro. We must plan to extend this picket line to other boroughs and to the main downtown crossroads. Here we will receive help from other minorities and labor, both of whom have been victimized by the press of New York.

"We must picket all advertisers in Harlem who advertise in the downtown press. We must extend this boycott to include downtown advertisers as well."

Here is a militant program which Los Angeles may well mimick. Although it is the Mexican minority which is the principal victim of the unity-disrupting smear campaign of the Los Angeles press, Negroes here proclaim a common cause with the Mexican people in this effort and volunteer their full cooperation in fighting disruptive practices of the big papers.

Spreading Joy.

—By John Fowler

"Jesus the very thought of Thee
With sweetness fills the breast,
But sweeter still Thy face to see,
And in Thy presents rest."

Forty-four years ago, the young orator-minister, J. D. Gordon, met the lovely Florence Lewis, teacher of music in the Lucy Delaney Institute, at Savannah, Ga. Out of that meeting grew a friendship that developed a love that bound their lives and destinies together, until that bond, as far as earthly ties are concerned, were severed by death last Monday evening.

Reverend and Mrs. Gordon were numbered among the many we have honored recently as members of the "Old Sweethearts Parade."

It was my pleasure last summer to present them with a trophy from the East 115th Street Improvement Association, on their annual "Old Sweethearts Parade."

Mrs. Gordon was an ideal pastor's wife. She won the hearts of their church as well as those of the community, by her simplicity, and her devotion to her husband and his work. Side by side they walked and worked for 45 years. Hers was the duty of inspiring a young minister, who had dedicated his life in spreading the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

Today, I saw hundreds of people of every walk-of life fill the enormous Second Baptist church to overflowing. People of all creeds and denominations came to pay their tribute of love and devotion to one who throughout the years have gone about doing good deeds.

Touching indeed, was the unusual atmosphere, mingled with the deep, rich, soothing tones of the great organ, and the fragrance of the hundreds of posies and stately floral pieces here in that vast auditorium.

I saw strong men, women and little children struggling to hold back the tears as they filed past the handsome casket in which lay all that was mortal of Florence Lewis-Gordon. Even in death still beautiful.

The parting ceremonies were unlike the usual doleful services. It was to me a happy "going home" party, where hundreds of friends came to the pier to say, "Bon Voyage" to a friend homeward bound.

The cortege entered the auditorium promptly at 1 o'clock, to the strains of the organ, and "Lead Kindly Light," played under the deft fingers of Estelle Saunders.

In deep intonation, the First Psmal was read by Rev. George W. Miller: "Blessed is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the esat of the scornful. But this delight is in the law of the Lord; and in his law doth he meditate day and night." Followed by the ministers and the Council of Minister Wives of the various churches, and the deaconess of Tabernacle Baptist church, into this atmosphere of beauty and harmony.

At the altar, covered with banks of floral pieces, transformed into a garden of loveliness, was our departed sister asleep under a blanket of white and pink gardenias.

Among the stately set piece made of roses and sweet peas, was a harp, atop of which was a snow white dove, the tribute of Tabernacle Baptist church.

A pillow of red roses and sweet peas from Friendship Baptist church, Pasadena.

A wreath of white sweet peas and ferns from the Luke family. A broken wheel of roses and sweet peas from the S.M.I.S. A broken wheel of gladiolas and ferns from the Bible class.

Rev. George W. Miller was the master of ceremonies. Telegrams, condolences and messages of sympathy were read by Rev. Caston of rinity Baptist church.

"Under His Wing" was sung by the combined choirs, under under the direction of, Ira Bell, minister of music of Tabernacle Baptist Church.

The obituary, a beautiful prose- classic, was written by Mrs. Janie Holmes, and read with much feeling by Mrs. Ester Bruce-Beck.

Mr. George Garner, accompanied by Mrs. Garner, gave the rendition of the Ninty-first Psalm.

Rev. S. A. Williams, pastor of St. Paul Baptist Church, delivered the sermon-eulogy, something unique in the annals of church convention. His address was opened with the declaration that, "this was not an occasion for weeping, mourning or sadness". Indeed his theory was affirmed when he requested the audience to rise and sing, "Will the Lord Remember Me."

I think we all visioned the pastors wife before the great white throne, hearing the, "well done", falling from the lips of the Master.

Miss Alva Caton sang "What Then".

The following ministers delivered tributes to Mrs. Gordon: Reverends, Ross, Washington, Beane, Lively, W. R. Carter, Holmes, and S. P. Johnson.

Mrs. Edna H. Porter represented the ministers wives. Mrs. Delia Scott, sang, "When They Ring Those Golden Bells For Me."

Out there in beautiful Paradise Memorial Park, as the shadow lengthened, and the sun sank in the west, tenderly, and lovingly, we returned all that was Mortal of our sister, to mother earth.

With the abiding faith of those who knew the truth, we said in our hearts, "Good night Sister Florence, see you in the morning." A. J. Roberts, officiating.

I TAKE THE PEOPLE'S SIDE

By M. MORAN WESTON

AFRICA ON THE AIR

Broadcasting from Leopoldville, Belgian Congo, March 22, over WEAF World Round-Up, Jack Imes gave a hint about what Africa means to America and to the war today. Mr. Imes reported that over 90% of the present world output of Uranium is mined in the Belgian Congo and shipped to the USA to be processed. This is the source, then, of most of the world's radium. Medicine and industry must have radium. Fact of the matter is that the Belgian Congo, stolen from the African people by the Belgian government and Belgian and other financiers, is supporting the whole Belgian Government-in-Exile. The foundation of the wealth of the Congo is of course the tremendous copper deposits. It is significant that there facilities for short-wave broadcasting in Leopoldville and none in Liberia.

PEN, TONGUE AND PICTURES

The pen is mightier than the sword. So is the tongue. So are pictures. For good or for evil, these three have power. For this reason, this Column will blast away again and again against those movies which use this three - power combination to slander Negro Americans or any other minority This time we say to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer (MGM):—PUT A MATCH TO "CABIN IN THE SKY," with its crap-shooting and "Shine" song. If you show this slimy excuse for a movie about the Negro people to millions of Americans, you will give them many a hearty laugh. And they will pay you money. But you will also give Hitler free amunition to put YOU out of business. Hitler will not pay you with money but with extermination. Or, don't you know about the fate of 2,000,000 Jews in Nazi Europe!

All this goes for STORMY WEATHER put out by Twentieth Century Fox Company.

TAXATION WITHOUT REPRESENTATION IS TYRANNY

. . . AND tyranny is hell. This is true for all people, of every race, creed and age. But the gentlemen in Albany, New York, who have just palmed off a phony re-apportionment bill on the people of that state, do not seem to know this—or is it that they just don't care? American boys, yes New York boys, are across the seven seas to protect this right of representation — and hopefully to help share it with the millions now without it. Yet these gentlemen, legislators, Republicans and Democrats, including the celebrated Governor Dewey himself, brazenly took away representation from Negroes in Manhattan. At this very moment when we need and fight for more democracy, they put the screws on the people for less. They did this—especially the Republicans—with shocking disregard for the campaign pledges made by them last year. This is a matter which concerns Americans everywhere. Voters should remember the deeds of their legislators in every state and vote accordingly next time.

STAND BEHIND FDR'S VETO

It was a neat scheme, but it didn't work. Not yet anyhow. It was cooked up by the boys in and out of Congress who hate everybody except those who want to "do business with Hitler, Franco and Petain." They gave the ball to Senator Bankhead of Alabama and to Representative Stephen Pace of Georgia. But the "interference" was run by the whole reaction-poll-tax team from North and South alike. The plan was to sneak over a 20% rise in the cost of food and other things needed to keep the home fires burning. This would jack up the cost of the war—but what do they care as long as it bloated the profits of certain people.

In plainer talk, take a dose of the Pace-Bankhead "fixit right up tonic" and you kill not high prices but yourself. For today you pay 10c; tomorrow with Bankhead you pay 12c. Today you pay $1; tomorrow with Mr. B. you pay $1.20. Today you get 5 pounds for a $1; tomorrow you get only 4 pounds and a measley 2 ounces for the same $1. All this "progress" thanks to Mr. Pace and Mr. Bankhead. These gentlemen and their cronies clipped Congress with smooth talk and bluster and sent this phony prescription to the Chief for his "john hancock." But the Chief showed he has guts. He sent it right back with his VETO and not his Hancock.

MR. PRESIDENT: That is the stuff we little people want. Guts and guts aplenty. Let the Pace-Bankhead boys know that even though they may play fast and loose with the fate of the nation, you will not. We, we the little people, will back you up to the hilt. And, Mr. President, while you're putting them in their place, why not do a good job. VETO, also, their plan to scrap your anti-Discrimination Committee (FEPC). Let them know that you know that the bulk of the American people are really out here to win this war all the way—with no punches pulled; no petty feelings, privileges or prejudices spared.

AND WE THE LITTLE PEOPLE HAVE A JOB TO DO: LET OUR CONGRESSMEN KNOW BY WRITING THEM RIGHT AWAY, THAT WE ARE BACKING UP FDR'S VETO ALL THE WAY.

Music A Vital Art

By Gilbert Allen

In the midst of marching feet, noise of Defense machinery, War news, new rationings, War Bond buying, which gives us a new consciousness of our country at war, we hear music.

This music we hear is for tired nerves, anxious hearts, hopeful and despairing souls. Some of this music is for dancing feet. It is fast and furious. It is for young America, the "jitterbugs" and the "zoot suiters," who really jump to the dynamic drum beat. The rest of us, who are more conservative, listen, feel its rhythm and just smile. It makes us forget. Whether it be during a sip of a cocktail in a dimly lighted night club or in a comfortable seat during a classic concert, the music we listen to makes us forget. While we listen, we find escape from a realistic world that we feel is crumbling.

In this world of escape, the world of art, we do find happiness, peace of mind, joy, if only for a moment. We can smile through our doubts and anticipation for the future. For a moment we can forget that we are victims of circumstance, bounded for the inevitable.

The inevitable is death for some, a better world for others. No matter what our destiny, we listen to music, and that is why music is so important; that is why the concert auditoriums are packed; dance halls are overcrowded, theaters are filled. America realizes the value of its music.

The musician is almost a God. He protects and saves the soul against the onslaughts of confusion. In a world at war, men lose their hearts, reasoning, faith, love for one another, and their lives.

In the midst of this losing music helps our souls, something within us that maintains our interest and belief in the eternal.

Music is vital. Music offers us refuge from a world of turmoil.

POETS POOL

(Ed. Note: Verse lovers are asked to submit their original verse to this column).

Ruby Berkley Goodwin returns to the Pool this issue with two beautiful poems of recent origin. She plans another volume of verse for post-war publication.

CONFESSION

I could forget you
If I could forget your voice,
Or the way you stood tall
And breathed deeply
As you looked into my eyes.

I could forget you
If I could forget the snatches of song
That fell from your lips when you were happy,
Or the way you cursed softly when something annoyed you,
Or your hearty laughter over a well-told joke.

I could forget you
If I could forget the sound of your step
Quick and impatient on my walk,
Or if at times when I am alone
I did not feel your kiss upon my lips,
I believe I could forget you.
Yes, I am almost sure
I could forget you.

ANXIETY

You vowed eternal love to me today,
Your arms, your lips, your eyes said
More than words can ever say.

It seemed so good, so true, so right—
Would you seek solace in other loves
If I should die tonight?

AS I SEE IT!

The National Association of Manufacturers has been stuffing their "shipwrecked hero," Eddie Rickenbacker down the throats of every man, woman and child in America. This "absentee expert" has pointed the finger of scorn at every honest worker, blaming them for every American soldier killed on the battlefields of the world.

Captain Rickenbacker has become a mathematical genius, figuring out to the tenth of a minute, all the man-hours lost in the production field. He has been spouting these astronomical figures, with a throb in his voice, over the radio, to press representatives and to a congressional committee. Yet, not once, has he mentioned a word about the treacherous methods of the employers to keep able and willing hands from doing skilled work, just because they are Negro hands. Not one plea has he made to the American people to put an end to discrimination against minorities.

There are hundreds, thousands of cases that have been brought out into the open, but Rickenbacker is deaf, dumb and blind to them. Just to cite one typical case for him, one that came to my attention during my tour through the National Youth Administration Traing Schools here in Los Angeles:

The machine shop instructor told me about a young Negro lad, physically handicapped, who had finished his training at the school as a skilled machinist. In answer to a call from an important war plant, the school recommended him for the job, feeling sure he would qualify.

The Youth Personnel Field Supervisor was informed by the shop manager of the company, that this man would have to be twice as good as the white workers, if they were to keep him. According to the supervisor, he answered: "Okay, if you pay him twice the salary of the white workers, he will be twice as good."

The instructor went on to tell me that the young man worked in the machine shop just a short time, when the shop manager, without giving any reason, transferred him to the foundry. Physically unable to cope with the heavy work in the foundry—but quite capable as a machinist—the Negro worker quit his job.

When this came to the attention of the instructor, he said he called the company to reprimand them, but they refused to do anything about it. The field supervisor told me he later placed the same young man in the Lockheed Aircraft plant and that he is still working there as a machinist.

Now, Captain Rickenbacker, who is to blame for the man-hours lost from the time this Negro worker was FORCED to leave the one plant, to the time he went into the other? Why don't you compile some figures on the man-hours lost through such DISCRIMINATORY PRACTICES and then make speeches to the EMPLOYERS? The win-the-war American people are tired of your ravings, Capt. Rickenbacker—WE WANT THE TRUTH!

An Exclusive California Eagle Serial

(From the Book by Richard Wright)

By RICHARD WRIGHT

"It so happened that that night a white girl was present in a bed and a Negro boy was standing over her, fascinated with fear, hating her; a blind woman walked into the room and that Negro boy killed that girl to keep from being discovered in a position which he knew we claimed warrants the death penalty. That is only one side of it! He was impelled toward murder as much through the thirst for excitement, exultation, and elation as he was through fear! It was his way of living!

"Your Honor, in our blindness we have so contrived and ordered the lives of men that the moths in their hearts flutter toward ghoulish and incomprehensible flames!

"I have not explained the relationship of Bessie Mears to this boy. I have not forgotten her. I omitted to mention her until now because she was largely omitted from the consciousness of Bigger Thomas. His relationship to this poor black girl also reveals his relationship to the world. But Bigger Thomas is not here on trial for having murdered Bessie Mears. And he knows that. What does this mean? Does not the life of a Negro girl mean as much in the eyes of the law as the life of a white girl? Yes, perhaps in the abstract. But under the stress of fear and flight, Bigger Thomas did not think of Bessie. He could not. The attitude of America toward this boy regulated his most intimate dealings with his own kind. After he had killed Mary Dalton he killed Bessie Mears to silence her, to save himself. After he had killed Mary Dalton the fear of having killed a white woman filled him to the exclusion of everything else. He could not react to Bessie's death; his consciousness was determined by the fear that hung above him.

"But, one might ask, did he love Bessie? Was she not his girl? Yes; she was his girl. He had to have a girl, so he had Bessie. But he did not love her. Is love possible to the life of a man I've described in this Court? Let us see. Love is not based upon sex alone, and that is all he had with Bessie. He wanted more, but the circumstances of his life and her life would not allow it. And the temperament of both Bigger and Bessie kept it out. Love grows from stable relationships, shared experience, loyalty, devotion, trust. Neither Bigger nor Bessie had any of these. What was there they could hope for? There was no common vision binding their hearts together; there was no common hope steering their feet in a common path. Even though they were intimately together, they were confoundingly alone. They were physically dependent upon each other and they hated that dependence. Their brief moments together were for purposes of sex. They loved each other as much as they hated each other; perhaps they hated each other more than they loved. Sex warms the deep roots of life; it is the soil out of which the tree of life grows. But these were trees without roots, trees that lived by the light of the sun and what chance rain that fell upon stony ground. Can disembodied spirits love? There existed between them fitful splurges of physical elation; that's all.

"Your Honor, is this boy alone in feeling deprived and baffled? Is he an exception? Or are there others? There are others, Your Honor, millions of others, Negro and white, and that is what makes our future seem a looming image of violence. The feeling of resentment and the balked longing for some kind of fulfilment and exultation—in degrees more or less intense and in actions more or less conscious—stalk day by day through this land. The consciousness of Bigger Thomas, and millions of others more or less like him, white and black, according to the weight of the pressure we have put upon them, forms the quicksands upon which the foundations of our civilization rest. Who knows when some slight shock, disturbing the delicate balance between social order and thirsty aspiration, shall send the skyscrapers in our cities toppling? Does that sound fantastic? I assure you that it is no more fantastic than those troops and that waiting mob whose presence and guilty anger portend something which we dare not even think!

"Your Honor, Bigger Thomas was willing to vote for and follow any man who would have led him out of his morass of pain and hate and fear. If that mob outdoors is afraid of one man, what will it feel if millions rise? How soon will someone speak the word that resentful millions will understand: the word to be, to act, to live? Is this Court so naive as to think that they will not take a chance that is even less risky than that Bigger Thomas took? Let us not concern ourselves with that part of Bigger Thomas' confession that says he murdered accidentally, that he did not rape the girl. It really does not matter. What does matter is that he was guilty before he killed! That was why his whole life became so quickly and naturally organized, pointed, charged with a new meaning when this thing occurred. Who knows when aonther 'accident' involving millions of men will happen, an 'accident' that will be the dreadful day of our doom?

"Lodged in the heart of this moment is the question of power which time will unfold.

"Your Honor, another civil war in these states is not impossible; and if the misunderstanding of what this boy's life means is an indication of how men of wealth and property are misreading the consciousness of the submerged millions today, one may truly come.

"I do not propose that we try to solve this entire problem here in this courtroom today. That is not within the province of our duty, nor even, I think, within the scope of our ability. But our decision as to whether this black boy is to live or die can be made in accordance with what actually exists. It will at least indicate that we see and know! And our seeing and knowing will comprise a consciousness of how inescapably this one man's life will confront us ten-millionfold in the days to come.

"I ask that you spare this boy, send him to prison for life. What would prison mean to Bigger Thomas? It holds advantages for him that a life of freedom never had. To send him to prison would be more than an act of mercy. You would be for the first time conferring life upon him. He would be brought for the first time within the orbit of our civilization. He would have an identity, even though it be but a number. He would have, for the first time, an openly designated relationship with the world. The very building in which he would spend the rest of his natural life would be the best he has ever known. Sending him to prison would be the first recognition of his personality he has ever had. The long black empty years ahead would constitute for his mind and feelings the only certain and durable object around which he could build a meaning for his life. The other inmates would be the first men with whom he could associate on a basis of equality. Steel bars between him and the society he offended would provide a refuge from hate and fear.

"I say, Your Honor, give this boy his life. And in making this concession we uphold those two fundamental concepts of our civilization, those two basic concepts upon which we have built the mightiest nation in history—personality and security—the conviction that the person is inviolate and that which sustains him is equally so.

"Let us not forget that the magnitude of our modern life, our railroads, power plants, ocean liners, airplanes, and steel mills flowered from these two concepts, grew from our dream of creating an invulnerable base upon which man and his soul can stand secure."

● LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Mrs. Charlotta A. Bass,
California Eagle,
4075 S. Central Avenue,
Los Angeles, Calif.

Dear Mrs. Bass:

It is indeed very gratifying to me to have the impressive endorsement of the people such as has just been expressed at the polls. I regard this not as a tribute to myself so much as a vindication of the principles and the ideals which I have sought to bring into civic affairs.

I am at the same time very mindful of the fact that much of this support is attributable to the splendid cooperation which you have shown throughout and I wish to take this means to most sincerely thank you for your personal friendship and for the help which you so generously have given.

I am certain that in the days that lie ahead we shall make further progress in uniting our people for the common goal of real community betterment.

Sincerely yours,
CARL C. RASMUSSEN,
Councilman, 7th District.

Adventures of An Eagle In Washington

By JOHN KINLOCH
First in a Series Special EAGLE Correspondent

WASHINGTON—ALLright, suppose you're with me. We've just arrived in Washington. From Chicago to the capital, the nation has been blanketed with snow and your sports suit has collected dumb stares at the rate of six every two miles.

First, you've got to find some place to stay. You know what you've heard: That Washington bread boxes are rented out to lodgers.

Quick like a flash, we are at the 12th Street branch of the Young Men's Christian Association. No rooms. But you can check your baggage there, and they refer you to a nice, respectable home at 1919 Thirteenth street.

It's just around the corner, so we set out into the frigid streets, our California pants flapping around like sub-machine guns.

We pull up before a dainty red-brick house, sets coyly from the sidewalk with white marble steps sparkling white. B-b-b-br-r-ring, we hit the bell.

A nice, little middle-aged lady comes to the door, and we tell her we're from the "Y" and show her the card they've given us and she lets us in.

The room is $1.50 per diem, she points out, and hastily adds, "This is a God-fearing home, young man. You look like a fine boy, but we'd better get things straight now. I don't have any drinking or carousing in my house, no women in my house, no loud talk or profane language. Now, if you want that kind of life you go on over to the Logan hotel!"

We assure the good lady that we were raised light, and moreover that she reminds us of our dear little mother back home. Well, that does it.

Furthermore, we know the Logan hotel is full up.

"God bless you young men," she says, "and that'll be $3 in advance."

WE THINK OF YVONNE

We are in Washington strictly on business. The California EAGLE has sent us there to draw a bead on the California Congressmen who have hatcheted the anti-poll tax fight. WE are supposed to go to the House of Representatives, flash our reporter's pass from the good county of Los Angeles, and start giving holy hell to the legislators of the land.

We are to write a feature on John Rankin. One on Vito Marcantonio. Another on Will Rogers, Jr. We should go visit these guys immediately, if not sooner.

Instead, we think about Yvonne. Well, maybe I better do this part of the thing solo. I think about Yvonne.

Yvonne is the girl who used to live next door when we were kids in the city of New York and used to play fly ball in the middle of 136th street. She is a big girl now, and she works for Uncle's war department as the secretary of an adjutant general. Ahem.)

Yvonne lives in the "GIRLS' DORMITORY" for government workers, whatever that is. It is located at 1919 Third street, N. W. I leave you in our room, and head for the GIRLS' DORMITORY considering about as follows:

"Wonder what the heck Yvonne looks like now? . . . haven't seen her in years. . . . Just because she writes there's some military character infesting her love life just now, why be discouraged? . . . Aren't we old neighborhood sweethearts? . . . Think of the heady rush of memories that will throb through her choice young noggin at the very sight of me! . . . Even psychology is on my side. . . . After all, ain't I young Kinlochinvar from out of the West? Well, ain't I?"

I arrive at the Girls' Dormitory. YIIP! It's a huge, block-long structure knee-deep in modern design, three stories high, bright and shiny as a new copper penny! In and out of the doors pulsate whole waves of lovely clerical items. Peace, it's wonderful!

Merrily, I bound through the doors. I am promptly struck dumb. (No cracks).

The joint is terrific!

It looks like one of those svelte modern hotel lobbies. Everything soft blue under, quiet, indirect lighting. There is a sort of preliminary room where the desk attendant holds forth and there are spacious sofas for gentlemen callers to await their various babes. After the girl comes downstairs, the pair graduate into the next room. A heavenly, wide place, full of nooks and crannies, soft lamps, chairs, sofas; this room is the lovers' delight. You just sit in it, bowled over by culture, and quietly coo. There's a big grand piano in one corner, and some lovely number is parked there playing things like "Night and Day," "Stardust" and similar sentimental jive.

The whole thing strikes you like a movie set, and it's a long time before you think that it's a strictly jimcrow set-up.

I give my name to the little man at the desk. He presses a button, and says Miss So-and-so will be right down.

I get nervous. There's a small mirror near-about into which I start tossing apprehensive glances. I have shaved, I note, with something less than the usual blood-letting. I am standing up straight; my clothes have just been pressed; and I've got on the coat with the shoulders. Better, I couldn't look.

Into the room floats a pert, little vision done up in brown and red; I don't know what, but she's in some kind of sticky material that brings out all the high spots. Long black hair framing a delicate taffy-brown complexion. Oh, BABY!

Somehow, she doesn't plop.

Why, HELLO, John, she says gayly, but keeping a good distance. Deep in the heart of Kinloch, there is a glandular disturbance. Shooting stars start shooting.

We are walted along into the nook-and-cranny room.

Yvonne says how nice I look, except she expected I should be taller and with a mustache. I promptly tell her that cosmic design meant us two as one, etc.

Yvonne gently points out what a fine character she thinks I am and what good friends we will always be, and she thinks about me like a brother, and she feels so SAFE with me, and I'm the type that will UNDERSTAND how she feels about Sgt. Coles. (Out of sheer gallantry, I won't reveal the slug's first name).

Yvonne says she'll duck working tomorrow so we two old friends can be together.

Hope blossoms like a tropic flower.

We got to dinner in the modern dining hall of the Girl's Dormitory. First thing I lay eyes on is a California gal who used to work at Green's Southern Kitchen but who is now punching the keys for Uncle. We have never said two words to each other, but we stage a tearful reunion like Martin Dies and Adolf Hitler.

Food is higher than a kite, and I suddenly have a squeamish stomach and eat only pie and coffee.

Yvonne chatters on and on about how crumby life is at the nation's capital, but how she likes her job, and how she loves that blasted army underling.

I make a corny joke here and there in my own irresistible manner and she laffs her head off. I begin to detect little hints of that Old Feeling.

Tomorrow, I think, we shall be alone together, all day.

Tomorrow, I think, WOO! WOO!

I go home and write a letter to my dear Aunt Charlotte about how hard I am working on a story about the Marcantonio Anti-Poll Tax bill.

I go to bed, but I don't sleep. There's a jig-saw buzzing about my innards. It keeps humming a little tune, tomorrow . . . tomorrow . . . tomorrow . . . tomorrow.

(The ADVENTURES of an EAGLE reporter in Washington will be continued next week).

ONE NEGRO WINS PLACE IN MURAL COMPETITION

The Section of Fine Arts, Public Buildings Administration, in co-operation with the Board of Commissioners of the District of Columbia announces seven winners in the national anonymous mural competition for the decoration of the Record of Deeds Building. These decorations will complete the building as originally planned. According to a statement of General C. W. Kutz, district engineer commissioner, "the high quality of the work shown, the variety of approach, the geographical distribution of the seven successful artists and the fact that four of them were men, including one Negro painter, and three were women, is a source of satisfaction to all concerned and illustrates the impartialty and the care which the jury showed in making the selections." The competition involved designs for seven spaces in the new Recorder of Deeds building in Washington and, in theme, reflects a phase of the contribution of the Negro to the American nation. This subject matter had been prepared by Dr. William J. Thompkins, recorder of deeds.

William Edouard Scott, 6030 Eberhart avenue, Chicago, Negro artist, was successful in his portrayal of the appeal of Frederick Douglas to President Lincoln and his cabinet to enlist Negro soldiers. Mr. Scott was born in Indianapolis, Ind., in 1884. He studied with numerous masters in Paris including H. O. Tanner, the American Negro painter, renowned for his religious paintings. Mr. Scott is a member of the Hoosier Salon of Chicago Society of Artists. He has been the recipient of numerous awards and has a long list of murals to his credit, among them a mural decoration of the Century of Progress Exposition in Chicago.

Time-honored Services Which Are in High Fashion Today

Years before war made salvage of all materials a national necessity, Goodwill Industries, a Community Chest agency, was reconditioning discarded clothing, household and other equipment, utilizing all waste in one way or another. Nothing is lost there but the squeak in old shoes.

The Goodwill Industries program is conducted to furnish sheltered employment to men and women, handicapped by age or physical infirmity, that they may remain self-supporting.

JUDGE TO RULE ON TAMPA TEACHERS' SALARY CASE

Tampa, Fla.—Federal Judge Barker announced at the close of a three day trial this week that he would make a ruling in the teachers' salary suit here "in a few days." During the trial Judge Barker repeatedly overruled the objection of Thurgood Marshall, NAACP special counsel, to the calling of the plaintiff, Miss Hilda Turner, by her first name.

School officials here had admitted earlier in the week that under the rating system which determines teacher pay scales in Hillsborough County, the majority of white teachers are rated in the highest group and the majority of Negro teachers are in the lowest. Out of 178 Negro teachers all but 20 were in the lowest bracket. Of all the white teachers all but 100 were in the highest group and only six of these were in the lowest group. But the officials deny discrimination.

FIRST OF ALL don't let me forget to reveal the "Deep Dark Secret" about the false stories concerning "Stormy Weather" as I promised you last session. You may not find it in the Ol' kolyum, for the following is merely an index to the news volume this week. If not then you will find it exposed in another part of the page.

WORD-RATIONED MIXTURE; tall tales in short pants, and uncensored thoughts of a guy walkin' and talkin' to himself. Avenue jumped last week, especially Thursday and Sunday nights. Dim-out, gas ration, early closing and other restrictions didn't mean a thing;—can't blame the public for wanting to whoopee off the war jitters, and defense workers deserve a recess—all should be more careful of public conduct though, so "Mr. George" won't be saying "we ain't ready yet," for all this sudden prosperity that makes good times possible. Alabam packed with Happy Johnson's famed internationally known band, with Carolyn Richardson, vocalist; Johnny Taylor, Anita Echols, Avery Parrish, Chinkie Grimes, The Three Rockets, Irma Young, Bobby Pittman, Vera Keys, Georgia Watkins, and Sleepy Williams and Annabella in "The beast takes a bride."—Jeni Le Gon's revue at the Plantation—Herbie Jeffries and Earl Griffins' Black Flamingo, Ivies, Alec Lovejoy's, the Double V, Harry and Sonny's Apex and other breakfast clubs got their share as did Gene's, The Elks, The Dunbar, and other nite spots.

Joan, pretty, talented, and much in demand for movie work, is withal one of the most unselfish girls in the sepia movie colony. She also took the stand as a character witness for Inez at her trial.—Wicks the singer, Andrew Taylor and a number of others fitted last week for coachmen, footmen, bell-hops, etc., started on location at Busch's Garden,—replica of a famous resort in Warner Bros. "Saratoga Trunk."—(Thoughts while rambling) "wonder when these restaurant proprietors are going to get up enough nerve to force their waitresses to treat patrons with more courtesy;—some certain store clerks also who got those jobs through picketing and protests by citizens could at least show they realize a customer is really in existence, no matter how busy they may be. "I'll be with you shortly," would help the patient prospective buyers a lot."—"Soldiers' uniforms look much better than zoot suits—they look silly and effiminate, and Cab Calloway is making fun of them by showing how ridiculous they are in "Stormy Weather."—Wonder when Ruby Elzy and Jack Carr are going to drop a line to the Ol' Kolyum. A bunch of us out on the coast bent over backward trying to help them put their wild dream of a dude ranch over summer before last. They're doing just too fine now in "Porgy and Bess," but like many other race celebs they forget.—Which reminds me also of Ralph Cooper.—But more about "Coop" later.—Herman Hill is starting a campaign to get smutty records out of public hearing of juveniles.

* * * *

EXTRA! EXTRA! EXTRA! "STORMY WEATHER" has been sold bodily, lock, stock, and barrel by Twentieth Century-Fox. It will be released by the distributing company that bought it.—It will be big box-office, but they're glad to wash their hands of it, they say. And once more they swear "NEVER AGAIN!"—That far-fetched blast about Bill and Lena, and the Cab Calloway zoot suit, was the bitter end they say.—And this is the end of this.—BUY YOUR BOY-FRIEND, YOUR HUBBY, OR YOUR SON, A RIFLE WITH A WAR-BOND. And oh yes, drop a card to Warner's asking them when they are going to find another good role for Hattie McDaniel.

LENA HORNE, LOUISE BEAVERS, LOUIS ARMSTRONG AND IVIE ANDERSON AT GALA EVENT

A grand cabaret party and dance given by the Women's Civic Luncheon Club will be held at the new Club Alabam, 4215 South Central Avenue, Tuesday evening, April 20, 1943.

Music's "Handy" Man

Handy Brothers Music Company, Inc., 1587 Broadway, New York City, have recently published a book which no Negro should be without—it is an autobiography by that great American composer, W. C. Handy, entitled "Father Of the Blues." Humble and unaffected by many years of success, he considers the immortal "St. Louis Blues" his masterpiece; and reminices, almost apologetically, that some one once wrote that his composition "The St. Louis Blues" had affected as many lives as the music of Bach and Wagner.

Having intimately known and experienced the struggles of his people, confides that he would like to climax his career by bringing back, if it could be done, all those great lights he knew in the hey dey of minstrels. "I'd like to bring them back for an all-star show on old, blase Broadway. Says Handy, "I'd thrill them to their fingertips. I'd lead my band down the Great White Way. Somehow, I'd make them understand that no race that can laugh and sing and dance like that can really be deserving of hate. I'd make them realize that the spirit of the colored man is the spirit of America . . . and that spirit will always be an asset to the country we love. The one big thing I'd like to do before I go to 'green pastures' is to convince a nation that we are Americans too!"

Sunshine Sammy's New Picture Now "Honor System"

Twentieth Century-Fox has released to Monogram all its rights in the title, "The Honor System," under an exchange agreement by which Monogram recently relinquished to the other company its claim to "Grand Street Boys."

"The Honor System" has been set as the title for the next East Side Kids picture, to be produced by Sam Katzman and Jack Dietz, with Sunshine Sammy of "Our Gang" fame, featured.

"Cresta Blanca Carnival" on CBS April 14

Morton Gould, noted young composer-conductor and his orchestra of 50 musicians bring the "Cresta Blanca Carnival" to Columbia network each Wednesday night, starting April 14. (WABC-CBS, 10:30 to 11 p.m., EWT).

Connee Boswell

Each week, well-known artists from the concert world and the popular music field are guests. On the opening program, Mischa Elman, the distinguished violinist, performs. Balland singer Connee Boswell and W. C. Handy, composer of the "St. Louis Blues," are heard.

The program stresses Gould's musical talent. His arrangements of popular tunes are essentially symphonic in style and effect. Among those who have given performances of Gould's works are Howard Barlow, Arturo Toscanini, Leopold Stokowski, Artur Rodzinski, Fritz Reiner, Eugene Goossens and John Barbirolli.

Frank Gallops is the announcer.

Schenley's Cresta Blanca Wines sponsors the program.

"Pittsburg" Swell Action Entertainment

"Pittsburg" furnishing the cast of Marlene Dietrich, Randolph Scott, John Wayne and Frank Craven, this melodrama combines with the fictional story of four characters the factual story of Pittsburg's part in the war production program, is now playing at the United Artists Theatre, 933 So. Broadway, downtown Los Angeles.

Scott and Wayne team up as buddies who have business and romantic difficulties after the pair rise from miners to heads of huge industrial enterprise. Marlene Dietrich has a role that suits her admirably and which she performs with splendid verve and distinction.

"Pittsburg" is one of those blood-and-thunder, he-men stories that men go for, with a love theme that the women will relish. By a clever scheme a coal miner finds himself and his best friend in business together. Very busy making money in the ensuing years, he neglects the girl they both love and marries the big-shots daughter. He forgets his promises to furnish security to his employees and ends up by losing his wife, his friends and his partner. When Pearl Harbor comes, all differences are put aside in the war effort.

On the same program Universal presents "When Johnny Comes Marching Home" with Allan Jones and Gloria Jean. Laying emphasis on fun and music, this film makes the audience a gift of buoyant, lively and fast-stepping piece of entertainment.

Don't miss "Pittsburg" plus "When Johnny Comes Marching Home" now at the United Artists Theatre, downtown Los Angeles.

"DEEP DARK SECRET" ABOUT CAB CALLOWAY "ZOOT SUIT" TOLD

Ridiculous Rather Than "Pied Piper" Menace

Frankly admitting that if an eastern columnist who launched two successive attacks in the Pittsburg Courier on "Stormy Weather" represents the feelings of the whole race then they do not know what colord fans want, the Hays office has taken no steps to censor zoot suits for race actors. The Motion Picture Producers Association after viewing the rushes of the picture now in the cutting room, and the stills of Cab Calloway in a white super zoot suit did not consider it a menace to the young of the race, nor that it would stimulate a senseless fad that the more conservative class of race citizens hoped would die out.

To the contrary every one versed in motion picture production, and entertainment in general, knows that the great sloppy peg-top trousers, coat almost touching the floor, a hat wider than any ever worn by a woman, were designed as a burlesque to make fun of zoot suits. And everyone knows, except perhaps the columnist that ridicule is the sharpest weapon that can be used against anything. The twelve boys who danced in that particular sequence of the picture were costumed in extra large zoots of light colored coats, and dark slacks, with three foot key-chains hanging far below the long coat tails. Yet you could not have paid any of those boys enough to get him to wear the outfit outside the studio lot.

"The deep dark secret" say certain Fox Studio officials is that some misguided person imagines that procedure is the way to boost the stock of MGM's "Cabin in the Sky." But this person is riding to a fall, for Hollywood big-wigs do not waste their ammunition by knocking some other fellow's production. "Blood is thicker than water." Soon they will get their heads together; the over-zealous one's pay-check will fail to reach New York and the "Deep Dark Secret" will be in total aclipse.

JOE LOUIS TO ATTEND EASTER SERVICE AT HOLLYWOOD BOWL

A block of several thousand choice seats will be reserved for uniformed members of the fighting forces at the Hollywood Bowl services, according to committee chairman Joseph Brewer.

HUDSON UPSET; THOMAS TO TANGLE WITH SLUGGER WHITE

Down in Front

With J. CULLEN FENTRESS

Well, sir, the column doesn't know where to begin today's lecture!

Of course, our "lead" could be Babe McCoy, the portly and affable matchmaker of the Olympic auditorium down on the corner of 18th and Grand.

He has done a great job at that spot. F'rinstance, there was the Jimmy Bivins-Watson Jones goodie last week, the Cecil Hudson Carlos Malacara (Malacara means "bad face" in Spanish, so we're told) Tuesday night. There's the John Thomas-Slugger White honey next Tuesday night, to say nothing of the Charley Burley-Holman Williams shindig the week after. All figure and figured to give the clients fistic entertainment of the first water.

A great "lead" would be one of our two favorite radio comedians—Eddie "Rochester" Anderson and his Kentucky Derby entrant, "Burnt Cork". Training at Douglas Park, Kentucky, "Rochester's" nag isn't to be lightly regarded. Strictly a long-shot, "Burnt Cork" does have a chance because you hoss players know, most anything can happen when the gee-gaws break from the gate.

We've had some great sepia jockeys. Now, maybe, we have a "name" breeder and owner.

Oh, we don't know. Maybe we could have started this piece with a thumbs up to Charley MacDonald, the Hollywood Legion stadium matchmaker, for changing the faces of his main eventers for a change.

They're all good boys, but the fans got tired of watching the Garrisons, the Ramirezs, et al week after week. This week he has an attractive twin bill, and all are comparatively new—and welcome—faces. We could see lots more of one, in particular, and that's Billy Hardges, the lightweight kayo sensation belonging to Gladstone Bell.

Then, too, there's the season's track opener Saturday at the Coliseum, featuring the gang-up by USC and UCLA on six of California's small colleges. Don't know if we have any sepia track greats out of the Army here on the coast but the Saturday thin-clad party might uncover one or two.

In fact, the biggest piece of news in track circles for the past week has been the unexpected defeat of Jefferson high school's squad by Frmont. Taking place last Friday on the Democrats' oval, it was the first dual meet loss for them since 1934 and was administered by Harry Edelson, the Fremont coach, who brought Jeff to the prep big-time.

And, since we can't make up our alleged mind on just what the lecture subject should be for this space today, we could have just as well given it over to the hottest subject outside of the Big Fight. And that's baseball, America's No. 1 sport—AND NO. 1 ENIGMA.

A staunch and unswerving advocate of the Four Freedoms as set forth by FDR, and Thomas Jefferson before him, we took delight in something that happened on SC's Bovard Field Tuesday.

The Trojans have been raising holy hob with coast league and service nines, to say nothing of the college loopers. Yesterday, Southern Cal essayed to find out what made the March Field Flyers baseballers click and to their chagrin, dismay, call-it-what-you-will, found themselves on the small end of a 6-5 count.

And, get this:

ON THE MOUND FOR THE FLYERS WAS JOE FILLMORE, FORMER NEGRO LEAGUE STAR!!!

A staff sergeant, Fillmore pitched for the Philadelphia Royal Giants for three years. Before that the powerful right hander was the star hurler for the old Ragged Nine which used to hold forth at Ross Snyder playground this city.

That's black ink on the Negro's side of the ledger in his just fight to get into America's major leagues!!!

Hudson Is Upset By Malacara

Cecil Hudson, top-ranking coast welterweight, dropped a unanimous 10-round verdict at Olympic Auditorium Tuesday night to Carlos Malacara, mustachnioed Mexican star, in the latter's local debut.

Referee Johnny Indrisano and two judges cast their ballots for Malacara.

A 3-to-5 favorite, Hudson was outspeeded and out-maneuvered by Malacara throughout as 3000 persons sat in amazement.

Malacara's best rounds were the 6th, 7th and 8th as he scored at will with short chops to the head.

Hudson, who defeated Rodolfo Ramirez and Jimmy McDaniels his last two starts to go to the front of the welterweigth parade, weighed 145, Malacara two pounds less.

HAYNESWORTH ROBBED

Referee Frankie Van pulled one for the books in the six-round semi-final when he awarded Red Niebert the duke over Acey Haynesworth, Negro light heavy.

Haynesworth deserved at least a draw. He floored Niebert for a count of 9 in the second stanza and more than held his own the rest of the way. Haynesworth weighed 170, Niebert 178.

Other results: Nova Esperarza, 142½, decisioned Lalo Vasquez, 146, in a four; Buddy Spencer, 125, won ove Luis Salas, 128, and Johnny Amando, 137½, stopped Torrito Ramos, 137½, in the first round. Ramos was on the floor three times.

ON THE TURF

By Geo. A. Ramsey

Caliente Mexico—Well here it is folks, believe it or not. Beautiful Caliente will open its gates to the sport of kings Sunday, May the 2nd and that's official. More than 100 horses pass thru the border gates Sunday in order that their owners prepare them for the opening. The track is in a better condition than it was when it was closed last October. Although about fifty workmen are still working on the oval, painters are busy, giving the buildings a clean coat of paint for the spring opening.

Generalissimo Eddie Nealis, the new president and general manager has announced that the books will again be on the lawn. At first it was decided to have just the mutuels, but a late change brought back the books. It would not seem like Caliente to have just mutuels. Ever since racing has been at the border town books were always in evidence.

The popular Armando Verdugo will be the right hand man of Generalissimo Nealis. There is nothing about the track that Armando don't know. And he has always been very popular with the horsemen as well as the public. Judge and Racing Secretary Joe Walter again will hold the same position as in the past. Nearly all the same officials will be retained. This paper will again carry the official advertisement of the feature events and etc.

To start with, Caliente will run only on Sundays with twelve races, and again the daily-double and quiniela will be the popular betting favorite. Another beauty that will greet the fans will be the new landscaping by Mexican artist, huge shrubs and flowers of all kinds will be a beauty itself. More about the opening next week.

Well the railbirds at Louisville, Ky., are begging to call Eddie (Rochester) Anderson's Burnt Cork the dark horse in the derby. Eddie's trainer A. E. Silver sent the son of Mr. Bones a mile the other day in 1.45 3-5. This was the first time in his career that Burnt Cork ever went a mile, and he done it with such ease that the clockers rub their eyes. Burnt Cork will run in the derby trial April 17th, or in one of the features at Keeneland Park. So now you have the news of the turf for this week. All tracks in the east are going over big since they opened. Uncle Sam still needs your dollars to keep our fighting men on the front, so keep on buying and don't let out a grunt. Do your share and we'll get over there. So long, George.

Negro Ace Hurls Win Over S. C.

Allowing 9 hits, Staff Sergeant Joe Fillmore, powerful right-handed Negro hurling ace of the March Field Flyers, broke the University of Southern California nine's 9-game winning streak at Bovard Field on the SC campus Tuesday as he hung up a 6-5 triumph.

Fillmore, well known in local baseball circles, won 17 games last year as a member of the mound staff of the Philadelphia Royal Giants. He had been a major colored league pitcher for the past three years.

When the Flyers broke the Troy string they also beat Dave Sacks, the lad who last week pitched the Trojans to a four-hit victory over the Santa Ana Army Air Base baseballers.

Fillmore is the second former Negro star to break into the March Field Flyers' sports picture. Woodrow Wilson Strode, former University of California at Los Angeles football and track star, wore Flyer moleskins last Fall.

Track Meet At Coliseum

The local big-time track season gets underway here Saturday at the Coliseum when Southern California and the Los Angeles campus of the University of California entertain six of the state's small colleges.

While SC will be favored to cop the triangular meet, Harry Trotter's UCLA Bruins and Pomona, Caltech, Occidental, Whittier, Redlands and Pepperdine will provide a stiff argument all the way.

ARMSTRONG AT POLO GROUNDS

NEW YORK, April 15.—To be fought under the arcs at the Polo Grounds, Henry Armstrong, former triple crown holder, signed a contract here last week to fight Beau Jack, to whom he lost his last start, Bob Montgomery or Sammy Angott on June 11.

Hardges On Legion Twin Bill

Taking the place of the postponed Turkey Thompson-Freddie Fiducia heavyweight scrap, a double 10-round main event tops the fistic offering at Hollywood Legion stadium Friday night.

In the top main mix, Billy Hardges, the good lightweight of the Cecil Hudson stable, goes to the post against Julio Caesar Jiminez. Bantamweights take the No. 2 spot, Paul Guerrero mixing it up with Leonardo Lopez.

Originally Thompson was to have been occasioned because of the illness of the eastern heavy's mother.

Hardges is known as the Ocean Park kayo artist. He went into the Olympic auditorium recently and knocked out Jose Mendoza Zapatero in two heats. Jiminez whipped Gene Valenzuela the same night over the 10-round route.

A few weeks ago, Guerrero and Lopez appeared in a double main event bantamweight elimination. Guerrero trimmed Red Barker, while Lopez floored George Freitas of San Jose three times to win handily.

Matchmaker Charley McDonald offers his usual action prelims to back up the card.

BALTIMORE BOXER FAVORED TO COP TUESDAY NATURAL

Olympic Auditorium, the house of slam-bang hits, features the nation's outstanding lightweight fight next Tuesday night when Luther (Slugger) White, the whizzing Baltimore boy, and our own John Thomas mix in the 10-round main event, which bids fair to draw one of the biggest gates of the current season to the Grand avenue arena.

The fight is a hot natural, following White's sensational showings in recent weeks when he stopped the tough Mexican, Jorge Morelia, and Jack Byrd, Arkansas welterweight, in the Olympic firing pit.

Last week White journeyed to San Francisco and turned in another smashing triumph when he scored a technical kayo over Vern Bybee, tough Coast Guardsman.

Bybee is the same fighter who not long ago beat former featherweight champion Chalky Wright in San Francisco.

White and Thomas are now in training.

Thomas is rounding into form at the Central A. C. with the cagey George Tolson supervising his workouts.

2 Years a Pro

Tolson is one of the top boxing teachers in the game. He developed Leon Zoritta and Georgie Crouch. Fight men rank him among the best schoolers of boxers in the nation.

In his last fight at the Olympic, Thomas turned in a whizzwham 12-round battle against the capable Willie Joyce, losing a split verdict in one of the most interesting fights in many months. A fast finish by Joyce earned him the narrow margin of victory. It was the first defeat Thomas suffered as a pro.

The swift moving, striking 20-year-old pride of Central avenue is only out of the amateur ranks a little more than two years.

Married and the father of a 1½ year old son, young Thomas is quite a credit to the community in which he lives. He graduated from Riis high school in 1940, and was also a track star on the team.

White Lightweight King

Thomas will have a big rooting section of his pals when he starts wheeling into action against the little buzz-saw from Baltimore Tuesday night.

Maryland rates White the world lightweight king. When the Slugger whipped Joyce last January in Baltimore the Maryland Boxing Commission named him champion.

Sam Lampe, who manages White, says Beau Jack has twice refused to box White.

Some critics who saw White stop Morelia and Byrd say the Slugger tosses more gloves than Hurricane Henry Armstrong. He keeps on top of his foe, and lets a steady rain of leather fly. Thomas is a classier boxer, but does not pump leather as fast as the Slugger.

White Favored

The betting will be very close on the outcome of the lightweight classic.

White has been installed an early 9 to 10 favorite.

There will be a ton of betting on the outcome of the match.

Matchmaker Babe McCoy is lining up an excellent set of prelims to back up the match.

The Olympic has Charley Burley, conqueror of Jack Chase, meeting Holman Williams April 27. Williams' contract is owned by Joe Louis. He is expected here in a few days to start training. Burley has started drills at the Manhattan gymnasium.

Jeff Upset By Fremont Tracksters

Opening the city high schools' track season on the Jefferson oval last Friday, a fighting Fremont team upset the once mighty Democrats, 51 to 48.

It was the first dual meet loss for Jefferson since 1934 when Manual Arts turned the trick.

Had it not been for a war-time limit which Jefferson refused to violate the Democrats might have had a victory. The meet was halted before the relay could be run.

Leroy Gay of Jefferson was the meet's only double winner, taking both hurdles.

PRO AND CON IN SPORTS

NEW YORK—OPINION: The excitement of the Armstrong-Jack scrap has not yet died down and probably wont until a rematch settles the mess. We, of course, are thoroughly convinced that The Beau is the better man and we don't see any reason for another bout, unless we allow ourselves to be guided by the same thing that's influencing those interested in the bout, that is, the $104,976 Gate of the first fuss.

The fact is that Beau Jack never actually wanted to fight the Hank in the first place, and to our way of thnking, the big boys are going to have to exert plenty of pressure to get him to fight Hank again. And we can't blame Jack either. He was actually downhearted in his dressing room after the bout Friday night.

Henry was Jack's first friend when he came to New York several years ago. He took him under arms and taught him the ropes. Jack, explaining the situation said: "But tonight he was my enemy in the ring, and I had to fight to win. Now, as ever, he is my very good friend."

To go one better, Chick Wergeles, Beau's manager, is also against re-matching Jack and Hank, and we believe it's because of Jack's feeling in the matter. In fact, Jack admitted last Friday night before his managers that he had told them that he didn't want to fight Hank.

The pay-off is that the big boys, Mike Jacobs and Company, will probably use the proposed Armstrong-Angott bout as a "big stick" and a substitute for the June ball park fuss in case things fall through. But be that as it may, if a championship return match between Beau and Henry does materialize for June or any other date, it will be against Beau Jack's wishes.

HERE IS A NOTE that deserves your attention: Arturo Godoy, the Chilean heavyweight who twice lost title fights to Joe Louis, is coming back to the Good Ole U. S. A. sometime this month in hope of getting the Army's permission for another crack at the heavyweight title, according to his manager, Al Weill. Weill said he has offers for Godoy to meet all the top-notch heavyweights, including Jimmy Bivins.

Golden State Loses Another Man

Virgil L. Mann, who for the past year has made an enviable record for himself as an agent with the Golden State Mutual Life Insurance Company, was inducted into the U. S. Army last week.

Mr. Mann, who came to Los Angeles a little over a year ago, following his graduation from the University of Iowa, has already become very popular with Los Angeles' social set. His many friends and associates wish him the best of luck as a soldier of Uncle Sam.

Race Track GOSSIP

By Jay Gould

Bay Meadows longest shot of the season was Gray Mystery—a hundred to one, with all of the flockers, handicappers and "sure thing" men looking out of the window.

All of the swanky nite clubs in Frisco crowded with soldiers and sailors, acting the same as they did down where they came from. War brings on lots of changes, so keep your eyes open and mouth shut and you'll be able to uncover lots of dirt.

Julius Delifus and Clarence Estelle, Havana Tavern, have clipped all records for big money taken in since their opening night.

Jack's Tavern, with Al Love and Jimmie Morrell as bosses, plays to standing room in the theatre cafe with an all-star band.

The Town Club and Club Alabam keep their mixologists on the jump from opening until closing.

Noble Sissle and Bennie Carter's bands gave Frisco and Oakland a good lacing. Olivet Miller, vocalist, Katherine Dunham, with her gorgeous flirty eyes, the four Mills boys with their guitar, Jesse Pryor and Noble Sissle crooning and a dozen dancing girls broke all records at the Golden Gate.

John A. Burton and this writer presented Bennie Carter's band and Savannah Churchill, vocalist, in a swing session and dance at the Oakland Civic Auditorium t'other night. The box office figures proved that they are in the top row with name bands including Count Basie, Cab Calloway, Lionel Hampton, Louis Armstrong, Duke Ellington, Erskine Hawkins, Les Nite Pha Terrell, and many others. The last named band jammed them in at the same dance palace the previous week. He has a fast bunch of up and coming young bloods, believe me.

Little Peter Ray, one of the country's top-flight hoofers took a recess from his defense job for a two weeks billing at the Warfield Theater.

Saunders King, bandleader, got a 14-day deferment to trek to Hollywood to make a picture before entering the Army.

Eddie Taylor, dancer, after sixty-one days in the Army was discharged and is back in town.

Moke and Poke, who are playing to a run with Ed Wynn's "Big Time" are all smiles with a pup and a cigar.

Valada Wilson, one of the best female hoofers on the coast is now working at the Subway, in downtown Frisco.

Bill Owen's wife, Olivet Owens, and Eddie Hammon's wife, Dorothy Hammons, show pretties, are taking their mail at The Town Club, 1953 Sutter.

Herb Jeffries is crooning in his own after-hours spot in Los Angeles.

Ivy Anderson's chicken shack, Los Angeles, is packed and jammed until the wee hours of the morning, every day.

Curtis Mosby's Southern California Club Alabam has one of the best shows in Los Angeles.

"Sonny" Howard and Harry Bigelow are now in the night club business on the stroll in Los Angeles with plenty of cuties, pretties and lovelies ankling in and out.

Johnny ("V Club") Cornish, Vernon and Central Avenues, is showing the night-lifers how it is done.

When in Los Angeles, drop in on the Dunbar, Clark Hotel, Rossmore, the Regal, and Eugene Sorrall's Elks' club cocktail bar and grill and leave satisfied and smiling.

A few glamouf ladies of Los Angeles are Mrs. Celesta King, Mrs. Mae Crowder, Mrs. Vivian Tarrell, Mrs. Antoinette Atkinson, Mrs. Gwendolyn Shaeffer, Mae Turner Brooks, Mrs. Teresa Edwards and Mrs. Horace Clark, who are all tops as socialites.

I see "Black Dot" McGee taking time out from the shipyard for a trip to Seattle, from which he returned with four thousand dollars to the good. I wonder if he is playing the games on the level.

Lovely Mrs. Ted Williams of Seattle was seen strolling and admiring San Francisco's Fillmore district.

Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Gary were playing hard in the Havana Club with plenty of gold to spend.

Of those seen at the fashionable and smart Havana Club were: "Kay" Francis and Mrs. Howard Boyd spending money like the rich. Is she grieving? I hope he doesn't get weak and let her get away from him.

Bobby Walker, playing with two fine play-boys. Three's an uneven number y'know.

Miss Mable Lewis enjoying herself with Mrs. Signolia Meredith, Henry Turner and Joe Smith. Mrs. Meredith was formerly Miss Signolia Holloway of Kansas City, Missouri.

Mrs. Rebecca Adams and daughter Billie seen having fun and dining out seven nights a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Rector drinking V. O. and zombies, celebrating an anniversary and doing some wishful thinking — and maybe about a beautiful diamond ring of 2 carats ($1800). Prosperity must have turned the corner.

Dapper, debonair Duke Wallace, who at one time received his mail on Harlem's Sugar Hill and just left a string of broken hearts in Las Vegas, Nevada, Los Angeles and San Francisco, has made tracks for Portland, Ore.

Charlie McNair, one-time hepcat of Kansas City is gazing at the lovelies in San Francisco.

Bob Herford is now in the chips since his running the game at Cal's Smoke Shop.

Up in Spokane, Wash., Clarence Lee is dishing mirth and happiness to both soldiers and civilians. He is a big "Hello Bill" and is known from coast to coast.

Las Vegas has begun to rival Reno for the bright spot in Nevada. The two Duncans, Lonnie Williams, James Barber, Sidney Walker, and a host of others are flying sky-high in the city made famous by Boulder Dam.

Ollie Hendrix, alias "Money" kicked out Saturday night after hours on Post Street with Mr. Clark and wife Bertha.

Mr. E. Harris of St. Louis, Missouri, and Mr. George H. Greene of Hendersonville, North Carolina with Mrs. Brown at the Town Club.

Mrs. Henrietta V. Scott, better known as "Sweet Pea" spent an enjoyable week-end in Stockton, California.

Al Gibson is shipping to Chicago for two or three months.

Iercy Campbell still spending Big Money around the night spots.

A Lady-about-Town's advice to playboys "There is a war and not a fashion show in progress", so watch your step.

Miller Burton is trying for a come-back. He was seen in all of the bright spots playing hard.

Jane Alexander of Tucson and other points in Arizona has enlivened the Angel City with her presence.

A surprise birthday party was given for Miss Norma Jane Jordan who has been visiting in San Francisco. For her 21st milestone many presents were received.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Smith spent a lovely day in the city by the Golden Gate. They reside in San Mateo.

Mr. Ray Browne, postoffice clerk, is in the Franklin Hospital recovering from a kidney operation. His friends hope he'll soon be out.

Frisco Flashes — Dicky Boy Lewis racking the drinks up at the cocktail bar for several lady friends watching the swinging doors at Jack's for his wife, Gladys, to pop in.

Ellen Boyd, golf player, staying at home, saving herself for her boy-friend, when Uncle Sam gives him the green light.

Mrs. Ella Robbins of juke box fame, looking glamorous playing the spots with her husband, Nathan, hugging and kissing him, saying "If I don't do it, someone else will."

Boom, Boom, Boom. Betty Lou not tossing coin to the band boys buying imported champagne, talking loud or handing the waitresses heavy tips.

Laurette Scott, Willie Bea McCovey and Mrs. Ella ex-Clipper have not been so hot lately, playing the late spots and spending heavy gold.

Johnny Davis and wife, Little Sights and wife, Big Tex and Ann his wife, were playing the clubs in a convoy, spending plenty of dough, buying choice drinks.

Tom Schaffer ordering up drinks while jiving about different prize fighters at the Havana Tavern.

Flash—Mr. Ready Martin, Mr. B. Kind and Bobbie Bell trying to outspend each other in all the spots.

Martha Garcia and sister, Lonny Riggs, wife and sister, along with Al Lewis are all swell people and big spenders.

Thelma Porter, ex-show lovely, who takes her mail at 1538 Buchanan Street with her beautiful mother has skipped to Los Angeles.

Miss Ossa Penn, formerly of New York, with her gorgeous eyes, the kind that has a power over men, has taken time off for a rest. She's a killer, boys.

Mrs. Lillian (Panky) Robinson, formerly of New York, and Montreal, Canada—that sealskin with your John Fredericks hat was just much too much.

Dorothy Pitty and her boy friend, bass fiddler, sipping champagne by the quart, ringsiding the bandstand at Jack's.

Flash—the way Gladys Pitman, her boy friend, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Grant, Bea Roberts and Gert Maxwell spend their kale over cocktail bars, they must have a million.

Jack Dempsey, Tom Kyne's ace man, ankling in and out of the bright spots, high as a kite, meddling with everybody but nobody pays any attention to him.

Beau Jack was the favorite in New York but Hank Armstrong was the favorite on the coast. The consensus of opinion of all New York papers says Henry should have had at least a draw, as he won five rounds and Beau Jack won 5 and lost one.

Thelma Thompson is on the sick list, but Mildred Ivy, Myrtle Jones, Mrs. Al Love, Vera Marshall and Charley Mitchell are holding forth at Jack's.

Cal Williams enjoying the cocktail bars, all the sepia shows, The Subway and Larkins Cafe in Berkeley with several married ladies.

That was Richard Lee who won 4 hundred dollars and bought too many drinks and then lost his car.

A Red Cross benefit is always for a good cause as they want your money and your blood.

Wolfang and Johnny Davis, racetrack fans, had their minds made up to take a job in the shipyard when they arrived in Frisco, but decided to only work one week.

Wonder if Bunny Roberts knows who her boy friend, Little Joe Walker, was spotted playing hard, hard and harder with. They will do it every time, but I can't talk.

Larry (bartender) Sweetwine, with a big bankroll, racking the drinks back, paying one dollar apiece for the Eagle and Defender with his cute number smiling.

That beautiful chick you see at the races and the best spots is none other than Miss Winifred Reed.

Slats Regan fell off the bandwagon for two days and went for a-plenty.

Fat Wilkins, with a long pocket-book, full of hundred dollar bills may open a spot of his own soon.

Dave Miffin, what's the argument. All big gamblers pay their markers whether the races is on the level or not, when they lose.

Cuba Davis had a hot number at the track and late spots and she was on her own, with plenty of cash. Think the name was Katherine Ganes.

Cleo Foster, playboy and sport, seeing the spots with Miss Janie Foster, a very clever chick.

New York (bartender) Browny went over-board on Armstrong after losing 8 hundred the night before.

Miss Big Money Fuzzy, sipping drinks four hours at the Bam but walked straight, ankling out.

Petty Tillie McCovey downing strong drinks, swtiching from one club to another, but couldn't seem to knock herself out.

Jimmie Morrell, 50-50 owner at Jack's—you are too swell a fellow to embarrass someone about a 30-cent bottle of beer—no one ever walked out on you for 30 cents. Don't act so hen-house.

Lester Armstrong's wife is on the ailing list — swell people. Marie Canady, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Nickerson, Genevieve Friend and Margaret Dodson don't get around much any more.

Louie Verette, partner in the Bam, was a real flop until this column picked him up and got him out of the red and now his Missus don't want his name in print any more.

Thelma Hill and Cal, her husband, are both tops with no strings tied to their money.

Frank Logan—those 3 chicks you were leading around in and out of the swanky niteries t'other night were a sensation.

This writer would rather have what Frank Winburn spends on people passing through this city from Kansas City than to have what one of these big bombers costs.

Miss Ida King, Miss Billy Davis, Hortense Reed, Olivet Owens and Dorothy Hammond look like movie stars but they are not—they are only playgirls.

Mrs. Carl Buckner—why you are too big a timer and too smart a woman to get sour grapes about what you read in this column that's only for fun and pleasure. You and your husband are two swell people. Don't make a mistake about that.

Clarence Dunn—you can't count your expenses, the way you grab and pay everybody's checks.

Jay Gould's column will not appear in the Black Dispatch any more as things are not so well between him and the bosses.

Betty Cade, knocking herself out in Los Angeles minus her boy friend.

Ladies—if going to buy a stovepipe hat, don't get a cheap one as it spoils the looks of a 50 dollar outfit, as it's a joke.

The newly wed lady, calling Apartment 7 at the Richmond Hotel, take a tip and watch your step, as this is a hint.

Vernon Love and Red Duvana of the Geary Hotel are playing the field and having lots of fun.

Fred Pugh, bartender, was knocking himself out with all the out of towners. He gets a tip before the charmers step off the train.

Frank Burr—that was a killer you had at the track the other day. If she's got any friends, cut me in.

Ruth, Martha and Florence, formerly of Portland, Oregon, send regards to their parents—Mrs. L. R. Tuggle of 1927 N. Williams Ave., and Mrs. Anna Mar Lee of 1622 N. Williams Ave. They are now taking their mail at 1419 Laguna.

Alex Robinson, still singing the blues.

Percy Williams, down in Louisiana, you have my most sincere sympathy. Heard of your mother passing recently.

Walter, ex-Cherryland Breakfast Club owner, Hawkins, don't get mad at Hinkle about that letter—how do you think he felt when you took those people from him.

The Rich-Brook Hotel, Billie Richmond owner, has all the celebrities of shows and fights. If you want to make a bet on any fight any time, just call Billie and say "I want to bet" and your money's on.

Bill Robinson's Show will be in Frisco starting the 10th of April and everything will jump with show cuties.

Little Dorothy Richmond of the Rich-Brook Hotel is always full of smiles and a swell personality.

Mrs. Geneva L. Dhue of Seattle and Los Angeles is now playing the Bay Area and having fun.

Buck Cannon has retired everything he has undertaken and now has himself a prize fighter. He will meet any middleweight in the country—will probably be on the next big card in Civic Auditorium soon—Watch for date.

Billie Richmond, owner of Richmond Enterprises, is a married man and has not time to sing on the telephone, girls, and that's final the Mrs. says.

Victory Market Worker Loses Wife By Death

Mrs. Florence Robinson, 4366 McKinley, died at General hospital on April 9, after an illness of some duration. She was the wife of Milo Robinson, well-known employee of the famed Victory Market. Mrs. Robinson's son-in-law, Sgt. Dunn, arrived in the city Saturday night by plane from Seattle, where he is stationed, to attend the funeral services.

Mrs. Robinson was a beloved member of the Pilgrim Baptist church, where she was noted as a hard worker. She was also a member of the Mother's Board of that church. A native of Hines county, Mississippi, Mrs. Robinson took much pride in the fact that she had embraced the Baptist faith continuously since the age of eight.

In addition to her husband, Mrs. Robinson is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Annabelle Dun, and by four sisters and two brothers in Mississippi.

Services were held Monday at 2 p.m. from the Pilgrim Baptist church with Rev. B. Wade, the pastor, in charge. Burial was at Lincoln Memorial.

WHAT'S DOING IN THE YOUNGER SET

Jessie Mae Brown

The Alpha Kappa Alpha pledges took the spotlight Saturday night, when they turned the Alpha Bowling Club into the good ship Ivy Leaf, and cruised to the rhythm of Evrett Myers and his orchestra. Seen among the sweater garbed merrymakers were Peaches Coleman, looking snazzy in her paper sailor cap; Corrine Jones, a Sup. Alpha woman; Puffy Houston and LaMar Hill; John Laymen with girl friend, Alma Peake; Pvt. Raymond Christian wearing the latest in men's khaki apparel, and doing his last bit of jiving with the local debs; Nat Shaw was also sporting his new uniform. Renna Clarke and Jackie Booker were perfect sweater girls. George and Wyletta Harpole having a gay time. Pricella Rabi and Nita Spearmen back in circulation. The Ivy Leafs made their grande entrance around 12 o'clock, following the Cooks before party. Herbert Simmons introduced the girls, and their charming dean, Mrs. Illothea Williams, to the frolickers.

The affair this year was quite a change from the elaborate semi, First Floor Elks, annuals held in the past; however, the usual good time was had by all. Following the dance, the crowd found its way to the home of Harriette Williams, where a solid after party was held. Jack Terry and Catoe Robinson were quite in evidence, as were Jean Brown, Paulette DeJoie, Theron Kirk and his brother, Barbara Raggsdale, Carl Alexander, the Cooks and a hundred and one others, putting the cap on a perfect evening.

Just a little backwards, but we'll take a look in on the Cooks before party. All the glamour girls in town were there, the Ivy Leaf members and their company and a few Delta pledges. Champagne was served like punch and everybody had a solid time. Pricella Rabi, Clyde Thomas, Maethilde Kinner were having a very gay time. Ivy Leaf Ella Louise and Delta pledge Cookie Cook were hostesses.

WELL! WELL! WELL!

Apologies go out to Betty Yarbrough and the Lumpkin sisters for the typographical error in last week's copy. The original went like this: "Betty Yarbrough tickled the ivory keys long with Edith K. Owens and Herold Brown. The Lumpkin sisters played a violin and piano duet. . . . Congrats go out to Rene Hewlett, who passed the exam and emerged from officers' training school a full fledged second lt. . . . Joe Dow was in town last week on furlough. . . . The Harpole clan was all smiles last week, when George Harpole came home on furlough to see the new baby. The "Princess," as they call the infant was christened Sunday morning. Received word from Hank Milton last week; he's down in Alabama, long with Leslie King and Rachell Isom's brother. Hank, a loyal Bruin, has placed the UCLA pennant in the Alabama USO house. How about that for school spirit? Everybody's wondering what the Lomax sisters are doing nowadays. Got a glance of Fritz Banks, on recent leave, had a charming deb in his company. Hear that Bill Johnson will soon complete his cadet training. A local glamour gal is waiting for his wings. . . . From Fort Dorn, Mississippi—Bill Golden, LaVone Patterson's boy friend, is crying his heart out from sheer loneliness. . . . The boys around camp are wondering what Tilly Kenner is putting in those letters to Norman Houston. The lad seems to be in a daze. . . . Henry Alexander is constantly moping about girl friend Anna Tenette. Doesn't seem to realize all the wolves are in the army. . . . I'm a little behind times girls, but this is worth commenting upon. Caleb Petterson is no longer in circulation, a charming steno, Bernice Cook, is wearing his engagement ring, and has been, for quite some time. Margret Prince was in town from Diego last week-end. . . . Has Orchid Oliver forgotten Lawrance Johnson? She's often seen with another suave gent. . . . Jean Williams and Jane Criner make a regular twosome. Is this just a passing fancy, or just till Dick Terry comes back? . . . Mmes. Florance Nukes and Idell Johnson are in town. Lt. hubbies have been sent to another part of the country. By the way, my brother, Lt. Woody Brown, is stationed in Kentucky. Wife Jean is still in Washington, D. C. . . . John Kinloch is still vacationing and says the eastern debs are only extra fine.

Be sure to answer all soldier's mail, let them know what's doing at home. . . . Till next week

The very successful Loyalty Month was led by Mrs. Mildred Hampton, president of the Business and Professional Girls' League.

The 1943 Membership Committee headed by Mrs. Charles Satcehll Morris, II has met with an enthusiastic group of women who will continue during the year to interest women in membership.

Dr. Kathleen MacArthur brought an inspiring message to "Y" members when she discussed "World Implications of Democracy in Religion." Women of the Woodlawn Branch look forward to Dr. MacArthur's last lecture at the Clark Residence Y. W. C. A. 3rd & Loma Drive on Wednesday.

Labor Leader

President Roosevelt not to retard production, and labor has kept its promise. Today labor, and particularly the CIO, is one hundred percent back of the President in his 'Win the War' policy."

The O. P. A. and other agencies came in for not a little stern criticism by Mr. Thomas because of the fact that they fooled around too long before coming to the crucial point in food rationing. Said the speaker, "in April, 1942, the CIO suggested the rationing of food. Had this been done six months ago, much of the grief we now face would have been avoided."

No Discrimination Against Women and Negroes

According to the speaker, it has been rumored that some of the men do not want to work in factories with women. Said Thomas: "Its going to take every able bodied man and woman to win this war and I here and now stamp my disapproval upon any form of discrimination against women in war industries. Delving further into the subject of discrimination, Mr. Thomas stated in no uncertain terms that he was fighting for the rights of Negro workers, and made it very clear that such practices of discrimination against sex, race, color or religion, as have been the policy of many of our industries, aids Hitler in his effort to make the world "safe for Fascism." Said Thomas, "the rise of Fascast power in Germany started with the persecution of the Jews. We must fight down every Hitler-inspired organization or effort in this country. We are aware of the presence of certain individuals and agencies in our nation who are willing to strike a peace settlement with Mr. Hitler. But, my friends, there is just one thing on which Hitler and I agree and that is 'that Fascism and Democracy cannot survive in the same place.'"

Take Advantage of Your Vote

Another high point in the great labor leader's Sunday afternoon address was his admonition to his fellow-workers to exercise their right to vote in all elections. According to reports, some of the workers have been so busy that they have failed to take advantage of the privilege of voting in all elections. Mr. Thomas stressed the firm conviction that the right of casting a ballot is the strongest weapon the people have to bring about the kind of government they want and one of the most serious mistakes has been their laxity in not selecting the right people as their representatives in Washington.

Winning of the War Big Issue

In conclusion, Mr. Thomas admonished the workers that the attitude of labor, at this time, should be to make every sacrifice necessary for the winning of the war; speed up production by avoiding strikes; realizing, of course, that labor had found it not only necessary, but expedient to strike many times. Stated Thomas, "You know my record along this line—and I promise that after we shall have won this war and driven Hitler from the earth, if need be I shall double my record."

Other speakers on the program were Morris Sugar, representing the Legal Department of N. W. A., and William Levitt of the Educational Department, who both reiterated the fact that we must put everything we have into the winning of the war. In the meantime, however, they stressed the fact that we must see to it that labor—the hope of mankind for the establishment of a democratic rule by the people and for the people, under which all men may live together in peace and happiness—does not lose in the struggle.

Poll-Tax Bill

tions, and individuals are urged to write or wire Reps. Tom Ford and Jerry Voorhis, key Democrats of the California delegation who have shown a luke-warm attitude toward anti-poll tax legislation. Voorhis is said to be the Edgar Bergen for Tom Ford's Charley McCarthy objections to raising the anti-poll tax question "just now."

California Representatives solidly behind the measure are Rep. Will Rogers, Jr., D., Cecil R. King, D., Chet Hollifield, D., Richard J. Welch, R., and Harry L. Englebright, R. Those who indicate they may sign are Republicans George E. Outland and Albert E. Carter.

The California EAGLE conducted a two-day lobby for the bill here recently which netted three signatures from the California delegation. Congressman Ed Izac, progressive San Diego Representative, should be snowed under with letters urging his support of the bill, while Tom Ford merits a real blizzard from the thousands of Negroes whom he represents.

Action of the recent community conference called by the Negro Victory Committee in Los Angeles which supported the anti-poll tax battle had wide repercussions in Washington. The speech of Atty. Marshall Denton, Jr., favoring renewed rank-and-file efforts behind the measure, which was reported in the EAGLE, drew comment here from California Congressional figures. Rep. Vito Marcantonio, author of the anti-poll tax bill, said, "It is this kind of effort in communities all over the nation which will secure a thumping victory for those who fight the disenfranchisement of ten million Americans through the poll tax."

POST OFFICE FACTS

Paul L. Hackett, Sr.

"Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you."—Matthew 7:7.

1943 is certainly making history in the Post Office Department. The precedents that are being set should certainly be a lesson to the die hards who are continually telling new employees entering the service they'll never do this or that in the post office. These men seem to forget that the world is moving on. Expressions like these tend to show that they have little faith in either God or their government. Traditions that have existed for decades are being broken over night if they are impeding the march of time.

For the sake of argument let us look at some facts. Postmaster General Honorable Frank C. Walker has set two precedents. The first one being going on record as asking for a raise for post office employees, the second appointing a man who rose from the ranks to be first assistant postmaster general. The gentleman in question is the Honorable K. P. Aldrich, formerly chief inspector.

In order that we might become a little better acquainted with our new first assistant postmaster general let's look into his record. Mr. Aldrich entered the railway mail as a substitute on Dec. 9, 1897, and rose step by step until he became chief inspector April 12, 1933. He held this position until he was recently appointed to his present position.

Proof of Mr. Aldrich's thorough understanding of existing conditions in the Post Office Department is revealed in an address which he delivered at the national convention of postal supervisors in 1939. Space will permit us to give you a few of the highlights:

"The rank and file of postal employees would have a poor opinion of government if they found their postal supervisors to be harsh men; men who show partiality and play favorites; men who do not know how to advise and counsel, or make no effort to develop themselves or those under them."

"We have too many supervisors who make no effort whatever to improve conditions and who resent the efforts of others along this line. They fear changes may show that conditions under them can be improved; that they may show up their own inefficiency, or bring about a situation that will cause them to do more work."

"When a subordinate brings you an idea it is not necessary to tell him that it is impractical, that it was given consideration years ago, or that it was tried out and that it did not work."

"Discuss the idea with him. Ascertain how it came to his mind. He may be able to show you that though it did not work at one time that conditions have changed and it is a good idea now. Even though the idea is not practical, you have before you a young postal employee who is doing some thinking, who is willing to try something and such men are real assets to our service."

"One of the finest things you can do is to encourage and develop these men and bring out the best that is in them. It is in such ways you can pay back to the government, the Post Office Department, for what it has done for you."

Mr. Joe Oliver, special clerk, of the Terminal Annex, represented Postmaster Mrs. Mary D. Briggs at a meeting held at the Central Baptist church Thursday evening, March 25. The audience was elated over our postmaster's selection and are still talking about the address given by Mr. Oliver. Many civic organizations are looking forward to an advancement for Mr. Oliver in the near future. Mr. Oliver has been in the postal service for 30 years and recently perfected a simplified system to study mail schemes. Incidently Mr. Carl Reck, our congenial superintendent of mails, and Mr. Oliver entered the service together.

On the Sidewalk

by c. a. b.

Since that memorable occasion at the Ambassador, the sidewalk has buzzed and buzzed almost incessantly. Some say that Mrs. Bass should not have asked that question. Others say you were courageous, still others say "I don't know what it's all about."

I had read many of Mme. Chiang's statements to the effect that there could be no world peace until all races were free. My question to the First Lady of China: "Do you think the United States will be in line to take its proper position in the post-war program unless she takes steps now to grant to four million disfranchised citizens of the south the right and privilege to vote by abolishing the poll tax evil?"

I wish to state here that I felt perfectly justified in asking such a question of Mme. Chiang, inasmuch as similar questions, bearing on the racial issue, had previously been asked by a Mexican girl, an Indian gentleman and a Chinese student, all of whom received satisfactory answers. Because Madam's attitude, up to that time, had been graciously liberal and, seemingly, unbiased, I can't imagine why my answer was denied, unless it was the threat to interfere with the paramount cause of her mission, the seeking of aid for China, which caused her to renege.

Nevertheless, it was a memorable occasion, and I shall always have only pleasant memories and profound admiration for the courage and sincerity of China's First Lady.

he was unable to prevent their assailants from kidnaping the young woman, and taking her up the alley to near 45th street, where three of them raped her.

Police think they have good clues to the suspects and arrests will be made shortly. If they are proven guilty they are subject to the death penalty under the California kidnaping law. Authorities are hoping that thus examples can be made of them with possibilities of putting a curb on such crimes.

thought he had heard a scream about 6 p.m. shortly after he came on watch. Later, while standing on guard at an open place in the east side wall under repair, he had seen a young man run past him, leap the wall and diappear across Ross Snyder playground.

The young woman's identity had not been learned at press time, but the investigators expect to uncover the mystery shortly.

INEZ HATCHETT FREED ON $2500 REDUCED BAIL

Carried out just as an exclusive Associated Negro Press announcement last week stated it would be, pretty movie actress Inez Hatchett, known in the national papers as "The telephone slayer," was released on a $2500 bond Friday April 9. She has been in custody for a year, while undergoing two trials for the fatal shooting of Ernest Dempsey during a quarrel in her home last year.

As was related a week ago, Mrs. Hatchett had first been convicted on a charge of manslaughter, reduced from a first degree murder charge. A second conviction came two weeks ago after her able young attorney Crispus Wright had appealed the case. With the unusual angle of a colored deputy district attorney, Chas Matthews on one side, and Wright and his associate, Vince M. Townsend on the other battling it out before an all-white jury. The case was considered as one of the most sensational in coast history.

But when the jury foreman, and five other jurors admitted to the young woman's counsel the next day that they had made a mistake, it was considered a mistrial, and bail offered to await trial again before the Appellate Court. The bond was raised by her husband, Albert J. Hatchett, '43, through the Schwind Bonding Agency, after reduction from $5,000 with the consent of the district attorney's office. She returned at once to their home, 859 East 53rd street. Screen Actors' Guild at once sent 1943 credentials for her, and casting director Charles Butler prepared to assign her to some of the current pictures.

Grateful of course to her husband who has nobly stuck to her all through the trouble, she also declared that she wants to thank Mrs. Joan Douglas, Mrs. Minnie Addison, Mrs. Myrtle Barnes, Mrs. Myrtle Beeson, Mrs. Lessie Ball and Mrs. Hazel Blocker, all faithful friends, who aided her in various ways.

Wright, one of the coast's ablest young lawyers, feels sure that the celebrated case will not again come to trial for at least a year, and that complete vindication will follow. Incidentally the many movei players, with whom Inez was very popular, are happy to have her back in their ranks. Their sympathy has all along borne the traditional sincerity of show folk.

CLAIM DAMAGE FALSE IMPRISONMENT

Judge Jno. Beardsley's court room, Dept. 11, Superior Court, was the scene for quite a bit of activity from April 1 to and including April 5, 1943.

The occasion was Wilson vs. Broady. Atty. Lloyd C. Griffith representing one, Bennie Wilson in a suit against Det. Charles S. Broady, (retired) for the sum of $25.000. The decision of the court was in favor of Det. Broady, who acted in good faith in arresting Mr. Wilson, August 30, 1940.

Broady and his partner, Conway, (also retired) arrested Wilson on information of a previous report, charging A.D.W. on one, Mrs. Vera Mae Holton, alleged lady friend of Wilsons. In making the arrest, according to the evidence the court records produced, Wilson resisted, and a fight ensued, Wilson was overpowered. He claims damages for false imprisonment, assault and battery and being detained.

his discouragements, of the almost impossibilities of his undertakings and of the slow progress he must have inevitably realized the first few years, we wonder at his courage, his determination, and his willingness to continue an almost hopeless task."

Continuing further, and bringing his speech closer home, the Governor asked: "Do you want civil rights?" "Then achieve them and you will possess them. "Do you want economic justice?" You are entitled to it! It should be guaranteed upon a basis of complete equality." "Do you want a fair deal with all the protections of a civilized government?" "You are entitled to these and they should be guaranteed, and will." The Governor stated that the present genertion should gain renewed courage from the sacrifices of the Founders, and should rededicate themselves to a continuation of the great service they began. In closing, he stressed the significance of two principles taken from the philosophy of Booker T. Washington: "No man can keep another man down in the ditch without staying in the ditch with him," and "Let your bucket down where you are."

"Chas. Edwards and His Visit To Berlin Germany"

By Charles Edwards
(An Exclusive California Eagle Serial)

HITLER SPEAKS!

The California Eagle takes sincere pride in presenting the first public presentation of the mission fulfilled by America's number one youth leader, Charles Edwards, on his "Assignment to Berlin." What has gone on before Mr. Edwards recalled your memory to December, 1941, when war was declared. He now attempts to expose the facts of why. He recalled his dramatic journey through Berlin, Germany, between May, 1937, and September, 1939, during which time he was granted a personal interview with Adolf Hitler. The purpose of his interview was to try to understand and explain to the World Christian Youth Conference the aspirations of the German government.

Mr. Edwards told of "Mein Kampf"—not revealing nearly all of Hitler's plans. He has entered the reich capital and has gained entrance into the private office of the Chancellor. Many questions have passed between Mr. Hitler and Mr. Edwards, among them being the future of Europe and the rest of the world and Germany's part in creating a new order. We continue:

Hitler continued speaking in terms of Germany's possibilities in Brazil. "We shall give them both: capital and the spirit of enterprise. We shall make them a third gift: our philosophy," said Hitler. "If ever there is a place where democracy is senseless and suicidal, it is in South America. We must strengthen these people's clear conscience, so they may be able to throw both their liberalism and their democracy over board. They are actually ashamed of their good instincts! They think they must still give lip-service to democracy. As fast as Hitler talked I continued to put by short hand writing into practice, taking down each word that the Nazi fuehrer spoke. I ran out of paper, I interrupted him for a brief moment and ask that He give me more paper, very politely he reached into the desk drawer and withdrew a hand full of white letter paper, then I said please continue Herr Hitler. . . He said—Let us wait a few years, and in the mean time do what we can to help them. But we must send our people out to them. Our youth must learn to colonize. For this, we have no need for formal officials and governors. Audacious youth is what we want. They need not go into the jungle, either, to clear the ground. We want people in good society. Mr. Hitler I am very doubtful that you should keep in touch with good society. In my opinion you would attain your purpose more quickly by making use of other classes, such as the Indios and the mestizos.

"Both Mr. Edwards," Hitler interrupted impatiently. "We require two movements abroad, a loyal and a revolutionary one. Do you think that is so difficult? I think that we have proved that we are capable of it. We should not be here otherwise. We shall not land troops like William the Conqueror and gain Brazil by the strength of our arms. Our weapons are not visible ones. Our conquistadores, Mr. Edwards have a more difficult task than the original ones, and for this reason they have more difficult weapons." Hitler then told more of Germany's possibilities in South America. The Argentine and Bolivia were in his first line of interest, and it appeared that there were many points where National Socialist influence might make itself felt. Hitler propound ideas which were much later realized by Bohle on the one hand and Ribbentrop on the other. And took shape in two mutually antagonistic onslaughts of propaganda. Essentially it was a question of personnel. The task of getting a firm foot-hold in Latin America and squeezing out North America and Hispano-Portuguese influence could only be carried out by new, energetic, unscrupulous representatives of overseas Germanhood.

I turned to Hitler with the suggestion that this seemed to me a most alarming repetition in an aggravated form of the whole pre-war policy. Would it not be wiser, I asked, not, to challenge Britain and America, at least until Germany's position was unassailable? Moreover, this proposed policy was in contradiction to the fundamental rules laid down by Mein Kampf. But, now for the first time I had mentioned the book in Hitler's presence, and I concluded from his reaction that it was by no means regarded in the inner circles as the binding pronouncement it was given out to be to the masses. Continued in next issue.

Face the Fact

democratic unions are about the only place left where two races can meet on common ground . . . Prejudice will vanish as white workers realize they have the same interests, desires, fears, and hopes as Negroes."

Wilson also stated that failure to break down job discrimination against Negro defense workers had seriously handicapped war production. "Uncle Sam is trying to fight this war with one hand tied behind his back," he said.

Indeed it would be quite valuable today for all of us to re-examine our attitudes toward things which we have long taken for granted. This world, yours and mine, is rarely what it seems to be. We are not always consciously aware of the many small changes occurring in the industries where we work, in the communities where we live, in our relations with each other, and most importantly in the relations between Negro and white people both in the North and in the South.

In normal times these changes though comparatively small in themselves, almost unnoticeable, are, when considered together, quite substantial. Ever since the signing of the Emancipation Proclamation, the social, political and economic gap separating Negroes from the great mass of citizens and common folk in this country has steadily narrowed.

The Negro people of the South deserve our warmest congratulations for taking full advantage of greater opportunities for progress in political, civic, educational and economic matters during the past 75 years. No longer is it argued that it is a waste of time to educate a Negro, and that we as a group are incapable of performing the most important duties of citizenship. Beyond doubt the Negro has demonstrated his capacity for full American citizenship.

Also deserving of credit and praise are those white people in the South and elsewhere in these United States who believe in democracy; who have patiently waged war against the prejudices, segregations and intolerances which have prevented Negroes from attaining full citizenship rights. They know, too, that democracy for them is restricted so long as equal rights for Negroes are denied.

The world wide crises in democracy, the death struggle of the United States, England, Russia and China and other United Nations to turn back the forces of reaction and Hitlerism, has brought to a sharp focus, relations between Negroes and white people, particularly in the South.

This has come about in two ways.

In the early days of the defense program it became quite obvious that we could not have an all out war effort while employees and some A. F. of L. unions continued to practice discrimination against Negro defense workers. Various war administration agencies appealed to both employers and unions to discontinue these discriminations in the interest of national unity and national defense.

As the result of this situation and public pressure, President Roosevelt established the Committee on Fair Employment Practices to bring the prestige of the Federal government to bear on the problem. This committee ran into so much opposition for attacking job discrimination in the South, in some A. F. of L. unions and in American industry generally, that President Roosevelt was forced to abandon, at least for the present, the whole anti-discrimination program.

But this was evading an issue, not facing or solving it. Defense production goals for 1943 cannot be met without the full unlimited use of Negro labor. Already thousands of Mexicans and West Indian Negro workers are being imported to partly overcome our national manpower shortage. A glance at the want ads in any industrial city will reveal that employers in ever increasing numbers are seeking workers regardless of color.

As a matter of fact both governmental officials and employers realize that the only manpower reserve left are made up of Negroes and workers of other minority groups. If, as planned, 20 million defense workers are to produce 100 billion dollars' worth of war goods in 1944, we shall have to get rid of job prejudice and discrimination.

This whole manpower situation demands an immediate re-examination of our usual practices of discrimination. As yet we are not fighting an all-out war on the production front. Uncle Sam is trying to fight this war with one hand tied behind his back. Soon America must decide whether she wants prejudice or victory.

In the face of this rank discrimination the Negro people were called upon to subscribe to those democratic ideals around which this war is being fought. The inconsistency of expecting a Negro to gladly sacrifice his life in Burma for the Four Freedoms which are still unknown in Birmingham, cheapened the whole war effort! Though Negroes thought these things strange they did not hesitate to support the war effort. The freedom of speech and worship, freedom from fear and freedom from want are things which Negroes want and like other people are willing to fight for them. We know, too, that victory in our fight for the four freedoms and for equal citizenship rights will require complete organization of our forces, careful planning and relentless struggle.

In our struggle for political and economic equality we must seek an alliance with organized labor. Let me tell you briefly what we have been able to do in the packing industry.

For nearly two generations white workers in the Chicago packing industry bitterly opposed the introduction of Negro labor. There were groups in Chicago, financed by funds contributed by employers, who exploited the mutual distrust and suspicion which the Negro and white workers had for each other. There were constant violent outbreaks between the two races in the vicinity of the Chicago stockyards. After dark, and often in broad daylight, workers of both races did not dare enter certain neighborhoods except at the risk of limb or life. This situation was climaxed by the bloody riot of 1919.

Similarly certain A. F. of L. craft unions entered the packing industry and followed a systematic policy of dividing the workers. There were several disastrous and fruitless strikes, but never was there effective union organization. In their dealings with the packers the thousands of white workers employed in the yards were as helpless as were the thousands of Negroes. The two races simply had not learned the simple truth that if they would not voluntarily stand up together as brothers, they would be forced to kneel as slaves.

When the Packinghouse Workers Organizing Committee entered the packing industry it had one immediate objective and that was to show workers of both races the complete foolishness of their prejudices and petty discriminations. We showed them that prejudice kept the workers divided and too weak to protect themselves against long hours, low wages and bad working conditions.

Because over 45 years of failure lay behind us many wise owls said it couldn't be done. The PWOC felt that it must first establish its reputation for honesty and fair play for all workers regardless of race, creed or nationality. We did this the short, efficient way. About every man we asked two simple questions. Is he a good union man and if he had the ability.

Today in the whole United States you will not find a union more democratic than the PWOC. Of our 90,000 members over 25,000 are Negroes. Some of our biggest locals have Negro presidents. These men were selected not because they were Negroes but more in spit of it.

In the CIO there are other unions like the PWOC—unions making a determined effort to smash every vestige of prejudice and discrimination. Among these are the United Steel Workers, the United Auto Workers, the United Electrical Workers and the National Maritime Union. There are many other unions I could mention.

The development within the trade union movements of the will to oppose prejudice and discrimination is a most important development. At one stroke the unions with their tremendous political, social and economic power could destroy the more noticeable forms of prejudice and discrimination. Moreover, these unions are providing Negroes and white workers with an unequaled opportunity to get together and know each other as common American citizens.

Beyond doubt recent experience has clearly demonstrated that democratic trade unions offer us our best chances for political and economic progress. We might as well face the fact that we will get rid of Jim Crow, poll taxes, lynchings and job discrimination in our country only when we find an effective method, of demonstrating to the mass of white people a fact which is now deliberately hidden from them. This one simple fact is that the political and economic progress of white workers must be based upon political and economic equality for all. This is especially true of the South.

Here in the South and to a slightly less extent in other sections of the country there are so many laws and customs based upon prejudice, misunderstanding and desires to perpetuate the weakness of workingmen by keeping them divided and segregated from each other, that democratic unions are the only places left where the two races can meet on common grounds. Prejudice will vanish as white workers realize they have the same interests, desires, fears and hopes of Negroes.

CALIFORNIA SHOWS GROWTH IN INDUSTRY

SAN FRANCISCO, April 12.—Value of California manufactured products has risen from $2,798,178,000 in the census year of 1939 to an estimated total of $8,500,000,000 in 1942. During this same period the number of factory wage earners in the state advanced from an average of 276,000 in 1939 to an estimated average of 671,200 in 1942. This is 5.8 per cent of the total average number of wage earners for the United States, as compared with 3½ per cent in 1939.

California's payroll for manufacturing industries is estimated at $1,473,749,000 for 1942, or 6.9 per cent of the national total, as compared with $366,000,000 in 1939, when wages paid to California workers were 4 per cent of the national total. The tremendous growth of industry in California since the last census period is revealed in a study just issued by the Research Department of the California State Chamber of Commerce. Accompanying the report is a directory of state-wide business or statistical information sources intended for the two-fold purpose of assisting prospective purchasers of California manufactured products, and also for the use of those engaged in research and planning for post-war industrial development.

The Age In Which We Live

We are verily living in "perilous times." Look around the world today and see the progress that is being made in the "isms," to say nothing of the increased immorality and licentiousness of the younger generation.

How subtle are the errors interwoven into modernistic literature, and, fatal-poisonous errors in the midst of beautiful phraseology and sentiment.

Beware of such subtle wiles or sentiment that might bring unhappiness into your life. For these things will rob us of the securty, peace, ihappness and contentment which we need to assist us thru our daily endeavors.

Write Prof. Herman, for advice about any problems that may be facing you. He has made a life study of human nature and its many complications. Perhaps he can help you and your loved ones in enjoying a fuller life.

D. J. Dear Prof Herman: I often read your column and enjoy doing so. Your advice to others is also helpful to me for it deals with problems we all have at one time or another. I wish to ask your advice about this matter. Some money was stolen from me, will I get it back?

Ans. After giving your question careful thought I find that the person has spent the money, and unless you force them to do so, they will not make any attempt to replace it. This may cause you a great deal of trouble, so I suggest you forget the matter and be more careful in the future.

C. H. B. What should I do about my love affair?

Ans. Your Zodiacal sign indicates your having many such affairs, and you are of a fickle nature. But, the one you will love the most hasn't entered your life as yet, so don't worry over the present situation.

L. M. C. Will I get the job?

Ans. It appears to me that you have made an aplication to obtain employment in the mill there. And I vision your being successful in getting a job. Your condition warrants it, since you have four small children to take care of.

Mrs. E. B. G. What should I do?

Ans. A careful analysis of your question indicates the fact that you have been living with your daughter for some time, trying to help her, as she has children and is working in the government department. But she doesn't seem to appreciate your efforts and is not nice to you. Perhaps it would be wise to move yourself, she really doesn't mean to be inconsiderate but the ones we love the most oftimes hurt us the worse. It would give her a chance to see just how much you have been doing and how much she really needs you.

Y. I. Dear Sir: Just a word to state I received my Hindu Charm Bag and am wearing it. I find that a change has already taken place and many things I have always wished for are coming my way. Thanks for all you have done for me, Prof. Herman.

* * *

A. M. D. Will I be able to make the trip?

Ans. My Psycho-Mentalist Crystal reveals your desire to make a trip to Toledo, and I vision your being able to do so, within the next few weeks.

C. T. Will my marriage be a successful one?

Ans. It appears to me that you married someone that was the exact opposite in every way from yourself. Which makes it quite hard to get along. However, if you will try to cultivate similar habits and likes and aim toward making your marriage a successful one, you can do so. If you will write in for a private reply. I shall be able to offer some suggestions that might help you.

WAR ON NEGRO

TRUTH: For 323 years a war of prejudice, discrimination, lynching and abuses has been waged against us. I began to fight this battle wren I discovered that I was a 'made fool.' Mark you, not a fool but a 'made one', like many intellectuls.

Thinking people are asking: What are we—Negroes, colored People or what? What is a NEGRO? No educator has ever given a satisfactory answer. They haven't the courage. The truth has never been told. Why is NEGRO the most disputed name? Because the truth is not known. Truth is The Basis of Education. I went to a university: spent 5 years in law school in Boston, became counsellor in public schools. Worked in educational sociology at New York University.

After 15 years' investigation, study and research, I found the facts, the history, the truth about the race.

With my discovery, I made money, and gained world respect.

It can do the same for you. I have compiled it in the great book: "HUMAN SIDE OF PEOPLE." 399 pages, 84 pictures by myself. Raphael P. Powell. The demand for this book by thousands proves that it shows the way to success and is helping to win the war against race prejudice. Price $3. Send orders to: PHILEMON CO., 224 West 135th St., New York City. GUARANTEED: The only book which gives the TRUTH about our race.

Philip Murray to Speak at Olympic April 24th

On Saturday night, April 24th, before an expected crowd of 12,000 or more citizens of Southern California, Philip Murray, president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, will speak on wages, price controls, manpower stabilization.

Murray's address will be of particular interest to Los Angeles' Negro community because of the campaign the CIO has waged to end discrimination and for equal job opportunities for the Negro people.

Admission to the meeting is free. It will be held in the Olympic Auditorium, 18th and Grand. Murray's appearance in the auditorium, his first visit here since

PHILIP MURRAY

1939, will be preceded by a star-studded program featuring Hollywood celebrities. Lena Horne is expected to appear on the program.

The CIO president is recalled here as the labor unity, declared "There can be no constructive talk with the AFL about unity until the AFL cleans house and throws away its membership bars against the Negro people."

Caravans to the meeting will leave from various points throughout the entire city. Those leaving from the East Side will assemble between 6:00 and 7:00 p. m. at 4310 So. Central Avenue. Those people who have cars or desire to share a ride should report to that address.

When the great question of the American people was freedom or slavery, it became necessary to utilize slave manpower to help win victory for the Union. Abraham Lincoln did not hesitate to call the black toilers to arms—and they came. They have been coming ever since.

PUBLIC TRANSPORTATION NEEDS YOUR COOPERATION

"Some months ago, when it became apparent that the Los Angeles Railway's first and foremost war job was to get the war workers to and from the factories, we have said that, even though it was probably the hardest problem we have had to solve in our sixty-five years of service to Los Angeles, we would bend every effort and dedicate our equipment to meet the conditions.

The time is here which puts us to the test, and even though traffic demands are heavier than we had anticipated, we will try and say that we can do it and that we will do it.

But we need the cooperation of the riding public so we can do our full share in winning the war in the shortest possible time.

We started months ago to bring our equipment up to the point where it could be operated efficiently to meet the added requirements we felt sure were on the way. Today we can say that we've done a good job along this line and that we have sufficient cars and coaches to care for the increase in traffic.

However, in order to make the best use of this equipment in getting the war workers to their jobs and back home, we must have the hearty cooperation of riders in the matter of when they ride and how often they board the cars and coaches during the hours in which the workers are required to use transportation services.

A strict adherence to the staggered-hour program by riders would solve this problem and would add to the comfort of the riders.

The Los Angeles Railway would be able to take care of all traffic were it not faced with a labor shortage due to the fact that so many former employees have gone to other vital industries or have joined the armed services. We have proper schedules and we could give the service if we could get the men and women to operate the equipment.

This is not offered as an excuse, but rather as a condition over which we have no control.

You can help by calling this statement to the attention of any man or woman you know who may wish to take a part in a vital war industry.

Applications of men and women who are interested in this Committee To Abolish Discrimination

Following up a report of discrimination at Skateland, 1025 West Vernon Avenue, the Citizens Committee to Abolish Discriminatoin called at the skating rink on Tuesday evening, April 20th, to make an investigation.

Acting on the information that several young people, both white and colored, had attempt to gain admission to the rink a few nights ago, and the Negro youth had been denied entrance, the committee went to the rink and attempted to purchase tickets. They were immediately denied and upon asking why were told that Negroes were not admitted because every time they allowed them to go in they caused fights and disturbances in the place. The Committee, of course, hastened to inform the manager that this excuse was very flimsy, due to the fact that fights are liable to occur anywhere, at any time, among any people — and that Negroes were not the only ones who engaged in fights.

Receiving no satisfaction on the matter, the Committee is following up its action and hopes to bring this matter to a successful conclusion.

NEGRO GIRL FEATURED WITH WORLD FAMOUS PEOPLE ON BRITISH BROADCAST

The British Broadcasting Corporation will present an International program titled "ANSWERING YOU" Sunday, April 18th, which will be heard in New York over radio station WNYC at 5:30 p. m. EWT. Britons, expert and amateur alike ,will answer questions pertaining to the subjects, "Students In the Battle Line." In the New York BBC studios at 630 Fifth Avenue, master of ceremonies Alistair Cooke, will present a panel of famous educators and students.

The London panel will comprise, Mrs. Mary Adams, master of ceremonies; Sir Hector Hetherington, Dean of Glasgow University, (who will speak from Glasgow); Margaret Petrie, member of the London School of Economics; Arnold Kettle, Cambridge Doctor of Philosophy; David Pyke, a merical student, University College Hospital, London; a Czech refugee student.

Material Witness Easily James Murder Suspect

ALBANY, Oregon, April 20—The lower 13 murder trial, which opened thirteen days ago, will reach the jury Wednesday. The defense called 13 witnesses on the 13th day after the State rested its case. All of these witnesses were State's witnesses.

Leroy L. Lomax, attorney for the defense, called members of the Dining Car crew and three pullman porters to the stand. All except one, Nathaniel Shaw, had been overlooked in the State's parade of witnesses. These witnesses testified that Folkes acted normally directly after the slaying, and for the remainder of the trip back to Los Angeles.

James Sibley, porter on the last car of the train, said no one entered his car after he took his station at 2:00 a.m. Wilson, the Marine had previously testified that he went through the train to the end in quest of the slayer; that he found blood-stained towels in the washroom of the last bar. Sibley testified that he cleaned the towel basket out every 15 minutes, or approximately seven or eight times that morning, and that he would have seen any blood-stained towels.

Clarmont Baker, the chef, described Folkes' early shift duties, and said it required from 35 to 45 minutes to prepare enough dough for cooking; and from 45 to 50 minutes to complete preparations after the fire was made. Last week Nathaniel Shaw testified that he ate a muffin from the pan Folkes prepared that morning.

Stewart Charles C. Greeman and Walter Booker T. Johnson said Folkes was sober when he

TWO MORE BOYS DROWNED IN SLOUGH AT WATTS

The greedy maw of "Death Slough" at Watts claimed two more victims when two brothers named Watson were drowned there at about 2:30 yesterday. While a large crowd watched from the banks of the sluggish stream, and the bridge that spans it, officers worked over them with pulmotors for a long time, but in vain. They were then removed to the morgue to await the inquest. The little victims were white.

According to spectators, the two boys had been playing on the bank when the younger boy, aged about 8, ventured into the water. The pool at this point is about fifteen feet deep, so he soon slipped beyond his depth. The other brother, 15, tried to save him, but satrificed his own life by so doing.

Three other children have been drowned in this hole within the past two years, and agitation by the local press finally resulted in a fence being thrown around it. The previous victims were colored.

VICTORY MARKET ONLY ONE ACQUITTED ON O.P.A. CHARGES BY JURY

Put to the severe test of a trial by jury, the Victory Market was fully exhonorated from allegedly trumped up charges of false representation of meats on Wednesday of last week, when Clarence Ross, well known butcher employed there was acquitted in Judge Guerin's court.

Several other markets, Ralph's, the E. F. Smith's, Morgan's and the 53rd Street Markets were found guilty.

The charges grew out of an investigation launched by the Better Business League with the sanction of the O.P.A. In each case women members of the investigation committee asked the butcher for certain cuts and certain grades of meat. They made their purchases, then turned the meat over to the O.P.A. for Inspection.

The same procedure had been used at the Victory, and following the report Ross had been arrested. But convinced of his innocence as well as the fact that such misrepresentations are not sanctioned by the market, the management engaged Attorney Crispus Wright to defend Ross. So convincing was his proof, and his argument that the defendant was acquitted after the jury had only been out fifteen minutes.

Youth Held Pending Investigation by University St. Police

James Nelson, 20-year-old youth of 1225 E. 25th St., in company with three other youths, has been arrested and jailed on charges of suspicion of robbery by officers of the University Street Jail. The arrest, which occurred last Friday night at the intersection of Union Ave. and Venice Blvd., assertedly grew out of the failure of the driver of the car in which young Nelson was riding, to give the proper signal on making a turn. Officers on radio patrol approached the car and upon searching the young occupants assertedly found a revolver, the ownership of which all the youths denied. Nelson is represented by Attorney Curtis C. Taylor and denies complicity in any robbery charges and asserts that he and his companions were returning from a jaunt to the beach. All the youths are being held pending further investigation by the University Street detectives.

Negroes Must Back Poll Tax Bill

Washington, D. C.—According to our Washington correspondent, the Anti-Poll Tax Discharge Petition has received 184 signatures to date. Only 34 are still required to make it 218, in order to assure a House vote on the measure. Representative Ed Ziac, Progressive of San Diego, has not, as yet, signed the petition.

Much pressure from organized labor and the Negro population of the country is needed to insure successful passage of this petition. Citizens can aid materially by sending telegrams, post cards and letters to their representative in Congress, NOW. Delay is dangerous. This is a vital issue to the very welfare of the nation and should have special significance to every right thinking Negro. Your full cooperation is urged in support of this legislation which has been carried to the forefront by that militant, liberal public servant, Congressman Vito Marcantonio of New York.

ANGERED EMPLOYEE KILLS EMPLOYER AND CO-WORKER

By his own confession, actuated by an overpowering spirit of revenge, Robert Earley Lee, 61, of 3063 Griffith Avenue, killed his employer and a fellow field hand last Saturday morning on Tatum Ranch, one mile east of Canal road, on Triumfo Canyon. His employer, on whose ranch the murders were committed, was Nelsos Wolf, 63, of 438 Plymouth Drive. The fellow worker was Albert Everette Miller, of Cornell, Calif. The ranch is called the Tatum Ranch. Lee was arrested by R. Weddie, L. C. Smith, and Ed McLue, deputy sheriffs from Malibu Station, after the crime had been reported by Henry Brandenberger of the Cornell post office, at Lee's request.

According to the elderly man's own story told to the officers, he had been having trouble with Miller since his recent employment on the ranch, said that of late he had poisoned the mind of Wolf so against him that Lee declared he could not get along with either. Last Saturday morn-

Youth Denies Charges of Robbery

Clifford Wallace, 1387 E. Vernon Ave. has been charged with robbery preferred by Melvin Taylor, an acquaintance who complained to police that on the night of April 10th at the corner of 29th and Central while he was looking for a crystal which he had dropped off his watch, Wallace walked up behind him and suddenly felled him with a bottle, stunning him to the extent that he was helpless and then rifled his pockets of considerable cash. Wallace, who was represented by Attorney Curtis C. Taylor, denies the charges and states that the complainant had some few minutes before engaged in fisticuffs with another unnamed youth and that he and Taylor were together at the time of his arrest. He further states that he can give no reason why he should be named as the assailant. Attorney Taylor had some three months ago secured Wallace his release on probation after a conviction on robbery charges and he was released by Judge A. A. Scott for the purpose of working at San Diego. According to his attorney, however, he returned to Los Angeles after a notice by his local draft board and while preparing to report for induction he was arrested on the robbery charge.

JUDGE LEADS ATTACK ON BAR ASSOCIATION FOR FAILURE TO ACCEPT NEGRO

By LLEWELLYN RANSOM

Another major battle on the home front, another flank attack on the citadels of smugness and bigotry, comparable to Mrs. F. D. R.'s walkout on the D. A. R., was begun last week when Judge Jonah J. Goldstein of New York's Court of General Sessions tendered his resignation, after 29 years with the American Bar Association, because of its failure to accept Francis E. Rivers, Negro lawyer.

"I am not going to contribute annually to support bigotry. The American Bar Association should drop the word American if they are going to bar Negroes," shouted the judge in a press interview in his chambers on the nineteenth floor of the great New York Criminal Court Building.

FRANCIS E. RIVERS

JUDGE J. J. GOLDSTEIN

In offering his resignation in protest to the two years' delay in accepting Mr. Rivers, Judge Goldstein wrote: ". . . On the surface it would appear that the American Bar Association would welcome for admission into its ranks a person of Mr. Rivers' professional standing, reputation and attainments. This is particularly true when the Association is asking for new members. Therefore the extended delay of

The meeting is sponsored by the Hollywood Democratic Committee, a non-partisan organization of which Marc Connelly, well known playwright, is the chairman.

National Negro Congress Launches Save Fepc Campaign At Eastern Seaboard Conference

New York, April 21st: Immediate reestablishment of the Fair Employment Practice Committee, the opening of a second land front in Europe, and the immediate abolition of the poll tax are the principal points in a sweeping program of action launched by the Eastern Seaboard Conference on the Problems of the War and the Negro people, called by the National Negro Congress and held here at Abbyssinia Baptist Church last Saturday and Sunday.

Dr. Max Yergan, National President of the Congress, declared that "the Negro people, through these delegates, have given us a mandate to fight for the removal of all barriers of discrimination—the barriers of the poll tax, lynching and discrimination in the armed forces. They have given us a mandate to fight for revitalizing of the FEPC. We regard the present status of the FEPC as a terrible step backward, as a blow to progress and to President Roosevelt's war program."

Two hundred delegates attended a Panel on Manpower, addressed by Edward Lawson, FEPC Staff Examiner, Herman Smith, a leader in the Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers in the Sun Shipyards at Chester, Pennsylvania, and Mrs. Mabel K. Staupers of the National Association of Colored Graduate Nurses, also participated in the Panel.

Lawson urged, as did Strong, the organization of a powerful movement to re-constitute FEPC as an independent body and urged the delegates to cooperate in a nation-wide campaign to save the FEPC.
